Thought for the Day: "In this world there are only two tragedies. One is not getting what one wants, and the other is getting it. The last is much the worst." -- Oscar Wilde

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was venerable American newscaster David Brinkley who made the following sage observation: "The one function TV news performs very well is that when there is no news, we give it to you with the same emphasis as if there were."

• According to Guinness World Records, the oldest cat in the world was named Crème Puff and lived to the ripe old age of 38 years and three days.

• If you do much printing, you might not be surprised to learn that if you figure out the cost by volume, the average ink cartridge for a printer costs seven times more than Dom Perignon champagne.

• On an average day in the United States, 90 million cans of beer will be consumed.

• If you're planning a summer jaunt to Atlantic City, N.J., this year, you might want to stop by Margate City, just a couple of miles south of the gambling mecca. While you're there you can see the oldest zoomorphic structure in the United States. Lucy the Elephant, built in 1882 by James V. Lafferty, is 65 feet tall and has served at various times as a cottage, a business office, a restaurant and a tavern. In 1976 it was designated a National Historic Landmark.

• On April 5, 1614, Pocahontas, daughter of the chief of the Powhatan Indian confederacy, marries English tobacco planter John Rolfe in Jamestown, Va. Pocahontas had been kidnapped and used as a hostage for peace negotiations. By the time she was released, she had fallen in love with John Rolfe.

• On April 9, 1859, a 23-year-old Missouri youth named Samuel Langhorne Clemens receives his steamboat pilot's license. During his time as a pilot, he picked up the term "Mark Twain," a boatman's call noting that the river was only 2 fathoms deep, the minimum depth for safe navigation. He used it as a pseudonym in his writing for nearly 50 years.

• On April 10, 1866, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is founded in New York City by philanthropist and diplomat Henry Bergh. Bergh's impassioned accounts of the horrors inflicted on animals convinced the New York State legislature to pass the ASPCA charter.

• On April 6, 1896, the Olympic Games, a long-lost tradition of ancient Greece, are reborn in Athens -- 1,500 years after being banned by Roman Emperor Theodosius I. King Georgios I of Greece and a crowd of 60,000 spectators welcomed athletes from 13 nations to the international competition.

• On April 4, 1913, Chicago bluesman Muddy Waters is born in Clarksdale, Miss. Born McKinley Morganfield, he wrote "Rollin' Stone," "Hoochie Coochie Man," "Mannish Boy" and "Got My Mojo Working," songs that would later provide inspiration to Bob Dylan.

• On April 7, 1920, classically trained sitar virtuoso Ravi Shankar is born in Varanasi, India. The Beatles studied under Shankar and experimented with the distinctive sitar sound in songs such as "Norwegian Wood" and "Within You, Without You."

• On April 8, 1974, Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves hits his 715th career home run, breaking Babe Ruth's legendary record of 714 homers. A crowd of 53,775 people, the largest in the history of Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium, was with Aaron that night to cheer when he hit a 4th-inning pitch off the Los Angeles Dodgers' Al Downing.

Q: I inherited my grandfather's favorite toy, "Spark Plug," and would enjoy cleaning it up so that it will look as it did when new. -- John, St. Cloud, Minn.

A: "Barney Google" was a cartoon strip introduced by Billy DeBeck in 1919. Eventually it was syndicated by King Features in more than 900 newspapers in 21 countries. "Spark Plug," a racehorse, began appearing in the strip in 1922 and became a regular feature. I found several Spark Plug toys referenced in O'Brien's Collecting Toys, edited by Karen O'Brien (Krause, $29.99). The Barney Google and Spark Plug pull toy in tin, for example, is valued in the $1,500 to $3,800 range, depending on condition. It is best to keep your toy in its original condition, since any changes you make will lessen its value.

Q: I have a bronze statue of Indians. My brother claims he paid $5,000 for it. I don't know anything about the artist or the value of the piece, and hope you can help me. -- Ann, Manchester, N.H.

A: You should hire a certified appraiser of fine art to determine the value of your statue. Most professionals offer two types of appraisals, written and verbal. For insurance purposes, it is always a good idea to have a written appraisal, and you should expect to pay for this service.

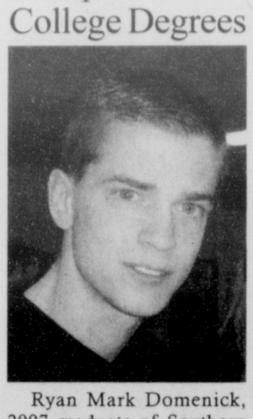
Southern Grad Completes Two College Degrees



Ryan Mark Domenick, 2007 graduate of Southern High School, completed two postsecondary degrees in December of 2010 at the Community College of Beaver County, located in Beaver Falls, Pa. He is the son of Dr. Mark and Teresa Domenick of Mtn. Lake Park.

Domenick graduated with high honors and earned an associate's in aviation in the college's professional pilot program. He has logged over 1,000 hours of flight time. He currently holds his private, instrument, commercial, and multi-engine licenses.

Additionally, Domenick graduated magna cume laude from Geneva College, also in Beaver Falls, with a bachelor's degree in business. During his college years, he worked as a flight instructor. He will begin employment with American Eagle Airline as a first officer in April.

"Wear Denim To Work Day" Set For Wednesday

Dove Center officials are asking the public to "Wear Denim to Work" on Wednesday, April 6, as part of National Sexual Assault Awareness Month.

"Wearing jeans on 'Denim Day' during April has become an international symbol of protest against erroneous and destructive attitudes about sexual assault," said a center spokesperson. "Community members throughout Garrett County can show their support by contributing $5 and wearing jeans/denim to work. Proceeds benefit the Dove Center."

The history of Denim Day is as follows: An 18-year-old female was raped and abandoned by her 45-year-old perpetrator in a alley in Rome, Italy, in 1997. Undeterred, she prosecuted him, and he was convicted of rape and sentenced to jail.

A few months later, however, he appealed the sentence and his case was presented to the Italian Supreme Court. Within a matter of days the case against the perpetrator was overturned, and dismissed, and he was released from prison.

A statement presented by the head judge read, "Because the victim wore very, very tight jeans, she had to help him remove them . . . . and by removing the jeans . . . it was no longer rape but consensual sex."

Enraged by the verdict, within a matter of hours, the women of the Italian Parliament launched into immediate action and protested by wearing jeans to work.

"This call to action motivated and emboldened the California Senate and Assembly to do the same, and Denim Day was born," said the spokesperson.

For more information about participating in the local Wear Denim to Work Day, persons may call the Dove Center at 301-334-6255.

Two Arrested For Possession Following Stop

Two Virginia residents were arrested by Maryland State Police last Thursday following a traffic stop on I-68 east.

A 2005 Acura sedan was stopped for traveling 85 mph in a 65 mph posted zone. The driver was identified as Christopher Bennett, 23, Chantilly, and the passenger as Leslie Woll, 18, Fairfax. A probable cause search led to the discovery of two glass smoking pipes with marijuana residue in them and a total of 36.4 grams of marijuana.

Both were taken before a District Court commissioner, who released them on personal recognizance.

DEAL OR NO DEAL

As it always has been, in any kind of market or economy, buyers will find the best deals while looking at homes that are less than perfect. While stretching your home-buying dollar is Priority Number One, keep the following features in mind when determining a home's potential.

While you've heard it a million times, I would be remiss not to mention "location, location, location." Just remember that you get the best deal buying the worst property in a fantastic neighborhood, instead of buying the best home in a less desirable community.

Also pay attention to the age of the home. If you're looking at something over fifty years old, don't be surprised by issues with outdated wiring and plumbing, or problems with the roof or foundation.

As far as a home's basic design goes, look for three things: a livable floor plan, plenty of natural light, and ample storage space. If you've got to move walls, you're going to have to invest a huge amount in renovation. And you can never have enough closet and storage space in a home. Adding on storage is never cheap, so seek out homes with plenty already built in.

Begin by consulting your agent and creating a checklist of all the features you'd most like to have, but always be prepared to compromise when the right deal comes along.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Rep. Bartlett Lets Faith Be His Guide As He "Teas Up" Social, Fiscal Issues

by Laura E. Lee.
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Roscoe Bartlett was a tea partyer before the tea party was cool.

But that doesn't mean that the Republican congressman from Frederick is confined to the agenda of the fiscally conservative movement. His religious roots and scientific background also influence his political perspective.

The 10-term congressman sounds like a tea party true believer when he quotes former Sen. Conrad Burns, R-Mont., to describe the ideal role of government: "to deliver my mail and protect my shores and otherwise let me alone."

The loosely organized tea party movement pushes a legislative agenda focused on budget cuts and reduced spending. Bartlett's political philosophy aligns with many of the tea party principles.

"It's a match made in heaven," said Daniel Palazzolo, political science professor at the University of Richmond.

Though the 84-year-old congressman is not at the center of movement, "his views converge nicely with the tea party," Palazzolo said. In 2010, he signed on as one of the founding members of the newly formed Tea Party Caucus.

While some congressmen struggle with their relationship to the tea party, Bartlett is "predisposed" to the movement, Palazzolo said. At the same time, he is not afraid to assert his independence, even on issues where his views align with the tea party.

Bartlett opposed extension of the Patriot Act because he sees it as an unconstitutional encroachment on civil liberties. Asked if his membership in the Tea Party Caucus influenced his vote, he quickly notes that he held these beliefs before the tea party existed.

"I was there long before the tea party was there," he said. "I'm happy that they signed on to my agenda."

Bartlett represents Maryland's rural Sixth District, which stretches nearly border-to-border across the top of the state and is distinct from Maryland's seven other districts, most of which encompass a slice of metropolitan Baltimore's urban population.

"His district is obviously very different from all the rest in Maryland, and is probably most in keeping with at least some elements of the tea party," Palazzolo said.

Following the 2010 midterm election, tea party coordinators wrote an open letter urging Republican congressional leadership to focus on reduced spending and fiscal responsibility and "resist the urge to run down any social issue rabbit holes in order to appease the special interests."

Bartlett – one of only two Republicans in Maryland's congressional delegation – maintains fiscally conservative views, but also takes a stance on controversial social issues the tea party avoids like abortion and evolution.

"We recognize the importance of values, but believe strongly that those values should be taught by families and our houses of worship, and not legislated from Washington, D.C.," tea party organizers wrote.

But unlike those tea partyers, Bartlett's political agenda is influenced by his house of worship, the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

"I choose to believe in a very personal God who is concerned about me and what I do," said Bartlett.

Bartlett's religious roots extend back to his youth. He majored in theology and biology at Columbia Union College, now known as Washington Adventist University, and considered a career in ministry.

"I don't wear my religion on my sleeve, but if you ask me, I will tell you where I am," he said. "It's one of the reasons I am avidly prolife."

Bartlett's independent streak is apparent in his belief that life begins at implantation rather than conception – a concept not generally accepted by the prolife camp.

Asked if his faith influences his policy-making, he said it does and he cites the Golden Rule.

But for Bartlett, "doing unto others" is the responsibility of individuals in the private sector, not the government. He opposes a minimum wage and supports tax incentives for private philanthropic organizations.

"You have to be a dreamer to think that minimum wage can help," he said. Bartlett believes wages should be determined by competition.

Even on issues where faith is not at the center of the debate, Bartlett inserts a religious bent. Speaking about the renewal of the Patriot Act, he refers to civil liberties as "God-given rights" that must be protected.

His faith extends beyond his political viewpoints and influences the way in which he conducts his work.

"My first advanced degree was in theology where I learned to love the sinner and hate the sin, which has served me very well, by the way," he said, "because I can genuinely like people whose political philosophy I cannot support."

Evidence of Bartlett's convictions is plastered across his office in the Russell House building. On the wall of the waiting area, two marble-like plaques list the 10 Commandments. A large framed drawing of "the First Prayer in Congress" hangs over the waiting chairs, and above the door to the conference room, a framed plaque reads, "In God We Trust, National Motto of the United States, July 1956."

Bartlett has little trouble reconciling his scientific training with his profound faith in God.

"I'm a scientist, and unlike many scientists, I am convinced because I am a scientist that what I see could not have happened as a result of any evolutionary or natural selection process," he said.

That combination of faith and science has led him to some contrarian views, such as his support of ethical embryonic stem cell research – a divergence from traditional conservative ideology. "You'd be amazed at the pushback I had from a well-intentioned but ignorant right-to-life community," he said.

In many ways, Bartlett is a party of one. Though he champions causes close to both the tea party and the GOP, he is not afraid to be independent.

In the 2012 election, Bartlett will seek his 11th term in Congress. So far, he faces only one official challenger, Joseph Krysztoforski, who ascribes to tea party principles.

But Bartlett understands his political decisions are only part of the electoral equation.

"Time and circumstance – I wouldn't be here except for that, that's obvious," he said. "But you need to be prepared so when the door opens a little, you're there."

ALPHA ALPHA CHAPTER SUPPORTS HEALTH-FAIR — The Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International met at Oak Park Church of the Brethren in Oakland on March 12. The event's morning speaker was Suzanne Nicolas, owner of Curves in Oakland, who is involved with the Health Fair Planning Committee. She provided the group with information related to health and wellness. After the presentation, Alpha Alpha Chapter president Carol Slagle (left) presented Nicolas with a donation from the organization in support of the Garrett County Health Fair, which will take place at the Wisp Resort on Saturday, April 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Chapter members also received pamphlets, brochures, and information on other health and wellness programs available through the Garrett County Health Department, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and the University of Maryland Extension Service. The group has planned a "health and wellness" activity to emphasize the importance of personal growth and renewal. It will be held at Flowery Vale Fitness Center in Accident on Saturday, April 9.

Are Your Investments Getting Enough Exercise?

Now that spring is here, you may find it easier to get outside to run, bike or take part in other physical pursuits that you enjoy. As you know, the more active you are, the more efficiently your body will work. And the same can hold true for your investments: The more exercise they get, the more potential to work on your behalf.

Just how do investments get "exercise"? Through lots of activity. And you can keep your investments active in at least two ways: through systematic investing and dividend reinvestment. Let's take a look at both these techniques.

When you engage in systematic investing, commonly called "dollar cost averaging," you are continually putting your money "in motion." Essentially, you put the same amount of money into the same investments at regular intervals. For example, you might decide to invest $100 per month in Company ABC stock. To impose this investment discipline on yourself, you could even have the money sent directly from your checking or savings account.

Of course, since the price of ABC stock, like those of all stocks, is constantly changing, your $100 investment will most likely buy different numbers of shares each month. This can work to your advantage, because when the stock price of ABC goes down, your $100 will buy more shares. When the price goes up, you'll automatically be a smart enough "shopper" to buy fewer shares, just as you'd typically buy less of something when its price goes up.

Over time, systematic investing typically results in a lower average cost per share than if you were to make sporadic lump-sum investments. If you can lower the cost of investing, this may help boost your investment returns. This also can be an effective way to fund your retirement account(s) each year. (Keep in mind, though, that systematic investing does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss. Also, you'll need the financial resources available to keep investing through up and down markets.)

Dividend reinvestment is similar to systematic investing in that it allows you to build more shares of an investment. But when you reinvest dividends, you don't even have to take money from other sources to increase your shares — you simply request that a stock or a mutual fund, instead of paying you a dividend in cash, reinvest the dividend into that same stock or mutual fund. It's an effortless way of adding shares. Similar to dollar cost averaging, dividend reinvestment imposes investment discipline — you automatically keep putting money in the market during up and down periods. (Don't forget, though, that dividends can be increased, decreased or eliminated at any point without notice.)

Exercising your investment dollars in these ways can help you go a long way toward keeping your portfolio in good shape — enabling you to make healthy progress toward your important long-term goals.

Boat Launches At JRL To Open This Weekend

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announces the kick-off of the 2011 recreation season at Jennings Randolph Lake on Friday, April 1, at 8 a.m., when the boat launches on the Maryland and West Virginia shores will open. The lake is managed by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

The Maryland launch is located along Mt. Zion Road off Maryland State Route 135, near the salt shed on Backbone Mountain. The West Virginia location is alongside Howell Run, just off W.Va. State Route 46, three miles north of Elk Garden, W.Va.

The Maryland DNR service charge is $5 for launching a boat. The 2011 Maryland State Forest and Park Service all-season pass can be purchased for $75 for Maryland residents or $100 for out-of-state residents. The pass can be purchased at all Maryland state parks. The pass offers free day-use entry for everyone in a vehicle (up to nine people) to Maryland's state parks and Cedarville State Forest, free boat launching at most facilities, and a 10 percent discount on state-operated concessions and boat rentals. For parks with honor box systems, the pass covers entry service charges.

The Corps charges visitors a $3 fee for launching a boat from its West Virginia boat launch. An annual pass that will allow an unlimited number of launches at all Corps parks is on sale for $30 at the Corps park office.

The park office is located on the West Virginia side of the lake. Persons should follow the signs from Route 46E. Holders of the Golden Age passports (for senior citizens 62 and over), America the Beautiful Senior passes, America the Beautiful Access passes, and Golden Access passports (for the physically challenged) are allowed to purchase a Corps annual boat launch pass for half price or to pay $1.50 per launch at the Corps's boat launch only.

Both the Corps annual pass and the Maryland All-Season pass are valid at either boat launch on Jennings Randolph Lake.

To Speak About Ministry In Egypt

Garrett County native John Crowe and his wife Linn, now residents of Raleigh, N.C., will be speaking about their ministry in Egypt at several locations in Garrett County, April 10-14.

John Crowe grew up in Oakland, and is the son of the late Ross and Opal Crowe. The 1968 Southern High School graduate holds a bachelor's degree from Bridgewater College, and a master of divinity degree from Columbia International University, Columbia, S.C., which is where he met his wife Linn.

The Crowes spent 12 years (1985-1997) in Portugal doing church planting before returning to the Garrett County to take care of his parents in their final years.

They then moved to Cairo, Egypt, where, for 6½ years John pastored an international, interdenominational church with about 250 members from 25 different countries. Many of the members of that church were doing Christian ministry in Egypt, and so the Crowes' time there was, in his words, "very eye-opening and challenging."

John recently published a book titled Light Rising in Egypt: God's New Work in an Ancient Land, which focuses on their experiences in Egypt.

The Crowes are in the process of raising support to work with Pioneers International (www.pioneers.org), a faith mission board which has over 2,500 workers in many areas of the world, many of whom live and minister in Muslim countries.

They are the parents of two married daughters, Ashley and Julie, who reside with their families in Raleigh, and one son, Andrew, who is a traveling actor/musician. They plan to continue living in Raleigh and will be part of the member development team whose primary responsibility is to give pastoral and spiritual care to Pioneers' workers.

The Crowes will be speaking at the following locations while they are in Garrett County:

•Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park, Sunday, April 10, 9:30 a.m. Sunday School, "Egypt: Significance in Church History and Today," and 10:45 a.m. worship, "Light Rising in Egypt: God's New Work in an Ancient Land."

•"Ladies' Night Out" (Linn), Tuesday, April 12, at 6:15 p.m. at Perkins Restaurant in McHenry, sponsored by Faith Evangelical Free Church.

•Gortner Union Church, Wednesday, April 13, 7 p.m., located 4 miles south of Oakland just off U.S. Rt. 219 along Mason School Road; Topic: "Light Rising in Egypt: God's New Work in an Ancient Land."

Copies of Crowe's book will be available for purchase at each speaking engagement or can be ordered by writing to the Crowes at 2301 Euston Street, Raleigh, NC 27610 ($10, including postage). They can be contacted online at jrldcr@gmail.com or via cell phone at 919-741-0198 (John) and 919-741-3364 (Linn). Anyone with questions about or interest in their ministry is welcome to contact them.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

REVIVAL SERVICES

Friendsville United Methodist Church will hold revival services the week of April 4–8 at 7 p.m. each evening at the church. There will be guest speakers each evening with the following schedule: Monday: Bill Durst, Tuesday: Bill Linehart, Wednesday: Bonnie Cupp, Thursday: Amy Chelsea, and Friday: John Conaway. A hymn sing will be held each evening. The public is invited to attend.

A prayer vigil will be held to kick off the revival on Sunday, April 3, at FUMC from 2 to 6 p.m. The public is invited to stop in for prayer.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Antwoin Payne, Baltimore, will be the guest speaker at the April 3 morning worship service at 11 a.m. He is an ex-inmate turned pastor. A dinner will follow the service. The public is invited to attend.

Jim and Kappy Robinette, missionaries to foreign countries, will be the guest speakers on Sunday, April 10, during the 11 a.m. worship service.

BUCKWHEAT SUPPER

Sand Spring Church of God will hold its annual buckwheat supper on Saturday, April 2, beginning at 5 p.m. at the church. The menu will consist of buckwheat cakes, sausage, pancakes, sausage gravy and biscuits, home fries, and more. The cost is $7 for adults and $4 for those 12 and under. The public is welcome to attend. There will also be craft and bake sale tables.

ANNIVERSARIES

Ralph and Edna Sines will celebrate their 73rd wedding anniversary on March 31. Cards can be sent to them at P.O. Box 211, Friendsville, MD 21531.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG ABUSE AWARENESS

There will be an informative meeting at the Northern Rescue Squad building in Friendsville on Monday, April 11, from 6 to 7 p.m. to inform citizens of the growing problem of prescription drug abuse. This meeting is intended to shed light on the increasing problems that are caused by prescription drug abuse in our area, and what the parents and community members can do to help alleviate the problem.

According to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, out-of-date prescription drugs are dangerous and contribute to a number of problems, including children using these drugs. Those attending the meeting will learn how to prevent abuse in our community. Refreshments and door prizes will be offered. This event is sponsored by Friendsville Community Watch and the Northern Rescue Squad.

There will also be a Drug Take-Back Day on Saturday, April 30, at the squad building from 4 to 6 p.m. for expired and unused prescription drugs. More details will follow at a later date.

DNR Announces Results Of ORV Trail Meeting

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently concluded a first-ever meeting with the off-road vehicle (ORV) stakeholder community. More than 50 individuals representing at least 12 ORV organizations, trail groups, and environmental organizations from across the region attended the meeting.

The stakeholders were provided an overview of three assessments of ORV trails conducted by DNR and participated in an open forum to offer input and ideas to agency representatives.

"The initial meeting was an excellent first step toward a future relationship and long-term planning for off-road vehicle management in Maryland," said John Wilson, DNR statewide trails coordinator. "We are pleased with the results thus far and look forward to continued cooperation and partnership with this community of individuals and organizations."

Following the meeting, the department approved several actions. DNR will immediately incorporate an ORV trail feature on the DNR web site to inform users of current trail conditions and the status of all ORV trails. Currently the Poplar Lick and Chandler trails will remain closed. To accommodate existing reservations previously secured by riders and campers, the Green Ridge State Forest trail will open April 1 and remain open through April 23; the trail will then close on April 24, and remain closed pending the results of the upcoming forest certification audit.

DNR will also move forward with the development of a long-term plan to manage ORV trails in Maryland, including the establishment of an ORV Advisory Committee and workgroups to address site-specific trail reviews where appropriate. A follow-up site meeting with key organizational representatives is planned for the Green Ridge trail in early April.

Work Day Slated By Area RGS At State Forest Site

The Backbone Mountain Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society (RGS), in cooperation with the Garrett County Forest Conservancy District, Dennett Road Elementary School, and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, will hold its second annual Habitat Improvement Work Day at the Potomac–Garrett State Forest on Saturday, April 23.

Seen as a common goal of improving wildlife habitat for future generations, the day will begin with a briefing at the Wallman Group Campsite along Wallman Road (between Oakland and Westernport) at 12:30 p.m. The event will conclude at 4:30 p.m.

According to April Rohrbaugh, the project consists of the planting of a variety of tree seedlings, including 500 native Red Spruce, which were once abundant in the highlands of Garrett County and surrounding West Virginia.

"These trees will provide dense winter cover not only for ruffed grouse, but a variety of wildlife species," she said. "In addition, 400 fruiting shrub seedlings will be planted as a hedgerow, providing both food and cover for a wide variety of birds and mammals."

State Forest staff will preauger the seedling planting holes, but participants are encouraged to wear work clothes and sturdy footwear and to bring a small hand trowel, shovel, and gloves. All other necessary tools will be provided, as will snacks.

In addition, a few full- or mid-size four-wheel drive pickup trucks are needed to shuttle students and other participants.

For more information, persons may contact Rohrbaugh at 304-813-2022, or by e-mail at april.rohrbaugh@gmail.com.

Established in 1961, the Ruffed Grouse Society is the one international wildlife conservation organization dedicated to promoting conditions suitable for ruffed grouse, American woodcock and related wildlife to sustain the sport hunting tradition and outdoor heritage.

Information on the RGS, its mission, management projects, and membership can be found on the web at: www.ruffedgrousesociety.org.

The Family of

would like to extend our sincere thanks to all our friends and loved ones who called, sent cards, visited, brought food, and helped in so many ways during Gail's illness. We are so appreciative of Hospice for answering our many questions and easing our anxieties during this time.

Thanks to Mountain Top A/G Church for the use of your facilities for the funeral service. We appreciate all who spoke or had a part in the service. Thanks to all who gave monetary and sent flowers. Special thanks to David Burdock Funeral Home for the kind help in planning the celebration of Gail's life.

And to the many friends and to the members of Rocky Drean A/G Church who helped to make the "Pastor G.K. Hixon Memorial Sale" successful, both in the work end and in the buying. We say a big thank you from the depths of our hearts, as we all share special memories of his loving life.

Presentation On History Of The White House Slated At Garrett

by Peggy Santamaria

"A History of the White House" will be presented in the Garrett College auditorium next Wednesday, April 6, from noon to 1 p.m. by Beth Luers, professor of social sciences, as part of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series. This event is open to the public and free of charge.

Luers belongs to the White House Historical Association, a group founded by Jacqueline Kennedy. She has participated in various educational forums with this group.

"The first event I attended was on the 200th anniversary of the White House in 2000," she said. "Various people spoke about its history, and we were invited to visit the White House one evening where we received a tour and a buffet dinner in the state dining room. We were allowed to roam three floors of the White House and were entertained on each floor by a string quartet and someone on the piano. This was during Bill Clinton's time in office, but he and his family were out of town. It was still an unforgettable conference and evening at the White House."

The presentation will start with the competition for a design for the president's house and end in the 20th century, highlighting the various changes and renovations made over the years. Luers will include some personal historical touches in her presentation.

"I will show photos of President Grover Cleveland's wife Frances that my cousin George Miles collected," she said. "She was like the Jackie Kennedy of her day, because she was so much younger than her husband. From time to time my cousin would write to Frances Cleveland and request a photo. He put these into an album which I now have."

"The History of the White House" presentation is scheduled during "Celebrating the College in the Community," which marks the inauguration of Garrett College president Richard MacLennan.

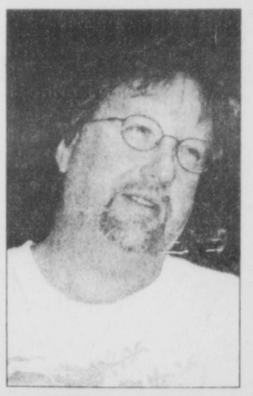
"While planning the events surrounding the inauguration, we felt that including one of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series presentations would be very appropriate because Joan was such an integral part of the community," said Dr. Jeanne Neff, co-chair of the inauguration committee.

For more information on this presentation, persons may telephone Luers at 301-387-3020.

Garrett College Program Directors Scheduled To Speak at Open House

MIKE LOGSDON

DR. QING YUAN



KEVIN DODGE

LYZ GRANT

ALEXANDER TUEL

An overview of the Garrett College experience will be available to visitors to the campus in McHenry during the spring open house, which is scheduled for Saturday, April 16, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

"We have outlined an agenda that will provide our prospective students and their families as much information as possible," said Rachelle Davis, GC director of admissions. "We want them to learn about GC campus life, top-notch education programs, financial aid and scholarship options, the enrollment process, and our many athletic programs."

Following a welcome by Ann Wellham, dean of marketing and enrollment management, and GC president Dr. Richard MacLennan, visitors will be invited to select and attend information sessions that will run throughout the morning. Lunch will be served in the Lakers Cafeteria, and campus tours will follow.

Directors of several programs of study will talk with visitors about the courses available and answer questions about degree and certificate opportunities.

Mike Logsdon, director of the adventure sports academic program at GC, will explain how this program combines studies in business management and environmental science with adventure sport skill classes.

Dr. Qing Yuan, director of business and information technology, will outline the courses available at GC to prepare professionals to succeed in the rapidly changing business environment. Students may choose to earn industry certification in several specialized areas or prepare to transfer to a four-year college or university.

Director Kevin Dodge will present information on Garrett College's Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology Program, which provides education and state-of-the-art technical training in many natural resources management fields. Students learn to conserve and manage dwindling resources like wildlife, fisheries, forests, soils, and water.

Lyz Grant, director of arts and sciences and justice studies, will meet with prospective students to discuss courses available through her department. She will explain the many transfer options for those wishing to continue their education at a four-year college or university.

Alexander Tuel, director of education and teacher preparation, will speak about options available to those interested in teaching careers in early childhood, elementary, secondary, or physical education. He will also explain the process of transferring to a four-year institution to earn a bachelor's degree.

The open house will include a tour of the campus, in addition to an overview of the Community Aquatic and Fitness Center due to be completed in time for the start of the fall 2011 semester.

Persons interested in attending are asked to register by calling 301-387-3044 or by going online to www.garrettcollege.edu/events/openhouse. An evening open house is also planned for April 26 from 6 to 8 p.m. with a focus on business and information technology programs.

W.Va. Beef Expo Slated Next Week At Jackson's Mill

Moore Family Cattle and White House Cattle of Kingwood, W.Va., West Mar Angus of Eglon, W.Va., and Mouser Charolais of Independence, W.Va., will participate in the 2011 West Virginia Beef Expo April 7–10 at the Jackson's Mill 4-H Conference Center, Weston, W.Va.

"This year's expo promises to be an excellent event for producers, suppliers, consumers, juniors, and others involved in the beef industry," said a spokesperson.

More than 40 firms will have products on display Friday and Saturday, and representatives will be available to discuss their applications for beef farms.

In addition, more than 200 head of Angus, Charolais, Gelbvieh, Limousin, polled Hereford, red Angus, and Simmental cattle will be on display and offered for sale on Saturday, April 9, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Stacy Evans of Doddridge County will be crowned the new West Virginia Beef Queen on Thursday evening, April 7, by retiring queen Amanda Hannon of Mason County. Evans will reign over the expo, and during the year will represent West Virginia and the Beef Industry Council by promoting beef at various events.

Activities scheduled for Friday, April 8, will be the Stockman's Judging Contest, a competition that tests overall knowledge about the beef industry; the Beef Ambassador Contest; Youth Beef Cook-Off; and the Grassland Evaluation Contest. A photo contest, association meetings, and cattle shows are also slated. The Friday night banquet will feature story teller Tom Wright.

The expo is a marketing and education event operating for the purpose of promoting quality breeding cattle for the advancement of the beef industry.

The event is a showcase of the cooperative efforts of the West Virginia breed organizations, West Virginia Cattlmen's Association, West Virginia Cattle Women, West Virginia Department of Agriculture, West Virginia University College of Agriculture and Forestry, and the WVU Cooperative Extension Service.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the events with no admission fee. For more information, persons may contact the West Virginia Cattlemen's office at 304-472-4020 or their local extension office.

Banquet reservations should be made by Friday, April 1, by calling the above number.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
527 Deer Run Lane, Swanton, MD 21561-2058

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from John A. Scourtis dated February 20, 2008, and recorded at Liber 1356, Folio 421 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at Main Entrance of the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD 21550, on:

April 15, 2011, at 1:00 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $18,000.00 by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, MD. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. There will be no abatement of interest in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. The noteholder shall not be obligated to pay interest if it is the purchaser. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. All public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. In the event taxes, any other public charges or condo/HOA fees have been advanced, a credit will be due to the seller, to be adjusted from the date of sale at the time of settlement. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without interest. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement, the deposit shall be forfeited, to the Trustees for application against all expenses, attorney's fees and the full commission on the sale price of the above-scheduled foreclosure sale. In the event of default, all expenses of this sale (including attorney's fees and the full commission on the gross sale price of this sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. The Trustees may then re-advertise and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser or without reselling the property, the Trustees may avail themselves of any legal or equitable remedies against the defaulting purchaser. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to receive the surplus, if any, even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulting purchaser and the defaulting purchaser shall be liable to the Trustees and secured party for attorney's fees and expenses incurred in connection with all litigation involving the Property or the proceeds of the resale. The purchaser agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00 plus costs, which fee does not include attendance at any hearings, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Hearings will be charged at attorneys' hourly rate. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents, $150.00 may be charged for document preparation and review and an additional $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein. Trustees' file number 23202.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION

NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION

Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 10-DP-3490, NPDES Permit MD0069418:

Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., Department of Public Utilities, 2008 Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park, Maryland 21550, applied for renewal of the permit to discharge an average of 50,000 gallons per day (gpd) of treated domestic wastewater from the proposed Keyser's Ridge Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP). The proposed WWTP will be located in the vicinity of National Pike (Alternate US Route 40) and US Route 219 intersection, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland 21536, and it will discharge to Puzzley Run downstream of Lake Louise just north of the National Pike (Alternate US Route 40) which is designated Use I waters protected for water contact recreation and aquatic life. Puzzley Run is also designated as a Tier II-High Water Quality Water.

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) is proposing to reissue the discharge permit with the following effluent limitations: BOD_5, 10 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 15 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total suspended solids, 10 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 15 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total ammonia nitrogen - N, 1.5 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean; E. coli, 126 /100 ml maximum monthly geometric mean value; total residual chlorine, 0.013 mg/l maximum when chlorine or chlorine compounds are used in any treatment process; dissolved oxygen, 6.0 mg/l minimum any time; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. The total suspended solid limit in the permit is in conformance with EPA approved Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) for the Youghiogheny River Basin. This permit may be reopened to incorporate the future total maximum daily load requirements. The effluent limits reflect water quality based requirements necessary for compliance with the both Maryland and Pennsylvania water quality standards. 14,000 gallons per day of the 50,000 gpd flow has been reserved to allow the existing BFS Truck Stop (NPDES No. MD0065234) to connect to this WWTP and cease discharging once the Keyser's Ridge WWTP is operational.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by April 20, 2011. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Mr. Stephen Luckman, Chief, Municipal Discharge Permits Division, and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by April 20, 2011, will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination.

Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before April 30, 2011. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-537-3671 or 800-633-6101 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF FINAL DETERMINATION

General Permit for Discharges from the Application of Pesticides

The Department is proposing to issue General Discharge Permit No. 11PE (federal NPDES Permit No. MDG87) for discharges to waters of the State from the application of (1) biological pesticides or (2) chemical pesticides that leave a residue (hereinafter collectively "pesticides"), when the pesticide application is for one of the following pesticide use patterns: mosquito and other flying insect pest control; aquatic weed and algae control; aquatic nuisance animal control; and forest canopy pest control. This general permit is for operators that apply pesticides in or near water. The permit regulates discharges from pesticides applied directly to surface waters to control pests, or applied to control pests that are present in or over, including near, surface waters.

The permit establishes narrative technology-based limitations based on minimizing excess pesticides and implementing integrated pest management practices; establishes narrative water quality based limitations; establishes narrative monitoring requirements, including visual monitoring; and requires development of a pesticide management plan, if operating over a certain threshold. Operators are also required to comply with reporting and record keeping requirements beginning no later than three months after the permit effective date.

The general permit is needed to comply with court-ordered requirements for the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and states to issue national pollutant discharge elimination system (NPDES) permits for both chemical pesticide applications that leave a residue or excess in water and all biological pesticide applications that are made in or over, including near, waters of the United States. EPA has proposed a draft NPDES pesticides general permit to be issued by EPA in states and areas where EPA is the NPDES permitting authority and for use as guidance by Maryland and other states delegated by EPA to issue NPDES permits. Maryland's proposed permit closely follows EPA's proposed pest[illegible]eneral permit. However, Maryland has made some adju[illegible]s to the EPA proposed general permit which allow for transition to the new requirements and provide clarifications for use of the permit in Maryland.

The Department published a tentative permit determination in the Maryland Register on January 3, 2011 and in newspapers across the State during the first two weeks of January regarding the proposed draft permit. The Department held a public hearing concerning the tenta[illegible]e determination on February 8, 2010 at MDE. After considerin[illegible]comments received, and considering discussions with USE[illegible]egarding public comments on the EPA draft permit, the Department has made a final determination to issue the permit with the following changes to the tentative determination:

1) Scope/Eligibility: In Part I. B.4, changed scope of forest canopy spraying to include ground applications. Removed the word "aquatic" from weed and animal control use patterns, and add pathogen control.

2) Thresholds for Pesticide Management Plan: In Part I. H, clarified that for flying insect and forest canopy control, each application counts toward the total. But for animal and weed control, each area shall be counted once only. For animal and weed control, change the threshold from 20 acres to 80 acres. For linear waterways larger than ditches, each side counts separately.

3) Part III.A.2: Removed the term "integrated pest management" and substituted with "pest management measures that minimize pesticide discharges to State waters."

4) Part III.F.2: Adverse incident reports are due within 30 days rather than five days.

5) The permit effective date will correspond to the date required by the federal court for EPA's permit, which at the time of this writing is October 31, 2011.

Nonsubstantive changes to the text have also been made to address typographical errors or to clarify the requirements of the permit. All other proposed terms and conditions of the tentative permit determination remain unchanged.

Any person adversely affected by this final determination may file a petition for judicial review. Petitions for judicial review of a final determination or permit decision subject to judicial review must be filed in accordance with §1-605 of the Environment Article no later than May 9, 2011 (30 days following publication by the Department of this notice of final determination in the Maryland Register), and must be filed in a circuit court in Maryland. Petitions for judicial review must conform to the applicable Maryland Rules of Civil Procedure. Failure to file a petition for judicial review by May 9, 2011 will constitute a waiver of any right to a judicial review of this final determination.

To view and print the final permit, go to the Department's website address at www.mde.state.md.us/waterpermits/Pages/forms.aspx and select "Discharges from the Application of Pesticides" under Industrial General Discharge Permits.

Any questions regarding this final determination, and permit, should be directed to Edward Gertler at the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, at egertler@mde.state.md.us by telephone at 410-537-3323 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Persons seeking to review the final permit and associated file may do so by contacting Mr. Gertler to make an appointment. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page.

4-H Club News

GARRETT HOOF PRINTS
by Brianna LeMay, reporter

The Garrett Hoofprints 4-H Club's March meeting was held at the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack. There were 15 members in attendance, with three guests.

Members were reminded of the Achievement Night at Northern High School this Saturday, April 2, at 6:30 p.m.

Members were also encouraged to participate in the annual Walk for Hospice scheduled for April 30.

The group discussed that the Quality Assurance forms are due by the end of July, and copies should be made for record books.

The group discussed the club's horse shows scheduled for 2011. All shows are held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds starting at 9 a.m. The dates for the horse shows are June 26, July 17, and Sept. 18. The group discussed signing up for various jobs at the shows.

The next meeting will be April 18 at the MSP Barrack at 6 p.m.

CDL Training Scheduled At G'ville Institute

Garrett College is now accepting applications for the next series of courses geared toward training individuals who want to obtain a Class A commercial driver's license (CDL). Training will be held at the Mountaintop Truck Driving Institute in Grantsville.

"Within a matter of weeks, our graduates can be on the road reaping the rewards of the trucking industry," said Terry Beachy, MTDI director.

The weekday training will begin on Monday, April 11, and the weekend session will start on Saturday, April 30.

The weekday option will be offered in a 7.5-week time frame, Monday through Thursday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The weekend option has a duration of 15 weekends, thus, Saturdays and Sundays, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This program offers a professional truck driving curriculum for the purpose of qualifying students for entry level positions as drivers in over-the-road or local driving vehicles.

The short-term training is an intense, fast-paced program, according to Beachy. While attending this 30-day, 210 hours of training, students will receive instruction in the following: pre-trip inspection, various skills in the yard, and over-the-road instruction, along with a basic overview of map reading and log books.

At the completion of training, students will be taken to demonstrate at their local Motor Vehicle Administration office to obtain a Class A license. No prior education or experience with trucks is required.

Applicants are required to have proof of a high school diploma (transcript), GED, or passing score on their ASSET test; possess a current valid license; be at least 18 years of age; be able to pass a Department of Transportation (DOT) physical and drug screen; and communicate in the English language sufficiently, as required by DOT.

For more information or to register for this training, individuals may contact Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terrry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Meetings Slated For Public To Review Budget

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct two public informational meetings to review and receive public commentary on the draft Fiscal Year 2012 Operating and Capital Budget.

"All interested persons are encouraged to attend and provide comments and input," county administrator Monty Pagenhardt said.

These meetings will take place on Tuesday, April 19, with the first session taking place at the Frederick A. Thayer Courthouse in Oakland at 4 p.m. The second session will be conducted at the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department at 7 p.m..

The proposed budget is currently online at www.garrettcounty.org, and copies of the up-to-date projected/draft budget will be available at the meetings.

"Buy American" Bill Approved By Maryland Senate

The Maryland Senate on Tuesday unanimously approved House Bill 12, a measure sponsored by Del. Wendell R. Beitzel (R–Dist. 1A). The measure, dubbed by Beitzel as the "Buy American" bill, was overwhelmingly supported by the Maryland House of Delegates in a vote of 137-1. That vote was taken during the first week of March.

"This is a great jobs bill for Maryland's taxpayers and specifically for the hardworking folks in Garrett County," said Beitzel.

There are at least 20 states that have some form of "Buy American" purchasing preferences. Beitzel's introduction of the bill stemmed from a request from Fechheimer Manufacturing, located in Grantsville. Fechheimer employees 150 workers who make uniforms for state employees in states around the country that have Buy American requirements.

The primary reason Fechheimer is manufacturing uniforms and other items in Grantsville is because other states have the Buy American requirements, according to Beitzel.

"I want to thank chair Joan Carter-Conway and the members of the Education, Health and Environmental Affairs Committee for their

AN EERIE DAY – The weather on Saturday could surely be described as odd, if not eerie, by most folks' standards. While snow fell in fat, ground-covering flakes, the sky also lit up with bolts of lightning and the air rumbled with thunder. Parts of Garrett County received up to 8 inches of snow, while other areas, not far away, were covered in only a skiff. Definitely a strange day, captured well in this photo of Rotary Park in Oakland, taken by Dmitry Ostrogorsky. The sepia tone is real, not added in a photo program. Most of the county was indeed covered in soft, deep snow by Sunday morning, all of it melted by Monday afternoon, when the mercury rose into the mid-70s. The forecast indicates a warming trend now, with only rain predicted and no white stuff for the foreseeable future.

GC Planning Commission Approves Ridgeline Protection Amendments

By a vote of three to two, the Garrett County Planning Commission yesterday decided to proceed with the proposal of adding mountain ridgeline protection text to the county's 2008 Comprehensive Plan.

The vote was as follows: "In Favor of the amendments" – Troy Ellington, Tony Doerr, and Bruce Swift; "against the amendments" – Tim Schwinabart and Gary Fratz. George Brady was in attendance and did not vote. Committee members Bill Weissgerber and Jeff Messenger were not in attendance.

The commission has forwarded its decision to the Garrett County commissioners. The final decision to proceed or not to proceed with amending the plan will be addressed by the commissioners during a public meeting on Tuesday, May 3, at 10 a.m. in their meeting room at the courthouse.

The commissioners and Planning Commission held a joint public hearing on the issue on March 8, so there is no requirement for them to hold another public hearing, county administrator Monty Pagenhardt noted.

The amendments would recognize ridgelines as sensitive areas in need of protection from development, including wind turbine construction. A sentence may also be deleted from the comprehensive plan that reads as follows: "The county further acknowledges property rights of the owners of land that is suitable for wind power facilities to use their property for that purpose."

The plan is not a regulatory document, but it does sug-

Dr. Wendell Teets To Retire From Board of Education

Before adjourning Tuesday's Board of Education meeting, which was held in the cafeteria of Southern Middle School, board president Thomas Carr announced the planned retirement of Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools.

The announcement came as a surprise to many in the audience who attended to hear the superintendant's recommendations for the budget issues currently faced by the school system. When asked to comment on his career and decision to retire, Dr. Teets was quick to praise those he had worked alongside throughout his time in Garrett County.

"I have been extremely honored to have served the students, personnel, and board of education for the past 14 years as superintendant of Garrett County Schools," he said.

"I have worked with many fine individuals over my career, but nothing compares to the quality, dedication, and work ethic of our personnel and our students in Garrett County."

Prior to accepting his current position as superintendent in July of 1997, Teets held the same position for the school system in Taylor County, W.Va, for eight years. After earning his doctorate in education from West Virginia University in 1980, Teets also held numerous administrative offices at Alderson-Broaddus College in Phillippi, W.Va.

"I am completing my twenty-second year as a superintendent, and not many individuals have had the opportunity to spend this many years serving students," Teets stated.

"When I add eight years as a college dean/department chair, six years as an assistant superintendent, two years as a high school principal, and one year as a middle school principal, I have spent the past 39 years as an administrator. I think it is time to change my pace in life, spend more time with my children and grandchildren, and move on to the next chapter of our lives."

Among the many accolades earned during his 14 years within the Garrett County school system, Teets was named Maryland Superintendent of the Year for 2005-06 and in the same year received the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce Presidential Award. In 2002-

CRHG Meeting To Address DNR ORV Trail Study

The Citizens' Rights and Heritage Group (CRHG) will meet on Sunday, April 17, at the Avilton Community Center at 6 p.m. The topic of the meeting will be the response to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources off-road vehicle trail study. The deadline for public input is Saturday, April 30.

The report looks at the impacts to eastern brook trout from the Poplar Lick ORV Trail, in addition to a statewide off-road vehicle trail study.

"We conducted a very rigorous review of these trails," said Steven W. Koehn, director of the DNR Forest Service and state forester, who oversees the management of state forest lands where trails are located.

The report is available for review and to make

Commissioners Approve Water System Projects

The Garrett County commissioners on Tuesday unanimously approved construction of the Thayerville Water System and improvements to the McHenry Water System. Public hearings on the projects were held last month at Garrett College.

The Thayerville project will provide water to Deep Creek Lake residents and businesses in the Mountainside and Thayerville areas. Garrett County Department of Public Utilities director Linda Lindsey said the project will cost $8.3 million.

The cost includes planning, design, rights of way purchases, water storage tanks, a booster station, and a water treatment plant. The ad valorem tax method will be used for the project's debt repayment.

"The water quality in that area is poor, and it will add fire protection for that area, especially for restaurants and other businesses," the director said about the new system.

She noted that two viable water sources have been found and will be developed for the new service area.

For several years, Mountainside property owners have experienced numerous private well failures and water quality problems. They petitioned the county in September 2005 to establish a public system.

The service area will include properties along Rt. 219 in the vicinity of Thayerville, beginning at the Rt. 219 bridge, south to Glendale Road, Glendale Road from Rt. 219 to the Glendale bridge, and south along Rt. 219 for approximately .6 mile from the intersection of Glendale Road and Rt. 219.

Lindsay said some land easements need to be purchased, and plans need to be finalized and put out for bids, but she hopes to have the project finished by next summer or early fall.

The director indicated that the McHenry improvements project can move forward immediately, as that system is already established. The $2.8 million project will include new waterlines, development of water sources, a water storage and water treatment plant along Gravelly Run Road, booster station controls along

CROSCO TAKES FIRST IN NAT'L CHEER CONTEST – Regina Crosco, 17, Mtn. Lake Park, traveled to Ocean City this past weekend, representing Garrett County and Maryland at the American Cheer and Dance Academy "Reach the Beach" National Championships in Ocean City. There she took the first place trophy in the Hip Hop Solo Individual category, and then garnered first place in a freestyle compeition, which broke out at a celebration after the official competition on Friday evening. After winning the Maryland Cup title for the third year in a row, and seeing her overall score climb higher each year, she said she felt confident in reaching her goal of a national title. Regina is a member of Jessica's Dance Creations of Loch Lynn. "I am so proud of Regina," said her coach, Jessica Crosco. "She just has that natural ability to dance." Regina is the daughter of Roger and Kim Crosco. She attends and teaches at Jessica's Dance Creations and is a senior at Southern High School. Superintendent Recommends; Close Kitzmiller and Bloomington Schools

Closing two of Garrett County's 11 elementary schools this August was the final recommendation of superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets given at the Board of Education meeting held at Southern Middle School on Tuesday.

This recommendation came at the conclusion of a presentation given by Teets on the school system's current budget dilemma. In this presentation Teets assessed the current state of finance for Garrett County schools and made speculative assessments of the system's future.

In a review of potential fiscal year 2012 state aid, it was stated that Garrett County was one of only six districts in Maryland that would see an increase in wealth. As the state's wealth as a whole is projected to contract by 2.58 percent, it was stated that Garrett County will see a 4.95 percent increase in wealth and also an enrollment loss of 2.36 percent. The report went on to outline the adverse effects of these factors on future state aid to the Garrett County school system.

It was also stated that beginning in the fall of 2009, a system wide review was conducted of numerous budgetary considerations. These included a review of the school system's transportation efficiency, the possible effects of redistricting, and the savings obtainable through SCHEFFEL NATIONAL RUNNER-UP – All-American wrestler Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel, a senior at Southern High School, is now the second-ranked senior high school wrestler in the United States, having earned second place in the 2011 Senior National High School Coaches Association Wrestling Tournament held this past week at Virginia Beach, Va. Scheffel, pictured above right, was edged by a 3-2 score by Chris Klapprodt of South Dakota, center, in the championship bout of the 171-pound division. Placing third was Josh Snook of Delaware, pictured left. The 171-pound division included 57 of the nation's top grapplers, including 27 state champions. En route to the title bout. Scheffel recorded major decisions over Logan Molina of Nebraska, 9-0, John De Vito of Arizona, 10-0, and Matthew Van Der Meer of Michigan, 13-5, decisioned Brandon Pederson of Minnesota, 10-3, and recorded a first-period pin of undefeated Ricky McDonald of Nevada. Southern High teammate and fellow state champion Lex Ozias placed fourth in the 145-pound division. Northern High senior Matt Thomas also qualified for and competed in the 140-pound division of the tournament. Both Scheffel and Ozias will continue their academic and athletic careers at Virginia Tech this fall.

HONORED THIS WEEK by the Garrett county commissioners for being a Maryland Class 1A Girls Basketball State Finalist for only the second time in school's history were the members of the Northern High School girls' varsity. (See front-page photo.) The photo above was taken following the championship game, played at the University of Maryland Baltimore County. The Huskies fell to perennial powerhouse Dunbar High in the title game, 80-62, but finished a dream season with a school record of 23 victories. SHS STUDENTS BRING HOME TOP HONORS FROM STATE CONTEST – Several SHS students traveled with their instructors to Baltimore on Saturday, March 26, to compete in the 38th annual Maryland Leadership and Skills Conference. There were approximately 1,076 competitors in various skill areas. Of the Southern High students, three placed in the top three positions in the state in their individual competition areas. Ben Dicks, son of Joel and Michele Rowe, placed first in Cabinet Making. Jason Friend, son of Todd and Deleta Friend, placed third in that same division, and Cody Sliger, son of Bo and Candy Sliger, placed first in Precision Machine Technology. The two first-place winners will now advance to the National SkillsUSA Convention in Kansas City, Mo., June 20-25, to represent the state of Maryland in their competition areas. Loren Bowser, carpentry teacher and lead SkillsUSA advisor, and Jared Roth, machine tool technology teacher, will accompany Ben and Cody to Kansas City in June. Garage Damaged By Blaze; Cause Still Undetermined

The cause of a fire that did significant damage to a residential garage in the Accident area Monday afternoon remains under investigation by Maryland state fire marshal personnel.

Volunteers from the Accident and Bittinger fire departments were summoned to 1707 Accident-Bittinger Road at 3:30 p.m. after a neighbor saw the fire and called 911.

Upon their arrival, firefighters found heavy smoke and flames coming from the two-bay, wood-frame detached residential garage. It took about two dozen firefighters about 15 minutes to bring the fire under control.

The property is owned by Sandy Hewitt. Deputy State Fire Marshal Jamie Rodeheaver estimated the damages to be $15,000 to the structure and another $5,000 to contents. He reported that the fire originated in the interior of the structure, but that the specific cause is still undetermined.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade unit and the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

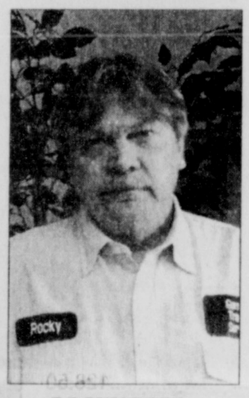
GTS Drivers To Be Participants In State Roadeo



ROCKY FORD

The Transportation Association of Maryland (TAM) will host its 17th annual Statewide Roadeo in Baltimore on Saturday, April 16, and three drivers from the Garrett Transit Service will be among the competitors, according to John Hill, director of transportation for Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.

They are Rocky Ford, who placed third in the national competition last year, Jim Kisner, and Matthew Paugh.

The TAM Roadeo is an opportunity for drivers to gain recognition for their driving skills locally and nationally in two classes of completion: Small Bus or Van.

"The Roadeo is designed to test a driver's limits," said a spokesperson for TAM. "It allows drivers to meet others in the transportation profession and have a good time. It's a full day of competition and fun in which contestants must demonstrate their skills in driving, wheelchair loading and securement, and pre-trip inspections.

Commissioners Meet SHA Staff, Hear Proj. Report

State Highway Administration District 6 staff members on Tuesday introduced themselves to the Garrett County commissioners and reviewed pending projects. Superintendent Jay Moyer and engineer Dwight Emory of the Garrett County Roads Department also attended the meeting.

District 6 engineer Tony Crawford reported that a left-turn phase will be added to the traffic light at the intersection of Rt. 39 and Rt. 219 in Oakland. Currently, drivers who want to left from Rt. 39 onto Rt. 219 North (Third Street) find it difficult to do so during heavy traffic. As a result, traffic is often backed up along Rt. 39, especially on the CSX bridge.

In addition, many drivers often avoid that situation and take alternate routes through downtown Oakland, creating more traffic congestion in that area.

Crawford said he hopes the project can take place this summer to help alleviate congestion issues.

The engineer also reported that SHA plans to extend the center turning lane on Rt. 219 in Oakland closer to town. The lane currently runs from Taco Bell to about 7-Eleven.

"They do provide a nice, safe recovery area for people turning left, keeping them out of the flow of traffic," Crawford said about center lanes.

He noted that "historically" when someone wanted to turn left while traveling on Rt. 219 through Oakland, traffic would back up on the shoulders of the highway.

Current active SHA projects include resurfacing work. He noted a contract was awarded to resurface Rt. 546 in the Finzel area. The engineer said that work would resume when weather conditions improve.

Paving projects are also planned for Rt. 496 and, perhaps, Rt. 560.

"We keep a master list and prioritize," Crawford said about resurfacing projects.

The engineer also told the commissioners that streetscape projects have been "shelved" statewide because of funding issues, including central office staff reductions.

The findings presented the potential savings through the majority of these possible changes inadequate to the task of fiscal sustainability in the foreseen budget crisis. Though it would not be the only measure taken to correct the budget deficit, the one consideration shown to be potentially most effect and least detrimental to the school system as a whole was the closing of the most costly schools in operation, namely Kitzmiller and Bloomington elementary schools.

Of all the public school's within Garrett County, Bloomington and Kitzmiller were shown to have the highest projection in future costs, as well as the lowest trend in growth in terms of enrollment. It was stated that the total cost per student for Bloomington and Kitzmiller was $13,305 per annum and $7,444 per annum, respectively.

Bloomington was also shown to have the largest costs in facilities per pupil of any Garrett County school. Though both schools were considered to be in good shape currently, it was presented that state aid would most likely be unavailable for future repairs and renovations due to low enrollment.

In a detailed proposal of best-case scenario reductions the closure cost savings of Bloomington totaled $443,861. It was also reported that Kitzmiller's closure cost savings would be $371,705.

If the superintendent's recommendation is adopted, Bloomington elementary students would be transferred to Broad Ford Elementary School at the start of the 2011-12 school year, while Kitzmiller elementary students would be transferred to Yough Glades Elementary School.

It was stated that if the closures were enacted, any program currently offered to students at either school would continue to be offered to those students.

THE PINES AT CORTLAND

An Awful Situation...

With the Garrett County Board of Education facing a several-million-dollar budget reduction coming into the next fiscal year, and the unfortunate prospect that the county commissioners are not going to make up for much of that deficit, a number of relatively drastic measures are now being considered by board of ed. personnel. Probably the most controversial is the proposed closing of Bloomington and Kitzmiller elementary schools, a move that would save an estimated $815,500.

The loss of the community school is one of the more devastating events that can occur in the lives of the folks who live there, as the school tends to serve as the focal point – the very heart – of the town in many ways. The loss of the community school also means that the students, from pre-kindergarten through high school, many of whom are accustomed to walking to school, must instead get on a bus and travel significant distances to get to their new school. The fact that the residents of Bloomington and Kitzmiller are greatly saddened by this prospect is completely understandable.

However, with the current funding crisis faced not only by our school system, but by the county in general, some of these painful, drastic measures are necessary, and the closing of these two schools seems not only necessary, but also the fairest and a fiscally prudent thing to do.

The numbers do not lie. The fact is, that because of dramatically falling student populations in these two schools, the cost of educating the students who go there is soaring. The cost of educating a student at Bloomington School in terms of staffing and facility (building costs), based upon current student population, is now $13,305. That is more than double than that of any other elementary school in the county, with the exception of Kitzmiller, where the cost is $7,444 per student. Of the 11 elementary schools in the county, the one with the lowest cost per student is Broad Ford at $4,763, or nearly one-third that of a Bloomington student.

The aforementioned estimated savings would be roughly the amount needed to finance 15 teaching positions. Stated another way, it could save 15 current teachers from possibly losing their jobs, as job cuts are among the other measures being considered. The amount also equates closely to the county's cost of the various enrichment programs, including all athletics, band, drama, and the robotics program. It almost goes without saying how devastating the loss of all of these programs would be to every single student in the county.

Besides the financial impact, one also must consider the quality of education being received by the students in these two small schools, even with highly qualified teachers and staff. While there is lots of valuable individual attention available in small classes, a class of a handful of children, typically representing more than one grade, is being short-changed in other ways. A teacher who has pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, and first grade students combined, for example, must direct her focus toward each individual age group several times each day, and essentially ignore the others during those times, as not all levels of teaching and learning are the same for each of the age groups in the room.

No one knows how the members of the elected board of education will vote on this issue in two weeks. It is a tough, emotional, awful situation for the residents of these two municipalities, which is what makes the decision to close the schools so difficult. But the board members must not lose sight of their primary objective, which is to always make the decision that is in the best interest of the majority of students in our system. That is the philosophy of retiring superintendent Wendell Teets, who has certainly lost much sleep agonizing over this and the school budget in general for months.

A decision to keep these schools open will not be fiscally prudent, it will not be in the best interest of the majority, and in some respects, from an educational standpoint, it will not even be in the best interest of Bloomington and Kitzmiller students.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

This letter is to thank the Mtn. Lake Park Mayor and Town Council for their attention to and consideration in changing the town building permit fees.

This past fall I took this issue to the mayor and council, and my concern was put on the agenda prior to the monthly meeting. I asked if the current town building permit fees could be reviewed, and if they would consider revising the fees. As it stood at the time, the fee to build a home was the same as to build a deck, shed, etc.

Mayor Leo Martin assured me that they would review the fee information. Within a short period of time, the information was reviewed and the fees were revised to a much more moderate affordable rate for smaller projects.

I was treated with the utmost respect at the meeting, and I encourage the residents of Mtn. Lake Park to attend the monthly meetings and meet the people who represent our community.

To the Editor:

It is so heartbreaking that just this past week two small, local businesses had to throw in the towel because of the bad economy. My husband Sid and I have owned and operated "Stop & Go U-Haul" for almost 15 years. We had to cut our hours due to overhead, lack of business, and fuel prices. We were told just last week that the U-Haul Company is opening another dealership at Long Branch, less than a mile away from our location. We told U-Haul that we had to quit because of their opening a new one so close.

We have met so many people through our U-Haul business. There were a few stinkers who would come in drunk or argumentative, and we would just ask them to leave. (No profanity allowed at our business.)

Then, too, we have had people come back many times just to visit or for counsel. Prosperity is more than dollars.

We have had the blessing of friends not known. People saw us in different ways. Heathens and saints, rich and poor, saved and unsaved, precious people who have become a big part of our lives; people who have been there for us through thick and thin.

The real purpose of this letter is to tell the community we did our best to serve them, as I am sure the other closed businesses did. We want to thank all, including you, Mr. Editor, who rented a trailer from us the day before 9/11 to go to New York City. We rented a 6x12 trailer to the young lady who shot the biggest bear in Maryland. The Amish community has rented trailers that they pull behind their tractors. The list goes on.

Please visit our "Stuff & Things" shop in Loch Lynn. We still want to see and talk with the community.

Sincerely thankful,
Sandi and Sid Nazelrod

To the Editor:

To all ATV and equestrian riders in Garrett County: Have you read the latest report from the Department of Natural Resources? They have announced the results of their Off-Road Vehicle Trail Studies which speaks to the environmental impact of off-road use by equestrians, ATYs, and bicycles on the state trails. While the DNR site says "the assessment provides a starting point for dialogue," they immediately closed the Poplar Lick trail (Savage River) and will close the Green Ridge trail on April 24!

The report continually refers to these trails as "the DNR's land" – a misstatement or a true indicator to the DNR's attitude about the property owned by us Maryland residents.

Historically the DNR (a well as other state organizations) responds to issues and changes by immediately rescinding our rights. In this case, they cite the rise ORV registrations in the state as a looming problem for the parks vs. an opportunity — an opportunity to serve these riders and care for the parks' environments. Have they considered the successful models in other states (e.g., Hatfield-McCoy Trails in W.Va.) as an option that would bring business (and tax revenue) to our county?

The wheels in Annapolis are turning. Everyone with an ATV, a horse, or a bike who likes to ride on trails needs to provide comment to Pete Peditto, director of DNR Wildlife and Heritage Service. The full report can be found online at www.dnr.maryland.gov/forests/ovrreport.asp. The deadline for comments is April 30.

The DNR will surely decide in favor of closing the trails unless we express other options and remind them whom they work for.

Sincerely
Donald O. Crowe

To the Editor:

Wearing felt-soled waders or wading boots in any body of water in Maryland is now illegal because it is dangerous to the ecosystem. The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) made this decision after extensively researching the danger felt presents, while collecting input through public outreach and discussion with stakeholders and citizens.

Research shows felt soles harbor and spread didymo (rock snot) and other harmful organisms, such as whirling disease, which is fatal to trout. They can also harbor and transport other harmful species like New Zealand mud snails, golden algae, and parasitic organisms.

Felt is porous and easily picks up microscopic organisms. Felt remains damp for weeks, keeping harmful organisms alive.

Some of the world's best fishing streams have been infested with rock snot. New Zealand has banned felt soles, and Alaska and Vermont will soon follow. DNR biologists found didymo in Gunpowder Falls in 2008 and responded with educational efforts and wader wash stations. Despite these efforts, didymo appeared in the Savage River in 2010. Once introduced to a stream, there is no way to control rock snot.

Didymo can quickly multiply into a yellow-brown mass that may dominate sections of a river, damaging its beauty and changing its biology. Thick mats of algae may develop, making fishing difficult.

We understand that some anglers could be unaware of this new law. For this reason, Natural Resources police will initially focus on education, issuing a warning providing information to anyone wearing felt-soled boots or waders. But everyone will have replace their felt soles.

New rubber-soled waders offer excellent traction. DNR field biologists have been using these boots years with great success.

DNR is charged with protection of our natural resources. But all river users have a role to play in protecting our waters. We need to remove mud and debris from our gear and wader wash stations. Avoiding felt soles is the single most effective measure we can take to reduce spread of aquatic invaders.

Ultimately, all of us have a responsibility to leave healthy ecosystems and clean, beautiful streams to future generations.

To the Editor:

Two letters to the editor were recently published questioning my involvement in legislative efforts to place a moratorium on Marcellus shale development Garrett County. Those individuals questioned whether I should participate in this debate because I own land in Garrett County.

This is an issue that I have personally addressed to the Joint Committee on Legislative Ethics. I have also filed necessary paperwork with that committee stating my property ownership. In a recent letter, William Somerville, counsel to the committee, underscored the importance of a citizen legislature.

He states in his letter, 'The benefits of participation, notwithstanding a conflict, are seen when legislators are allowed to be fully involved in legislation on subjects about which they are most knowledgeable. Therefore farmers should participate in the debate on agriculture bills and physicians can share their expertise on health care issues. Only in the case of a conflict that involves a very direct and personal financial interest will recusal from legislative activity be required by the Ethics Law."

A "direct and personal financial interest" has been construed to mean three very narrow things. First, the legislator is the only person, or one of a small number of persons, affected by the legislation. Second, the person would be affected to a significantly greater degree than any other. Third, the person's salary or other compensation is specifically set by legislation.

In this case, a large number of landowners can potentially lease their property because the Marcellus shale rests under all of Garrett County. Therefore, everyone who owns land could stand to benefit. Therefore, there is no "direct and personal" conflict.

Further, my position has been greatly exaggerated. I believe that Marcellus shale drilling can, and should, be done responsibly. That is why I introduced legislation for MDE to further refine the standards that they currently have in place. MDE has the authority to promulgate regulations to govern drilling for natural gas. They can continue research on their own without creating brand new levels of bureaucracy. MDE even has authority already to set permit fees to cover the cost of regulating well drilling.

As a matter of fact, one individual in particular who is now leading the opposition to Marcellus shale drilling stated to me personally that he supported the efforts proposed by Senator Edwards and myself. Unfortunately, it appears partisan aspirations have silenced that support.

Sincerely,
Wendell R. Beitzel

To the Editor:

To expand upon the budget discussion... After 1996 commissioners doubled educational spending, salaries exploded while student populations declined and buildings decayed. While some departments (e.g., roads, health departments) are well managed, the school board isn't the only incompetently managed bureaucracy; it seems fair to ask, how much more fiscal malpractice do commissioners want to inflict on taxpayers?

Compare county government with private sector population, compensation, and staff levels since 1996, and advocacy for continuing fiscal incompetence goes away pretty quick. In boom years, Garrett County bureaucrats based economic development on corporate welfare and big government, while today's prosperous rural counties stayed lean and diversified their economies, investing in broadband and technical education.

The big economic development success here is... what? Is it that tourists can ride white elephants from Marsh Mountain to the airport? Or is it that county government salaries average 33% higher than the private sector and buy silence about senior administrative failures and occasional perceptions of malice?

A recent news article seemed to indicate the updated economic development plan depends more on luck than the old one. That is no small achievement. Reduced to bare bones the plan seems to be, if God provides the gas lode, then enough voters might prosper that bureaucrats can tax and spend like it's 2005 again and no one will notice. Again. In the old plan, "state/federal government" went where "God" is and "revenue sharing" went were "gas lode" is. Same bureaucrats. Similar plan. More luck required.

Einstein's second-most famous observation is relevant: One definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over and expecting different results. Grandmother Pearl DeWitt observed that good intentions pave the path to hell. No one questions the good intentions of incompetent bureaucrats bumbling their way toward retirement; the question is, "Can they lead us out of this fiscal wilderness?" The answer is, "No. They are damaged goods."

These are the same bureaucrats who didn't understand the budget effects of wildly inflated lake assessments and windmill farms. Nothing indicates they understand shale gas is basically revenue neutral as well. Increasing budgets of incompetents and expecting competent results is, according to Einstein, insane.

It is time for a new plan. It is time for new leaders willing and able to do more with less.

If the commissioners hold the budget line now and cut future obligations, we are better off.

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch

favorable consideration of this measure," he said.

This is the second year that Beitzel sponsored this legislation. The membership of the House Health and Government Operations Committee amended both last year's and this year's measures to include that committee's membership as co-sponsors to the bill. This process is known as a "sponsor" amendment.

The legislation also provides an exemption to the bill's requirements if the quality, quantity or cost of the American made product provides a hardship on the department participating in the procurement process.

The bill is now sent to the governor's desk for his signature. If signed into law, the bill will take effect on Oct. 1.

Town Hall Meetings About Prescription Drug Abuse Slated

The Garrett County Health Department has scheduled a series of town hall meetings to highlight the problem of prescription drug abuse in Garrett County and around the country.

The public is invited to participate in meetings at the following locations and times:

•Friday, April 8, at the Deer Park Community Building from 6 to 8 p.m.

•Monday, April 11, at Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad in Friendsville from 6 to 8 p.m.

•Friday, April 15, at the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Deparatment from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

•Monday, April 25, at Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad in Mtn. Lake Park from 6 to 8.

"A report issued in March showed that prescription drug abuse in Maryland is rising at an alarming rate," said a Health Department spokesperson. "According to a 2009 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Administration National Survey, more than 7 million Americans currently abuse prescription drugs. Each day about 2,500 teens use prescription drugs to get high for the first time, according to Partnership for a Drug Free America."

As a follow-up to the town meetings, Garrett County agencies are teaming up with the Drug Enforcement Agency on Saturday, April 30, to hold Prescription Drug "Take-Back" events throughout Garrett County. Interested persons are asked to watch for more information on locations and times in their areas.

Prescription Drug Take-Back events are designed to protect communities and the environment by disposing of expired or unused prescriptions and over-the-counter medications. Proper disposal of these medications eliminates the possibility of potential abuse and environmental contamination.

In addition to the Drug Enforcement Agency, Garrett County's Take-Back events are being sponsored by the GC Sheriff's Office, Drug Free Communities Coalition, and the Health Department.

For more information about town hall meetings or Prescription Drug Take-Back events, persons may call the Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Next Marcellus Shale Program Slated At GC

The University of Maryland Extension will host a panel discussion titled "The Community Impacts of Marcellus Shale Natural Gas Drilling" next Wednesday, April 13, at 7 p.m. in the Garrett College auditorium. Three speakers will present their perspectives on how drilling has affected the environment and their personal property. They will also discuss national energy issues.

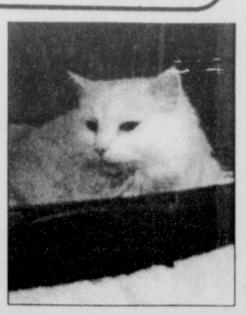
Dr. John Stolz, professor of environmental microbiology at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, is director of the Duquesne Center for Environmental Research and Education. He has published more than 60 journal articles and contributed to more than 30 books in his field. He is currently investigating the environmental impacts of shale gas extraction on water resources. His presentation will rely on aerial photography to examine land-use issues in southwestern Pennsylvania's gas industry.

Ron Gulla is a resident of southwestern Pennsylvania whose contact with the gas industry dates from 2005 when Range Resources drilled the second Marcellus well in Pennsylvania on his property. Gulla will share his personal experiences, including the purchase earlier this year of his 141-acre farm near Hickory by Range after years of industrial gas development that Gulla says rendered it uninhabitable. His efforts to educate landowners have earned him an international reputation.

Nadia Steinzor is the regional Marcellus representative for the Oil & Gas Accountability Project of Earthworks, a national organization dedicated to protecting communities and the environment from the destructive effects of mineral development. She will provide a comprehensive overview of OGAP's work in the Eastern U.S., with an emphasis on how the gas rush interacts with energy issues facing the country.

Persons who have a financial/disability need that requires special assistance for participation in this program may telephone the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Adorable Adoptables



DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS DOG? The small black and white mixed breed dog pictured above at left was found as a stray along Mosser Road. Its sibling is still at large. "If you recognize this dog, please contact the owner and/or the Garrett County Animal Shelter," said a Humane Society spokesperson. Also at the county shelter is a female mastiff mix who was given up by her owner; a collie mix named Coco, who is very scared and would be best in a home without children; and a white cat patiently waiting in her box for someone to take her home. Last week's featured tabby cat was adopted this week, and several dogs went to rescues via HART. "Many dogs are being brought into the shelter that have been given up by their owners, and others are picked up with no identification," noted the spokesperson. "Please spend a few dollars on an ID tag for your pet so you can be contacted right away when it is found." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

DOES ANYONE CARE?
Do you feel hurt, forgotten, forsaken, or perhaps rejected? If so, you may be asking yourself, "Does anyone in this whole world care?"
The good news is that, yes, there is One who does indeed care more than anyone of us could ever imagine. When your last friend has left, your last dollar is spent, and there is no one left to turn to, you can be well assured that Jesus still cares. In fact, the Lord stated clearly, "Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love." - Jeremiah 31:3
He is so concerned about you that He is mindful of even the most minute details of your life. We are told in the Word of God, "even the very hairs of your head are all numbered." - Luke 12:7
Perhaps you may feel that you have sinned too greatly and that now He will not respond to you. The Bible assures us that "God commendeth [or proved] His love toward us in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." - Romans 5:8 Although we are all sinners, Christ cared so much for us that He was willing to suffer and die on the cross and pay the complete penalty for all of our sins. "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that He rose again the third day according to the scriptures." - 1 Corinthians 15:3-4
Jesus Christ loves you so much that He desires you to come to Him in faith today and be saved. "For He saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succoured thee: behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." - 2 Corinthians 6:2
While is may seem that no one else in this whole world cares about you, Jesus certainly does! He wants to carry your load of heartache and sorrows. He says to "cast thy burden upon the Lord and He shall sustain thee..." - Psalm 55:22.
He calls you right now, "come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." - Matthew 11:22.
Jesus wants to help you, He wants to be there for you, but He will not step in until you call on Him. "Casting all your care upon Him: for He careth for you." - 1 Peter 5:7.
The question now is, "Do you care enough to accept what He has done for you?" The Bible tells us, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." - Romans 10:13.
Today, if you would like to be receive Christ as your Savior, just bow your head and pray this simple prayer:
God, I know that I am a sinner. I now repent of my sins and ask you to come into my heart and life and save me. In Jesus Name I pray. Amen.
If you prayed this prayer, we would like to hear from you and send you further information on the Christian life.

MARJORIE E. MINNICK

Marjorie Eileen Minnick, 85, Mt. Storm, W.Va., died Sunday, April 3, 2011, at the Heartland of Keyser Nursing Home.

Born on Oct. 23, 1925, she was a daughter of the late Alma Ross and Helen (Anderson) Hanlin. She was also preceded in death by her husband of 52 years, Ernest "Boots" Minnick, on Feb. 28, 1999; and two sisters, Mildred Coleman and Rosalie "Pete" Flesher.

Mrs. Minnick, along with her late husband, owned and operated Minnick's Grocery Store and Amoco, Mt. Storm, until their retirement in 1987.

She was a member of Mt. Storm United Methodist Church, where she was a member of the chancel choir for many years. She served as a 4-H leader for many years and was one of the original charter members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Mount Storm Volunteer Fire Department. She loved music and singing and was an avid reader.

She is survived by her children, Randy Minnick and wife Kathy, and Kathy Pacella and husband Paul, all of Mt. Storm; one brother, Larry Hanlin and wife Beverly, Fork Union, Va.; three sisters, Wanda Clark, Mt. Storm, Wilda Beckwith, Lusby, and Lois Luffey and husband Charles, Lexington Park; five grandchildren, Meredith Idleman and Corey VanMeter, Mt. Storm, Travis Minnick, Elk Garden, W.Va., Ashley Lambka, Mt. Storm, and Jordan Pacella, Morgantown, W.Va.; and five great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received on Friday from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. at Mt. Storm United Methodist Church, where a service will be conducted on Saturday, April 9, at 11 a.m., with Rev. John Wolfe and Mr. James Collette officiating.

Friends may also call at the church one hour prior to the service.

Interment will be held in Mt. Storm Cemetery.

Smith Funeral Home, Keyser (W.Va.) Chapel, is in charge of arrangements.

To honor Eileen's love of reading, the family requests that memorial contributions be directed to the Friends of the Allegheny Mt. Top Public Library, P.O. Box 161, Mt. Storm, WV 26739.

Online condolences and personal reflections to the family may be left after Mrs. Minnick's obituary at www.smithfuneralhomes.net.

RUTH C. WILLOUGHBY

Ruth C. (Conrad) (Oxford) Willoughby, 71, Oakland, passed away on Friday, April 1, 2011, at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born June 18, 1939, in Washington, D.C., she was a daughter of the late Raymond E. Conrad and Nona (Kyle) Butts, formerly of Frostburg. She was also preceded in death by her husbands, Douglas Oxford Sr. and Larry Willoughby; and Jack and Dona Jeanne Oxford, formerly of Barberton, Ohio.

Ruth worked in the nursing profession most of her life. Although raised in Frostburg, where she attended Beall High School, she spent her first marriage as a military wife and traveled extensively. Ruth led an interesting life and had "been everywhere and done everything." She and her second husband Larry traveled the country in search of adventure and in her later years settled in Dillon, S.C.

In 2005, Ruth moved back to Oakland, where she became known in town as "the lady with the dog" because she was seen everywhere with her service dog MoMo, a chocolate Lab, who accompanied her everywhere. She was an accomplished artist and fisherman who had many friends because of her talkative nature.

She is survived by her stepsons, Douglas (Susan) Oxford, Oakland, Lee (Stacy) Oxford, Salisbury, Pa., and Lonnie Willoughby, Florida; and stepdaughters Sue Solomon, California, Chauna Sidwell, Oregon, and Chanon Willoughby, Colorado. She had numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren: Jesse, Brian, Alison, Kristen, Erin, Kyle, Ryder, Kylie, Cadence, Madison, and Macy. She is also survived by one sister, Colleen (Bo) White, Gambrills, and one brother, Larry Conrad, Annapolis; and numerous nephews and nieces.

She will also be deeply missed by her best friend Loretta Riley and her constant companion MoMo.

Ruth was a Gift of Body Donor at West Virginia School of Medicine. She chose to have her ashes "thrown to the wind" atop Maryland's Highest Point, Hoye Crest, on Backbone Mountain.

A celebration of her life will be held at Broadford Lake, Oakland, in May.

Memorials may take the form of contributions to the Garrett County Humane Society, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550.

RUDOLPH T. KOVACH SR.

Rudolph "Rudy" T. Kovach Sr., 86, Davis, W.Va., passed away suddenly on Saturday, April 2, 2011, at Lee Memorial Hospital, Ft. Myers, Fla.

Born Feb. 24, 1925, in Thomas, W.Va., he was a son of the late Andy and Mary Malavits Kovach. He was also preceded in death by two sisters, Mary Kastelic and Betty White; and four brothers, Frank, Andy, Harry, and Edward Kovach.

Rudy graduated from Thomas High School and served in the U.S. Army as private first class and received the ATO Ribbon Victory Medal. After WWII, he worked as a factory worker in Cleveland, Ohio, drove a taxi in Davis, and worked in his family restaurant.

He then began his 28-year career working at Forestry Camp for boys, which was later named the Davis Center, from which he retired.

He married Freda Bernadine Cousin on June 7, 1960.

He was a member of St. Veronica's Catholic Church, Davis, and St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church, Thomas.

Rudy was a loving husband and father, and will be sorely missed by his family and friends.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by three sons, Rudy T. Kovach Jr., Davis, Robert Andrew Kovach and Megan M. Re, New York, N.Y., and Randall Wesley and Cindy M. Kovach, Ft. Myers; one grandson, Hudson Harper Kovach, Ft. Myers, whom he loved dearly; and one brother, Junior "Bill" Kovach, Thomas.

Friends will be received at Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis, on Friday from 5 to 8:30 p.m.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be conducted on Saturday, April 9, at St. Thomas at 11 a.m., with Fr. Timothy Grassi officiating.

Interment will follow at Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Thomas.

Condolence may be sent to the family at P.O. Box 512, Davis, WV 26260.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the town of Davis, P.O. Box 207, Davis, WV 26260; or the Davis Volunteer Fire Department, P.O. Box 215, Davis, WV 26260.

Weather History

April 8, 1926 - An oil depot fire set by lightning boiled over and engulfed 900 acres near San Luis Obispo, Calif. Many tornado vortices resulted from the intense heat of the fire. One such tornado traveled 1,000 yards, picked up a house, and carried it 150 feet, killing the occupants.

April 9, 1947 - A tornado struck Woodward, Okla. during the late evening, killing 95 people and causing six million dollars in damage. The tornado, traveling at a speed of 68 mph, killed a total of 167 people and injured 980 others along its 221-mile path from Texas into Kansas.

Miriam Sincell Joins Law Firm Of R.E. Watson

Attorney Robert E. Watson recently invited Miriam Sincell, Esq. to join him in his law office in Oakland.

Ms. Sincell, who holds a bachelor's degree from Bucknell University, graduated from the University of Richmond's School of Law in 2009 and joined the Maryland Bar in December of 2009. Since that time, she has practiced in Garrett County as a sole attorney, focusing primarily on family law. She is the chair of the local bar association's Pro Bono Committee.

Watson has practiced law in Garrett County and across Maryland for the past 32 years in both criminal and civil law. He is known primarily as a trial lawyer, and has tried many cases before trial courts, juries, appellate courts, and arbitration panels, including automobile accident and other personal injury cases, murder cases, child custody and divorce, DWI, drug related cases, boundary disputes and zoning issues, among others.

"I expect to learn much from Mr. Watson, and am extremely honored by this opportunity," Ms. Sincell said.

HUSKY Notes

AFTER-PROM MEETING

There will be an after-prom meeting on Wednesday, April 13, at 7 p.m. in Room 200 at Northern High School. All parents, guardians, and other interested persons are invited to attend this meeting to help plan the all-night party for students on the night of the prom (May 14).

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I guess we can't have a minimum IQ requirement for people to qualify for being a senator. But it makes sense that they should be able to pass a moderately serious exam on the Constitution.

But apparently some in Congress didn't read the Constitution, because in its preamble it says that the purpose of government is to provide for the common good. And that means all Americans, not just upper class white people.

Some people have an extremely hostile opinion toward higher education. They think it may brainwash them into liberal zombies, which is completely ridiculous. My college years were full of wonderful learning experiences, and prepared me well for three careers.

And the future will require better, not less, education. Even now, college educated people have the lowest employment rate. There is no wide bottom of the pyramid of learners to produce workers to replace the baby boomers. Plus we are also facing a mass retirement from our teacher force.

I had perhaps six teachers and/or professors who inspired me and taught me some valuable life lessons. Most important, they taught me critical thinking, which is the most important skill in the world. In problem solving, you must examine each alternative and examine supporting arguments for each. But you can't only use one thing as an argument: your personal religious beliefs. Not that you must ignore that, but you need more than just that.

From the dawn of human life on planet Earth, humans have altered the gene pools of some species of animals just by hunting them. Those animals that were killed no longer reproduced, so their genes no longer affected the overall population. Which animals were most likely to be successfully hunted? I assume it would be the slower ones, or those with a less efficient sense of smell or eyesight. So the remaining members of the species probably became wilder and faster.

Even now, human beings are still altering the gene pools of certain species, like the white-tailed deer. Most hunters hope to bag a buck with impressive antlers, so probably those big racks of antlers will get rarer.

I doubt any Bittinger hunters will shoot our "white stag" of Meadow Mountain, because they know how most local people treasure that rare and beautiful creature. They would not be regarded a hero or a great hunter by their neighbors, especially those of the female gender.

But we have plenty of non-local hunters roaming our woods, and they may take the chance to bag a rare specimen. Shame on them. If they do what is required by law and get written permission to hunt on private property, the owner could caution them, "Don't shoot our white deer!"

I hope the little white fawn that my daughter Meredith saw near our barn is an offspring of the white stag. And I hope we will see more of them, because that's the closest thing to a unicorn that I know of, and we all need a little more magic in our lives.

When early mankind first domesticated a few species of wild animals, most experts believe it was the canine. Perhaps someone found an orphaned baby wolf. Baby wolves are as cute and appealing as a regular puppy. It got tame just from all the cuddling and close contact it was bound to get from the women and children.

Over some time, no doubt other wolf cubs joined the family group or tribe. When there were enough cubs and they grew up, their human master allowed the ones with the most desirable characteristics to mate with a young wolf of the opposite gender.

Can you believe a major pharmaceutical company developed, then got approval to release, a drug to prevent pre-term birth? It is required during the whole pregnancy, but at a cost of $150 per dose. So only rich women can prevent a miscarriage? That's insane. It is also insane how many prescription drugs cause severe birth defects, like spina bifida. That is a life-altering, destroying handicap that lasts a person's whole life.

Radiation has appeared in cow's milk in several states on the West Coast. This is even though they are thousands of miles from the damaged nuclear power plant in Japan. Of course, in America there are dozens of nuclear plants very close to many of our food-producing areas. Is this a good time to slash the funding for the Food and Drug Administration? Or the Environmental Protection Agency?

NHS PREPARES FOR AFTER-PROM – Northern High Schools students are currently busy designing and painting decorations to be used for the 2011 After-Prom. The Student Service Alliance class has helped make decorations for the NHS After-Prom for the past 18 years, and this year the theme for the all-night party is "Lights, Camera, Party," with Hollywood style decorations. Donations are being accepted from businesses and individuals for this party intended to keep the students safe on Prom night. Donations can be sent to NHS After-Prom, 86 Pride Parkway, Accident, MD 21520. Parents and guardians are needed to help plan for this event, as well as chaperone the party, held following Prom, which is set for May 14 this year. Questions can be directed to chairperson Sandy Vincent at NHSafterprom@gmail.com. The decorations are being painted under the direction of teacher Barbara Law. From left are Ashley Brenneman, Derrica Friend, Ashley Hackett, and Morgan Yoder with their Hollywood creations.

It is sad to say that the soon-to-be Royal Groom already has to wear his hair in that pitiful sweep across that is used by balding men. He seems pretty young to face that problem, and they said his younger brother has the same problem. But on the other hand, their father Prince Charles seems to have most of his hair, and he is in his 60s.

Most authorities on the energy policy are saying that the cheapest way out of our energy crisis is the fracking of Marcellus shale, but it comes with some serious environmental consequences. People in western Pennsylvania, where a lot of fracking has taken place, said, "It's the worst thing that's ever happened to us."

What does any church believe it can accomplish by burning the Koran? How would they feel if people in the Mid-East were burning Bibles? And what kind of message is it sending? Except that America hates its religion. That is simply mindless. Can we respect other religions? It's about the same as a high school vandalizing another school because of an athletic rivalry. And what is accomplished by doing that?

There was a minor winter event called the April Fool snow. I can remember snow at the beginning of April. I think it was in 1970 when a few friends planned a big trip to Pittsburgh to attend a Led Zeppelin concert. But it turned out that the threat was worse than reality, so we were able to go as planned.

And the next year when I was a senior in high school, it looked like the end of skiing at the Wisp in March, but a major snowfall extended it for a few weeks.

The last thing I wanted to do today was order heating oil at a very high price. I ordered 100 gallons, but the company delivered 172 gallons. That is way over my budget. I am definitely sick of living as a dirt poor person, unable to afford anything.

Denver and Naomi Beitzel left at the right time from central Florida, just before a whole bunch of tornadoes struck. Quite a few big trees fell on houses. But unfortunately, they got home just in time for a major snow event. And it is still going on. Thank goodness Claire got home safely, and my worst fear was ungrounded. I was afraid she would rush into our house and take Boo away. But she was concerned because Boo was in a deep sleep.

The latest hit of winter hit hard. But apparently it will be over by Tuesday, except for maybe some heavy rain. It didn't seem fair that Denver had 80 degrees.

But just when I thought I couldn't feel worse, like a miracle I tried the channel that broadcast Pirates games and found one. I wish I had tried earlier, because when I turned it on, it was the "seventh inning stretch," which always involves singing, "Take me out to the ball game." The Pirates were playing the Chicago Cubs, and there was much better weather in Chicago. It looked like real spring!

I haven't seen a Pirates roster, but no doubt they lost some of my favorite players.

I believe my Roberto Clemente was a very highly regarded rookie. I know the New York Yankees wanted him. Thank God it turned out differently than that.

I guess the Pirates' opening game was on Friday. At least the announcer said that the Pirates hope to make it two in a row. So I guess the Bucs won their first game. That is the right way to start a new season.

Boo was excited to see her beloved mistress Claire, because Marci saw her way out in the field.

This weather roller coaster is still going. Yesterday (Monday), it seemed spring-like, but today we have light snow and more than a little wind. And the fog is pretty dense.

I imagine Cindy Richardson is not having unpleasant weather, unless a tornado hit Ohio where she went on Monday for a new grandson born by C-section. She needed to watch the new little one's older brother.

At least my girls were separated by two years, and they adored the new baby, even if it meant that they lost a little piece of their importance. But little Caitlin was so enchanted by little Meredith that she tried to bite her chubby cheek. It was not like she was in any way aggressive, but she wanted to try to taste her to see whether she could possibly taste as good as she looked.

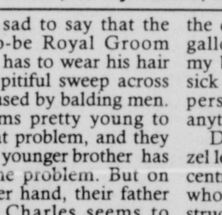
Those were the days. I never got tired of bringing a new baby home, even it if made more work for me. I loved the way they smelled, and they were each simply a "bundle of joy."

The Pirates were able to win their first series. It looks like a promising season, and they are simply the sweetest young men.

Mid-week Lenten services in the Bittinger Lutheran Parish continue with a Taize service at St. John's, Meadow Mountain, next Wednesday, April 13. The service will begin at 6:30 p.m., and will be followed by soup and bread.

The Bittinger Parish will hold Holy Week services on Maundy Thursday, April 21, at Emmanuel, and the Good Friday service will be held at Zion in Jennings. Both services begin at 7 p.m.

GARRETT MENTORS NOTE RAFFLE WINNER – The Garrett Mentors Inc. organization met last week to recognize and thank its 80 volunteer mentors who work with children of Garrett County, and who "Inspire By Example." Part of the event included a drawing for a Garrett Lakes Arts Festival season subscription, which was won by Bill Meade (above right), a mentor of a fifth grade student at Yough Glades Elementary School. Rob Michael, another mentor and also a GLAF board member, shown left, drew the winning ticket. The mentors were all thanked for helping to instill the importance of good grades and higher learning throughout all of the elementary schools in the county. "Currently Garrett Mentors Inc. serves 102 children, who range in age from kindergarten through the 5th grade," said Tricia Cheesman, director. The mentors meet once a week with their selected "study buddies" to share lunch, chat, and work on school assignments. The children, who often come from challenging situations, are referred by school personnel for various reasons. "The mentor's goal is to enhance what the child learns at home and at school, striving to teach the importance of higher education and to share in unique outside activities," Cheesman said. Additional mentors are needed to accommodate a waiting list of 22 children, she noted. Interested persons should contact her at 301-334-1783. Further information is available online at www.garrettmentors.org.



The births of four area babies were announced this week, two girls and two boys.

A daughter, Natalie Grace, was born to Eric and Sara (Bever) Parks, Swanton, on March 17 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Wyatt James Everhart, was born to Kaylan Grimm and James Everhart, Oakland, on March 14 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Austin Michael Barlow, was born to Sarah Moats and Ben Barlow, Grafton, W.Va., on March 21 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Lillian Collins, was born to Jessica Edge and Louis Collins, Terra Alta, W.Va., on March 30 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

State Park Programs

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

Saturday, April 9

• 9 a.m. to noon – Annual Spring Clean-Up Day. Volunteers of all ages are invited to work alongside park staff to clean up and prepare the park for the summer season. Students may earn service learning hours for this effort. Free lunch will be provided to all volunteers, courtesy of the Friends of New Germany. Volunteers are encouraged to pre-register by contacting Ranger Luke Mongrain at lmongrain@dnr.state.md.us, or 301-895-5453.

Saturday, April 23

• 10 a.m. to noon – Earth Day EGGstravaganza at the New Germany Lake House. This event will feature the "Ultimate Egg Hunt," with more than 1,000 Easter eggs hidden in the park. In celebration of both Earth Day and Easter, activities will also include a recycled Easter basket craft and a presentation on how to have a "greener" Easter. For more information, persons may call the Ranger Station at 301-895-5453.

The family of

would like to thank everyone for their support during her illness and final loss in her battle with cancer. We would like to thank Rev. George Tichnell Jr. and Rev. Bentley for the services and the words of comfort for our family. We deeply appreciate the fundraiser by Sherry Burell, Renee Upole, Elenorah Mayle, and Trish Cogley to help with the expenses of Jennifer's illness. We want to express our thanks to Brian, Bob and LeAnna Boal for their help with the family dinner and getting the place to have it. Thank you, St. Paul's Methodist Church, for permitting us to use your beautiful facility for the dinner. Thanks also to Newman Funeral Home for their help with the funeral arrangements.

Although we cannot mention everyone by name, words cannot express how much we thank each of you for your expressions of sympathy, food, flowers, cards, attendance at the service, prayers, and kind words for our family at this difficult time. We are truly grateful for all the love and kindness you have shown to us.

The Arts

FIRST UNITED BOOSTS GLAF AS SEASON BEGINS – First United Trust and Investments recently made a donation to the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, supporting the arts organization's mission to bring quality arts and arts education to Garrett County students. GLAF's 2011 season will open this weekend with a concert by the Celtic band IONA, with a pre-show by local group Mohrbeanna, set for Friday at Garrett College, beginning at 7:30 p.m. GLAF has dedicated this event to Dr. Richard L. MacLennan and his inaugation as the 10th president of Garrett College. Garrett College will host student IONA performances on April 7 and 8, in addition to the public performance on Friday evening. There will be a gala inaugaration event on Saturday, April 9, at the college for MacLennan, beginning at 11 a.m. Persons may call the college at 301-387-3131 for reservations. Tickets for the IONA concert may be obtained by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082 or going online at www.artsandentertainment.org. A "meet and greet" reception with the musicians will follow Friday's performance in the college art gallery. A raffle will also be available for tickets to the Scottish Highland Festival and the Highland Festival Concert. Pictured above from left are Gene Helbig, First United senior trust officer and senior vice president; Annette Chapman, senior trust sales officer; and Mary Callis, executive director of GLAF.

Barbara Hurd To Read From Newest Book

The Oakland library will host poet and author Dr. Barbara Hurd on Wednesday, April 27, from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. in the meeting room.

Hurd, who is the author of three books of creative nonfiction, will read from her latest work, Walking the Wrack Line: On Tidal Shifts and What Remains. She will also sell and sign books at the event.

The recipient of a 2002 National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship for Creative Nonfiction, winner of the Sierra Club's National Nature Writing Award, and Pushcart prizes in 2004 and 2007, Hurd is professor emeritus at Frostburg State University. She teaches creative writing there and in the Stonecoast Master of Fine Arts Program at the University of Southern Maine.

"There's scarcely anyone writing better about the natural world than Barbara Hurd," commented Alan Cheuse on NPR. "In her book Walking the Wrack Line, Hurd turns her spare prose and lyrical powers of observation to shingle beaches, spider crabs, jellyfish, dead sailors, and such landlocked matters as why Franz Schubert never finished his Symphony in B Minor, known as the Unfinished Symphony."

Publisher's Weekly also noted that "this lyrical book with its scrupulous attention to language and the world will please poets and naturalists alike."

In addition to Walking the Wrack Line, her works include Stirring the Mud: On Swamps, Bogs, and Human Imagination; Entering the Stone: On Caves and Feeling through the Dark; a collection of poetry titled The Singer's Temple; and other essays and poems that have appeared in numerous journals such as Best American Essays 2001, Best American Essays 1999, the Yale Review, the Georgia Review, Nimrod, New Letters, and Audubon.

The library event is free and open to the public. Registration is not required, but a spokesperson said a courtesy call to the library at 301-334-3996, ext. 117, would be appreciated.

More information about Hurd is available at barbarahurd.com. Her three works of creative nonfiction are available at the Ruth Enlow Library.

A listing of all events and services at the library can be found at relib.net.

PHOTO CONTEST RESULTS ANNOUNCED – Though local miniature donkey Coco did not win the top prize in the Humane Society of United States Spayday photo contest, her amigas did enjoy a celebratory bite of her sombrero. The national online contest was held during February and March. With 28,000 entries overall, a dog in Delaware named Matilda received the highest number of votes in the Fundraisers Category. Persons could go online and vote for their favorite pet at $1 a vote. All together, $340,000 was raised to fund spay/neuter efforts around the world. In the Judged Category, a Colorado dog named Jinjy was chosen. To see the winners in each category, one may go to http://photocontest.humanesociety.org/contest.html?page=leadersFund&contestId=3 and click on Fundraisers Category Winners and Judged Category Winners. "Our local contestant Coco didn't place in the top, but she still brought in total of $420 in winnings for the Garrett County Humane Society," noted GCHS president Lisa Baker. "She is hoping other animal lovers will enter a photo of their pet next year to support Spay Day and their favorite animal organization."

ALCO PERCUSSION LINE LED BY LOCAL INSTRUCTOR TAKES FIRST – The indoor percussion group of Allegany High School, Cumberland, won first place in the Keystone Indoor Drill Association (KIDA) Championships, held Saturday, April 2, in Harrisburg, Pa. The 22-member line is instructed by Oakland resident Blair Glass, who designed and choreographed the show. Glass, a graduate of Southern High School and West Virginia University, has been an instructor with Allegany's percussion line and marching band for several years. This year's program was titled "Imagine... A Soldier's Journey." With a season-high score of 88.5, Allegany defeated a long-time rival, Biglerville Percussion. Glass is shown above kneeling, with senior members of the percussion group standing. Shown from left are Grace Carpenter, Kara Short, Michael Tippen, Sarah Diehl, and Chavi Rehani. The group will present an encore performance of the winning show on Tuesday, April 12, at 7 p.m. in the Allegany High School gymnasium. The public is invited.

All performances will be held in the Metropolitan Theatre located along High Street in downtown Morgantown. Rehearsals will be held in Morgantown one week prior to each production.

Performers are asked to prepare 32 bars of an upbeat tempo and ballad or prepare a one-minute monologue in the style of the show. Everyone is asked to bring their own sheet music, a headshot, and a resume.

Anyone wishing to audition is asked to call WVPT's office at 304-291-4117 to make an appointment.

To Retire

03 he served as Public School Superintendents' Association of Maryland President and has earned the State of Maryland Florence Beck Kurdle Award for Community Activism. Dr. Teets has also been relied upon by his peers, colleagues, and community to serve on numerous boards and committees.

"When I came here 14 years ago, I inherited a very good school system," he said.

"I think we have worked together and continued to improve and add value to the system each year. I sincerely hope the resources will be available for the system to continue to improve and to serve our students and personnel in the future because they certainly deserve it."

Besides the retirement of Dr. Teets, also announced at the recent BOE meeting was the retirement of Sue Waggoner, executive director of instruction. Waggoner has planned to leave her office in August.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES

The pre-Easter week has several activities for enjoyment. Pastor Gary Meeks will speak at the 7 p.m. Maundy Thursday service at Aurora United Methodist Church. A Cross Walk will begin at 10 a.m. on Good Friday beginning at Aurora UMC and continuing to St. Paul's Lutheran Church. There will be an Easter sunrise service held at St. Paul's at 6:30 a.m. with breakfast to follow. All are invited to attend.

RAMP DINNER

The annual ramp dinner will be held on Sunday, April 17, at the Aurora fire hall beginning at noon. The crowd and supply will determine how late meals will be offered. The menu includes ham, beans, fried potatoes with and without ramps, raw ramps, ramp salad, stewed ramps, corn bread and ramp muffins, desserts, and beverages. Adults eat for $8, children for $4, and children under age 4 for free. Proceeds will benefit the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department. Note: In the past, the annual ramp dinner has been held on the last Sunday in April; however Easter falls on that Sunday this year.

MEDICATION DISPOSAL

The U.S. Department of Justice Enforcement Administration and the Preston County Sheriff's Department is sponsoring a prescription drug take-back at the Aurora fire hall on Saturday, April 30, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. There are other collection spots in Terra Alta, Kingwood, Rowlesburg, and Tunnelton. There will be a law officer at each drop-off center. Any expired or unused prescription drugs will be disposed of properly at this event. Those with questions may reach the PCSD at 304-329-1611.

ELIMINATION DINNER

The Mtn. Lions Club will host an elimination dinner at Aurora School on Friday, May 6, beginning at 6 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the Lions Club's community projects. A silent auction will be held as well. A two-dinner ticket cost $35. Those interested in purchasing tickets should contact the Lions Club or JoAnn Helton at 304-735-5832.

CEMETERY CLEAN-UP

It is required that those who have flowers that they wish to save from the Aurora Cemetery are reminded to remove them from the graves by April 15. The cost of maintenance has increased. Donations are greatly appreciated. Donations may be sent to the Aurora Cemetery ssociation, 566 Aurora Pike, Aurora, WV 26705.

COMMUNITY EVENTS

A display will be set up by the Aurora Area Historical Society of approximately 20 sports photos from the years 1927 to 1977. The display will be set up at the Aurora Community Building on July 1 and 2.

A Relay for Life yard sale will also be held that Friday and Saturday at the Union Ambulance squad hall. Those with donations should contact John Adams.

The Historical Society will host a chicken barbecue dinner on July 2 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. A tribute to Marvin "Buck" Bolyard will be held at 4 p.m.

YARD SALE/DINNER

The annual Rt. 40 yard sale is slated for May 21 at Aurora School by the Maple Spring Family Life Committee. A chicken barbecue will be held at 11 a.m., and the yard sale will open at 8:30 a.m. Those interested in renting a table space for $20 should contact Clara Spaid at 304-735-5202.

PERSONAL

Junior Samantha Blossom was recently inducted into the National Honor Society. She is the daughter of Doyle and Cathi Harsh, Eglon. Visiting with the Harsh family were sisters Sidney and Sabrina and older brother Lt. Cpl. Timothy Blossom, who is on deployment leave from the U.S. Marine Corps. He is currently stationed in Hawaii. Tim will return on April 10 to Hawaii, from whence he will leave April 14 for a seven-month stint in Afghanistan.

Jack and Barbara Snyder, Amboy, took their handicapped son Anothony to the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Children's Hospital, where he had tests and stayed overnight last Wednesday. They will be treating a narrowing of the esophagus medically and with diet.

Bernard Arnold has returned to Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center, where he is receiving post-surgery training for removal of knee prosthesis.

Paul Gnegy returned last weekend to his Amboy home. He had spent another winter within a short distance of his daughter and husband, Irma and Eugene Whitcomb, Greenville, S.C.

He loved to till the verdant soil,
And watch his garden grow
But now he tills another spot,
A beauty spot I know.

He plows where fields are always green
With furrows straight and true,
And where the day is always bright
And life begins anew.

But we shall miss him here on Earth
Until our day is done
When we shall be with him again
When our rewards are won.

Coach Fratz Recaps, Reflects On Huskies' Road To State 1A Final

For the second year in a row, the Northern High School girls' varsity was crowned the #1 girls' basketball team in the area. The award, sponsored by WalMart and determined by a vote of area sports writers, will be soon presented to the team in recognition of the Huskies' exceptional season.

The team experienced many firsts this year, but according to head coach Steve Fratz, none was as gratifying as playing for the Maryland Class 1A State Championship, a contest in which the Huskies fell to Dunbar High, 80-62.

"The final game did not turn out how we wished, but being second in the state is not too shabby," said Coach Fratz, who added that the trip to the University of Maryland Baltimore County was only the second time in Northern's history that a girls' basketball team has ever had the chance to play for the coveted title.

The "road to the final four" wasn't always smooth, according to Fratz, as the Huskies experienced a tough loss early in the season that ultimately cost the team the chance of winning the AMAC Conference.

"The girls committed themselves to working harder," said Fratz. And their devotion paid off, with a five-game win streak that included #1 Allegany leaving the igloo in defeat. Northern is the only team in the area that has defeated the Campers in each of the last four years.

Playing for the first time at South Hagerstown High School, the Huskies competed in the Army National Guard Holiday Tournament. The opening game was a hard-fought win by the Huskies over a good Hedgesville team which advanced them to the championship game against the host team. The Huskies proceeded to dominate South Hagerstown to earn the championship trophy.

Terra McKenzie was named to the All-Tournament Team, and Kaitlynn Fratz was named Most Valuable Player of the tourney.

The New Year saw the Huskies win five of their seven games in January, with both losses being on the road against quality teams University and Allegany. Northern has not won at Allegany since 1997, and University was the #2 AAA team in West Virginia.

The morale of the team was down after the Alco loss, according to Fratz.

"Our season could have been in jeopardy at this point, but with outstanding senior leadership and nine girls who have enormous hearts, we trudged on," he said.

The final loss of the regular season came again at the hands of University High School on February 5. This time, though, the Huskies decided that they would fight to the end and not be intimidated by the 16-1 visitors. The Hawks did escape the igloo with a five-point victory, but Fratz said that the loss was "just what our team needed."

"The confidence that was gained by this game was instrumental in our going undefeated in the final seven games," he said.

The Huskies entered the playoffs with an 18-4 regular-season record.

Being granted the #2 seed in the playoffs, Northern would have home court advantage, and the rolled over first-round opponent Clear Spring before having to face county rival Southern for the third time this season in round two.

Fratz said that his players "put a tremendous amount of pressure on themselves," as they did not want to experience again what happened last year in the playoffs against the Rams when they had their quest for a state title halted.

"It is tough beating a team three times during the season," said Coach Fratz, "let alone when it's your county rival."

The Huskies came from behind at the break and dominated the second half, outscoring Southern by 13 points to advance to the West Sectional final against the team's biggest rival, the Allegany Campers.

With utmost desire to end the 14-year winless streak at Campobello, the Huskies set the tempo immediately from the opening tip-off. They shot the ball well and made excellent decisions on the offensive side of the ball, but Fratz credits his team's "tremendous defensive pressure" as key to recording the Huskies' biggest victory of the season.

"Not many people expected this little team of nine guards to defeat the Campers," Fratz said, "but once again, it was our girls' heart and passion that catapulted them to Frederick to play Smithsburg for the region championship."

The senior-dominated Leopards were the defending state runner-up, and had another 6-3 player inside whom the Huskies had to figure out how to defend.

"Our girls approached this game very relaxed and knew that this team was the only obstacle that stood between us and a shot at their dream, the state championship," explained Fratz. "The girls had never given up all year, and this game was no exception."

The Huskies trailed on the scoreboard until midway through the fourth quarter. They took their first lead with about three minutes to play, and the lead changed sides several times, but when the final buzzer sounded, the Huskies were on top, 52-47, which ended a 14-year dry spell in Northern's girls' earning a spot in the state tournament.

The Huskies met East Region champion Mardela in the semi-finals at UMBC, a highly athletic team that had lost only one game all season.

"We firmly believed that, with the tough schedule we played this season and the conquering of the last two teams we faced in the playoffs, our shot of winning the state title was as good as anybody's," said Fratz.

Once again, the Huskies executed well offensively, but outstanding defense is what Fratz said earned them a spot in the title game. The Mardela players became frustrated with the intense pressure they continued to face, and ultimately succumbed to the Huskies.

Fratz said that Mardela's head coach commented that the Huskies had "brought their whole town with them!"

With only 18 hours to prepare for the state championship contest, the coaching staff broke down their new opponent, the Dunbar High School Poets.

"We knew after watching them in the semi-final that we were going to have our hands full with them inside," Fratz said, "but we firmly believed that our defensive scheme we had been using would put pressure on their guards to make good decisions and force them to shoot."

Shoot the Poets did, and their guards hit just about everything, forcing the Huskies to come out and play the perimeter, thus exposing them where they were most vulnerable – inside.

"All season our girls played so much bigger than they really are, but the lack of height finally caught up with us and we just could not overcome the deficit," Fratz said.

Led by three seniors, this team set a school record with 23 wins, and led the area in points per game (63) and in three-pointers (205).

"I knew we would not have problems scoring," said Fratz, "but what I am most proud of is the quality of defense we played throughout the season and, more importantly, in the playoffs. From the first day of practice our main focus was defensive fundamentals. We drilled every practice, knowing that to achieve our goal we must make team defense our #1 priority. We played over nine different defenses this year, something that we could not do just a season ago."

That paid off, as the Huskies limited their opponent to an average of only 50.3 points per game.

Fratz said that from a small school like Northern, "a team like this does not come around very often."

But he added, "This team symbolizes that success, through a lot hard work and dedication from players and parents, is attainable."

Kaitlynn Fratz Named AMAC Player Of Year

Voting for the Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference high school girls' basketball awards is complete, and for the second year in a row Northern High School's Kaitlynn Fratz was named by unanimous vote the 2011 AMAC Player of the Year.

As a senior, Fratz led the area in scoring for the third straight year, recording a total of 734 points, and averaging 26.2 points per game this season. She also led the area in three-point shooting, connecting on 86 shots.

As a four-year starter for the Huskies, Fratz has surpassed every player in points scored, among both male and female players, in Garrett County's history. Her career total of 2,103 points surpasses the previous county record by more than 200 points.

Other school records set by Fratz are three-pointers made, assists, and steals. Her offensive prowess has been a nightmare for opposing teams, as she has collectiveiy catapulted Northern to 78 victories against only 18 defeats for a .812 winning percentage since her freshman year.

This past season she led Northern to a spot in the state tournament finals for only the second time in school history, where the Huskies fell to Dunbar in the title game.

In acknowledgment of all of Fratz's accomplishments on the court, Northern principal Gary Reichenbecher announced at the team's recent awards banquet that Fratz's jersey will be retired and prominently displayed in the gym lobby at the school.

"No other athlete at Northern has done more for his or her respective sport than Kaitlynn has," Reichenbecher said, "and she is well deserving of having the first jersey ever retired at Northern."

Fratz will continue her academic and basketball career on scholarship at the University of Pittsburgh Johnstown. A NCAA Division II school, UPJ competes in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Fratz, daughter of Steve and Tracy Fratz, plans to major in elementary education.

Huskies, Rams Named To All-AMAC Squads

The Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference has announced the results of the voting for the girls' All-Conference teams, and athletes from both Northern and Southern high schools are among those so honored. Coaches from the nine teams in the conference vote on players who have excelled this season, with the top vote recipients named First Team All-Conference.

First-team honorees include Northern's Terra McKenzie and Player of the Year Kaitlynn Fratz. (See separate story).

This is the second year that McKenzie has been named to the first team. She finished this past season second in the AMAC in three-pointers (71). She averaged 15.5 points per game and was fourth in rebounding in the conference.

Other AMAC First Team selections are Madi Nightengale of Mountain Ridge, Brooke Wharton and Leah Wormack of Allegany, and Savannah Hose of Frankfort.

Southern High senior Mariah Stem and sophomore Ali Shaffer were both namd to the Second Team All-AMAC, while Northern's Morgan Brosnihan received honorable mention.

Southern Girls Edged By Keyser, Fall To Vikings

After opening their season with two wins, the members of the Southern High girls' softball team saw their record evened this past week with losses to Keyser and Petersburg.

The Rams fell to host Keyser last Thursday, 4-2, and were blanked 10-0 on Friday at Petersburg.

Southern took a 2-0 lead in the top of the third against Keyser via a two-run homer by Alycia Horner.

The lead was short-lived, however, as the Golden Tornados came back with two runs in the bottom of the same frame on run-producing singles by Marlee Whitlock and Lexi Carr.

The home team took the lead for good with an unearned run in the fourth, scored on a Ram fielding error. The Tornados tacked on an insurance run in the fifth, also unearned, to complete the scoring.

Horner, who struck out five, took the loss on the mound.

The Rams were held hitless by Petersburg's Whitney Lough on Friday, and the game was called after four innings because of the mercy rule.

Leading the Vikings at the plate were Dominic Adkins with a double and a single with one RBI, Lough with two singles and one RBI, and Emily Colaw and Brittany George each with run-producing singles.

The Rams were slated to host Mountain Ridge on Tuesday, but that game had to be postponed because of weather. They are scheduled to play at Fort Hill today, host Tucker and Preston in their own tournament this Saturday, and travel to Northern next Thursday.

DUELING CATCHERS – Thunder and lightning caused a suspension of the first varsity baseball clash of the season between the host Northern Huskies and Southern Rams on Monday. The game was suspended in the fifth inning with the Rams on top by a 7-6 score, but with the Huskies threatening with two runners on base and only one out. The contest will be concluded when the Huskies travel to Oakland for the second regularly scheduled meeting of the two teams on April 18. In the photo above, Ram batter and catcher Corey Helbig smashes a home run while Northern catcher Josh Bittinger, far left, watches the ball disappear over the fence. But Bittinger responds below with a round-tripper blast of his own in the Huskies' half of the same inning. Helbig's catcher's mitt is just visible far left. Photos by John McEwen. Huskies Cruise To AMAC Victory Over Host Sentinels

The boys' varsity of Northern High School cruised to a 16-3 Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference victory over host Fort Hill yesterday.

Getting the win on the mound and playing a major role offensively was Cody Rodeheaver, who pitched the first five innings and got a save from teammate Jared Fike.

Rodeheaver struck out six batters, and with his bat recorded three singles for four RBI. Reliever Fike also hit three singles for one RBI, as did Husky Steven Holtschneider, while Cody Humberson smacked a grand slam in the sixth inning and finished with five RBI.

The Sentinels were led at the plate by Ryan Briner, who had three singles and two RBI. Mike Moyer contributed a double and two singles, and Travis Miller hit a pair of singles.

The Huskies wasted no time taking control of the game, putting five runs on the board in the top of the first, and led 10-1 after three innings. They added six more runs in the sixth behind Humberson's grand slam.

The Huskies hosted Southern on Monday, but that contest was suspended in the fifth with the Rams leading 7-6, and the Huskies with two runners on and one out. That game will be concluded on April 18 when the two teams are slated to meet again in Oakland.

The Huskies will play at Allegany today, host Hampshire this Saturday, entertain Keyser on Monday, and host Frankfort next Tuesday.

The Northern junior varsity had its record evened at 1-1 with a 5-1 loss yesterday at Fort Hill.

Tyler Bittinger had a double and an RBI single in the losing cause, while teammate Aaron Broadwater provided a double.

Leading the Sentinel jayvees were Jeremy Stotler with a solo homer and Eric Duvall with a triple.

The NHS jayvees will play at Allegany this afternoon.

Rams Drop To 0-3 With 6-2 Conference Loss To Campers

Still looking for their first victory of the season is the Southern High School varsity baseball team, as the Rams absorbed a 6-2, Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference defeat yesterday at the hands of Allegany. The Rams hosted the contest at Holler Field in Bowling Green.

The Rams finished the game with an 8-7 edge in hits, but seven of Southern's hits off winning pitcher Drew O'Neal were scattered singles. Southern's Cody Meyers had the only extra-base hit with a double.

After two scoreless innings, the Campers took the lead with two runs in the top of the third. They made it 5-0 with three runs in the fourth, and 6-0 after 5½ innings. The Rams rallied for two runs in the bottom of the sixth, but could get no closer.

Seth Thompson and O'Neal led Alco (4-1) at the plate with a double and a single apiece, plus one RBI each.

Scott Bittinger, who was relieved by Evan Rodeheaver in the fifth, took the loss on the mound.

The Rams nearly got a win over county rival Northern on Monday, but that contest had to be postponed in the fifth inning with Southern leading 7-6. That game will be completed when the Huskies come to Oakland for another regular game on April 18.

The Rams are scheduled to host Keyser in a doubleheader this Friday at Garrett College in McHenry, and entertain Mountain Ridge on Monday.

those slated for Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park. He indicated the projects would move forward when funding improves.

In regard to county road projects, Moyer reported that a recent inspection showed that the Swallow Falls Road bridge's deterioration was accelerating.

The 102-foot structure will now be inspected every three months instead of six. The current 10,000-pound weight limit will remain.

The GC Roads Department will place one of its temporary bridges over the span until a new permanent bridge is constructed. Emory indicated that the project would not take place until at least the next fiscal year.

"The temporary bridge buys us time," Moyer said.

The commissioners' next public meeting is scheduled for Thursday, April 21, at 4 p.m.

Northern Girls Fall To Keyser, Mountain Ridge

The girls' softball team of Northern High School dropped a 5-1 decision to visiting Keyser on Monday, and were then topped by host Mountain Ridge yesterday, 14-3. The results dropped the Huskies to 0-3 overall and in Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference games.

Sam Hoban fanned six batters and walked two to get the win on the mound for Keyser (5-2).

Leading the Golden Tornados at the plate were Brooke Mangold with a double and Taylor Haggerty with two singles.

Losing pitcher Taryn Brenneman hit a pair of singles. From the mound she struck out five, gave up eight hits, and walked three.

In yesterday's game at Mountain Ridge, the big inning for the Miners was the third when they scored eight runs. The game was called after 4½ innings.

Kennedy Logsdon earned the win on the mound and aided her own cause with a triple and a single. Emma Baker rapped a triple, a double, and a single for the winners, while Ally Hawkins hit a triple and a single, and Chelsi Muir stroked a homer.

The Huskies were limited to just four hits by Logsdon.

National Public Health Week Now Under Way

The Garrett County Health Department has announced that this week, April 4 to 10, is National Public Health Week. The theme for the week's celebration is "Safety is No Accident: Live Injury-Free."

"In addition to eating healthful foods, getting vaccinated, and quitting smoking, we must recognize that another important focus of public health is injury prevention," said health officer Rodney Glotfelty. "Our agency promotes injury prevention through the distribution of smoke detectors, bicycle helmets, and child safety seats. Our young families are given information and tools to keep their children safe in their homes, and older adults are provided safety tips and aides to protect them from injury as well."

According to Glotfelty, nearly 150,000 people die from injuries every year, and almost 30 million people are injured seriously enough to go to the emergency room.

"Chances are good that you or someone you know are among these statistics – a friend who was injured in a car crash, a high school student injured on a four wheeler, an elderly neighbor who broke a bone from a fall, a young boy hurt while riding his bike without a helmet," Glotfelty said.

"The good news is that there are actions that individuals can take to reduce the impact of injuries," he said. The following are safety suggestions the health department is offering:

Persons should wear seat belts on every car ride, no matter how short.

Children must always be buckled up appropriately for their age and weight, in either a child safety seat, booster seat, or seat belt.

Bikeriders, skateboarders, or scooter-riders should wear helmets and reflective gear when riding a bike.

Persons should never text on their cell phones while driving a vehicle.

Residents should always assess their homes for potential hazards, such as poor lighting and uneven surfaces, to prevent falls.

Smoke alarms and carbon monoxide detectors should be installed in all homes.

Weapons should always be kept in a locked and safe place, away from children.

All families should establishe and review plans for the evacuation of their homes in the event of an emergency.

"Increasing awareness on how to live more safely and injury-free lives is the first step in helping create a healthier nation," Glotfelty said.

For more information about injury prevention programs at the Garrett County Health Department, persons may call 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

MINI-TOXIC TWIST CREW TAKES FIRST AT NATIONALS – This nine-member crew of hip hop cheer dancers from Jessica's Dance Creations in Loch Lynn competed Saturday in the American Cheer and Dance Academy "Reach the Beach" National Competition, held at Ocean City. "This was a three-day fiercely competitive event, with more than 300 teams vying for national standings," said coach Jessica Crosco. The panel of judges was world-class, Crosco said, and there were about 10,000 spectators. "The girls had to give it their all for two days to prove that they were the best," said Kim Crosco, another of the girls' coaches. The youngsters pictured have trained hard over the past six months, the coach said, competing in Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, during which they received a bid to nationals. For their first-place win, the young athletes received a 4-foot trophy, a national champions banner, and national championship jackets. "These girls are a true hip hop crew, and they gave a perfect performance both days," Kim said. "I am proud to be their coach." Jessica took a total of four teams and five individuals to the competition. See related photos in today's issue. In the photo in the front is Brielle Jobe. In the first row, from left, are Natalie Ashby, Olivia Crosco, and Mikala Spiker. Second row, same order: Torri Skipper, Jessica McClung, and Kyla Slaubaugh. In the back are Morgan Carr and Nicole Schroyer. Other awards earnedy by Jessica's Creations athletes were as follows: mini level 2 cheer, 6th overall; senior level 3 cheer, 8th overall; solo mini cheer, Madison Crosco, 4th, and Harleigh Wildesen, 5th overall; solo youth cheer, Kailee Brandon, 8th overall; senior hip hop, Regina Crosco, 1st; junior lyrical, Lindsay Thomas, 2nd; and the senior Toxic Twist group placed 5th.

Nominations For '11 Heise Award Being Accepted

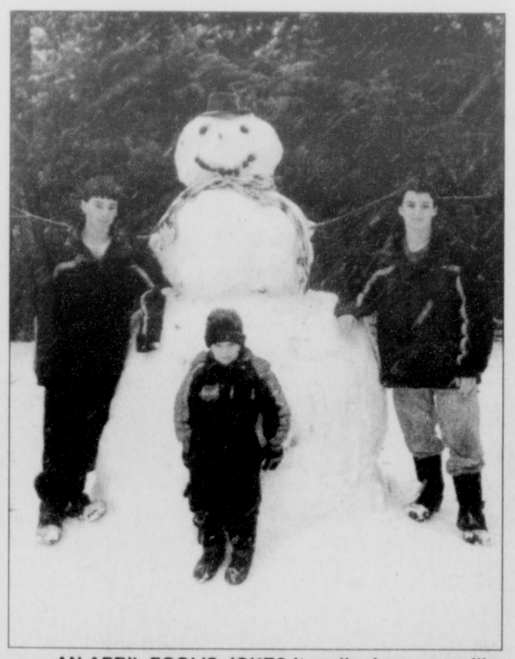
The Heise Entrepreneurial Spirit Award Committee is looking for nominations for the 2011 Heise Entrepreneurial Spirit Award.

Winners of this award must be members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce who have originated and developed a business from inception, shown a willingness to take risks, shown community involvement, held high ethical standards, and demonstrated leadership by overcoming a formidable problem that threatened the business's existence or showed business acumen through embarking on a creative, insightful or overlooked opportunity that will make an important contribution to Garrett County's business environment through substantive community impact.

Among past winners of the award are Jonathan "Smiley" Kessler, Bill Sisler, Olen Beitzel, Johnny Marple, Jim Flanigan Sr., Bill and Sharon Roszell, Barry Rush, Rob Michael, Dave and Mimi Demaree, Brenda McDonnell, Bill Meagher, and Jim Delligatti.

The nomination form is available by e-mailing katie@garrettchamber.com. Persons are asked to submit completed nomination forms by April 18 to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce by regular mail at 15 Visitors Center Drive McHenry, MD 21541; by Fax to 301-387-2080; or by e-mail to katie@garrettchamber.com. Nominations will not be accepted after 4 p.m. on April 18.

The Award Committee will then select three nominees for the award, to be voted on by the general Garrett County Chamber of Commerce membership. The winner will be announced at the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner and meeting on June 2.



AN APRIL FOOL'S JOKE? It really does seem like a joke that these young Garrett County brothers could construct such a huge snowman on April 2, but that is exactly what they did. The boys, shown from left, are Jeff, Zach, and Cody Beal. They built their very tall snowdude at the New Germany Road home of their grandmother, Thelma Beiler. Thelma, who runs a dairy farm and therefore keeps an accurate weather record, said the temperature on April 2, 2010, was 78. It reached nearly that on April 4 of this year, surely making life a little slushy for the boys' creation.

Trail Study

comments at dnr.mary-land.gov/forests/overport.-asp.

DNR's preliminary recommendation is to close the current authorized ORV trails to all usage, including equestrian, ATVs, and bicycles. The recommendation has resulted in the immediate closing to all ATR vehicle usage of Poplar Lick trails and a planned closing of the Green Ridge trails effective April 24.

"The assessment provides a starting point for dialogue with OVR trail users to explore possible options," said Paul Peditto, director of the DNR Wildlife and Heritage Service.

The report covers eight authorized trails in western Maryland and indicates high impact on two trails and medium on one trail.

Representatives of CRHG attended a meeting called by the DNR at Green Ridge State Forest on April 7 for a field review and initial discussions. Details of this meeting will be shared at the April 17 meeting.

CHRG invites anyone interested in use of the trails to attend the meeting. More information and petitions will be available at that time. The Avilton Community Center is located along Avilton-Lonaconing Road, Lonaconing.

gest how the county should more forward with growth. If the commissioners adopt the amendments, corresponding ordinances will have to be drafted that would establish regulatory control of ridgetop development through subdivision, sensitive area, and, possibly, zoning controls. It would also have to be determined which specific ridgelines would be earmarked for protection.

Maj. Gen. Rank To Speak At St. Paul's Church

Maj. Gen. Melissa A. Rank will speak on the topic of "Cultural/Religious Experience – The Military Medical Mission to Win the Hearts and Minds Wherever We Find Ourselves" at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, on Wednesday, April 13, at 7 p.m.

Rank was the assistant Air Force surgeon general, Medical Force Development, and assistant Air Force surgeon general, Nursing Service, Office of the Surgeon General, Headquarters U.S. Air Force, Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D.C.

As assistant Air Force Surgeon General, Medical Force Development, she established new and appraised existing personnel policy and enhancement actions for more than 45,000 active duty officers and enlisted medical personnel.

Rank also collaborated with Department of Defense and Air Force staff directorates to establish and meet future staffing needs. Her directorate was also responsible for all medical force education and training programs.

As assistant Air Force surgeon general, Nursing Services, she created and evaluated nursing policies and programs for 19,000 active duty Guard and Reserve nursing personnel. She interacted with major commands, the Air Force staff, other military services, and the joint staff on nursing service matters to ensure the highest caliber of nursing care and personnel.

Rank was born in Frostburg, and earned a bachelor of science degree in nursing from the University of Maryland at Baltimore in 1975. While attending the university full time, Rank was employed as a senior registered nurse at Baltimore City Hospitals in the Medical-Surgical Trauma Intensive Care Unit, as a public health nurse at Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions, and clinical nurse researcher at the Center for Disease Control.

Her Air Force career began as a staff nurse at Dover Air Force Base, Del., and she has held a wide variety of clinical and supervisory positions at medical facilities in the United States, Germany, and Japan.

The public is invited to attend Rank's presentation. Light refreshments will be provided after the program.

Western Maryland Democratic Summit Set For April 29-30

The seventh annual Western Maryland Democratic Summit will be held on Friday and Saturday, April 29-30, at Rocky Gap Lodge and Golf Resort near Cumberland. The summit features informative political workshops, provides opportunities for networking, and includes speeches from top elected officials.

The summit was created in 2005 as a way for Democrats in Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, and Washington counties to organize, strategize, and make the party more competitive in the 6th Congressional District. The event draws hundreds of activists annually.

The summit begins on Friday evening. Participants are invited to a mixer and hospitality room sponsored by West695 PAC.

Saturday, the Maryland Democratic Party will sponsor a continental breakfast and opening remarks by Tom Slater, chairman of the Western Maryland Caucus, and Peter O'Malley, chairman of the Maryland Democratic Party.

Following breakfast, attendees will hear from Anirban Basu, chairman and CEO of the Sage Policy Group, followed by addresses by U.S. Sen. Benjamin Cardin, U.S. Representative Donna Edwards, and Maryland Comptroller Peter Franchot.

Lunch guests will include Lt. Governor Anthony Brown, Gov. Martin O'Malley, and U.S. Sen. Barbara Mikulski.

Following lunch, participants will have their choice of breakout sessions: "Building a Democratic Farm Team," "Re-electing President Obama in 2012," and "Winning the 6th Congressional District."

An afternoon panel will review the upcoming redistricting plans for western Maryland, following the 2010 census. The panel will include former Maryland Secretary of State John Willis, and Sen. Ron Young, and will be moderated by caucus treasurer Peter Perini. After the discussion will be a presentation by author and reporter C. Fraser Smith, discussing Maryland's past and future politics.

An evening reception sponsored by the UAW, Carpenter's Local 1024, Robert Kresslein, Esq., and Maryland Attorney General Douglas Gansler will precede dinner, where the local welcome address will be presented by Cumberland mayor Brian K. Grim, followed by Gansler and Howard County executive Ken Ulman.

The cost is $85 per person and includes Saturday's continental breakfast, lunch, and dinner, as well as admission to all events. Attendees are responsible for their own room reservations. Interested persons may contact Rocky Gap Resort directly and identify themselves as participating in the Western Maryland Democratic Summit.

Conference-only admission is available for $50, but does not include dinner. Conference-only admission for high school or full-time college students is available for $25. Early bird prices are only available through April 15.

For more information, persons may call Bill DuVall at 301-722-2141. A full list of event details is available at www.alleganyyoungdems.-com.

MDE Offering Sewage Disposal System Course

The Maryland Department of the Environment will conduct a one-day course and examination for contractors interested in installing sand-mound sewage disposal systems. The course is scheduled for Thursday, April 14, from 8:30 am. to 4:30 p.m. at the Allegany County Health Department, 12501 Willowbrook Road, Cumberland.

The state of Maryland requires those who are installing sand-mound sewage disposal systems to complete a course of study and pass the examination. Topics to be covered are: interpretation of plans, required equipment and materials, site preparation, and construction techniques.

COOKIES FOR OUR SOLDIERS – Members of Girl Scout Troop 55021 of northern Garrett County recently received lots of support from local businesses and individuals in their quest to send cookies to local soldiers who are currently serving overseas. Some purchased the cookies, while others gave monetary donations to help cover the cost of shipping. The troop sold a total of 430 boxes for soldiers and mailed them to 14 local men and women. The troop has increased the number of boxes and number of soldiers who receive them every year. Pictured from left, front row, are Christine Carpenter, Shelby Simmons, Christa Bowser, and Katie Carpenter. In the back row are leader Debbie Carpenter, Jessica Klotz, Kylie Frantz, Marjorie Smith, and Alex Miller. Scouts not available for the photo were Stephanie Owens, Kristen Bennett, Natalie Chappell, and Lauren Fuller. Among the individuals and businesses supporting the Scouts' effort were: Hugh Umbel, Animal Crackers Pet Grooming, dental office of Terry Dornburg, ClosetMaid, Rex Anderson Builders, Railey Realty, Husky Power Dogsledding, Nature's Granite LLC, Lakeview Auto Parts, Dr. Ronald C. Gillum, Appalachian Valley Natural Products, Garrett Container Systems Inc., Ray and Tina Devine/Wings of Challenge, Demaree Inflatable Boats, Westmar Builders, Phenix Technologies, Beitzel Corporation/ Pillar Innovations, Hardesty's True Value, W.H. Fratz Inc., Lake Pointe Inn, Clayburn Inc., and Brant's Home Sales LLC.

GARRETT COUNTY NOTICE OF A PROPOSED REAL PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, proposes to increase real property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2011, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 0.3% (a) from $4,533,348,242 (b) to $4,545,459,692 (c).

2. If Garrett County maintains the current tax rate of $0.990 (d) per $100 of assessment, real property tax revenues will increase by 0.3% (e) resulting in $119,903 (f) of new real property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the real property tax rate should be reduced to $0.9874 (g), the constant yield tax rate.

4. The County is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The County proposes to adopt a real property tax rate of $0.990 (h) per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 0.3% (i) higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $119,903 (j) in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed real property tax rate increase will be held at 7:00 p.m. on April 21, 2011, in Room FA 715, Fine Arts Building Auditorium at Garrett College, McHenry, Maryland. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-334-8970 for further information.

There are certain municipalities within the County which have different county tax rates. The above revenues and tax rates are county wide, excluding municipalities with different county tax rates. The following chart provides the corresponding information and tax rates for those municipalities.

Woman Sentenced In District Court To Three Years For DUI

Judge Leonard J. Eiswert sentenced Charlene Ann Sigg, 52, to three years in jail on a driving under the influence charge in a recent Garrett County District Court hearing.

Half of Sigg's sentence was suspended, as well as a $3,000 fine. Following her release, she is to complete three years of supervised probation, to be monitored by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation. She was stopped by Maryland State Police in November. She was not prosecuted on a driving while impaired charge.

Clinton Loy Durst, 37, Maryland, was found guilty on a DUI charge and was sentenced to 18 months with 15 months suspended. He was also given 2 days for time served. He was ordered to complete three years of supervised probation upon his release from jail. He was also fined $1,000 suspended. Durst was stopped by MSP in November. He was not prosecuted on a DWI and additional traffic violations.

Jeffery Lane Savage, 42, Md., was found guilty on a DUI per se charge and sentenced to one year, with nine months suspended. He was fined $1,000, which was also suspended. He will complete three years of supervised probation upon his release. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DWI charges. Savage was stopped in November by Maryland State Police.

Randy Lee DeWitt, 46, Md., was found guilty on a DUI charge and sentenced to one year, with 11 months suspended. He will serve his time over the course of 15 weekends. He was fined $1,000, of which $500 was suspended. DeWitt will then complete three years of supervised probation. He was stopped in January by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. He was not prosecuted on a DWI charge.

Michael Clyde Rix, 42, Md., was found guilty on a DWI charge and sentenced to 60 days, with 50 suspended. He was also fined $500 and ordered to complete three years of supervised probation. He was stopped in December by Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Duane Edward Hare, 43, Md., was found guilty on a DWI by drugs, alcohol, or drugs and alcohol charge and sentenced to 60 days suspended. He was also fined $500, which was suspended. He not prosecuted on DUI and DWI charges.

Hare was stopped in September by Maryland State Police.

Joe William Smith II, 30, Texas, was found guilty on a DWI charge and fined $200. He was stopped by Maryland State Police in December. He was not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

Michael James Planey, 25, Ohio, was given a probation before judgment verdict on a DWI charge and was sentenced to 90 days suspended. He was also fined $500, of which $200 was suspended. He will complete 18 months of supervised probation. Planey was stopped in November by MSP officers. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DUI per se charges.

Andrew Morgan Brenneman, 18, Md., was given a PBJ verdict on a DWI charge stemming from a January traffic stop by MSP. He was fined $250 and sentenced to 60 days suspended. He was also placed on one year of unsupervised probation. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DUI per se charges.

Douglas James Butner, 18, Md., was given PBJ verdict on a DWI charge stemming from a stop by MSP in January. He was ordered to pay $200 of a $500 fine, and sentenced to 30 days suspended. He was also placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

James Leigh Floyd Jr., 24, North Carolina, was given a PBJ on a DWI charge stemming from an August stop by MSP. He was ordered to pay $200 of a $500 fine and sentenced to 30 days suspended. He was also placed on one year of unsupervised probation. He was not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

Bryan Anthony Burns, 23, Pennsylvania, was given a stet verdict on DUI and DWI charges.

Elizabeth Marie Clemons, 29, Md., was not prosecuted on DUI, DWI, and negligent driving charges stemming from an accident in October, investigated by Maryland State Police.

In other court news, William Thomas Sachs Jr., 50, Oakland, was found guilty on a charge of theft less than $1,000 value. He was sentenced to six months, with five months 18 days suspended and 22 days served. He was also placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation. Sachs was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in October after he allegedly stole tobacco from Short Stop, Oakland.

Charles French Stinson, 55, Oakland, was found guilty on a charge of violating an ex parte order. He was not prosecuted on a second count of the same charge. He was sentenced to 90 days, with 52 suspended and 38 days served. He was also placed on 18 months of supervised probation. Stinson was arrested in February by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after he was accused of writing harassing letters to the victim of the order.

David Alan Everett II, 38, Oakland, was found guilty on a charge of alcoholic beverage/intoxication endangerment. He was sentenced to 90 days suspended and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. He was arrested in December by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after he reportedly punched holes in a Garrett Road residence.

Bryan Michael Moran, 33, Washington, D.C., was found guilty on a CDS possession of marijuana charge and sentenced to 60 days, with 56 suspended. He was also placed on 18 months of supervised probation. He was stopped on I-68 for speeding by MSP in November. He was not prosecuted on possession of paraphernalia and failure to display license charges.

Elza B. Bizer, 20, Accident, was given a stet on a fourth degree burglary charge stemming from an incident in December investigated by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. The conditions of his stet are that he pay restitution to the victim through the State's Attorney's Office.

Amanda Sue Lambert was not prosecuted on first degree conspiracy escape, accessory before the fact, and two counts of conspiracy to commit second-degree assault charges. Lambert was thought to have aided in the escape of Deandre Kelly from the Garrett County Jail in January.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

If you're anticipating selling your smaller-than-average home, do not despair, because the days of the overly sized and overly priced McMansions are shrinking in the rearview mirror! Buyers these days are looking for ways to save money on utilities and taxes, as well as save time on yard work and maintenance. Real Estate statistics reveal, in the 1950s the average home was just under 1,000 square feet, growing to just over 2,100 square in the 1990s. In 2010, real estate research revealed American's idea home size is shrinking between 1,400-2,000 square feet, as Americans' are downsizing.

Your smaller property offers benefits to anyone with an eye towards conservation and energy efficiency. Be sure to highlight your lower utility costs, and if your home sits on a small lot, research property taxes on larger lots in the neighborhood and show how much money buyers can save with yours. Have your insulation checked and use that as a selling point.

People who are downsizing or buying for the first time want easy maintenance, so you should absolutely list any new appliances or systems you've installed, like heating and/or air, and Energy Star refrigerators, water heaters, and the like. First time buyers are usually accustomed to the landlord fixing any problems, so new appliances still under warranty are very attractive to that segment.

Buyers who are downsizing will be rethinking their space, so make sure you make your rooms look larger and show off your storage space. Cut the clutter, remove some furniture, and let in the light!

Your real estate professional will point out all of these things to you and prepare a marketing plan that will promote the benefits of the home.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

RADIOACTIVITY DANGER
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. I am going nuts trying to understand whether the radioactivity from Japan is dangerous in America. Are you as dazed as I about the difference between Curies, Sieverts, Roentgens, REMs, RADs, and so on? As a layman, "chest X-rays" and "chest X-rays per hour" are all I can relate to.

A. The short answer is that nobody in America has to worry about the particles drifting across the Pacific Ocean. The number reaching America is detectable with good instruments, but not harmful at all.

The units of measurement here are unfamiliar to all but nuclear scientists. Confusion arises because radioactivity starts from a "source," but the "dose" you get is what matters for health and safety. Moreover, there is a distinction between the "absorbed dose" and the "effective dose," because of the penetrating power of the radiation and the damage done to human organs.

The unit known as the "rad" is an acronym for "radiation absorbed dose." The metric unit used by scientists (the Systeme Internationale or SI unit) is the Gray (Gy), one joule per kilogram. 1/100 of that is one rad. The Roentgen is an obsolete unit, because it had to do with ionization produced in air.

The stuff coming at you might be gamma rays or neutrons or alpha particles (helium nuclei) or beta particles (electrons). Each of these types has different relative biological effectiveness (RBE), so there is a difference between "absorbed dose" and "effective dose." One rad equivalent man (REM) is a rem. rems = rads x RBE. Rad refers to absorbed dose and rem to effective dose. This fine distinction causes most people to glaze over.

If the RBE conversion factor were always 1.0, then one rem = one rad. For gammas, the conversion factor is indeed 1.0; and it's 1.2 for electrons (betas); but it's about 20 for alpha particles. For slow neutrons, it's 4, for fast neutrons, it's about 10, but neutrons never get very far from a reactor.

In the SI system, the effective dose is measured in Sieverts, which is the dose (in Grays) x RBE. Since one rad = 10-2 Gy, one Sievert = 100 rem. For the first several days after the disaster in Japan, an incorrect translation was causing numbers from Japan to be reported as milliSieverts, when they meant to say microSieverts. That mistake was worth a factor of 1,000 in scariness.

How much radioactivity is tolerable? There is no firmly established number. The cautionary standard for workplace total dose is about 5 rem/yr (50 milliSieverts/yr) for adults, staying under 3 rem in any three-month period. (Pregnant mothers are advised to avoid radiation entirely.) Normally, people receive about 125 millirem annually from natural background radiation.

Beyond that, other ways you might get small doses of radiation include: a dental X-ray, about one day's worth; a chest X-ray, about 10 days' worth; a mammogram, about seven weeks' worth; a coronary CT exam, about five years' worth – all compared to the natural background level, way below the workplace-exposure standard. The typical American can figure on a total of about 200 millirem annually. That's about 1/25 of the maximum allowable dose in the American workplace.

Workers at nuclear-medicine facilities wear film badges to monitor the dose they're getting, and avoid going over the standard limit. During the recent Japanese emergency, workers close to the reactor might reach 5 rem in about an hour, so they relied on volunteers who were aware of the increased risk.

At 25 rem, changes start to occur in the blood. Radiation sickness sets in around 100 rem (= 1 Sievert), so that's a worrisome dose. A dose of 1000 rem (10 Sv) is nearly always fatal.

As for the Curie (Ci), that's a unit measuring source strength: 1 Ci = 3.7 x 1010 (37 billion) decays per second. That number came from one gram of radium, used in early experiments by Marie and Pierre Curie. The SI system defines the Becquerel (Bq) as one decay/second, an easy-to-memorize unit. The Curie is still a very widely used unit. Students doing lab experiments about nuclear physics typically work with sources rated in microcuries.

Household radon, usually measured in picoCuries per liter, has gotten some attention. During the 1980s, the federal EPA suggested a safe limit of 4 pCi/L. Having no means to convert from source (Curies) to effective dose (rem), they just wanted to be ultra-cautious. The Federal Housing Authority proceeded to write 4 pCi/L into most mortgage documents, thereby burdening the real estate business with another nuisance detail, and thus causing the "radon inspection" industry to spring up. But 10 picoCuries means less than one decay per second.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Donald Battista To Be Ordained Church Deacon

St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Parish of Oakland has announced that one of its members, Donald Battista, will be ordained a deacon in a special service on May 14. The church has chartered a bus to attend the Ordination to the Permanent Diaconate on Saturday, May 14, at the Cathedral of Mary, Our Queen, in Baltimore. Battista has been studying for his ministry as a deacon in the church for four years.

According to a spokesperson for St. Peter's, the bus must leave from the church parking lot in Oakland by 5 a.m. that day in order to attend the ordination mass, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. The bus holds 40 passengers, and reservations will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

The trip cost will be $40 per person. Checks should be made out to St. Peter the Apostle Parish. The check deadline date is Friday, April 29. Those interested in attending are asked to telephone the church office at 301-334-2202.

Because of time constraints, the bus will not stop for breakfast, so participants should bring snacks or breakfast items to eat on the bus. The bus will make a stop for lunch on the way home.

SWANTON

DINNER

The Swanton Community Center will hold a baked steak dinner this Saturday, April 9, beginning at 4 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the Cub Scouts.

NATIONAL SCRAPBOOKING DAY

There will be a celebration for National Scrapbook Day at the Swanton Community Center this Sunday, April 10, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Help will be available for digital scrapbooking on one's laptop.Those attending are encouraged to bring a snack or dish to share. Persons are asked to RSVP by calling 301-387-4094. There is a crop fee of $5.

EGG HUNT

There will be an Easter egg hunt at the Swanton Community Center at noon on Good Friday, April 2. All children are invited to attend.

CROSS WALK

The Cross Walk will take place in Kitzmiller on Good Friday beginning at 6 p.m.

SUNRISE SERVICE

There will be an Easter sunrise service on Easter Sunday, April 24, at 6 a.m. followed by a breakfast at the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church. All are welcome.

HOAGIE SALE

The youth of Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church are having a hoagie sale, with sandwiches scheduled to be made and delivered on April 29. Orders must be in no later than April 25. Orders may be made by calling Lois at 301-387-5929, Barbie at 301-387-2255, or Dotty at 301-387-6952. Hoagies may be delivered or picked up at the Swanton Community Center.

BIRTHDAYS

Those celebrating birthdays this week are Wanda Ward on April 10, Amy Custer on April 13, and a card shower for Wilda Fitzwater's 80th birthday on May 2. Cards may be sent to her any time at P.O. Box 3035, Swanton, MD 21561.

Accident Parish To Hold Seder; All Are Invited

The Accident Lutheran Parish will be holding a traditional Seder meal and celebration on Thursday, April 21. This event will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held at the Accident fire hall.

According to a spokesperson for the church, Seder is the traditional feast of commemoration of the Jewish Passover that was transformed into a celebration for all believers when Jesus introduced the New Covenant. This occurred during the last days before his crucifixion, when he met with his disciples at the Upper Room, the spokesperson said.

All are invited to attend, and the spokesperson added, "Please join us as we celebrate in what is sure to be an informative and enjoyable evening that will bridge the gap between the traditions of the Old and New testaments."

There is no cost, but seating will be limited and reservations are needed via RSVP to Christine Johnson at 301-746-8143 or by e-mail to cjohnson89@verizon.net. The last day to make reservations is Friday, April 15.

Agape Panel To Present Info On Spousal Illness

Agape, a Gathering of Women, will present a panel of women who have faced spousal illness or death on Saturday, April 9, at 10 a.m. at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland.

Topics will include the following: How can one be better prepared to deal with the changes serious illness imposes? How can one be an effective and truly helpful friend? What surprises occur in the situation?

"These issues and more will be addressed by these women who have had first-hand experience with one of our most difficult life passages," said Rev. Pam Fahrner.

An Agape gathering takes place every six weeks in which women from Garrett County share discussions, fellowship, and refreshments."

All women are welcome to attend and participate in this ecumenical (all faith traditions and open as well to those who do not attend church) group of women. There is no cost to join or participate.

Background material is posted approximately one week before each gathering. Those who do not have e-mail receive a phone call, and materials are left at the church for pick-up.

Fahrner said she envisions and hopes for a time when all faith traditions in the county will be represented.

For further information, persons may contact her at 301-387-6313 or phfahrner@comcast.net. The group's blog site may be accessed at agapegatheringofwomen.com.

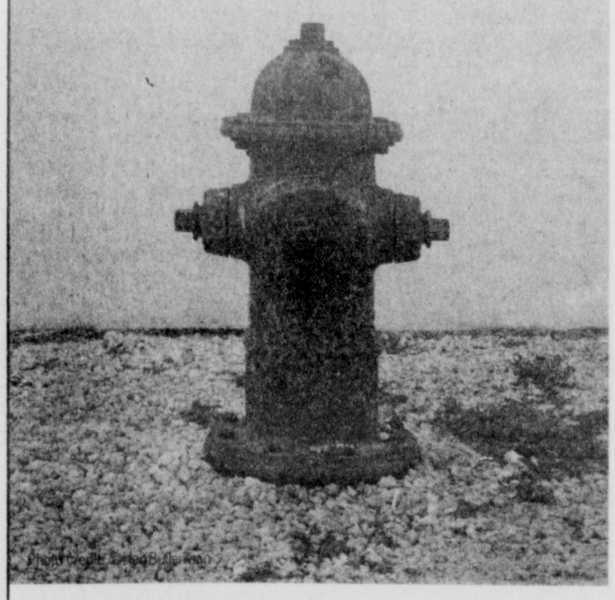
Always Available



The fire hydrant is a permanent fixture; it's a canine convenience or a motorist's inconvenience if a parking space is the objective. Its availability is crucial when flames tear through a home or building, threatening lives and property. In Isaiah 43.20 our Lord promises, "I provide water in the desert and streams in the wasteland...." God is available to us at all times. Visit your house of worship each week, whether or not there's an emergency, make Him a permanent fixture in your life.

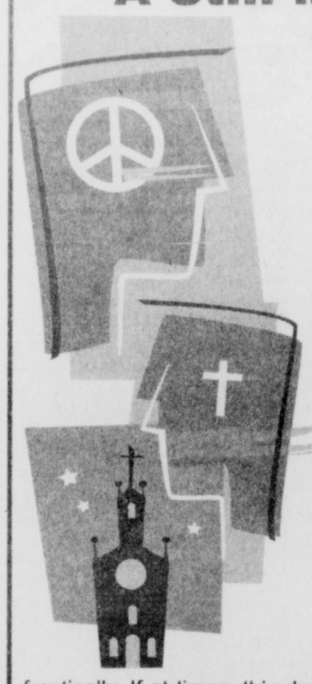
A Still Mind



In the hustle and bustle of our hectic lives we often need to slow down and, quiet our minds. The following meditation is intended to still the mind and calm the soul: "My still mind reflects only peace and holiness. Even if I am unaware of it, peace and holiness are still there. Let my mind reflect only peace and holiness." Often times we appear calm on the surface but underneath our minds are racing. We are like ducks that appear calm on the surface of the pond but underneath their feet are paddling frantically. If at times, this describes what your life feels like, then repeat this meditation, or some version of it, whenever you have the chance. "My mind is still and calm, reflecting only peace and holiness. Even when I am not aware of it, peace and holiness surround me. May I reflect only peace and holiness." Don't worry if you don't have it memorized exactly. The important point is simply to affirm that your mind is calm and still, reflecting only peace and holiness, and that you are surrounded by peace and holiness.

Be still, and know that I am God.

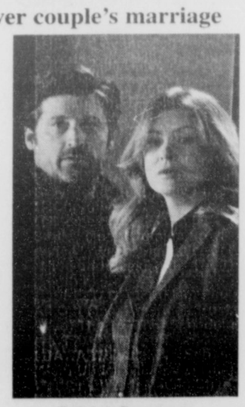
Shades of 'Grey's' over couple's marriage

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Patrick Dempsey and Ellen Pompeo

Q: My brother says that on "Grey's Anatomy," Derek and Meredith are legally married. I say they never went beyond a "Post-it" wedding, despite the fact that others refer to them as husband and wife. Who's right? –Terry Feldman, Central Islip, N.Y.

A: The vows on the Post-it note are as solid as "marriage" has gotten for the couple – played on the ABC series by Patrick Dempsey and Ellen Pompeo – as of this writing. That symbol of their unity happened at Seattle Grace Hospital in a May 2009 episode of the series, but they still haven't gotten wed legally.

Q: My wife and I have really enjoyed the NBC series "Law & Order: Los Angeles," and the series was supposed to resume in February. What happened? –Joe Lapoint, Parker, Colo.

A: The network decided to take extra time to implement some creative changes for the new episodes that will round out the show's season – and that begin this Monday, April 11, with a two-hour installment. One of the most significant changes is that Alana de la Garza is rejoining the "Law & Order" franchise, bringing her prosecutor character, Connie Rubirosa, from the original show to "Los Angeles."

Also notable is the transfer of Alfred Molina's alter ego on the series, Ricardo Morales, from the district attorney's office back to the police department ... where he'll now be partnered with Corey Stoll's character, TJ. Terrence Howard remains on board the revamped drama, with Rachel Ticotin also joining the reboot as the detectives' boss.

Q: Is the current announcer on "Family Feud," Joey Fatone, the same person who was once an 'N Sync member? –Peter Lebow, Milwaukee

A: Yes, it's him. The former boy band member has other game show experience, since he was the original host of "The Singing Bee" during its NBC run. (Melissa Peterman took over that role upon the program's move to Country Music Television.) Fatone hosted the Australian version of "The Singing Bee" as well.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was American educator Laurence J. Peter who made the following sage observation: "An economist is an expert who will know tomorrow why the things he predicted yesterday didn't happen today." Incidentally, he also came up with what's known as the Peter Principle: "In a hierarchy, every employee tends to rise to his level of incompetence."
• Ever wonder why it's called the silver screen? In the early days of the cinema industry, the projection screens were embedded with real silver to enhance the reflective nature of the surface. • Greyhounds have better eyesight than any other breed of dog.
• Worried about grocery prices going up? How's this for a pricey egg: In 2007, a Faberge egg was sold at auction for nearly $16.5 million. Good thing the ones used in your omelets aren't encrusted with jewels. • Those who study such things say that Americans drink more carbonated beverages every year than coffee, tea, sports drinks and juice combined.
• A legislator in the Louisiana State House of Representatives once introduced a bill that would make it illegal to charge a bald man more than 25 cents for a haircut.
• The plant formally known as titan arum produces the largest cluster of flowers in the world, sometimes reaching more than 10 feet in height. What's perhaps even more notable, though, is its odor: The plant gives off a strong smell that is most often compared to that of a decomposing animal. Hence the plant's more common name, the corpse flower.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 17, 1790, American statesman, printer, scientist and writer Benjamin Franklin dies in Philadelphia at age 84. Deeply interested in science and technology, his inventions include the Franklin stove, bifocal eyeglasses and the lightning rod.
• On April 11, 1814, Napoleon Bonaparte, emperor of France, abdicates the throne and, in the Treaty of Fontainebleau, is banished to the Mediterranean island of Elba. He died at age 52 on May 5, 1821, possibly from stomach cancer, although some theories contend he was poisoned.
• On April 12, 1908, a fire in Chelsea, Mass., at the Boston Blacking Company leaves 12 dead, 85 missing and presumed dead and more than 17,000 homeless. Due to high winds, a good portion of the city burned. It took nearly 10 years for Chelsea to be completely rebuilt.
• On April 16, 1943, in Basel, Switzerland, Albert Hoffman, a Swiss chemist, accidentally consumes LSD-25, a synthetic drug he had created in 1938 as part of his research into the medicinal value of lysergic acid compounds. Widespread use of the so-called mind-expanding drug did not begin until the 1960s.
• On April 15, 1959, new Cuban leader Fidel Castro visits the United States. The trip got off to an inauspicious start when it became clear that President Dwight D. Eisenhower had no intention of meeting with Castro. Instead, Eisenhower went to the golf course to avoid any chance meeting.
• On April 13, 1964, Sydney Poitier becomes the first African American to win the Academy Award for Best Actor, for his role as a construction worker in "Lilies of the Field" (1963). He debuted on Broadway in 1946 in an all-black production of "Lysistrata," and by 1950 he was appearing in Hollywood films, beginning with "No Way Out."
• On April 14, 1975, the American airlift of Vietnamese orphans to the United States ends after 2,600 children are transported to America. Operation Baby Lift lasted 10 days and was carried out during the final, desperate phase of the war, as North Vietnamese forces were closing in on Saigon.

Q: I recently heard on CNN that an old computer had been sold for a great deal of money. I have an Apple II, which was made between 1982 and 1988, in perfect condition, with printer and several software discs. How much is it worth? -- P.G., Albuquerque, N.M.
A: I monitored eBay for about two weeks and think your computer is probably worth in the $200 to $350 range. Typical was an Apple II with several hundred discs, original documents in binder, joystick and "tons of extras." There were 19 bids, the highest $215. I also found an Apple II with "extras" and in original box for $150.

Q: Recently my mother died at the age of 96. She had a lovely home, decorated beautifully with Early American decor. I am considering disposing of many of these items at a garage sale, but I do not want to sell something for 50 cents that is worth $50. How do I find someone who can provide me with values that I can trust? -- Christie, Rio Rancho, N.M.
A: You should hire a certified appraiser who has expertise in determining the values of both household and estate items. Use the business pages of the phone book to find appraisers in your region. Call several to find one that you feel comfortable with. Don't be hesitant to ask for references, and expect to pay a fee for his or her help. There are generally two types of appraisals, written and verbal. A written appraisal is often itemized and costs a little more than a verbal assessment. When I liquidated my mother's estate several years ago, my sister and I avoided the stress of garage sales by making donations to local charities.

National Library Week Scheduled For April 11–16

National Library Week is April 1–16. This year's theme, "Create your own story @ your library®," encourages people to stop by their local libraries to learn, dream, and explore new possibilities.

"Libraries are places for new beginnings," noted Ruth Enlow Library director Cathy Ashby. "Whether you are getting your first library card, searching the Internet for employment opportunities, or planning a trip, the library is the place where your story begins. This National Library Week, join our nation's libraries and librarians and visit us at any of our locations to get a start on creating your own story."

Oakland and all branches will make available paper and art supplies where children and adults can write a poem or story, or comment about why they love their library.

At the Accident and Grantsville branches, each child coming to the library will receive a blank journal for creating a story, while supplies last. Grantsville will give children a free book as well.

Kitzmiller library will hold story time for children ages 3–5 on Tuesday, April 12, from 11 to 11:30 a.m., with the theme being "Create Your Own Story." Those attending will receive blank journals, bookmarks, and National Library Week buttons.

The Oakland library will host a Choose Your Own Adventure Party on Thursday, April 14, from 4 to 5 p.m. for children ages 5–10. Attendees will make their way through a story obstacle course, choose which adventure to experience, and then create their own stories using blank journals and art supplies provided by the library. Also each child will receive a free book.

Registration is required because of space limitations. Interested persons are asked to contact Keela at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or keela@relib.net.

The Oakland library will also have a walk-in "I Spy" activity during the entire week, where each child participating will receive a small prize for identifying certain objects in an aquarium. The child's name then can be entered into a drawing to win an I Spy or a Walter Wick book.

The Friendsville library is starting a World Money Program, where children can stop in anytime and identify paper money from other countries. They can use books in the library to identify a foreign bank note and keep the note, archival sleeve, and label. This program, which will continue after National Library Week, is sponsored by the Antiquary in Friendsville.

Regularly scheduled children's programs at the main library and all branches will continue during National Library Week as well. Details are available on the calendar page of the library's web site at relib.net. For more information about any of the activities, persons may call their local branch.

First celebrated in 1958, National Library Week is a national observance sponsored by the American Library Association and libraries across the country each April. This year, acclaimed author John Grisham is serving as honorary chair.

Environmental Education Month Is Proclaimed

In recognition of the importance of environmental education, Governor Martin O'Malley has proclaimed April as Environmental Education Month throughout the state of Maryland.

"I urge all Maryland educators and parents to get children involved in environmental activities and events, not just this month, but all spring and throughout the year," said Governor O'Malley. "It is our state's teachers and parents who will play a vital role in creating the next generation of environmental stewards and bringing high-quality environmental education programs to all Maryland schools."

"Environmental Education Month spotlights our many responsibilities to the world around us, and promotes the innovative, hands-on environmental ed-ucation taking place in classrooms throughout Maryland," said Nancy S. Grasmick, state superintendent of schools. "Children across our state have long felt a strong connection to the environment. Our job as educators is to nurture and sustain that interest."

According to Grasmick, environmental education embraces appreciation of the natural world; knowledge of science, geography, history, economics and government; understanding of the wise use of the world's and Maryland's natural resources; and the development of skills necessary to participate responsibly in environmental decision-making and problem-solving.

Among the topics being studied throughout the state's public schools are local, state, regional, national and global environmental issues; surrounding air, water, and soil quality; human health; biodiversity; the Chesapeake Bay watershed; habitat protection and restoration; land use; energy; waste management; environmental health and justice; sustainable development; global warming; and ozone depletion.

"Maryland is leading the nation in requiring rigorous environmental education in schools, and a major part of that includes regularly participating in meaningful outdoor experiences," said Maryland Department of Natural Resources secretary John R. Griffin, who, along with Dr. Grasmick, co-chairs the Governor's Maryland Partnership for Children In Nature. "We want to be sure that every student – and every Marylander – has access to nature and the opportunity to play and learn outdoors."

The governor includes in this year's proclamation a reminder to all Maryland citizens that exploration and enjoyment of the outdoors, both as a formal learning activity and as an unstructured recreational activity, is important to developing an understanding and appreciation for natural resources, as well as a vital part of a healthy lifestyle. During April, and throughout the year, Marylanders are urged by the governor to make time to enjoy nature as often as possible in their backyards, neighborhood, along waterways, and in Maryland's state parks and forests.

Last year, the Maryland State Board of Education established the Environmental Education Instructional Program for Grades pre-K through 12, which infuses core subjects with lessons about conservation, smart growth, and the health of the natural world, and calls for annual student outdoor experiences – all aligned with state curriculum standards. The board recently voted unanimously to support an environmental literacy graduation requirement. Revised language for the requirement will be published soon for a required public comment period before the state board conducts a final vote.

Additional information on environmental education, some outdoor activities, and places to enjoy them can be found on the web sites of the following:

To ensure that all Maryland young people have the opportunity to connect with their natural world and grow to become informed and responsible stewards, Governor O'Malley established the Maryland Partnership for Children in Nature in 2008. Under the initiative, which is now being used as a national model, the governor created the Maryland Conservation Jobs Corps and the Maryland Children's Outdoor Bill of Rights.

ARBOR DAY PROCLAIMED – The Garrett County Forestry Board presented the Garrett County commissioners with a Governor's Proclamation on Tuesday in recognition of Arbor Day. Traditionally, Arbor Day in Maryland is celebrated on the first Wednesday in April, which this year was yesterday, April 6. Charles Hoffeditz, Garrett Forestry Board chairman, read the proclamation and presented it to the commissioners at the officials' weekly meeting. Shown from left are Mike Kozier, Forestry Board member, Hoffeditz, Commissioner and Forestry Board member Gregan Crawford, Commissioner James Raley, Commissioner Bob Gatto, and Ernie Metz, project forester with the DNR Maryland Forest Service.

Taxpayers Have Three Extra Days To File Returns

Maryland Comptroller Peter Franchot reminded Marylanders this week that this year's tax filing deadline has been extended to Monday, April 18, allowing taxpayers three additional days to prepare and file their 2010 tax returns.

As an added bonus, taxpayers who owe money can receive an extra two weeks to pay their liability if they file their tax return electronically by the April 18 deadline and choose to have their payment direct debited. Payments must be scheduled for April 30, 2011, or earlier.

"This is no April Fool's Day joke," said Franchot. "Taxpayers have an additional three days to prepare and file their taxes this year. I recognize that Marylanders who owe taxes may be feeling the pinch more than ever this year, so these filers have the opportunity to extend their payment until the end of the month."

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has extended the filing deadline because Emancipation Day, a holiday observed in the District of Columbia, falls on Friday, April 15, this year. According to the IRS, by law, District of Columbia holidays impact tax deadlines in the same way that federal holidays do. Therefore, the tax deadline will be on the following Monday, allowing all taxpayers the extra three days to file this year.

Taxpayers requesting an extension must do so by the April 18 deadline and will have until Monday, Oct. 17, to file their 2010 tax returns. An extension only delays filing, not the obligation to pay the tax owed. Penalties and interest are applicable to underpayment and begin to accrue on the tax deadline.

"If you are filing for an extension on your federal return and you do not expect to owe any additional taxes to the state of Maryland, then you do not need to file for an extension with my office, because it happens automatically," said Franchot. "However, if you expect to owe additional tax to the state, you must file for an extension with the state as well as the IRS, and pay the amount you estimate to owe."

Free state tax assistance is available at all of the agency's 12 taxpayer service offices, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Additional hours of assistance will be offered on Saturday, April 16, from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m., and on Monday, April 18, from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at all agency locations.

Taxpayers may also download state tax forms, find helpful information, and check the status of their refund by visiting the comptroller's Web site at www.marylandtaxes.com, and may receive free assistance by telephoning 410-260-7980 or 1-800-MD-TAX-ES. The call center is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. through April 18, and will be open Saturday, April 16, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. To check the status of a refund by phone, persons may telephone 410-260-7701 or 1-800-218-8160.

Chamber Offers 9-Day Excursion To Tuscany, Italy

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is inviting chamber members and family and friends of chamber members to join in on an experience visiting Tuscany, Italy. This nine-day trip departs on Nov. 1 to explore the region of Tuscany.

As one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world, those participating may relax in the spa resort town of Montecatini, or sight-see in Florence, home to famous artists such as Leonard da Vinci, Dante, and Michelangelo. The Piazza del Duomo is also featured on the trip, as well as Pisa, home of the Leaning Tower, and Portofino, known for its colorful houses and cobblestone streets.

"This is truly an amazing opportunity to participate in an international journey to irresistible Tuscany, where program participants can experience the country's culture, learn about its business climate, and make new friends," said Nicole Christian, president & CEO of the Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber is able to offer this experience to its members for a special rate of $2,299 (per person, double occupancy) and $2,499 for non-members. Space is limited, and these prices are only good until May 30, so members are encouraged to reserve a spot as soon as possible.

"Don't miss out on this opportunity to visit irresistible Tuscany, exchange ideas with local business representatives, make new friends, and build new memories," said Christian.

For more information about this trip, persons may contact director of membership development Katie Tasker at 301-387-5237 or via e-mail at katie@garrettchamber.com.

GC Offers Course In Basic Spanish At G'ville Center

A conversational Spanish course will be offered by Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at the Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville. Classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m. beginning on May 3, and will continue for a total of eight sessions.

The course provides an introduction to Spanish pronunciation, basic vocabulary, common phrases, and communication for simple conversations. There will be no tests.

Course instructor Sandra Miller-Louden, a graduate of Heidelberg University with a double major in Spanish and English, currently teaches Spanish at Salisbury-Elk Lick High School. She lived in Argentina for six months and still maintains contact with her host family there.

For additional information, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for this course, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

23rd Annual Walk-A-Thon Set For May 7

The Mtn. Top Crisis Pregnancy Center will host its 23rd annual Walk-A-Thon on Saturday, May 7, at 9:30 a.m. at the Lions Club Community Shelter at the Glades Park, Oakland. A picnic will be held at the completion of the walk for those participating and their families.

The MTCPC operates only on donations and with a volunteer staff. The center will celebrate 22 years of ministry in July. Since opening, the center has served thousands of individuals. The MTCPC offers alternatives to abortion, and believes it is important to educate woman on the development of a child after conception, how an abortion procedure is done, and how an abortion may affect a woman. This is intended to help clients make an informed decision.

Each person who raises $150 in pledges will receive a free T-shirt. The youth group raising the most money will received a trophy to display at its church and money for a pizza party. The top money-raising adult and youth will receive loving cups, and the church with the most members walking will receive a plaque to display for a year.

Those who cannot participate are encouraged to give a donation to the center. For sponsor sheets or more information, persons may call 301-334-1058 or stop by the center on Alderson Street, Loch Lynn.

SOUTHERN MIDDLE ANNOUNCES GEOBEE WINNER – Southern Middle School student Jonah Facciolli is the winner of the school's geography bee. With the win, Jonah qualified to represent the school and the county at the state level in the National Geography Bee State Qualifier, which was held last Friday at the Catonsville Campus of the Community College of Baltimore County.

Workshops To Be Held For Cancer Patient Caregivers

The American Cancer Society holds a series of telephone workshops each month for cancer patient caregivers. Each month a different topic is discussed that reflects some of issues faced in cancer treatment.

Calls are made on the second Tuesday of each month at 1 p.m. and are free of charge, but registration is required ahead of time. Interested persons can register by calling 1-800-966-3586 or visiting cancer.org/sacaregiverwhorships.

The next workshop will be on Tuesday, April 12, and the topic is "The Male Caregiver! Helping Men Care for Their Loved Ones with Cancer."

The May 10 call will cover advance directives; the June 14 event will look at nutrition; and the Aug. 9 topic will be "Navigating the Medical System."

These workshops are only one of the many services provided by the American Cancer Society and are partially funded by local Relay For Life fundraising. For more information about ACS programs, persons may call 1-800-ACS-2345 or go online to cancer.org.

Relay For Life of Garrett County will be held on June 10–11 at the Southern High School track. More information is available by calling Brittany Friend at 301-722-2145 or visiting relayforlife.-org/garrett.

Greater Oakland Business Assn. Meeting Slated

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) will hold its next regular meeting on Tuesday, April 19, at the Oakland City Hall, 15 South Third Street. The evening will begin with a "meet and greet" at 5:30 p.m. followed by a prompt start of the meeting at 6.

The guest speaker will be Jim Hinebaugh, director of the Economic Development Office of Garrett County (www.gcedonline.com). His talk will center on the economic climate in the area and ways his office offers assistance to local businesses in the current challenging economic conditions. Time will be allotted for questions and answers.

"The Greater Oakland Business Association is committed to serving its members, not just through special events that promote our town in general, but also by disseminating information and advice that assist individual businesses," said Fred Gregg, GOBA member. "We are pleased to have Jim Hinebaugh return to speak to GOBA regarding the state of our local economy and how his office can assist area businesses. Mr. Hinebaugh's insight and perspective have proven to be very beneficial to our members when he has presented at past GOBA meetings."

All GOBA members are encouraged to attend this session. For more information, persons may contact Katherine Lee, GOBA/Main Street manager, at 301-616-4944.

Open House Topics To Include Student Life, Financial Aid, Enrollment Process

RACHELLE DAVIS

CISSY VANSICKLE

The Garrett College open house, scheduled for Saturday, April 16, beginning at 10:30 a.m., will provide potential students and guests some detailed information on enrollment, financial aid, and student life on campus, in addition to presentations on academic programs offered.

GC president Dr. Richard MacLennan and Ann Wellham, dean of marketing and enrollment management, will welcome visitors to the college and invite them to select and attend various information sessions that will run throughout the morning. Lunch will be provided following staff and faculty presentations and campus tours, including an overview of the Community Aquatic and Fitness Center due to be completed in time for the start of the fall 2011 semester.

Rachelle Davis, director of admissions, will speak to visitors and answer their questions about the process of being accepted as a college student.

"We want to give people some very specific details on the steps to be followed in applying to Garrett College and enrolling as a student," said Davis. "For someone taking these steps for the first time, it can be a rather daunting experience. We want to make it comfortable and remove as much confusion as possible."

"Navigating Financial Aid" is the title of a presentation to be made by Cissy VanSickle, GC director of financial aid. She will explain how to access educational funds through federal, state, and institutional aid, as well as special scholarships available, such the Garrett County Scholarship Program.

KATE HEISER

"I also will speak about budgeting to live as a student," she said. "This can mean changing the way students spend money on things like the coffee they drink and the clothing they buy."

Kate Heiser, coordinator of residence life, will give an overview of GC's wide range of student services available to residential and commuting students.

"The focus of my presentation will be 'student life.' Garrett College offers a wide variety of student activities in addition to support services, such as on-campus access to counseling and health services," she said. "Information will also be provided regarding academic support services in the form of tutoring, a math lab, a writing center, and 24-hour campus security."

Persons interested in attending are asked to register by calling 301-387-3044 or by going online to www.garrettcollege.edu/events/openhouse. An evening open house is also planned for Tuesday, April 26, from 6 to 8 p.m., with a focus on business and information technology programs.

"Making Waves, Making History" Spotlights Courageous Women

by Peggy Santamaria

"R-E-S-P-E-C-T, Find out what it means to me!..."

The auditorium at Garrett College resounded with the bold voice of Aretha Franklin as "protesters" brandishing placards demanding women's rights danced down the aisles and up onto the stage.

"Making Waves, Making History: Women's History Monologues," presented last week as part of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series, brought faculty, staff, and students together on stage to recognize women who impacted future generations.

The women selected as subjects of the monologues included early women's rights advocates Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony; first female "superstar" Annie Oakley; American aviation pioneer Amelia Earhart; first lady, author, activist, and politician Eleanor Roosevelt; Alice Paul, dedicated to the "liberation of womankind"; biophysicist Rosalind Franklin; political activist and feminist Gloria Steinem; first female member of the Supreme Court Sandra Day O'Connor; and photographer Annie Leibovitz.

Each costumed character described the driving force in her life and the goals to which she was dedicated. Some of their stories were familiar, some less well-known. All were edifying. Presentations were made against a background of projected slides.

Program coordinator Terry Kasecamp, GC professor of psychology, portrayed Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and created a PowerPoint slide show in conjunction with Carly Simon singing "Attitude Dancing." Kasecamp's program combined buoyant music with the harsh realities and dedicated spirits of the women depicted.

For more information on the Joan Crawford Lecture Series, persons may telephone Kasecamp at 301-387-3005.

College Offering Financial Literacy Fair for Students

In acknowledgment of April as Financial Literacy Month, the Garrett College Financial Aid Department will host a Financial Literacy Fair next Thursday, April 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Event organizer Cissy VanSickle, director of financial aid at GC, explained some of the reasons for holding this information forum.

"The recent economic crisis and the increasing complexity of our financial system make it clear that strengthening the financial knowledge and skills of our young people is critical to their future success and to the future financial stability of our country," she said. "Our goal is provide tools to help our students take control of their financial futures."

The fair will feature financial information from local banks, credit unions, nonprofit groups, and government agencies. Among those participating will be Clear Mountain Bank, First United Bank & Trust, First United Insurance Group, M&T Bank, Susquehanna Bank, State Employees Credit Union, PNC Bank, National Education, and WEPCO Federal Credit Union.

"Many of our students will be moving on to four-year schools, while others will be entering their first full-time employment. A good understanding of financial matters will be vital to their future success," VanSickle said.

The Garrett College Financial Aid Office staff is available to answers questions at 301-387-3025.

Dooley Winner Of Scholarship From Women's Groups

by Peggy Santamaria

"I never win anything," Robin Dooley said with a laugh. But this time was different. She was the winner of the $500 scholarship awarded by American Association of University Women (AAUW) at the Second Chances for Women workshop held recently at Garrett College.

This annual event is sponsored by the Garrett County Branch of the AAUW, along with the Business and Professional Women's Club, Garrett College, and the Women's Civic Club. It is designed for women who wish to begin or resume a college education in order to learn or enhance career skills.

A single mother of two, Dooley said she is ready to pursue some new interests and begin a new career.

"The children are older now and more independent, so this would be my opportunity to do this," she said.

The workshop provided Dooley the guidance she was seeking on how to begin her new quest.

"The speakers answered a lot of questions for me," she said. "They gave me the forms I would need to apply for student aid, and I learned the exact steps I will need to take."

Two women, now students at GC, had started on their current educational path with the help of a Second Chances for Women workshop. They were speakers at the workshop, and Dooley said the stories they told were very edifying.

"They talked about the obstacles that they faced in returning to a classroom later in life," she said. "They emphasized the fact that they, too, had to overcome fears to do this. They kept saying, 'You can do this. You can do this.' So I felt that they supported me and understood my concerns."

The scholarship Dooley received can be applied toward credit courses or workforce development education at Garrett College.

RAM Notes

THE 25TH ANNUAL PUTNAM COUNTY SPELLING BEE

The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee will play Friday, April 15, and Saturday, April 16, at 8 p.m. on the Southern High School stage. Admission is set at $5 and will be collected at the door. The show features six elementary-age spellers and their struggles with language and life.

SENIOR PDA FOR 2011 YEARBOOK DUE

April 15 is the last day that parents may purchase and submit senior ads for the 2011 yearbook. Senior ad order forms and information were mailed in February. Any parent who did not receive an order form may obtain one by contacting Maria Zumpano at the school or by downloading it from the school's web site.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTION

The induction of 28 new members into the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society will be held on Sunday, April 10, at 2 p.m. in the cafetorium.

SENIOR NEWS

Jostens will be in the cafeteria during lunch period on April 13 to hand out announcements and gowns to seniors. There is also a mandatory meeting for seniors on April 14 in the gymnasium during advisory period.

SENIOR TRIP UPDATE

Friday, April 8, will be the last day to order Disney gift cards for students traveling to Disney World for this year's senior trip. Gift cards are available in the amounts of $25 and $100. Seniors will be leaving in three weeks for the senior class trip. Buses will load in front of the school. Buses will arrive at the front of the school at 4 a.m. and promptly depart at 4:30 a.m. after luggage is loaded.

COMPUTERS AND TECHNOLOGY AT VIRGINIA TECH (C-TECH)

The Center for the Enhancement of Engineering Diversity at the College of Engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (Virginia Tech) is sponsoring Computers and Technology at Virginia Tech (C-Tech) from June 26 to July 9. The primary focus of this two-week residential program is to develop and sustain the interests of participants in engineering and science. The target population for the program is female students who will graduate from high school in 2012 or 2013. C-Tech allows participants to explore applications of engineering, math, and science in a way that is fun and exciting. Participants will be exposed to college life, experiencing everything from residence hall living to college classrooms. For more information, go to http://www.eng.vt.edu/ctech2 or stop in the Guidance Office.

2011 YEARBOOK ORDERS DUE

The Highlander yearbook staff has been working hard to complete the 2011 yearbook and wants to make sure every student has the opportunity to purchase one. There is less than one month left to reserve a copy. Cash and check payments may be made to Ms. Zumpano in Room 1252. Credit and debit card payments may be made by calling 1-866-282-1516.

ASVAB TESTING

The Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery test will be given to all juniors on Tuesday, April 19, in the cafeteria. The test will begin first period after morning announcements and will conclude by lunch period.

HOLLINS UNIVERSITY'S HOLLINSUMMER PROGRAM FOR GIRLS

Hollins University's 2011 Hollinsummer program for high school girls is scheduled for July 10-22. Approximately 100 girls who are high school freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors will come together from all across the U.S. to get a taste of college life. Attendees will set their own schedules, take two non-credit classes during the week, and participate in field trips and other activities over the weekend. Those interested may call 1-800-456-9595 or visit the Guidance Office for more information.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA'S 4-STAR CAMPS

4-Star Camps at the University of Virginia is an academic and athletic program which has positioned students for success since 1975. Class sizes are strictly limited to 15 students to allow for more individualized attention. The programs focus on the skills that high schools, colleges, and employers are looking for: problem solving, leadership, critical thinking, presentation skills, public speaking, and collaboration. Those interested may call 1-800-334-7827 or visit the Guidance Office.

SHS CADETS COMPETE – Southern High School Junior ROTC cadets competed against cadet teams from four other schools and representing three states at the Preston High School JROTC Raider Challenge on Saturday in Kingwood. In rain and snow conditions, the cadets competed in the one-rope bridge event, the 2-kilometer road march, first aid scenario, tire-stretcher relay, and the orienteering course. The local cadets placed second in the orienteering and first aid event. The events are designed to test the cadets' physical and mental stamina as they work in an eight-cadet team to complete each task. In the photo above, the SHS cadets build a 52-foot, one-rope bridge, led by rope team leader Matthew Blamble. Below, the cadets compete in the tire-stretcher relay, in which they were required to turn truck tires end over end for a distance of 25 yards, then carry their partners on their backs for another 25 yards before switching teams. The Southern team completed this event in 2 minutes, 47 seconds. Pictured from left are Trevor Bosse, raider team captain; Christine Hall, Colton Wassel, and Cody Hoye.

Amateur Radio Group To Meet

The Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (GCARES) will have its April meeting at the Garrett Southern Rescue Squad building on Monday, April 11, at 7 p.m.

The main topic will be a description of the new repeater linking which allows wide coverage into Maryland and Pennsylvania from Garrett County. Coming events will also be discussed.

All amateur radio operators from Garrett County and adjacent counties are invited to this presentation. The squad building is located along Rt. 135 east of Oakland in Mountain Lake Park. Parking and the entrance are at the rear of the building.

4-H Club News

NORTH STAR

by Isaac Brenneman, reporter

The North Star 4-H Club held its regular meeting on March 8 at the Accident fire hall. Roll call was answered by members naming their favorite game and why it is their favorite. There were 10 members, nine adults, and two guests present.

The program was on public speaking. Isaac Brenneman spoke on the topic "Why you should join 4-H," which he planned to present at the Communications Event.

Reports of activities were also given. Kathryn Kitzmiller spoke about the club trip to Goodwill Mennonite Home to deliver Valentine baskets and greetings, and Isaac Brenneman reported on the county trip to Annapolis for 4-H Day. He discussed how a bill is made, the tour of the Capitol and State Houses, and his family's tour of the Naval Academy.

A demonstration was given by Kathryn Kitzmiller on how to make chocolate chip cheesecake bars, and she shared them with the group.

The Clovers presented what they learned about peanuts and how peanuts relate to 4-H. They also demonstrated the cards that they made with peanuts.

Announcements and dates were set for future events, such as Achievement Night and the Livestock Sale at Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry on Sunday, April 10, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The next regular meeting is planned for Tuesday, April 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the Accident fire hall.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION

Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 10-DP-3490, NPDES Permit MD0069418:

Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., Department of Public Utilities, 2008 Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park, Maryland 21550, applied for renewal of the permit to discharge an average of 50,000 gallons per day (gpd) of treated domestic wastewater from the proposed Keyser's Ridge Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP). The proposed WWTP will be located in the vicinity of National Pike (Alternate US Route 40) and US Route 219 intersection, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland 21536, and it will discharge to Puzzley Run downstream of Lake Louise just north of the National Pike (Alternate US Route 40) which is designated Use I waters protected for water contact recreation and aquatic life. Puzzley Run is also designated as a Tier II-High Water Quality Water.

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) is proposing to reissue the discharge permit with the following effluent limitations: BOD_5, 10 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 15 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total suspended solids, 10 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 15 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total ammonia nitrogen - N, 1.5 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean; E. coli, 126 /100 ml maximum monthly geometric mean value; total residual chlorine, 0.013 mg/l maximum when chlorine or chlorine compounds are used in any treatment process; dissolved oxygen, 6.0 mg/l minimum any time; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. The total suspended solid limit in the permit is in conformance with EPA approved Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) for the Youghiogheny River Basin. This permit may be reopened to incorporate the future total maximum daily load requirements. The effluent limits reflect water quality based requirements necessary for compliance with the both Maryland and Pennsylvania water quality standards. 14,000 gallons per day of the 50,000 gpd flow has been reserved to allow the existing BFS Truck Stop (NPDES No. MD0065234) to connect to this WWTP and cease discharging once the Keyser's Ridge WWTP is operational.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by April 20, 2011. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Mr. Stephen Luckman, Chief, Municipal Discharge Permits Division, and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by April 20, 2011, will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination.

Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before April 30, 2011. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-537-3671 or 800-633-6101 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page.

NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE

Notice is hereby given that Mettiki Coal, LLC, 293 Table Rock Road, Oakland, MD 21550, Telephone No. 301-334-3952, intends to conduct blasting activities on Surface Mining Permit No. SM 97-428 located in Election District No. 8 of Garrett County, 9¼ miles South of Oakland, Maryland, in accordance with all applicable state and federal laws.

Blasting activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and time periods:

May 14, 2011, through May 14, 2012, from 9:00 a.m. till 1:00 p.m., and from 2:00 p.m. till 6:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday. There will be no blasting activities conducted on Sundays.

Public access to the blasting area will be controlled prior to blasting by barricading all accesses to the permit area. At least 3 minutes prior to blasting a pre-blast warning signal of three short horn blasts of five seconds duration at 5-second intervals will be sounded. After the blast, one 20-second horn blast shall indicate an All-Clear signal.

Blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced except in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, other atmospheric conditions, or operator or public safety dictate an unscheduled detonation.

Any resident or owner of a dwelling within one-half mile of the permit area may request to have a structural blasting survey of their dwelling conducted by contacting the above permittee or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, in writing, at 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF FINAL DETERMINATION

General Permit for Discharges from the Application of Pesticides

The Department is proposing to issue General Discharge Permit No. 11PE (federal NPDES Permit No. MDG87) for discharges to waters of the State from the application of (1) biological pesticides or (2) chemical pesticides that leave a residue (hereinafter collectively "pesticides"), when the pesticide application is for one of the following pesticide use patterns: mosquito and other flying insect pest control; aquatic weed and algae control; aquatic nuisance animal control; and forest canopy pest control. This general permit is for operators that apply pesticides in or near water. The permit regulates discharges from pesticides applied directly to surface waters to control pests, or applied to control pests that are present in or over, including near, surface waters.

The permit establishes narrative technology-based limitations based on minimizing excess pesticides and implementing integrated pest management practices; establishes narrative water quality based limitations; establishes narrative monitoring requirements, including visual monitoring; and requires development of a pesticide management plan, if operating over a certain threshold. Operators are also required to comply with reporting and record keeping requirements beginning no later than three months after the permit effective date.

The general permit is needed to comply with court-ordered requirements for the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and states to issue national pollutant discharge elimination system (NPDES) permits for both chemical pesticide applications that leave a residue or excess in water and all biological pesticide applications that are made in or over, including near, waters of the United States. EPA has proposed a draft NPDES pesticides general permit to be issued by EPA in states and areas where EPA is the NPDES permitting authority and for use as guidance by Maryland and other states delegated by EPA to issue NPDES permits. Maryland's proposed permit closely follows EPA's proposed pesticide general permit. However, Maryland has made some adjustments to the EPA proposed general permit which allow for transition to the new requirements and provide clarifications for use of the permit in Maryland.

The Department published a tentative permit determination in the Maryland Register on January 3, 2011 and in newspapers across the State during the first two weeks of January regarding the proposed draft permit. The Department held a public hearing concerning the tentative determination on February 8, 2010 at MDE. After considering all comments received, and considering discussions with USEPA regarding public comments on the EPA draft permit, the Department has made a final determination to issue the permit with the following changes to the tentative determination:

1) Scope/Eligibility: In Part I. B.4, changed scope of forest canopy spraying to include ground applications. Removed the word "aquatic" from weed and animal control use patterns, and add pathogen control.

2) Thresholds for Pesticide Management Plan: In Part I. H, clarified that for flying insect and forest canopy control, each application counts toward the total. But for animal and weed control, each area shall be counted once only. For animal and weed control, change the threshold from 20 acres to 80 acres. For linear waterways larger than ditches, each side counts separately.

3) Part III.A.2: Removed the term "integrated pest management" and substituted with "pest management measures that minimize pesticide discharges to State waters."

4) Part III.F.2: Adverse incident reports are due within 30 days rather than five days.

5) The permit effective date will correspond to the date required by the federal court for EPA's permit, which at the time of this writing is October 31, 2011.

Nonsubstantive changes to the text have also been made to address typographical errors or to clarify the requirements of the permit. All other proposed terms and conditions of the tentative permit determination remain unchanged.

Any person adversely affected by this final determination may file a petition for judicial review. Petitions for judicial review of a final determination or permit decision subject to judicial review must be filed in accordance with §1-605 of the Environment Article no later than May 9, 2011 (30 days following publication by the Department of this notice of final determination in the Maryland Register), and must be filed in a circuit court in Maryland. Petitions for judicial review must conform to the applicable Maryland Rules of Civil Procedure. Failure to file a petition for judicial review by May 9, 2011 will constitute a waiver of any right to a judicial review of this final determination.

To view and print the final permit, go to the Department's website address at www.mde.state.md.us/waterpermits/Pages/forms.aspx and select "Discharges from the Application of Pesticides" under Industrial General Discharge Permits.

Any questions regarding this final determination and permit should be directed to Edward Gertler at the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, at egertler@mde.state.md.us by telephone at 410-537-3323 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Persons seeking to review the final permit and associated file may do so by contacting Mr. Gertler to make an appointment. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
527 Deer Run Lane, Swanton, MD 21561-2058

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from John A. Scourtis dated February 20, 2008, and recorded at Liber 1356, Folio 421 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at Main Entrance of the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD 21550, on:

April 15, 2011, at 1:00 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $18,000.00 by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, MD. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. There will be no abatement of interest in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. The noteholder shall not be obligated to pay interest if it is the purchaser. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. All public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. In the event taxes, any other public charges or condo/HOA fees have been advanced, a credit will be due to the seller, to be adjusted from the date of sale at the time of settlement. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without interest. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement, the deposit shall be forfeited, to the Trustees for application against all expenses, attorney's fees and the full commission on the sale price of the above-scheduled foreclosure sale. In the event of default, all expenses of this sale (including attorney's fees and the full commission on the gross sale price of this sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. The Trustees may then re-advertise and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser or without reselling the property, the Trustees may avail themselves of any legal or equitable remedies against the defaulting purchaser. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to receive the surplus, if any, even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulting purchaser and the defaulting purchaser shall be liable to the Trustees and secured party for attorney's fees and expenses incurred in connection with all litigation involving the Property or the proceeds of the resale. The purchaser agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00 plus costs, which fee does not include attendance at any hearings, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Hearings will be charged at attorneys' hourly rate. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents, $150.00 may be charged for document preparation and review and an additional $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein. Trustees' file number 23202.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on Monday, May 2, 2011, at 7:30 PM at the Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to receive public comment regarding proposed Ordinance O2011-02 and O2011-03. The proposed ordinances have been introduced before the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland. A fair summary of the Ordinances follows:

Ordinance O2011-02, FISCAL YEAR 2012 BUDGET ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND SETTING FORTH THE GUIDELINES FOR THE PROPOSED BUDGET FOR THE UPCOMING FISCAL YEAR AND SETTING THE TAX RATE FOR THE UPCOMING YEAR. THE FOLLOWING SHOWS THE BALANCED PROJECTED SUBTOTALS FOR EACH INDIVIDUAL FUND:

GENERAL RECEIPTS/EXPENDITURES	$1,643,000
WATER/SEWER RECEIPTS/EXPENDITURES	$1,460,700
TOTAL RECEIPTS/EXPENDITURES	$3,103,700

The proposed budget keeps constant the real estate property tax rate at $.472 per $100 assessed valuation. It also keeps constant the Incorporated (Certification) tax bill rate at $1.20 per $100 assessment as well as the Unincorporated (personal property) tax bill rate. The water budget includes a uniform increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons water used, as ordained in a separate ordinance. The sewer budget includes an increase of $1.00 per 1,000 gallons of water used over the current sewer rate for metered customers and $11 per quarter per ERU for unmetered customers.

Ordinance O2011-03,
WATER/SEWER RATES, SERVICES, AND CHARGES

AN ORDINANCE of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland pertaining to the rates and fees for water and sewer services and charges. The proposed ordinance will increase the water rate of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold effective July 1, 2011 (FY 2012), an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2013 and an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2014. In addition, the proposed ordinance includes a uniform increase in the sewer rate of $1.00 per 1,000 gallons of water used or $11.00 per quarter per ERU for unmetered usage and an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2013 and an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2014 along with a corresponding increase for unmetered users. The increases proposed are to cover the increased cost of operations, including the cost of new regulations and standards being implemented by Maryland Department of the Environment.

The Ordinances in their entirety are available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal office hours, Monday through Friday.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Quality Produce To Be Topic At April 11 Event

An informational meeting about increasing the quality of produce will be held on Monday, April 11, at the Pleasant Valley Community Building from 1 to 4 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Paul Leeds, who is the former owner of Leeds Berry Farm in Ontario, Canada. The farm produces organic pick-your-own strawberries and raspberries.

Leeds is currently a crop consultant with Evergreen Liquid Plant Foods Ltd. He has worked with farmers to increase the quality of their produce by working with soil micro nutrients and soil microbial organisms. He will explain how increasing brix levels of fruits and vegetables will increase taste, shelf life, and insect resistance. A demonstration will be given comparing brix levels.

The meeting is open to anyone, and registration is not necessary. For more information, persons may contact Eli Swartzentruber at 301-724-5052 or Willie Lantz at 301-334-6960

Oakland Dairy Farmers Attend YC Conference

Terry and Jill Hauser, Oakland area dairy farmers, recently attended the Dairy Farmers of America Inc. (DFA) Mideast Area Young Cooperator (YC) Conference in Newark, Ohio. The Hausers were among more than 100 DFA members who attended the conference.

The Hausers, who are fourth generation dairy farmers, milk 140 Holstein cows.

"These conferences have helped us grow professionally as we learn more about the workings of our cooperative," said Jill Hauser. "We also have gained a lot of respect for our elected member directors, as well as the DFA administrative staff."

The Hausers attended a variety of presentations at the conference. Topics included fostering positive family relationships on the farm, milk-pricing, and updates on the cooperative's businesses. Mark Thomas, Louisville, Ohio, a DFA member and seven-time International Hot Rod Association Alcohol Funny Car World Champion, also spoke about the importance of teamwork in successful farm operations.

The Hausers also had the opportunity to tour Kroger Co.'s Tamarack plant in Newark to view the process that milk undergoes after leaving the dairy.

"By attending conferences like this one, these young producers are gaining knowledge about the value of cooperative membership, the services and benefits available to them, and the important issues facing the entire industry," said Tom Croner, chairman of the Mideast Area Council. "It prepares them to be the future leaders of our cooperative and the dairy industry."

DFA's YC program fosters interaction among dairy farmers ages 18 to 40 who are involved as owners or partners, or hold distinct management responsibilities on a DFA-member dairy operation. The program is focused on personal and professional growth, learning the latest innovations in the industry, and networking with peers.

According to Croner, through meetings and exposure to other industry organizations, YCs become leaders and ambassadors for DFA and the industry, enabling YCs to improve their industry, their cooperative, and their lives.

FARM SERVICE AGENCY ANNOUNCES 2011 CROP ACREAGE REPORTING DEADLINES

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reminds farmers of the importance of filing timely Crop Acreage Reports. Reports of crop acreage are required for participation in many USDA-FSA farm programs.

FSA programs requiring annual crop acreage reports include the Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP), Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE) Program, Conservation Reserve Program (CRP/CREP), Loan Deficiency Payments (LDPs) and Marketing Assistance Loans (MALs), the Farm Storage Facility Loan Program, and the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP).

Acreage reporting deadlines for the 2011 crop year for West Virginia producers are as follows:

May 31 – oats, wheat, barley

July 15 – corn, alfalfa, clover, grass, legumes, lespedeza, lettuce, mixed hay, peas, commercial produce, strawberries, timothy, vetch

September 30 – aquaculture, ornamental horticulture, ginseng, turfgrass sod, mushrooms, Christmas trees, floriculture

January 3 – honey, maple sap

Failed acreage must be reported within 15 days of the disaster event and before disposition of the crop. Prevented planting must be reported no later than 15 days after the final planting date.

Acreage reports on crops for which Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) assistance may be paid are due in the county office by the earlier of May 31 for noninsurable small grains and July 15 for all other crops, or 15 calendar days before the onset of harvest or grazing of the specific crop acreage being reported.

For further information regarding Crop Acreage Reports, local producers are invited to visit the Farm Service Agency office located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923.

SAILIN' SAM – Samantha Taylor, a 2010 graduate of Southern High School, is pictured as she defies gravity and sails over the pole, a feat that she does regularly these days. A freshman at Hagerstown Community College, the young athlete is a member of the track team. She has cleared 9 feet, 6 inches in each of the first four meets this spring. She earned first place honors at meets held at the College of Mary Washington in Virginia and at York College in Pennsylvania. She placed second at a meet at Goucher College and tied for second at the Messiah College Invitational in Pennsylvania last weekend. Samantha is the daughter of Dave Taylor and Brenda Taylor, both of Oakland.

Motorcylc Wreck Claims Life Of Oakland Resident

A motorcycle accident that occurred on Gorman Road Rt. 560 last Thursday evening claimed the life of an Oakland man.

Eric Anthony Tichnell, 21, was traveling south on Rt. 560 at approximately 5:20 p.m., when he lost control of his 2007 Kawaski motorcycle and struck the guardrail. He was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he succumbed to his injuries.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

A full obituary for Tichnell can be found in the A-section of this issue.

PLENTY OF POMP characterized Saturday's inauguration ceremony at Garrett college, where Dr. Richard MacLennan was officially named the 10th president of the institution. MacLennan was hired last year to succeed interim president Dr. Jeanne Neff. Leading the procession of visiting dignitaries, faculty, and staff in full academic regalia was Dr. Gerald McGee, Pipe Major Emeritus of the Garrett Pipes and Drums, pictured. To the right is Dr. MacLennan, and at left is Linda Sherbin, chair of the GC board of trustees. Dr. MacLennan is also pictured below during his remarks. See story and other photos in this section.

BOE Pushes Back School Closing Vote To April 26

The Garrett County Board of Education has moved the date of its special meeting to vote on the school closing recommendations for the schools of Bloomington and Kitzmiller.

The board meeting, originally slated for Tuesday, April 19, will now take place on Tuesday, April 26, at Southern Middle School at 6 p.m.

This change of schedule is to allow the BOE to obtain additional funding information from the upcoming county commissioners' budget hearings, scheduled for the week of April 18.

DNR Discusses Trail Situation At State Forests

Maryland Department of Natural Resources representatives met with interested parties on April 7 at Green Ridge State Forest to discuss the closings of Off-Road Vehicle (ORV) trails in Green Ridge and Savage River state forests. Both trails are being closed this month to all ATV, bicycle, and equestrian use. These closures stem from the trails' proximity to areas of the forests that are designated as wildlands, which is Maryland's version of a wilderness designation.

The closings were recommended by DNR in response to an Off-Road Vehicle Trail Assessment and Report, which is available at www.dnr.maryland.gov/-forests/ovreport.asp.

In addition, DNR is preparing for an audit at the end of April that will secure a Sustainable Forest Initiative certification. There is reportedly controversy over whether the SFI is independent or highly controlled by the paper and timber industry. For more information on this, persons may visit www.foestethics.org.

In attendance at the meeting were Steve Koehn, state forester; John F. Wilson, deputy director of public lands policy and planning; Bob Webster, Western Region's forester; Paul Peditto, director of DNR wildlife and Heritage Service; Ken Jolly and Mark Beals, Green Ridge foresters; Donelle Keech, Nature Conservancy; and representatives from both local and statewide ATV trail clubs and the Citizen Rights and Heritage Group.

Wilson assured attendees, "We don't want to

Dr. Richard MacLennan Inaugurated GC President In Saturday Ceremony

by Peggy Santamaria

The sights and sounds of pageantry were combined with personal touches to send a clear message of welcome to Dr. Richard MacLennan as the 10th president of Garrett College during an inaugural ceremony on Saturday.

Leading the bagpipe procession into the GC gymnasium was Dr. Gerald McGee, Pipe Major Emeritus, as visiting dignitaries, faculty, and staff were dressed in full academic regalia. The processional music, composed by McGee specifically for this event, was titled "Dum Spiro Spero" (While I Breathe, I Hope), which is the motto of Clan MacLennan.

During the ceremony, the Garrett County Choral Society under the direction of Julie Turrentine provided musical interludes, performing "Peace Like a River" and "Come, Let Us Anew."

Following the welcome, introductions, and words of inspiration, congratulatory statements and greetings were extended from local, state, and federal officials. Words of support for the new president came from members of the faculty, staff, alumni, and the student body.

Shantelle Spiker, GC student ambassador and vice president of Phi Theta Kappa, spoke of Dr. MacLennan's student-focused mission.

"We even get to see you outside your office, roaming the halls and saying hello to everyone you pass," she said to MacLennan. She also described how she sees the new president's impact on the college.

"As we look toward bringing the community closer to Garrett College and improving the college as a whole, I have no doubt that Dr. MacLennan can help us succeed," she said.

Donald L. MacLennan, father of President MacLennan, proudly introduced his son, and recounted the formative years and career growth that brought Richard MacLennan to this mo-

Cardin Pushes For Oversight Of Gas Fracking

by Laura E. Lee
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Sen. Ben Cardin, D-Md., on Tuesday called for a change to federal law to allow the Environmental Protection Agency to regulate the natural gas drilling process of hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking."

Cardin, chairman of the Subcommittee on Water and Wildlife, and Sen. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., chairwoman of the Committee on Environment and Public Works, held a hearing on Capitol Hill to examine the advantages and challenges of fracking.

"We want to be able to tap into the natural gas reserves of this nation," Cardin said, "and we want to do it in a safe and environmentally sound manner."

Gas companies could use the hydraulic fracturing process to extract natural gas from the Marcellus shale formation, which runs under Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, West Virginia, and western Maryland.

The hearing comes just a day after a fracking moratorium compromise in the Maryland Senate failed to make it out of committee. Despite the lack of a formal moratorium, companies cannot use the technique in the state without permits from the Department of the Environment.

Bob Summers, the department's acting secretary, testified that the state has applications from two companies for five wells, but no permits have been issued.

"We are proceeding cautiously and deliberately, and do not intend to allow drilling and fracking in the Marcellus shale until the issues are resolved to our satisfaction," Summers said.

In fracking, chemicals are injected into the ground to extract natural gas. After the fluids are used, they may be recycled or injected into underground wells.

"But in some cases, they take it to the wastewater treatment plant that is close by, which, to me, presents significant problems," Cardin said. The chemical pollutants, including chloride, benzene and bromide, may not be adequately removed

Bill To Stop Natural Gas Drilling Fails, Along With Other Environmental Leg.

by Kerry Davis
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – A bill that would have imposed a two-year moratorium on natural gas drilling in the Marcellus shale formation while an environmental impact study was completed stalled in the Senate this legislative session after easily passing the House.

It is unclear how heavily the bill's failure will actually affect drilling into the Marcellus shale formation via hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking," since a hold has already been unofficially placed on drilling there.

The Maryland Department of the Environment has been holding permit applications for drilling since October 2009, citing potential environmental effects. Those applications for fracking were the first ever filed in the state.

The Department of the Environment is not expected to approve the applications without Gov. Martin O'Malley's approval. O'Malley has said he wants a thorough study done before fracking begins.

The Marcellus shale formation runs under Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, West Virginia, and much of western Maryland, among other states. The formation is thought to contain the largest natural gas store in the United States and is located about a mile below the surface.

The bill's language would have forced companies that want to drill into the formation to pay for the environmental study.

"By not passing the bill, what is not going to happen is a comprehensive bill," said Kim Coble, Maryland executive director of the Chesapeake Bay Foundation. "Industry had agreed to pay $1.2 to $1.5 million for a study. Without the bill, the study won't happen, but the administration will be doing a much smaller study."

Delegate Wendell Beitzel, R-Garrett, fought to oppose the moratorium bill

IMAGES OF SOUTH AFRICA TO BE PRESENTED – South Africa is the topic of a presentation to be given by Elizabeth Grant (pictured) on Wednesday, April 20, from noon to 1 p.m. at Garrett College in Library Conference Room 511. This will be the final offering in the Joan Crawford Lecture Series for this season. Professor Grant, GC's director of liberal arts and justice studies, will show slides of the wildlife and geography of South Africa. Many of her photos were taken while on safari and illustrate the dramatic scenery of the area. She will also speak about her six-month experience as a Rotary Scholar, teaching at the Nelson Madella Metropolitan University in 2009. Grant explained that she was drawn to South Africa by the work being done there at the time of the Child Justice Act. "In South Africa there was not a separate process for dealing with children in the justice system," she said. "It was defined by the act committed, not the age of the person involved. So this act would really bring a huge change." The social fabric of the areas in which Grant traveled will also be explored. "I was profoundly aware of the contrast between poverty and plenty in South Africa," she said. Her presentation is open to the public and free of charge. For more information, persons may call Grant at 301-387-3121.

Blaze Destroys Grantsville Area House Tuesday

Investigation continues into the cause of a fire that destroyed a one-story wood-framed single-family dwelling in Grantsville on Tuesday.

Volunteers from the Bittinger, Grantsville, Accident, Deep Creek, and Salisbury, Pa., fire departments were summoned to the residence of Robert and Karen Uphold, located at 638 Blackberry Lane, Grantsville, at 9:23 p.m. The fire was discovered and reported by the Upholds.

It took some 50 firefighters about one hour to bring the blaze under control, according to the notice of investigation released by the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office.

The report said that the area of origin was in the living room of the house, but the exact cause is yet to

Man Sentenced To 10 Years For Insurance Fraud

A 46-year-old Kitzmiller man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to providing false/misleading information in an insurance claim. Related arson and theft charges against Timothy Daniel Wilt were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced him to 10 years in the Division of Corrections and suspended all but 18 months of the sentence to be served in the Garrett County Jail.

After his release, Wilt will be on probation with conditions that include paying $5,000 in restitution to Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's, London.

Wilt was charged with arson and theft after the Fire Marshal's Office determined the origin of a fire at his residence last May was started at his hands.

Subsequent investigation and rulings by the court in Wilt's first case led to the decision that the most appropriate charge under the facts of his case was that involving the fraud to the insurance company, noted the state's attorney.

A second indictment was filed by the March 2011 grand jury, charging Wilt with the new charge.

In another court proceeding last week, a jury found Brandy Lee Kitzmiller, 19, Oakland, not guilty of burglary and theft charges.

Last July, Kitzmiller was arrested and charged by criminal detectives with the Sheriff's Office, who investigated that matter at the 135 Liberty gas station last May.

In an unrelated case, Jerold Lee Sisler, 21, Terra Alta, W.Va., pleaded guilty to driving under the influence per se. Related charges were dismissed upon his plea.

Sherbin then sentenced Sisler to six months in the Del. Beitzel Comments On 2011 Md. General Assembly Session

Balloons dropped and confetti flew as the 2011 session of the Maryland General Assembly came to a close on Monday. Del. Wendell Beitzel (R–Dist. 1A) commented on the celebration and issues addressed by lawmakers this session in Annapolis.

"Both chambers feverishly worked until the clock struck midnight and sine die was declared," he reported. "Over the days following adjournment, the governor and the presiding officers of the House and Senate will sign bills passed by the legislature into law."

As has been the case with previous session, he said, this session has not been without controversy; the assembly wrestled with many of today's most controversial social issues: same sex marriage, illegal immigration, and the use of medical marijuana.

An issue of great importance to western Maryland also captured the state's attention, the delegate noted. The future of Marcellus shale natural gas dominated the headlines.

"Despite all of these issues, the fiscal year 2012 budget and dealing with our fragile economy seemed to take precedence," Beitzel said. "The 2011 session may go down as one of the most contentious sessions in recent memory. Issues like gay marriage, in-state tuition for illegal immigrants, and the increase in the alcohol tax deeply divided both chambers."

Beitzel, who serves on the House Appropriations Committee, said he fought hard to restore key funding sources for Garrett and Allegany counties.

Funds relating to 25 percent dock fees from Deep Creek Lake, state forest timber sales, and the Maryland-mined coal tax credit were all sought to be eliminated by the O'Malley administration, according to Beitzel.

"In the end, none of these key funding sources for our local governments were cut," he said. "I am grateful for the willingness of my colleagues on the budget committees to understand what these cuts to local aid would do to Garrett and Allegany counties."

The budgetary committees also grappled with the sustainability of the state's pension system.

"First, the committees had to examine the issue as to our current workforce," he said. "Secondly, the new hires had to be considered. One popular notion in previous years was to force the counties to pay up to 50 percent of the pension costs. I believe this would be a disastrous move for both the teachers and for the localities that have already seen drastic cuts from state funding."

The House Appropriations and Senate Budget and Taxation committees examined this as a system wide issue.

"With the exception of law enforcement officers and judges, all Maryland state employees were treated equally," the delegate said.

In the end, all state employees must contribute 7 percent of their pay to receive a 1.8 multiplier. All new hires must contribute 7 percent of their pay to receive a 1.5 multiplier.

"This is greatly improved from Gov. O'Malley's original proposal," Beitzel said. "This ensures that current employees are still provided a solid pension system that is continuing to work toward sustainability. As structured, the state's employees must contribute more to the pension fund to secure the long-term sustainability of the system."

One hotly debated issue was the future of Marcellus shale development in western Maryland. House Bill 852: The Marcellus Shale Safe Drilling Act of 2011, sponsored by Del. Heather Mizeur (D–Montgomery County), passed in the House in a vote of 98-40. It died, however, in the Senate Education, Health and Environmental Affairs Committee. The bill would have imposed a two-year moratorium on natural gas drilling pending an industry-paid study.

"We are now in the same position that we were at the beginning of the session," Beitzel added. "As gasoline prices rise and energy costs soar, it becomes apparent that we need to look for other energy sources. However, in our quest for better, cheaper energy, we must make sure to do so in an environmentally sound way."

Beitzel and Sen. George C. Edwards (R–Dist. 1) have sent a letter to O'Malley, asking him to consider allowing the non-profit organization known as State Review of Oil & Natural Gas Environmental Regulations (STRONGER) to review Maryland's regulatory and statutory framework.

In the letter, Beitzel and Edwards state:

"We, too, believe that Maryland can and must be a leader in dealing with Marcellus Shale regulations. We also believe that such a review would show that Maryland's current regulatory and statutory framework is already superior to our neighboring states. As such, we believe that the satisfactory conclusion of this non-profit's study would further demonstrate our superiority. If deficiencies would arise, it has already been demonstrated…that the Department [of the Environment] has all of the authority it needs to enact regulations accordingly."

They conclude:

"As energy costs soar, Marylanders are forced to pay increasingly higher fuel and electricity costs. We believe that it is incumbent upon us to move forward with the development of this energy supply in a responsible manner."

Beitzel and Edwards represent the only part of the state that rests on the Marcellus shale formation.

In the closing hours of the session, the two chambers passed bills that were opposed by all of the western Maryland legislators.

"These bills would increase the state's alcohol tax from 6 percent to 9 percent," Beitzel said.

The measures would benefit schools in Garrett and Allegany counties through an increase in education funding. Money from that source would also go to school construction projects throughout the state and to the Developmental Disabilities Administration.

"However, much of the school construction money is concentrated to the state's largest counties," Beitzel noted. "This division is clearly inequitable to the rural areas of the state. Western Maryland, the Eastern Shore, and Southern Maryland, which comprise 16 of the 24 jurisdictions would receive approximately, 6.8 percent of the overall funding. These smaller funds would also have to be stretched much further to have any impact at all."

Finally, the two chambers late into the closing night of the General Assembly session reconciled differences between two versions of a measure that would allow illegal immigrants to receive an in-state tuition rate for the state's community colleges. The entire Western Maryland Delegation opposed this legislation.

'While states like Arizona are waging a valiant fight against illegal immigration, it appears Maryland has not only opened the door to the practice, but put out the welcome mat as well," Beitzel said.

In Memory of

Ellis O. Cogley Jr.

April 17, 1951 - 1996

Don't mourn for me, I loved life.

I live in every season, I live in the snowflakes that cover the ground in a blanket of white, the icicles that glitter in the morning light.

I live in the crocus that pop their pretty heads up through the snow, the warmth of spring that helps them grow.

I live in the summer when the fields are green, the butterflies that flutter by, the calves of spring who are at play, the lovely sun of a summer day.

I live in the fall, a time to harvest, the time for trees to shed their green, the geese that call as they fly by, I live in all these things, I did not die.

Loved and missed forever,
Mother (Ann L. Sweitzer)

Position Unchanged, Apology Extended...

Several letters to the editor, plus a phone call or two, in response to this writer's endorsement of school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets' controversial recommendation to close Bloomington and Kitzmiller elementary schools were certainly expected, particularly from residents in those communities. This is a highly charged, emotional issue, as it was when the county consolidated its various community high schools into Northern and Southern, and when other elementary schools were closed, including Loch Lynn, Red House, and Yoder. As noted in last week's column, the loss of the community school is typically devastating to those who live there. One can argue that it is even more difficult when those communities are as isolated as are both Kitzmiller and Bloomington.

Despite the opposition to that recommendation, which is contained in various letters on this page today, the position of this writer remains unchanged. It is recognized that these two schools are the focal point in both of these towns and thus are endeared to the families who live there. It is recognized that the students in these two schools do indeed receive lots of excellent, individual attention because of the extremely low student-teacher ratio. It is recognized that the closures would require many miles of travel for even the youngest of students from these towns in order for them to attend their "new" school. It is absolutely true that not much good that can be identified in the closing of these schools.

But the problem is money, as it so often is, and that also makes it a matter of fairness. It would be great if all elementary school students in our county would have the luxury of extremely low student-teacher ratios so that all of them would receive as much individual attention as do those at Bloomington School. But as noted in last week's editorial, the cost of education for a student at Bloomington is three times that being spent on a student at Broad Ford. With the financial crisis being faced by the board of education, and the county in general, trying to justify keeping these two schools open is nearly impossible.

With that stated though, and following a conversation just last night with the pre-k/kindergarten/first grade teacher at Bloomington, there is a need for some clarification. The teacher was hurt by the last week's suggestion that, because instruction for different age groups varies, some of her students are "essentially ignored" when she is working with one specific age group. She expressed concern that this was a criticism of her as a teacher, and could possibly become a negative factor in her career.

It was agreed that "ignored" was not the best word to use in that example, and that a better description might be that teaching different age groups forces a teacher to "divide her time/attention" among her students. The statement made was in no way intended to be a negative comment about her or any particular teacher. Even the best teacher in the world would be daily challenged by such a multi-age scenario in the same classroom. From all accounts, Debbie Nicklin is one of Garrett County's finest young teachers, and so it would be tragic to lose her as a one of our teachers under any circumstances. This writer's deepest apologies are extended to her for causing any perceived negative reflection, though entirely unintended, upon her as a teacher and as a person.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded tha. letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the article "An Awful Situation" in the April 7 issue of The Republican. This article was on the same page as the letters to the editor. I am assuming the article was written by the editor, although the author did not have the courage to include his/her name. I was appalled that an article with such lacking information would be published.

Bloomington School was one of a few elementary schools in the county to receive state wide recognition for their outstanding MSA scores. How would this be possible if their education is lacking? Yes, Pre-K, kindergarten, and first grade are together for a portion of the day, but they are separate for math, reading, spelling, history, and science.

I currently have two children in the first grade class and can tell you that the students are getting the best education possible by getting the one-on-one attention from a specialized math teacher, a dedicated teacher's assistant, and the best classroom teacher. While the teacher is with the first graders, we have an assistant that works with our Pre-K and kindergarten students after the teacher has already taught their lesson. She also follows up one on one with the Pre-K and kindergarten after first grade lessons are taught.

Out teachers have adapted to a very difficult situation that they did not have a decision in, but yet our children are excelling because of all the extra time and energy our teachers and principal have put into making it work.

I was a member of the advisory committee for Bloomington School. I know first hand the time and energy I have put into this "process" and unlike Dr. Teets I have slept very well at night knowing that I have done everything I can for my children to get the education they need and deserve.

I would like to invite the author of this piece to come to Bloomington School any day of the week to see what a quality education looks like.

Kristi Tichnell
Swanton

To the Editor:

I was appalled at the editorial in last week's Republican. I for one know that the decision regarding the school closures is difficult; however, I feel that being misinformed makes that decision much harder.

As a parent of children who attend Kitzmiller, I was personally offended by the statement that our children are being ignored in the classroom. That simply is not true; in truth, our teachers can pick up on the slightest irregularity. Whether it is a child who is having a bad day or if a child shows signs of a disability, our teachers take notice.

To say that closing the schools would save teachers' jobs would be a lie. The truth is that teachers would still lose their jobs. Closing the schools does not open up jobs, it eliminates them. The fact is that the teachers who will be losing their jobs will not be Kitzmiller teachers, it will be teachers with less seniority.

According to Dr. Teets' presentation at the Board of Education meeting on April 5, he was looking at cutting transportation, athletics, and robotics regardless of the school closures. Personally, I pay for any extracurricular activities my children participate in. Why should it be any different for high school students, when the majority of those students have part-time jobs? To say that these programs are more important than foundational education is absurd, and to say that these programs benefit each and every student is even more so.

I realize budget cuts are necessary; however, the two schools chosen for closure are the farthest from Oakland and do not come close to closing the 3.5 million dollar deficit. Why is it with a deficit as large as this, only two schools are taking the hit? Do you really think this will solve the problems in the budget?

The truth is, whether they close the schools or not, teachers will still lose jobs, activities will be cut, transportation will be cut, maintenance will be cut. All of these things are important, as are our communities, communities that will cease to exist should these schools close. The saddest part of all of this is that it will not stop with Kitzmiller and Bloomington. According to Dr. Teets' presentation, should the budget continue to drop, other small schools will be next.

Stephanie Schoch
Kitzmiller

To the Editor,

I am writing in response to last week's editorial titled "An awful situation... ." I appreciate that you have taken the time to cover this topic, as it is an awful situation for Kitzmiller and Bloomington, as well as the entire county and student body. However, I feel that the public has been misinformed.

For instance, the enrollment decline is not of these two schools specifically, it is of the entire county. Actually, Kitzmiller's enrollment has stabilized over the past five years, and according to the FY 2011 Educational Facilities Master Plan approved by the BOE last August, Kitzmiller's enrollment is one of few schools predicted to show a steady increase through the next 10 years.

Secondly, closing these schools is not going to save jobs, so comparing the cost of operating these schools to teacher salaries is irrelevant. After all, reducing staff is the primary source of cost savings. Otherwise the potential savings would be a mere $69,000, as opposed to $815,500.

In regard to the quality of education provided to these students, as a parent of children that continue to be successfully educated in this dynamic, I cannot say that any of them have been shortchanged in the least. In fact, I feel the exact opposite. Being in smaller classrooms has given their teachers the opportunity to recognize each of their individual strengths, weaknesses, and needs, which allows them to educate more effectively.

It is more concerning that we continue to increase overcrowded classrooms, where students become more at risk to losing individual attention and assistance.

Furthermore, to imply that teachers with classes containing one grade do not have the same challenges of teaching multi-level learning is ridiculous. As anyone knows, children learn at different paces and on different levels regardless of the classroom set-up.

As a parent and citizen of Kitzmiller, I am appalled at the suggestion that closing these schools would be in our children's best interest. However, I do agree that the, board members must not lose sight of their primary objective, and that is to make a decision based on what is best for all of the students in this county. I trust that they will also take into account the extent of the negative impact on all of the students by closing these schools.

Sincerely,
Angela Paugh
Kitzmiller

To the Editor:

As the Board of Education weighs its decision on Superintendent Teets' closing recommendation, the future of Kitzmiller hangs in the balance.

A 2004 Community Legacy grant helped the town secure professional services to prepare a strategic plan. As a blueprint for Kitzmiller's future, the plan establishes that "by far the most important priority for the community . . . is the retention of the elementary school." It reiterates that the school "is the heart of the community and a focal point of activities and services for residents. Its survival is paramount and this issue is of greatest importance to those who live there."

Again, the plan identifies the school as "the most important community facility" and "its number one asset and its number one concern." If that was not enough, it pinpoints "the potential loss of the school" as Kitzmiller's "number one threat and its retention as the number one priority."

With this priority in mind, the plan outlines a strategy to "develop and promote the local school as a community center of continual learning and a focal point for community services for all residents." Some of these services take place now, such as partnerships with Ruth Enlow Library and preschool offerings through Head Start. Even these current services will end if the school closes. Future plans include adult basic education and training, a rural health clinic, and a youth center.

Kitzmiller has implemented several facets of the strategic plan and is in process on others, but the success of these endeavors depends upon the school remaining in the community.

The irony in all this is that the county is in the process of implementing its Heritage Plan. The Heritage Plan's emphasis on "preserving, protecting, and promoting" heritage resources in all parts of the county undoubtedly suggests that we should build our existing communities and seek to prevent their demise.

The county Comprehensive Plan agrees when it indicates the need to "maintain and upgrade school facilities to high standards, regardless of projected system-wide declines in enrollment."

The Maryland Department of Planning defines "the ideal" public school as a "community-centered facility," "adjacent to recreational areas and parks," "located within walking distance of other community facilities," and offering "additional community uses." Such a school will serve as "a community anchor" and help to "revitalize established communities." That sounds just like Kitzmiller Elementary School.

Sincerely,
Matthew Paugh
Kitzmiller Town Council

To the Editor:

This Sunday is [St. Paul's United Methodist Church's] fundraiser for the Relay for Life. We have always had our chicken BBQ the third Sunday in April. The chicken and supplies have been ordered and the Kitzmiller Lions Club with their mobile BBQ pit will be in our parking lot barbecuing the chicken. Our team, Ring for the Cure, will be serving in the Fellowship Hall and packaging take-out dinners between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. So come and support our effort to fight cancer.

The Relay for Life will be held on June 10 at the Southern High School track. Ticket holders are guaranteed their meal. We hope we have ordered enough for walk-ins. See you there!

To the Editor:

In my opinion, anyone who attended the Planning Commission meeting last Wednesday got to experience the same arrogance and denial that we will all face if our private property rights are destroyed by the actions of our new board of commissioners.

The meeting began with the announcement that their vote on whether to remove language in the plan that protects those rights would take place before any questions or statements by the citizens attending would be allowed.

When some folks spoke up anyway, the chairman refused to answer questions about the results of the written opinions that citizens had submitted. When it was disclosed that the responses were posted online, which the chairman apparently didn't know, he began to deride many of them as being "form letters."

It turned out that they were from Garrett County Farm Bureau members, and that is how they organize the farmers to reply to such issues.

In any event, over 70 percent of responses were against any action to eliminate the plan language, but that fact wasn't going to stop these guys!

The next act in my opinion was an even greater example of a "done deal." The request for a motion to vote was greeted with silence; then when the fellow to the left of the chairman finally spoke out, no one would second it. The chairman himself finally did.

When the vote itself reached the count of 3 to 2 for removal, the final member present refused to vote at all! He wouldn't say why when asked by members of the audience who witnessed this farce!

I really should have thanked all of the gentlemen on the Planning Commission before I had to leave early because, in my opinion, you couldn't hire actors to portray any better this type of behavior, which should turn the stomach of every freedom-loving landowner and reinforce the perception that it will only get worse if we ever let them have any real power over us.

Finally, folks, we need to drive the message home to these rookie commissioners, who couldn't wait to get their chairs warm before they began this plot to destroy property rights, that it ain't gonna happen here anytime soon because the vast majority of Garrett County citizens will continue to let their voices be heard!

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago in the Letters to the Editor section both Phil Perry of Friendsville and Charles McLaughlin of Oakland attempted to impugn the integrity of Delegate Wendell Beitzel.

They suggest Delegate Beitzel is guilty of a "conflict of interest" because he offered amendments to and voted on legislation regarding the policy of drilling for natural gas in the Marcellus shale deposits in Garrett and Allegany counties.

If one follows that logic then, for example, our state legislators should not vote on health care policy legislation because they or their families might benefit from the outcome and live longer. Or they should not

MSP Seeking Info On Car Stereo Theft

Maryland State Police are seeking information regarding the break-in of a silver 2003 Mazda Protege that was broken down on Finzel Road, near I-68.

The doors of the vehicle were unlocked, so no forced entry was made. Once inside the vehicle, the suspect(s) stole the car stereo, and also attempted to remove the speakers, but with no success.

Anyone with any information is asked to contact Tfc. Lindner at the MSP McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101.

Man Sentenced To Three Years For Indecent Exposure

A Kitzmiller man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday to indecent exposure. Related charges against Mark Sanford Duckworth were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced him to three years in the Division of Corrections, with six months suspended. Duckworth will be on probation upon his release, with conditions that include paying almost $900 in court costs.

In September, Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to Kitzmiller for a report that Duckworth had exposed himself to a juvenile visiting at his residence.

Kitzmiller was arrested by criminal investigators after a search and seizure warrant was executed and detailed statements were received from the victim and witnesses. Protective Service Workers with the Department of Social Services were also involved in the investigation.

Three Arrested On DUI And DWI Charges

Three people were arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges this past week. The following incidents are unrelated.

Deputies responded to Maryland Highway last Wednesday for a single-vehicle accident. Investigation revealed that Ashley Nicole Tichnell, 18, Oakland, was driving while impaired. She was subsequently charged with drinking under the influence and DWI. She was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Deputies responded to a minor two-vehicle accident on Maryland Highway last Thursday morning. Christie Feaster, Swanton, arrived to pick up the passengers of a wrecked vehicle and was discovered to be intoxicated at the time. She was charged with DWI, DUI, and DUI per se. She was transported to the Garrett County Jail.

Deputies stopped a 2003 Nissan passenger vehicle on Third Street, Oakland, last Saturday at approximately 1 a.m. Scott Joseph Cambell, 33, Mtn. Lake Park, who was identified as the driver, was discovered to be intoxicated. He was charged with DWI and taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Tickets Are Still Available For GC Habitat Dinner

Tickets are still available for Garrett County Habitat for Humanity's annual Gala Dinner and Auction, slated this Friday evening, April 15, at the Oakland Elks Club, 100 Elk Street, Oakland, at 6 p.m.

"Join us for an evening of celebration to help build the foundation for future Habitat homes," said John Pucciano, public relations director. "Hear stories of life transformation through homeownership and the exciting new opportunities Habitat is creating in Garrett County."

Following a "grand buffet" dinner, attendees will be treated to donated desserts and have the opportunity to bid on items and services donated by local businesses and individuals. Items to be auctioned include services, entertainment, and handmade items by local artisans.

"You will not only have a memorable evening but will also have the satisfaction of knowing that you helped deserving families afford a safe, warm, affordable place to call 'home,'" Pucciano said.

Tickets $30 each or table of eight for $200, $10 for children 2 to 12 years of age, and free children 1 year old and younger. A small number of tickets will be available at the door.

Interested persons may call the Habitat office today, Thursday, April 14, at 301-533-0600 or e-mail driley@garrettcac.org to order tickets.

"Since 1984, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity has played a critical role in our community by providing safe, decent housing for low-income families, promoting their self-worth, and reaffirming their dignity," Pucciano said. "And each year, the "Building Hope Gala" raises funds to benefit Garrett Habitat's home building program."

Homes are built using tax-deductible contributions of land, materials and money, the labor of volunteers, and the "sweat equity" labor of homeowner families. Volunteer labor is used almost exclusively in the construction of these projects.

Each family must donate 250 hours of labor per adult person in the household. This sweat equity can be applied to the construction of their own home, the construction of homes for others, assisting the office in mailing projects, and other Habitat projects.

Homes are sold to families at cost with a no-interest 30-year mortgage loan. Families are selected basis of housing need, willingness to partner with Habitat and ability to repay the loan. Mortgage payments received from homeowners are recycled directly into a revolving fund used for the construction of additional homes in Garrett County.

Burglary Suspect Arrested, Charged By GC Deputies

Garrett County sheriff's deputies made an arrest after responding to a reported burglary at a Mtn. Lake Park residence on Monday.

Upon arrival, deputies observed signs of forced entry into the home, and collected evidence that helped in developing a suspect. At approximately 10:30 p.m. that evening, deputies located Clifford Frank Elliott Jr. walking along Dennett Road.

He was arrested and charged with fourth-degree burglary and failure to comply with a peace order. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Deputies Serve Two Warrants On Oakland Man

Garrett County sheriff's deputies served two outstanding warrants on Joshua Eugene Tasker, 21, Oakland, last Friday.

Tasker is charged with two counts of first-degree burglary for two separate residential burglaries that occurred in the Valley Road, Oakland, area in March. The second warrant charged Tasker with one count each of first-, third-, and fourth-degree burglary, destruction of property, and theft. This warrant was the result of two separate residential burglaries that occurred in the Steyer Mine Road area in March.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

vote on tax policy because they may save some money.

For me, "that dog don't hunt!"

After he was first elected some five years ago and saw the Marcellus shale natural gas drilling coming, he alerted farmers and large land owners to the possibility of this coming to their land. He pushed those affected to obtain legal counsel and environmental consultants who could advise them of environmental clauses they could include in any lease they may negotiate, and he urged them to join together in large cooperatives to form a strong base that companies would want to negotiate with.

Most importantly these environmental clauses spell out specific actions any driller must adhere to before, during and after the drilling operations on their land.

The people who did heed his advice saw their potential lease documents grow from a three-page proposal offered by some drillers to 23-page documents with much, much greater land owner environmental control and other benefits they demanded.

He was completely up front about his gas drilling background throughout his re-election campaign last year as well, which voters appreciated, gladly returning him to office.

It's time this issue was debated on scientific evidence and not on hysterical personal motivations.

Sincerely,
David Moe

Amazing Grace

Amazing. It's the only way to describe the incredible transformation that took place in the life of John Newton.

Newton was born in London in. His mother died when he was seven. His father sent him to sea at age eleven. Working first as a cabin boy and then a deckhand, John was exposed to a life of drunkenness, profanity and immorality-and he embraced it. Soon John surpassed his peers in outrageous behavior. Sharp-witted and sarcastic, he wrote offensive songs mocking the ship's officers and expressing his contempt for their authority. He amused himself by inventing new swear words and leading his peers on reckless and dangerous escapades. He frequently deserted his post. Still in his teens, John was briefly enslaved on an African plantation and nearly died. But instead of sobering him, the experience only served to strengthen his rebellious spirit.

After Newton regained his freedom, he served time in the British Navy and eventually became captain of his own slave ship. As a slave trader, Newton's heart grew even harder. He earned a reputation for being a foul mouthed, ill-tempered man, despised by his subordinates and superiors alike. He cared for no one but himself and sought nothing but his own pleasure.

Then one night John Newton hit rock bottom. He had been punished for misbehavior by being publicly humiliated, beaten, and stripped of his rank. His attempts to regain his position had failed. No one cared to take up his cause. Now caught in a fierce storm, he came face to face with a gripping fear of death. As the waves pounded the ship and filled his cabin with water, terror filled Newton's heart. He fought desperately to save the ship, bailing water and plugging holes in the hull with the ship's sails, burlap bags, even his own clothing. As an experienced sailor, John knew he had little chance of survival. And he was not ready to face eternity.

Memories of his childhood came flooding back-the Bible verses and hymns his God-fearing mother had taught him, her prayers on his behalf. John tried to cry out to God for mercy, but he was stopped abruptly by the thought of how little he deserved it. How could he turn to God for help when he had ignored Him for so long? John spent a harrowing night in deep soul-searching.

The following day, the storm subsided. Miraculously, the battered ship found safe harbor. It was then, Newton said, that he became convinced that "there is a God that hears and answers prayers." He discovered anew the love of God expressed in Scripture: "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved" (John 3:16-17).

In the midst of the storm, Newton's eyes had been opened. He realized that he was a sinner, in need of a Savior. For the first time, he understood the meaning of God's grace. Repenting of the sins in his past, he surrendered his life to God completely. In an instant, he became a new man. Years later, as he reflected on his experience, Newton penned the words:

Amazing Grace - how sweet the sound - that saved a wretch like me! I once was lost but now am found, was blind but now I see.
'Twas grace that taught my heart to fear, and grace my fears relieved; how precious did that grace appear the hour I first believed!
Through many dangers, toils and snares I have already come; 'tis grace hath brought me safe thus far, and grace will lead me home.

At the age of, the former slave trader became a pastor. He dedicated the rest of life to sharing with others the good news of the gospel: that Jesus Christ had come to "seek and save the lost"(Luke 19:10). Newton led the abolitionist movement in Great Britain, exposing the evils of slavery and fighting to outlaw the vile trade he had once engaged in.

In his epitaph, he summed up his life this way: John Newton, Clerk, Once an infidel and libertine, servant of slaves in Africa, was by the rich mercy of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, preserved, restored, pardoned, and appointed to preach the faith he had long labored to destroy....

Like Newton, you too, can experience God's amazing grace - it does not matter who you are or how much you have sinned. You can begin your own life-changing relationship with Jesus Christ.

You might pray something like this:

"Dear God, I realize that I have been lost in my sins and blind to Your truth. I know now that You sent Your Son to die on the cross for me- to pay the penalty for my sin. Please forgive me. Come into my life and change me by Your grace. In Jesus' Name, Amen."

Madaline R. Wheeler, 92, formerly of Pittsburgh, Pa., passed away peacefully on April 8, 2011, at the home of her son, Lewis Wheeler, Deer Park.

Born Dec. 1, 1918, in Beaver Falls, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Lewis A. and Emma (Klein) Rimbey. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Harvey B. Wheeler.

Madaline spent many years as a volunteer in Crafton, Pa., as a den mother for Cub Scouts, a Brownie and Girl Scout troop leader, and a PTA member and president. She was active in the Methodist Church, working with the Boys and Girls Club.

After moving to Greentree, Pa., she continued to be active in her church by working with the youth group at Wallace Memorial Church and serving on the PTA of the local schools.

Madaline enjoyed baking, reading, completing crossword puzzles, knitting, and beating her children in games of Scrabble. She loved traveling with her son Lee to Williamsburg, Mt. Vernon, Monticello, Philadelphia, and the Wisconsin Dells. She particularly enjoyed visiting every summer with her children and grandchildren.

Madaline spent many winters in Flagler Beach, Fla., enjoying the company of her brother and sister-in-law and many friends. Her most joyous times were spent at the annual Wheeler-Rimbey family reunion surrounded by her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, brother and sister-in-law, nieces, nephews, great-nieces and -nephews, and great-great-nieces and -nephews.

Madaline has been a great friend and caregiver all of her life. At the age of 9, she was plunged into this role when her mother passed away. She was a major player in the care of her father, three brothers, and their home during the Great Depression. She then dedicated her life to raising and educating her children. She was always willing to lend a helping hand to family and friends in their times of need. Madaline was the caregiver of her father in his final years and also cared for her sister-in-law, Marlene, as she struggled with cancer.

Madaline is survived by her four children, Lewis P. Wheeler, Deer Park and Stuart, Fla., former CEO of Rapidigm, headquartered in Pittsburgh; Donna W. Clark and husband Robert, Moultonborough, N.H.; Donald K. Wheeler and wife Gayle, St. Louis, Mo.; and Lee H. Wheeler, Imperial, Pa., currently a systems analyst at Fed Ex Ground in Pittsburgh.

She is also survived by eight grandchildren, D. Bruce Wheeler and wife Cesarina, Boston, Mass., Douglas S. Wheeler and wife Karla, New York, N.Y., Brett W. Wheeler and wife Shannon, Boston, Wesley P. Wheeler, Wheeling, W.Va., Shannon Clark Kief and husband James, Plantsville, Conn., Robin Clark Ames and husband Leith, Fayetteville, N.C., and Thomas S. Wheeler and wife Shannon, and Michael A. Wheeler and wife Casey, all of St. Louis; 12 great-grandchildren, Lucas, Nevere, Roman, and Rodian Wheeler, Jameson and Emma Kief, Brodie, Braiden, and Brinley Ames, and Gabrielle, Graysen, and Sofia Wheeler; one brother, Donald K. Rimbey and wife Sheryl, Beaver Falls, Pa.; one niece, Marjorie R. Miller, Philadelphia, Pa.; nephews Donald W. Rimbey and wife Betty, Moon Township, Pa., and Robert A. Rimbey and wife Karen, Beaver Falls; great-niece and -nephews, Janine M. Barber and husband Daniel, Glenn A. Miller and wife Courtney, and Darin, Jocelyn, and Ryan Rimbey; and great-great-niece and -nephews Nicholas and Kara Barber and Jeremy Miller.

In addition to her parents and her husband, Madaline was preceded in her death by her two brothers, Irving Rimbey and Lewis Allen Rimbey Jr.; and her daughter-in-law, Susan W. Wheeler.

The family would like to thank the Hospice of Garrett County, Oakland, Servant's Heart Home Care of Oakland, and the team of caregivers that provided gentle, loving care for Madaline in her last months.

A Celebration of Life ceremony will be held at the home of her son, Lewis Wheeler, Deer Park, on Sunday, July 3, at noon.

Cremation arrangements were handled by Newman Funeral Home, Oakland.

The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to Hospice of Garrett County Inc., P.O. Box 271, Oakland, MD 21550.

Online condolences may be made to the family at www.newmanfuneralhomes.com.

Adorable Adoptables

UNCLAIMED CANINES are featured in the Garrett County Animal Shelter's "Adorable Adoptables" this week. Pictured left to right, they include a female Corgi mix with short legs and a stout body that was picked up in Mtn. Lake Park, a male black Lab mix that was found along Sang Run Road, a male medium-size tan hound mix that was picked up along King Wildesen Road, and a laid-back male hound mix. "He looks so sad, as if his owner will never come to reclaim him," said a Garrett County Humane Society spokeswoman about the hound mix. "If these dogs were wearing collars with licenses, their owners could have been contacted. The license is only a few dollars, but could save your dog's life." She noted that a tabby was adopted last week and two others cats are being adopted this week, but the dog kennels are full, as only one canine has been reclaimed. Felines available for adoption include a long-haired calico, short-haired calico, and a nice young orangish tabby named Charlie.

For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday. Photos courtesy of the Garrett County Humane Society.

AURORA/EGLON

EASTER EGG HUNT

A community wide Easter egg hunt is planned for this Saturday, April 16, from 2 to 4 p.m. All ages are welcome to participate. Those attending are asked to bring their own baskets or containers.

CEMETERY CLEAN-UP

The remaining flower arrangements that are at the Aurora Cemetery need to be gathered or tossed. Those who wish to keep their decorations should retrieve them no later than this Friday, April 15. All donations are appreciated as well. Those who wish to make a donation should mail it to: Aurora Cemetery Association, 556 Aurora Pike, Aurora, WV 26705.

ELIMINATION DINNER

Tickets for the Lions Club Elimination Dinner set for May 6 at 6 p.m. at Aurora School. A silent auction will also be held at the dinner. $35 includes two dinners. Those interested may contact Jo-Ann Helton at 304-735-5832.

RAMP DINNER

The Aurora VFD is sponsoring a ramp dinner at the fire hall set for this Sunday, April 17, beginning at noon. The menu will include beans and fried potatoes, corn bread, ramps in muffins, salad, and fried potatoes, and raw ramps, as well as dessert and beverages. Donations are $8 for adults and $4 for children. Pre-schoolers and younger eat for free.

SAFE DRUG DISPOSAL

Those with outdated or unused prescriptions will have an opportunity to properly dispose of them on Saturday, April 30, at the Aurora fire hall. This is a joint effort of the U.S. Department of Justice Drug Enforcement and Preston County Sheriff's Department. The intent is to keep the medications from illegal use and from affecting the water supply. There will be a representative from the sheriff's department to ensure safety.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

A spaghetti dinner will be held to benefit Hospice of Preston County on Monday, April 18, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Donna Jean's Restaurant. Donations are $7 for adults, $4 for children ages 6 to 12, and free for those younger. The Easter Bunny will be present for photos with children. Those interested are reminded to bring their own cameras. For more information, persons may call 304-735-3260.

PERSONAL

A big "thank-you" goes to those who showed up last Friday for the American Red Cross bloodmobile.

Wicky Myers, Aurora, is recuperating from recent knee surgery at Monongalia General Hospital and is at home.

Scott Sisler, Aurora, has returned to his home after being admitted overnight for testing and treatment at Preston Memorial Hospital.

John W. Crawford, 102, died on Monday, April 4, 2011, at Cortland Acres, where he had only recently become a patient. Among his survivors are two daughters, Norma Crawford and Cherlyn Parks and husband Jim, Eglon. A service was conducted on Thursday, April 7, at Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis. Interment was held in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Bill Hauser was a day visitor at home Saturday and returned to Heartland in Kingwood later that evening.

Keith and Dee Douglas have returned from Florida to their Aurora home.

4-H Club News

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS
by Jonathon Blamble, reporter

Preston County sheriff's deputy Ron Bolyard presented a program on home safety and various related subjects when the Eglon Mountaineers 4-H Club met on Monday, April 11, at the Farmers' Wildlife Park.

First, call 911, leave the premises, or hide, and don't ever put yourself at risk, was Dep. Bolyard's advice. Taking an inventory of your property is always useful in case of a robbery or fire, if the information is kept someplace safe, he also noted.

Prior to the business meeting, members and parents cleaned the grounds of the park of fallen limbs and leaves.

Seventeen members were present at the meeting, presided over by Haley Rocha. Savannah Arnett led the group in singing. Jackie Blamble, health officer, talked about the dangers of texting, tweeting, and putting personal information on Facebook, especially if the texts and comments are derogatory in nature.

The group went to Pizza Hut and the movies on Sunday, March 27, and several members reported on the activity.

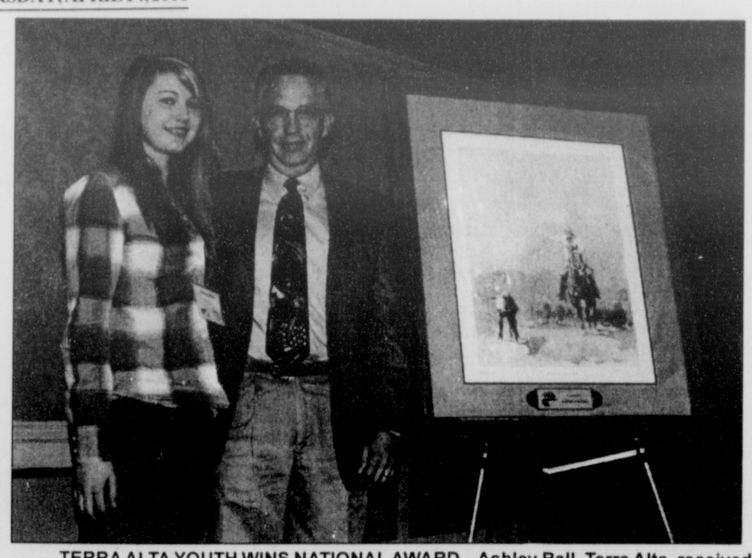
A date of April 18 was chosen for picking up trash along Eglon Road, and cleaning the grounds of the Smallest Church. Members are to meet that evening (April 20 is a rain date) at 6 p.m. at the Eglon Memorial Building when assignments will be given.

Other topics of business were the County 4-H Day on June 11 at Preston High School, formation of a Horticulture Judging team, and future programs on health and conservation.

Project talks were presented by Haley Rocha, "Teen Leader and Charting Weekend Report"; Savannah Arnett, "Horse Behavior Clues"; and Trevor Spaid, "Different Methods of Tagging Hog Ears."

Demonstrations were given by Wesley Spaid, "How to Give Injections," and Trevor Spaid, "What Each Ear Notch Represents."

May 9 will be our next meeting date with a speaker on health.



TERRA ALTA YOUTH WINS NATIONAL AWARD – Ashley Ball, Terra Alta, received the 2010 American Youth Horse Council's Youth Leader of the Year Award during the 34th annual AYHC Symposium, held March 11–13 at Michigan State University. She and E. Graffney of Colorado were the only two youths nominated for the award, which is presented annually to a person who has offered "outstanding" leadership to other youth within the horse industry. This top leader introduces newcomers to the horse industry, mentors young horsemen, and promotes the horse industry within the local community, and accomplishes these goals in "fun, innovative" ways. Ashley is pictured below with one of her equine friends and above with Ward Stutz, president of the American Quarter Horse Youth Association. In addition to the leadership award, Ashley received a college scholarship from the AYHC, a Montana silversmith belt buckle, gift bags, and a signed oil painting. She has been asked to be a youth presenter at next year's symposium at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va. Ashley is a self-taught equestrian in a family of non-riders. She trains horses; teaches children riding, showmanship, and horse management; and competes in hunt seat equitation, horsemanship, and showmanship. In 2010, she was awarded the Justin Rookie of the Year award by the American Quarter Horse Association, and represented West Virginia at the All American Quarter Horse Congress. She is active in many organizations, including 4-H, FFA, the Interscholastic Equestrian Association, and Preston County Livestock Association. Ashley has written a book that is being published about one of her favorite projects: her horse Samson, who was born to a rescued mare just two days after her arrival at the Ball family farm. Samson and Ashley have ridden, trained, and competed together. They recently won a West Virginia grand championship.

Puzzle At Port Royal Slated At Thomas Center

Voices From the Earth (VFTE) will premiere a new work by artistic director/storyteller Ilene Evans titled Puzzle at Port Royal this Saturday, April 16, at 7 p.m. at the Thomas Education Center in Thomas. The suggested admission donation is $25.

The work commemorates the 150th anniversary of the Civil War and is the first in a five-part series.

Puzzle At Port Royal is a storytelling/theater piece placed in the historic region of Port Royal, S.C., and is based on the Civil War letters and journals of people who played a role in the historic journey of African Americans to gain citizenship in the United States.

"In my years of work with the West Virginia Humanities Council as Harriet Tubman, I could not help wondering what it was that she really did during the war," Evans responded when asked why her piece focuses on Port Royal and the Civil War. "I wondered why she was singled out – an uneducated black woman – to help with strategy, reconnaissance, and special operations for the Union Army."

Evans said the more questions she asked the more she found that Tubman was part of a great initiative that is not talked about very much. It was called the Port Royal Experiment and impacted every aspect of America's ongoing struggle for liberty, equality, and justice, according to Evans.

"The region held by Union forces was under the direction of radical abolitionists," Evans said. "They wanted to use Port Royal as the testing grounds for uplifting newly freed men and women to become educated, landowners, and a self-sufficient people."

It also became the testing ground for African American soldiers to prove their willingness to fight to save the Union and to secure their freedom.

"The hope of the Port Royal Experiment was that the effort would definitively prove the value that African Americans gave to American Society," Evans said. "The story of Harriet Tubman tells us a great deal about black women's perceived roles nationally at the time of the Civil War and what they did to expand those expectations. Harriet's point of view represented many who viewed the Civil War as not just a vehicle of freedom, but a means to earn real equality."

Joining the VFTE company in this production will be griot and storyteller Baba Jamal Koram, playwright and director Joey Madia, West Virginia University historian Connie Rice, Fairmont State University instructor Ironda Campbell, West Virginia Wesleyan theater graduate Eddis Brown, and the VFTE Youth Chamber Ensemble.

Information on the program is available at vfte.org.

TERRA ALTA

NAT'L DAY OF PRAYER

The National Day of Prayer was created in 1952 by a joint resolution of the U.S. Congress and signed into law by President Harry S. Truman. The mission of the National Day of Prayer Task Force is to mobilize prayer in America. National Day of Prayer chairman is Shirley Dobson, with Joni Eareckson Tada as honorary chairman. The scripture for this year is Psalm 91:2.

All are invited to attend at the Terra Alta Town Hall on Thursday, May 5, at noon. The event is sponsored by the Council of Churches of Terra Alta.

Potomac State Readies Relay For Life Event

Potomac State College of West Virginia University will kick off its annual Relay for Life event today at 6 p.m. on its campus quad. The event will last through the night and raise money to benefit the American Cancer Society. The college's goal this year is to raise $10,000 to held fund cancer research, as well as local ACS cancer-patient programs. The "Survivor's Lap" is scheduled for 6 p.m.

During the relay, Frankfort Middle School's Teal Steal Band will be performing throughout the evening. A male beauty pageant is scheduled to begin around 7 p.m. and the Team Alumni Cake Auction will begin around 7:15 p.m. The Luminary Ceremony will begin at 9 p.m.

The event will offer food, games, cotton candy, baked goods, popcorn, and a community yard sale to those in attendance. It is billed as a family-friendly event.

A basket raffle will also be held for such items as a two-night stay at any participating Omni Hotel (such as the Bedford Springs Resorts), homemade chocolates from Bedford Candies, and a $25 gift certificate from the Jean Bonnet Tavern. Tickets will cost $5 each or three for $12. Tickets can be obtained beforehand by contacting Dixie Heavener at 304-788-6831 or Diana Grady at 304-788-6842.

Pizza Hut will be sponsoring a survivor's dinner at 6 p.m. in Keyser in coordination with the event. All cancer survivors from the tri-state area are invited to attend this free dinner and are encouraged to bring a caregiver as a guest. Pizza Hut will also be providing free pizzas to all attendees of the Relay for Life during the late-night/early-hours of the fundraiser.

For more information about the event, one may contact Deanna Armentrout at 304-788-6954 or DLArmentrout@mail.wvu.edu.

Pratt Cemetery Group To Meet

The spring meeting of the Pratt Cemetery Association will be held on Saturday, April 30, at 7 p.m. at the Bird's Creek Community Building. All members are asked to attend and bring a snack.

Persons who have questions or would like to make a donation may send them to Pratt Cemetery, P.O. Box 232, Newburg, WV 26410.

DeBerry Attends Ag. Marketing Meeting In Va.

Cheryl DeBerry, natural resources business specialist for the Garrett County Office of Economic Development, was among a group of agricultural marketing professionals from around the state of Maryland who recently traveled to Purcellville, Va., to meet and interact with their counterparts in Virginia.

"The sharing of ideas, strategies, and plans was the goal of the gathering among two dozen marketing professionals all with a focus on developing profitable local food and fiber production," a spokesperson said.

The meeting, which was the first of its kind and organized by the Maryland Agricultural and Resource-Based Industry Development Corporation (MARBIDCO) and the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, was designed as a forum to share the best local practices of both states and create partnerships that bridge state lines.

During the meeting, participants heard a number of presentations concerning a variety of strategies to help develop and market local agriculture.

In Loving Memory of

on his 44th birthday, on April 20.

Where Do We Go From Here?

It's April
What we thought was dead and gone,
Believing in HIM, we know is Alive & Well
Again as planned new beginnings abound all around us.
It's April
We awake, we stretch, we turn off the alarm.
A new morning is before us,
The air is now cool not cold,
the early morning hours are dark, the snow is gone and we now have an abundant amount of moisture.
A combination from the CREATOR to re-create.
It's April
An awesome month to be born.
Faith has been restored,
Family and friends become closer,
smiling faces now dominate,
and in the air you can hear the laughter.
Stop, look and listen, what an opportunity
HE has given to us to live, love and share.
It's April
P.S. We can be gone too soon, we share some times too late and we find our regrets can be long lived.
God is an awesome God—
Love & share
Where do we go from here?

Happy Birthday, Jeff
We miss you and love you.

YOUNG ARTIST RECOGNIZED — Sheridan Potts, fifth grade student at Bloomington Elementary School, designed the Christmas card which was sent from the Board of Education and its superintendent to Garrett County's school system employees, and each Maryland school superintendent, as well as various county and state agencies last December. Sheridan, accompanied by her art teacher Melinda Bishoff, recently attended the April BOE meeting and was recognized for her efforts. Pictured above, from left to right, are: Jeff and Denise Ahern, Sheridan's parents; Tom Carr, president of the BOE; Sheridan and Bishoff; Connie Uphold, principal of BES; and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools.

Arts Council To Host Summer Arts Workshops

Several opportunities for learning new artistic skills will be offered by the Garrett County Arts Council this year. Reservations are being accepted for the classes that will begin in June. A variety of topics will be covered in workshops directed toward beginners or those who wish to expand their creative skills.

"Watercolor for Real Beginners" is a workshop designed for people who have never painted but have always wanted to try. Artist Sue Arnson will guide students through the three-day class. Topics will include the introduction to supplies and the color wheel, and step-by-step painting instruction. Students will complete a small painting of a subject of their choosing.

The workshop will be held at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park June 15-17 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day. The cost is $75, plus a $20 materials fee. The registration deadline is May 31.

Jewelry artist Connie Quarrick will lead a two-day course titled "Beginning Wire Jewelry." Students will learn about tools and terminology as well as wire basics. During the class, each student will be able to complete a pair of earrings or a pendant. If time permits, a simple bracelet may also be done.

Students may bring any jewelry-making tools they already have, or the instructor will be able to lend the basic equipment for use in class. Quarrick will also provide the necessary materials. The cost of the workshop is $95.

It will be held at the Discovery Center on June 23-24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Students should be over the age of 12 and able to handle pliers easily. The registration deadline is June 8.

"Oil Painting for Beginners" will be held again this year in July, instructed by artist Daniel Helsel. Students will learn new skills in painting, as well as the basics of this medium. Color mixing and painting techniques will be explored. No prior experience is needed, while those with some knowledge can expand their talents.

The workshop will be held at the Discovery Center July 19-21 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

Some supplies will be provided, but a list of needed materials will be given upon registration. The fee is $105 and the deadline to register is June 30.

"Pastel Painting for Beginners" will be taught by Judith Becker. The two-day class will provide the basics of painting with soft and semi-hard pastels on various surfaces. Participants will learn about the material, about several techniques, and the way colors are applied and mixed. After several learning exercises, students will paint a small composition.

The cost of the class is $50 plus materials cost. The materials will be in a kit provided by the instructor. The workshop will take place Aug. 24 and 25 at the Discovery Center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The deadline to register is Aug. 5.

"Watercolor on Canvas and Gessoed Surfaces" is a workshop to guide students with previous watercolor skill in a "fun, liberating and challenging direction," organizers said. Instructor Robert Yonke will lead students in this session. Held at St. Matthews Episcopal Church Social Hall on Liberty Street in Oakland, the class is planned for September 13-15 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day. The registra-

Local Artist's Work On Exhibit At Canal Place

A watercolor painting exhibit titled Dynamic Flowers by local artist Judy McCaughey is the featured show in the Arts at Canal Place (AaCP) loft at the Shops at Canal Place, Cumberland. It will be on display through May 22. A reception for the artist will be held in conjunction with the Cumberland Arts Walk on Saturday, May 7, from 5 to 8 p.m.

McCaughey, a resident of the Deep Creek Lake area, said that flowers have always been a favorite subject of hers to paint. She said she likes the brilliant colors of the petals, the many shades and shapes of the green leaves, and "the fact that they are willing to pose for photographs and modeling."

McCaughey's watercolors are the result of years of classes that she began taking when she and her husband moved to Columbia (Md.) from Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, in 1991. A retired kindergarten teacher, she wanted to write and illustrate storybooks for her grandchildren, leading her to enroll in her first drawing and painting class.

When the McCaugheys moved to Deep Creek Lake nine years ago, Judy pursued watercolor improvement by taking workshops from several watercolor artists at Springmaid Beach, S.C. She studied color mixing and shadows under Linda Doll, pouring of paint with Jean Grastorf, and watercolor painting under Kathleen Kuchar.

Last November, she worked under Diane Maxey and reviewed color mixing and design concepts using flowers as the subject. She said she loved it and came back to her studio and continued to paint flowers, practicing what she had learned.

McCaughey is a signature artist member of the Baltimore Watercolor Society and of the Miniature Painters, Sculptors, and Gravers Society of D.C. Her paintings are also available at the Gallery Shop in Oakland and Rocky ENJOYING MUSIC WITH "MISS LIZZIE" – Home-Schoolers at the Oakland library recently participated in an hour of music and movement with "Miss Lizzie" (Elizabeth Wotring-Nelson of Nelson Studios). "Music is not just a mind thing," she told the students. "It's a whole body thing. Feel the movement and listen for the beat." And that's what the group did, walking to the beat of the quarter note, moving faster as the beat quickened, and sitting in a circle to play the tapping stick and shakers to a catchy tune." The next HomeSchooler program at the library is scheduled for Friday, April 15, from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Josh Frick of High Mountain Sports will discuss bicycle repair and recreation. For questions, persons may contact Keela at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or keela@relib.net. A listing of events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library is available at relib.net.

GLAF SENDS 1,000+ STUDENTS TO SHOW, MACLENNAN GREETS THEM – Garrett College was a "beehive of activity" over the weekend, as the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival and the college celebrated the inauguration of new GC president Richard MacLennan, and entertained more than 1,000 local third, fourth, and fifth graders with a free show on Friday. Some are pictured above as they head to the auditorium, and shown below during the show. The Celtic group IONA presented a concert for the public Friday evening, and during that day performed four separate concerts for the students, who were bused to the college upon the invitation of GLAF. President MacLennan greeted the children and spoke with each of the four groups, asking them where they hoped to attend college (to which the majority shouted, "Garrett," MacLennan noted during his inauguration speech on Saturday). Students were "very receptive" of the program, according to Mary Callis, executive director for GLAF, who also noted that the event is an example of GLAF's endeavor to expose local youth to a variety of arts performances. Students attending came from the following schools: Rt. 40, Grantsville, Friendsville, Accident, Broad Ford, Swan Meadow, Crellin, Bloomington, Dennett Road, Kitzmiller, and Yough Glades. There were also home-schooled children in attendance.

ARMS WIDE OPEN

by Patricia Harman

C. 2010, Beacon Press, $24.95; 296 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

When you were 15 or 18 or 20 years old, you wanted to make a difference. You and your generation would set the world on fire. You were going to fix what your parents had broken: You'd stop the war, gain equality, save the planet, end poverty, live gently. You were aflame with the passion that comes with a youthful innocence you wish you still had.

Now, you don't have that kind of energy.

But somewhere beneath your surface, that passion still simmers. It never left you, and what you do with it – as you'll see in the new memoir Arms Wide Open by Patricia Harman – may look comfortingly familiar.

No electricity, no central heat, and miles from town with no vehicle. It sounds like a reality show plot, but that's the way Patricia Harman lived 40 years ago. Harman and her then-partner Stacy had purchased eight acres in northern Minnesota and repurposed a crumbling cabin, hoping friends and former commune members might join them and their baby son in living off the land.

For Stacy, sustainable farming was a dream, but Harman was restless. She'd tried several times to set up birthing classes for other "hippie chicks," but when winter set in, travel was almost impossible and it was difficult, at best, to reach the main commune house. Isolated and unhappy, Harman packed a few meager possessions and said goodbye to the man she loved and their child. She left under power of thumb.

Six years later, after having traveled through several states, Harman settled down on a communal farm in Ohio. She met her husband Tom at that commune, and when they moved to a small farm in West Virginia, Harman started teaching childbirth classes almost immediately. A mother again, she quickly became known as a good midwife, but times, they were a-changing.

Fast forward 30 years.

The Harmans both went back to college: he, for an M.D. and she, for an R.N. The parents of three grown sons, they had opened a clinic for women in the northern Appalachians, specializing in maternity and pelvic pain. The days of commune living over, the Harmans had two homes, both with modern conveniences.

But with modern times come modern problems, both professional and personal. Was it possible to reach back to the past to heal the future?

Did you ever read a book that lulled you into such a wonderful state of mind that you were almost heartbroken when it ended? Yep, that's exactly what it's like to read Arms Wide Open.

Through decades-old personal journals, author Harman gives readers an inside peek at hippie culture and the seventies through the eyes of a fresh and idealistic young woman who wanted to change the world, and the woman she became. I loved this wistful, wonderful story of the birth of a birth-helper, and I think you will, too.

If you're looking for a gracious, grateful memoir or if you get nostalgic over the not-so-distant past, read this book. Arms Wide Open will surely warm your heart.

SOUTHERN THEATRE DEPARTMENT PRESENTING COMEDY – The Southern High School theatre department will present The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16, at 8 p.m. on the school stage. The comedic musical tells the tale of six elementary-age spellers and their struggles with life and language. General admission is $5. The cast is pictured. In the front, from left, are Joshua Elmlinger, Jenner Wilt, Megan Fitzwater, Corinne Weaver, Samantha Johnson, and Kim Sweitzer. In the back, from left, are Chloe Anderson, Emily Huxford, and Josh Nesselrodt. Teacher Erin White is the director.

DNR Kicks Off Natural Resource Photo Contest

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is now accepting entries for its 8th annual Maryland Natural Resource Photo Contest. Students and amateur and professional photographers are welcome to submit photos of Maryland's diverse natural resources through August 31.

"This is a great opportunity for photographers of all skill levels," said DNR secretary John Griffin. "This contest highlights the natural beauty of Maryland."

Debbie MacArthur of Ellicott City topped nearly 200 other photographers last year with her winning image titled "Chipmunk," which was used on the cover of the 2011 DNR calendar.

Photos entered into the 2011 contest will be judged within seven categories: birds, wildlife, insects, scenic, floral, people enjoying state parks, and Maryland outdoor recreation. Winning entries will be featured in the winter issue of The Maryland Natural Resource magazine, as well as the 2012 DNR calendar.

The best overall photo will win the grand prize of $500, a 2012 Maryland State Park passport, a lifetime subscription to The Maryland Natural Resource magazine, and five copies of the 2012 DNR calendar, which will feature the winning photo on the cover.

First-place winners in each category receive a Maryland State Park passport, a two-year subscription to The Maryland Natural Resource magazine, and two copies of the 2011 DNR calendar. Second-place winners will each receive a one-year subscription to the magazine and a calendar.

All qualifying photographs must be taken in Maryland. Photographers may submit up to three entries for a $10 entry fee and an additional $3 for each entry beyond three. Photos cannot be more than two years old or previously published. Non-residents may participate, as long as the photos were taken in Maryland. Winners will be announced online September 12.

in the House and watched his own pro-drilling bill die in committee. He sent a letter to the governor Tuesday asking him to allow drilling in the Marcellus shale formation, which houses natural gas.

"I think this has the potential to have a huge positive impact on the region I represent, and also a positive impact to improve this state's energy needs," Beitzel said.

The fracking bill is just one of a number of environmental priorities that failed to get approval this session.

O'Malley's offshore wind energy bill failed to make it out of committee last week, and his partial septic system ban in new housing developments didn't get far either.

The legislature also turned back a bill that would ban a form of arsenic in chicken feed and a bill that would add a 5-cent tax for using plastic shopping bags in the state.

The environmental bills that did pass this year were mostly related to increasing poaching fees for oysters, rockfish, and crabs, following a nearly 13-ton rockfish poaching discovery this year in the bay.

But Coble said the General Assembly supported the environment by keeping $23.5 million of the governor's $25 million budget proposal for the Chesapeake Bay Trust Fund. And Coble said she believes the offshore wind energy and septic systems bills will most likely pass next year because they've been marked for further study.

"If you look at it just as a list of bills on paper, it is disappointing," Coble said. "If you look at it in light of elections, the economy, or the budget constraints that the state is under, it gets much better."

Huskies Remain Unbeaten; Stop Campers, Trojans, And Tornados

It was a successful week on the baseball diamond for the Northern High School varsity, as Coach Phil Carr's Huskies edged host Allegany last Thursday, 8-7, nipped visiting Hampshire on Saturday, 4-3, and whipped Keyser on Monday, 8-3, also at the Cove.

The trio of victories kept the Huskies' record perfect at 5-0 overall and 5-0 in Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference games.

In last Thursday's contest against Allegany, the Campers took a 5-0 lead in the first, but the Huskies stormed back to record six runs in the top of the second.

The Huskies relied on strong pitching by reliever Steve Holtschneider to hold Allegany scoreless over the final five innings for the win. Holtschneider struck out eight.

Holtschneider aided his own cause at the plate, from which he accounted for three of his team's 10 hits with a double and two singles. Jake Bosley and Justin Shaw each had a double and a single, and Josh Mason contributed two singles.

Aaron Leasure hit a two-run blast in Allegany's first inning.

The Campers (4-2) also finished with 10 hits, getting a double and a single from Corey McCagh, and a pair of singles from Ryan Keifer.

In the win over Hampshire on Saturday, Northern pitcher Cody Humberson took things into his own hands by knocking in the go-ahead run in the bottom of the sixth inning to ultimately get the win on the mound. The right-handed senior gave up just three hits and fanned six batters in his first start of the season.

The Huskies trailed 3-2 after two innings before tying it in the fifth.

With the Trojans threatening in the sixth inning, Husky Patrick Sines made a leaping catch of a line drive by Brandon Horn in right field to not only take extra bases away from the Trojans, but also to set up a double play by nailing a runner at first who took off on contact.

Cody Rodeheaver went the distance on Monday to get the win over Keyser. He held the Golden Tornados to just three hits, while striking out 11 batters.

With the Huskies on top 3-2, Humberson started a five-run sixth inning with a solo homer. Patrick Sines then hit a double, and also had a pair of singles with an RBI for the day. Rodeheaver hit a two-run single in the sixth.

Jake Bosley hit two singles, while Justin Shaw doubled and Josh Bittinger produced an RBI single.

Jamison Jones hit a two-run homer in the third for Keyser, (3-6) and teammate Cantrell White smacked a solo homer to account for two of the team's three hits.

The Huskies are scheduled to be back in action this Friday when they host Preston. They are slated to travel to Southern on Monday and entertain Allegany next Thursday.

Rams Shut Out By Mtn. Ridge In Pitchers' Duel

The Southern High School varsity baseball team traveled to Mountain Ridge on Monday and were shut out, 3-0.

In the game, the Rams fell in a battle between ace pitchers. Ryan Redinger pitched a four-hit shutout for the Miners, striking out 12 and walking one.

Southern's Bubba Scheffel was nearly as sharp, giving up four hits, striking out five and walking two.

The game's only scoring came in the third inning when Adam Stowell hit a two-run double to give the Miners the upper hand.

For the Rams, Cory Helbig doubled and singled.

Southern is scheduled to travel to Bishop Walsh for a 4:30 p.m. game on Friday before hosting Preston at noon on Saturday.

Southern JV Baseball Falls At Mtn. Ridge

The jayvee baseball squad of Southern High School dropped a game on the road against Mountian Ridge, 7-0, on Tuesday.

For Mountain Ridge, Jake Kyle hit a solo homer and also had a triple, while teammate Jared Wilson orchestrated a five-inning shutout.

Wilson struck out seven Southern batters and walked none. Ryan Tipton gave him three RBI on a pair of singles. Josh VanMeter drove in two with a double and a single and Brandon Markwood added a double of his own.

The Rams recorded four hits on the day, which included a double by Nesselrodt.

The Southern jayvees are scheduled to host Preston on Saturday at noon.

Northern Girls Lose Defensive Battle To Trojans

The Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference game between the Northern and Hampshire girls played Monday on the Huskies' diamond was a pitching duel between Husky Taryn Brenneman and Trojan Kacey Patterson, as the two teams went into the eighth inning tied at 1-1.

But it was in the eighth that the Trojans eked out a 2-1 win by scoring a run.

Patterson struck out eight batters and walked two to get the win, while Northern's Brenneman fanned 10 batters and walked just one in eight innings of work.

Lyndsay Whetzel recorded a triple and a double for the winners, while Stephanie Largent added two singles.

Kirsten Rayner paced the Huskies at the plate, hitting a pair of doubles and getting one RBI. Taylor Sines had one double.

The loss dropped the Huskies to 0-5, while the Trojans improved their overall record to 2-6.

Despite the winless record, NHS head coach Debbie Brenneman believes her team is making progress.

"Our 'victories' are not shown in our record, but we continue to improve, set goals, and are beginning to gel as a team," she said. "We have a super group of girls, and as they continue to work hard, our victories will come."

The Huskies finished last season with a 6-12 record, with top players from that squad lost to graduation being Brittany Mallow and Hannah Fike. Athletic standout Kaitlynn Fratz is also unable to play this year because of collegiate obligations.

Among the top returnees are Miranda Beasom, Taryn Brenneman, Kiersten Butler, Taylor Sines, and Whitney Miller.

Husky JV Splits DH With Hampshire, Slides By Keyser

The Northern High School junior varsity baseball team began this week's play by splitting a double header with Hampshire on Saturday, losing 9-8 and winning 3-1. The jayvees then went on to defeat Keyser at home, 5-4, on Monday.

In the first game of the series with Hampshire, Northern's Colton Moreland, Hunter Hill, and Beck Sherrard all hit two singles each, with Moreland and Hill accounting for an RBI each.

Justin Derato hit a double that resulted in two more runs for the Huskies.

Jeremy Bender dominated for Northern in the second game and allowed only a single hit, while striking out five. He pitched five innings. Derato provided some of the Husky offense in the second game with an RBI single. Aaron Broadwater had two singles.

Hampshire's only hit was a double by Seth Brooks in the fifth inning.

In the outing with Keyser, Sherrard hit a two-run homer for the Huskies, while Broadwater had an RBI double and Bender two singles.

Sites had two singles and an RBI for Keyser, Parrill a double, and Johnson a double and an RBI single

The Northern jayvees (3-3) will host Frankfort Saturday for a doubleheader.

IT WAS A PITCHERS' DUEL on Monday when the Northern High School girls' softball team hosted the Trojans of Hampshire County, as Northern's Taryn Brenneman duked it out with Trojan pitcher Kacey Patterson. The score was knotted at 1-1 until the Trojans recorded a winning run in the eighth inning. Brenneman is pictured above tossing a curve ball. Pictured below is grinning Husky Kirsten Rayner just after smacking a double that just missed going over the fence. The Huskies are still looking to record their first win of the season. Rams Softball Suffers Road Loss To Ft. Hill

In a tough loss, the Southern High School softball team fell, 2-0, at Fort Hill last Thursday.

The Rams had no answer for Kayla Hutson and Rebecca Pannone, who had run scoring hits in a two-run fifth inning for the Sentinels.

No player committed an error in the game.

Taylor Hoppert singled and Alexis Kimmell was hit by a pitch to start the rally for Fort Hill. Hutson batted in Hoppert with a single, and Pannone's double brought Kimmell home to make it 2-0.

Southern managed to get its leadoff hitter on base to start the seventh, but Fort Hill's Mariah James struck out the next two batters and got a groundout to end the game.

"Running 101" Scheduled At GC Campus

JEN SOBER

"Running 101: Discovering Your Movement Potential" will be offered by Garrett College on Tuesday evenings beginning April 26 and continuing through May 17. Classes will take place on the McHenry campus from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. This course is designed for non-runners or "running-skeptics."

Jen Sober, local personal trainer, will introduce the "art of running" in a short amount of time. Four weeks of instruction will include mini-lessons on beginning to run, appropriate clothing, form, strengthening, and nutrition.

"We have heard people say they hate running – and weeks later, with Jen's help, we have heard them say they had changed their minds," a GC spokesperson said.

For additional information, persons may contact Maney Gale at 301-387-3086 or maney.gale@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for this course, one may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Lakers Hit The Road; Lose To Knights And Falcons, Split DH With Pioneers

It was a tough week on the road for the Garrett College baseball team, which suffered four losses in five games.

In a game played on Friday at Essex, the Lakers were shut out in five innings, 3-0.

Following the loss, it was then on to a double header with Anne Arundel on Saturday. The two teams split the twin bill, with Anne Arundel taking the first game, 10-0, and the Lakers exacting revenge in the second game for a 5-4 win.

In its double header with Lackawanna on Sunday, Garrett came up short in both outings, losing by margins of 4-3 and 8-3.

In Friday's matchup against Essex, which opened the Lakers' stretch of road games, the Knights scored three runs in the bottom of the fourth inning which began with a Mike McLeary RBI single. Essex had two more cross home plate on a costly Laker error in the same inning.

The bottom of the fourth remained the only scoring inning in the game as Garrett was shut out first by Blake Geiger, who tallied five strikeouts in five innings, and then by Mother Nature, who shortened the outing with rain.

For the Lakers, Cam King and Luke Szymanski both singled for the team's only hits of the game. Jason Ashby allowed one earned run in the loss for Garrett.

In its double header with Anne Arundel on Saturday, Jose Soto and Szymanski had three hits each and Garrett foiled a double steal attempt in the seventh inning for a victory in the second game.

The win split the meeting for the two teams and allowed the Lakers a bit of redemption after falling flat in the first outing to lose 10-0 in five innings.

Soto belted a triple and two doubles with two RBI, while Szymanski ripped a triple and two singles to lead a nine-hit attack in the Garrett win. Ashby contributed by knocking in a pair of runs.

The Lakers were up 3-1 after three, and extended it to 5-1 with a two-run fifth.

Anne Arundel kept it interesting and scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth to get to within a run at 5-4.

The Pioneers then attempted a double steal in the bottom of the seventh with runners on first and third, but the Lakers cut down the runner at the plate for the final out of the game.

Alex Frapart got the win allowing two earned runs and striking out five batters in five innings. Caleb Hill pitched two scoreless innings of relief for a save.

Anne Arundel outhit Garrett 13-3 in the first game, and led 8-0 after three innings.

Soto, Kalvin Moquete, and King had singles to account for the Lakers' hits.

Following the split series with the Pioneers, Garrett dropped two at Lackawanna on Sunday.

Sam Parente hit a two-run homer in the first game and Carlos Pichardo did the same in the second to hand the Lakers their loss.

In the opener, Soto hit a two-run homer in the first inning, but Lackawanna answered in the bottom of the same inning, tying it on Parente's two-run shot.

Garrett notched it again at 3-3 in the fourth on an RBI double by Ashby.

Lackawanna took the lead and kept it with a run in the bottom of the frame.

Soto homered and singled and King singled twice for the Lakers.

In the second game Pichardo's homer came during a five-run third for Lackawanna that gave it a 7-1 advantage.

Moquete hit a pair of doubles and Ashby had two singles and two RBI for Garrett.

The double header against Montgomery College Germantown which was scheduled for Tuesday was postponed.

The Lakers (9-21) are set to face Monroe College at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Ram Rackets Take Allegany, Slip Up At BW

The Southern High School tennis team visited Allegany on Monday, with the boys' squad taking a 4-1 win and the girls falling 3-2.

Southern then traveled to Constitution Park for matches with Bishop Walsh on Wednesday. The boys' team came up short, 3-2, as did the girls' team, which lost 4-1.

Taking singles matches for the boys' team against Allegany was Aryne Riley. The boys won all three doubles matches.

The girls topped Allegany in two of three doubles matches, but took no singles wins.

At Bishop Walsh, Jake Bramande recorded a singles win and Cody Murphy and Nixon Malcolm had the team's doubles win.

The girls' team lost both singles matches, but earned a doubles win.

The girls' team is scheduled to play Frankfort today at 4 p.m. at Southern. The team is set to head to Fort Hill for matches beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

Northern Netters Drop One To BW; Girls Follow Suit

The Northern High School boys' tennis team traveled to Constitution Park on Monday and were defeated by Bishop Walsh, 5-0.

The tightest competition came when Husky Austin Doerr was topped (6-2, 7-5) by Will Giles.

The girls' team also fell to Bishop Walsh, 3-2, with Cara Stough and Ashley Miller taking singles wins for Northern.

In last Thursday's match at Frankfort the girls' team dominated its competition and won 6-1.

Taking singles wins were Stough, Miller, Morgan Brosnihan, and Hannah Bequette. Northern also had two doubles wins.

SOUTHERN FRESHMAN DANCES AT NATIONALS — Lindsay Thomas, 15-year-old daughter of Jim and Sheryl Thomas of Oakland, recently traveled to Ocean City to compete in the American Cheer and Dance Academy Reach the Beach National Championship. At the event, she placed second with her contemporary dance solo in the junior dance category. The weekend before nationals she placed first at the Star Talent Dance Tournament in Cumberland. Lindsay is a ninth grade student at Southern High School. She attends Jessica's Dance Creations, where she has been a student helper for the past three years.

DNR Discusses

close trails to legitimate recreational use," and that he recognizes the economic impact to the community in doing so.

As the DNR maps high conservation value forests, the ORV trails become "an incompatible use," and DNR will only allow activities that enhance the wildlands.

Steve Koehn noted that "ORV usage can be compatible" if trails can be found that don't cause adverse impacts.

ATV participants provided ideas during the meeting.

Randy Beeman, Lonaconing, stated that the economic benefit to Western Maryland could be significant. For example, studies by Marshall University found that West Virginia's Hatfield-McCoy Trail garners $7.1 million of out-of-state revenue for the state. Economic Development and Tourism departments in western Maryland could encourage local benefits, and grants are available from ATV manufacturers to design and build suitable trails. In addition, national organizations such as the Blue Ribbon Trail Association would also be available to assist in the efforts, Beeman noted.

The long-term suggestion is for the development of an ORV trail system for the state of Maryland. DNR suggested the possibility of acquiring additional land for use as ATV trails, such as sand/gravel areas or strip mines. Wilson will convene an advisory committee of users by June 1 to represent users and be a conduit of information.

The goal of the committee will be to develop the ORV Trail Plan for the state of Maryland, which will provide a high-quality riding experience and be sustainable for the environment.

Interested parties may contact John F. Wilson at jfwilson@dnr.state.md.us about committee membership.

In the short-term, Paul Peditto encouraged the group to look at "realigning" current trails, a process that can be completed within the DNR, without Maryland legislative action. To designate new trails requires legislative approval and hence a longer time cycle.

More information about the meeting will be available at the Citizens Rights and Heritage Group (CRHG) meeting on Sunday, April 17, at 6 p.m. at the Avilton Community Association Building, Avilton-Lonaconing Road (two miles off Exit 24 of I-68). The meeting is open to all interested parties.

Cardin Pushes

and could end up contaminating the drinking water supply, he said.

At present, the Safe Drinking Water Act enables the Environmental Protection Agency to regulate underground injections of fluids, but under an exemption commonly called the "Halliburton loophole," the EPA may not monitor fracking unless diesel fuel is involved.

"The Environmental Protection Agency, as we discussed here and is widely known, has been powerless to protect these communities because the Republican Congress, at Vice President Cheney's behest, prohibited EPA from setting standards," said Sen. Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J.

EPA Deputy Administrator Bob Perciasepe testified that the role of the agency is to assist states in devising best practices and guidelines for fracking.

"Our primary role here is oversight on the state programs where they are running the programs, providing guidance where we can, and where we see some imminent danger, we may take our own action on that," Perciasepe said.

But some senators at the hearing pressed for increased federal intervention. "Water doesn't recognize state boundaries," Lautenberg said. Cardin called for "definitive action" by the EPA to avoid dangers to public health.

Summers called on the federal government to take a more active role in regulating fracking.

"While the states should retain the authority to enact more stringent requirements," he said, "a federal regulatory 'floor' would ensure at least basic protection of the environment and public health."

Man Sentenced

Garrett County Jail, with all but three days suspended. Sisler is on probation, with conditions that include the payment of $395 in fines and costs.

He was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies, who investigated an accident in December 2010 along Hutton Road. While attempting to pass another vehicle traveling westbound, Sisler almost struck another vehicle head on and lost control of his vehicle, leaving the road and striking a utility pole, according to the state's attorney.

During the investigation, officers determined Sisler had been drinking, and, following his arrest, he submitted to a breath test, with results that exceeded the .08 limit.

In other court proceedings last week, Brian Scott Martin, 41, Radford, Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. A related paraphernalia charge was dismissed upon his plea.

Sherbin sentenced Martin to three months in the Garrett County Jail, with all but five days suspended. Martin will be on probation upon his release, with conditions that include the payment of fines and costs totaling $645.

Martin was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in December 2010 while he was staying at a motel in Friendsville. A deputy was at the location to serve process in an unrelated matter when he smelled the odor of burning marijuana coming from a room, later determined to be occupied by Martin.

After speaking with Martin, the deputy was granted consent to search the room and found a marijuana pipe and bag of marijuana in the bathroom.

MARYLAND LEADERSHIP WORKSHOPS

If you are a student leader or aspiring to be a leader consider participating in the state wide residential programs of Maryland Leadership Workshops. These programs will be held at Washington College in Chestertown.

The middle school program (for students entering grades 6-8) will take place from July 24 to 30, while the high school program (for students entering grades 9-12) will take place from July 31 to August 6. An electronic version of the program brochure may be obtained by request from mharman@nb.ga.k12.md.us. Those with questions may see Ms. Harman or contact Ron Dhindsa at 202-716-3888.

PIRATES GAME

Any students or faculty members wishing to attend the Pirates game on May 7 must turn in their form and payment by April 12 to secure their place. See Ms. Harman with any questions.

AHEC/ECHO APPLICATIONS

Any student interested in the Summer Health Careers Exploration program should submit a completed application to Ms. Harman no later than Friday, April 29.

SERVICE LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES

First Christian Church is looking for students to complete lots of paperwork from their own home. If interested, contact Pat Schmidt at 301-746-5829.

The annual Walk for Hospice will be held on Saturday, April 30. Students are needed to collect donations, walk, or assist with various other activities. If interested, please contact Amy or Lisa at 301-334-5151. Additional information can be picked up in the Counseling Center.

Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center is looking for students to read, assist with crafts, help with parties, or just interact with residents. ONRC is also interested in art students that would be willing to assist/teach art. For the appropriate paperwork, stop by the Counseling Center.

OPEN HOUSE

Garrett College will be holding an Open House on Saturday, April 16, beginning at 11 a.m. Students can tour the campus, meet current GC students, learn about unique programs, and gain information on scholarships and financial aid. For more information, visit the Garrett College web site.

EARTH DAY

New Germany State Park will hold an Earth Day Eggstravaganza on Saturday, April 23, at 10 a.m. at the Lake House. Everyone is invited to help search for the more than 1,000 hidden eggs, make a recycled Easter basket and learn how to have a "greener" Easter holiday.

EARTH WEEK DENIM DRIVE

Northern High School will be celebrating Earth Week April 18 through 21. As part of this celebration, a denim drive will be held. Old jeans and any other items made of denim can be donated. The denim will be used to make insulation that will then be donated to Habitat for Humanity.

It's time to Spring Clean

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS OF OAKLAND: May 2 - May 6

CLEAN UP... PAINT UP... FIX UP...

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland wishes to notify Oakland Town Residents that the week of May 2 will be CLEAN UP, PAINT UP, FIX UP week. During this week, the Oakland Street Department will be picking up trash, weeds, rubbish, and/or junk. Town residents are requested to make an extra effort to do "Spring Cleaning" of their properties, including vacant lots as well as residences.

During this week, and this week only, fees for the following items will be waived, as a service provided by the County Commissioners: mattresses, chairs, sofas, washers, dryers, other household items, and a limited amount of construction debris (up to 100 pounds per household). This DOES NOT include commercial waste, paint, tires, batteries, large automobile parts, brush, leaves, stumps, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, or any other appliance with refrigerant. Please contact City Hall for the fees associated with the hauling of these items.

The Oakland Street Department now has a wood chipper. As a result, we no longer require limbs to be cut and bundled. Please call and let us know if you have limbs needing chipped. We are only able to handle limbs up to 6 inches in diameter. We will not remove commercially cut trees/debris! Large quantities must be paid for at Oakland City Hall prior to pick-up.

The Street Department will be hauling all five days between May 2, 2011, and May 6, 2011. If they should miss any items for disposal, please do not hesitate to call either the Street Department at 301-334-3253, or City Hall at 301-334-2691. Residents are reminded that the Street Department will only do limited bulk pick-up on Fridays (small quantities of yard waste and limbs). In addition we have suspended recycling pickup in Oakland until further notice; however, recycling collection sites are available throughout the county.

Do your part to help keep Oakland clean and beautiful!

Town Hall

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

Spring yard clean-up will be the week of April 26–29. Residents are asked to rake leaves to the edge of the street, but not into the ditches, and to cut and bundle twigs and limbs to fit in the truck. The leaf truck is not available for this clean-up. Large limbs will be chipped with the chipper. No trash is permitted with yard debris.

Garage/Yard Sale Signs: No permit is required; however, a maximum of two sale signs, two square ft. each, are permitted in each residential yard. They may be placed 48 hours before the sale, and must be removed 24 hours after the sale. No sign of any kind may be posted on any traffic control device, utility pole, street light, U.S. mail box, or any other utility structure within the town. Violators will be fined.

Residents are reminded that zoning permits are required for most construction projects. Residents should inquire at 301-334-8339 before beginning any projects.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting that was originally planned for Tuesday, May 3, has been moved to May 17 at 6 p.m.

ACCIDENT

The town meeting was held on Thursday, April 7, at the town hall.

American Legion Post 208 was presented the 2010 Accident Community Volunteer of the Year Award. Commander Aaron Miller was present to receive the plaque, which will hang in the town hall.

Linda Lindsey and Allen Festerman from Garrett County Department of Public Utilities were present to discuss the operations and maintenance of the Accident wastewater plant. The department will clean out the aeration tanks and reed beds this spring.

Clay Riley from Thrasher Engineering Inc. was present to discuss the upcoming Phase 2 of the sewer project. He discussed the smoke testing results with Lindsey and Festerman. Residents who were found to have violations will receive notification letters within the next week.

Sheriff Rob Corley was present to introduce himself to the mayor and town council. He discussed Garrett County's new Crime Solvers web site.

The council discussed the 2011-12 FY budget items. A draft of the budget will be presented at the May meeting.

The town will participate in Municipal Clean-Up Day, for which a date will be set as soon as the information is received from the Garrett County Landfill.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 5, at 7 p.m. at the town hall.

MTN. LAKE PARK

Bulk collection will be held on an on-call basis. This service will be offered from June through August on the first and third Monday of each month.

Each residence will be allowed one pick-up during these months.

Collection is limited to household items only, and the pile must not be any larger than three ft. wide, three ft. high, and six ft. long (3'x3'x6')

Prohibited items consist of recyclables, metals, appliances, brush, yard debris, construction or demolition debris, any items that contain freon, paint cans, tires, batteries, and automobile parts.

To participate and to schedule a pick-up, persons should call the town hall at 301-334-2250.

Brush and stick pick-up will be on the last weekend of each month through September, limited to small limbs and sticks. The sticks must be placed along the roadway for pick-up. The town will not pick up brush resulting from tree removal or lot clearing.

Grass and leaf pick-up will be every Friday each month until fall leaf pick-up.

Household items, brush, sticks, grass and leaves cannot be put on the street until the night before the scheduled pick up. Failure to comply with any of the provisions of this notice is a violation of the Nuisance Ordinance and the Debris and Trash Ordinance. Violators will be ticketed and fined without further notice.

A yard sale permit is required to have a yard sale at a residence. Residents are allowed only one yard sale each year. The cost of a permit is $10.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

There was a time in America when people practiced true self-reliance – the kind that Ron Paul is advocating. That would have been before white men first stepped onto our continent. That was the kind of lifestyle the Native Americans lived. And it worked pretty well, until some strangers showed up and took away everything they needed for that lifestyle – the natural food supply and the land that was their home. A group lived together and took responsibility for the well-being of each of its members. But that required a fundamentally simple social contract: People should take care of those who can't take care of themselves, because of the natural stages of life. The very young take care of the old, after they served the common good their whole life.

The knowledge base needed for getting along was very small, and easy to pass down from a mother to her children. So they didn't need a public education system, and the father was able to provide essential safety for his family, or if there was a greater need, then the tribes would provide it. But their society without huge wealth was different. Everyone had enough to survive, and they could obtain that by simply harvesting the bountiful natural resources around them.

The Plains Indians based their lifestyle on one animal, the vast herd of buffalo. And they had one primary rule: Only kill another creature if you deeply respect its life. So it was immoral to waste anything. They understood that they were only a small part of the great web of life on Earth. They did not believe in owning property, but that they belonged to the land; the opposite of the white man.

Do we have any reasonable limit for the right of free speech? We always understand that you don't have the right to yell "Fire!" in a crowded theater.

The radical Baptists who protested a funeral for a soldier went too far. They apparently ignore that part of the Bible that says, "Judge not, or you will be judged." And "Let those who are without sin, throw the first stone."

It sounds much more like radical Islam than a truly Christian message. The basic message of Christ is not to hate those who you believe are wrongdoers. They can't understand that homosexuality is something that someone is born with, and not a choice. Why would anyone choose something that makes their lives miserable?

CHARACTER TRAIT WINNERS were recently named at Northern Middle School. Students were chosen for exemplifying the traits of courage and facing challenges. Pictured above, from left, are Ian Brenneman and Olivia Bennett, 6th grade; Allyson Faner and Matthew Knauff, 7th grade; and Bethany House and Blake Upole, 8th grade.

And why are the most extreme Christians so obsessed about other people's sex lives? It seems pretty strange, and probably indicates that they have sexual problems.

I can't understand their thinking at all, because I know many wonderful persons who happen to be gay. And that does not affect their characters. Many are Christian and always try to live up to the values they learned in church and in their family circles.

The majority of Americans aren't homophobic. Most support more rights for gay people.

I wish those homophobes would turn against the true evil: people who abuse, hurt, and harm other people. Do they feel bad for the helpless suffering of tens of thousands of refugees who try to flee Libya? Do they care that many have no access to food, water, or safety?

I believe a real Christian should love and accept all of God's children, even if they are different.

I only wish that our world would have less suffering of all kinds. Less starving, fewer victims of violence, and less psychological pain, especially so severe that someone chooses suicide. Every time someone utters a joke targeting some kind of person or says hateful things about some group, it causes serious psychological pain to ones' victims. And that is not what God wants. He wants us to love our neighbors as we love ourselves.

"What the world needs now is love," as the old song said. You can't change behavior which you find distasteful by endlessly condemning it. If that worked, then our world would be without crime. Hate is a useless emotion, and it will never solve anything.

Plenty of people whine about how they long for some nice weather, including myself. But the swing upward last Sunday was pretty extreme. Only a few days later, we got a little snow. But late afternoon on Sunday, Bittinger felt like a sauna. I had to take Boo on a short walk, just down the ramp and back up. But it left me limp, and I wiped myself off with ice water. I felt like it was my duty, because it was a major goal of mine to keep Boo alive long enough to see another spring. And she made it.

While Cindy Richardson helped with her two grand-babies, her husband Pastor Randy Richardson was living it up in Wheeling planning this year's Camp Luther. It was not only a week of solid meetings, but also some fun. I had just about all the meetings I could tolerate as a faculty member at GCC. Sometimes they involved genuinely important topics and included thoughtful discussions, but those were the exception to the rule.

An important sign of spring is blooming daffodils, and Naomi Beitzel's are in full bloom. I guess Garrett County has three seasons: winter, summer, and roller coaster, because both fall and spring go back and forth widely.

Food prices are skyrocketing all over the world because of the rising price of oil. Everyone across the globe should be able to eat food produced close to them. That cuts out the price of oil to ship food long distances. Garrett County could produce most of the foods we usually use right here – meat, vegetables, grain for flour – and we could have processing plants to turn raw material into edible produce. In other words, we could grind our own flour, then have bakeries produce breads, pasta, and breakfast cereals.

I saw Northern High School musicals, like Oklahoma, South Pacific, and Carousel, and they were as good as a high school production could possibly be. That was probably when I was in junior high school. It was amazing that Northern had so many talented performers.

Then Deep Creek Lake had amazingly fine summer stock theater, mostly staffed by New York professional actors and actresses, supplemented by some students. But it was fully professional local theater.

So I was hooked on "theater magic," and when I had an open slot in my first semester schedule, I took Introduction to Theater. Although there were a dozen classes I would have liked to take, it was my first choice, and it was a great decision. It was taught by a remarkably entertaining lecturer. But the best part was that it required all students to sign up and work on various backstage projects. Since I was always a talented artist during my younger years, I chose the paint crew.

There are few things as interesting and exciting as backstage, especially when a musical is being put together. We worked while the cast was rehearsing on the stage, and listened to some of the most wonderful songs. It was always crowded with hundreds of attractive, talented, and interesting people.

The play I first worked on was The Boyfriend, a classic 1920s musical.

We had to produce several huge backgrounds from a rendering, which also involved mixing paint from dry pigments matched exactly to the many colors on the rendering. But the crew head wasn't up to the challenge, and she had a full nervous breakdown. So the set designer, Charles Vaughn III, judged what he saw of our work so far, and decided that I was the person to do that job. He evidently saw in me a future as a serious scene artist.

He took his work very seriously. I guess he was in his 30s or 40s.

It is hard to describe him as I remember him. The best I can do is say that it was as if James Dean had lived to be a full adult. At least that's the way he wore his jet black hair. The most noticeable aspect about how he dressed was that he wore a pair of well-worn cowboy boots and dark blue jeans.

There was no denying that he was a very handsome man. But that didn't matter to me, because good-looking guys of my age were plentiful in University Theater, and I don't just mean actors, but also the stage hands and electricians. I developed a serious crush on the least good-looking, but his personality attracted many beautiful girls on the campus. We were good friends for a long time.

I have no doubt that my professor was attracted to me, but I was also his most promising student. He wanted to put his mark on my future, so he became a huge mentor to me. He taught me almost everything about being an artist/painter. I can see his art in my art, and sometimes I hear his voice giving me advice about a painting.

I imagine that it was widely known that Chuck and I had an unusually close relationship, but it never crossed any line to inappropriate; not professor/student or the line that he recognized as a married man. But I believe what we had was real love.

He had a profound influence on my life. His example was the kind of professor I became, mainly looking at each of the students as individuals and giving them what they needed to be as successful as possible.

I made some choices that would have disappointed him – like taking the easy road to work in theater in New York, and taking a job in costumes instead of going the hard road to become a scene artist. That is the highest paid job, but it required getting into the most difficult union to enter. It involved a series of difficult performance exams. He no doubt thought that he trained me well enough that the test would be a piece of cake for me. But I didn't have any interest in the set business.

I checked to see if Chuck was still alive when I moved to New York City, but he wasn't. He died from a heart attack at way too young an age. I recently heard that one of the most critical risks for a heart attack is how much overtime a person works. I remember a dozen nights when he worked past midnight at the theater, and it just became twice as bad on Broadway, where millions of dollars is riding on completing your work.

Some people are probably obsessed with earning more money working overtime. But if it causes you to die too young, it's not worth it. Your retirement will not be a problem, because you'll never reach it. But if you are able to work in a career you love and earn good money because you possess rare skills, then so be it.

That University of Maryland theater, and especially Chuck Vaughn, gave me a chance to live a very exciting life.

I can't believe it is April 12, and I still have not gotten my tax income form from Social Security. I am pretty sure it is the same as last year. I also can't believe I am in full panic about my taxes when I earn so little, while G.E. and Exxon pay nothing. But the big tax bill did not come yet – my property taxes to Garrett County. That generally runs over half my monthly income.

Let's face it. The gun rights nuts are no different than any terrorists anywhere, because they believe if they give up anything, then all their gun rights will be gone. It is the weakest argument possible, because we see many areas where some restrictions do not end all rights. They want high capacity ammo only to allow them to take out what they believe are their enemies, like people of other races and religions, or those who believe a different set of political ideas.

Why else would anyone need to fire 32 bullets in a few second, except to slaughter many people who are different? That is not Second Amendment rights. It is pure, simple genocide.

The Mutual Ministry group of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish will meet this Sunday, April 17, at 7 p.m. at the parsonage.

An ecumenical Easter sunrise service will be celebrated at the Bittinger fire hall at 6:30 a.m. on Easter morning. The service will be followed by a breakfast. The offering at the service will benefit the Bittinger Food Pantry. The service is being sponsored by the Glade Mennonite Church and the Bittinger Lutheran Parish. Everyone is invited to attend.

Camp Luther will be the week of June 19-25 at Camp Caesar in Cowen, W.Va. Anyone who has completed third grade through senior in high school is welcome and encouraged to attend. Applications are available from Pastor or Cindy Richardson, and it is requested that they be submitted by Easter Sunday.

St. Mark's Notes Special Holy Week Services

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland has announced plans for special Holy Week and Easter worship services. Pastor C. Scott Robinson and the congregation invite the public to attend any or all services.

The Palm Sunday service, on April 17, will feature the traditional palm procession at the beginning of the 10 a.m. worship service. Special music will be provided by St. Mark's choir and handbell choir.

The Maundy Thursday worship service on April 21 will consist of a reading of the Passion narrative, beginning at 7 p.m. This will be a service of Holy Communion, which will also feature special music. The service concludes with the traditional stripping of the altar for Good Friday.

St. Mark's will hold its traditional Tenebrae service of music and scripture on Good Friday, April 22, at 7 p.m. Pastor Robinson explained that Tenebrae means "darkness."

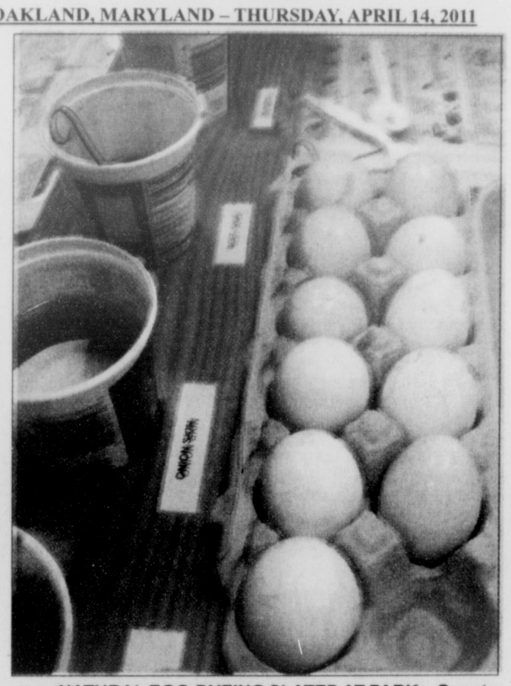
"This service, which has its roots in the 8th century, is a worship experience that ends in total darkness. It retells the story of Jesus' last moments on Earth in a way that is very spiritual and quite moving," Robinson said. Congregational singing and special music are again a part of the Tenebrae service.

Easter Sunday's "Festival of the Resurrection of Our Lord" begins at 6 a.m. atop the mountain at Wisp Resort. This is the fourth annual Easter sunrise service at Wisp that St. Mark's has held. Hymns will be accompanied by a brass quartet. A continental breakfast will be served in the lodge following the service.

The traditional celebratory worship service of Holy Communion is at 10 a.m. on that day. It will also feature St. Mark's choir, handbell choir, and a brass ensemble.

The choir is under the direction of Susan Peterson, and the handbells are led by Lynn Grimm. The church organist and pianist is Michael Broderick.

The public is welcome at all Holy Week events at St. Mark's, located at the corner of Center and South Second streets, across from the Ruth Enlow Library. There is infant/toddler care available for Sunday services at the church. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.



NATURAL EGG-DYEING SLATED AT PARK – Guests are invited to join the Easter Bunny at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park for the annual natural egg dyeing program. This year's event will be held on Saturday, April 23, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. Volunteers and staff will be on hand to assist children in coloring Easter eggs with natural dyes. Some dyes are from nature, and some "will be from right in your kitchen cabinet," a spokesperson said. Each child should bring six hardboiled eggs wiped in vinegar for this project. The Easter Bunny will be on hand to help, and will give out candy and be available for photographs, too. Guests are also invited to check out the recent remodeling of the main display floor at the center. A naturalist will be in attendance to show off the center's live animals.

DHMH Seeking Public Input On Maryland's SHIP

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) is seeking comments from the public on key statewide health measures outlined in the Maryland State Health Improvement Plan (SHIP) 2011-2014. This project aims to improve the health of Marylanders and their communities. According to a DHMS spokesperson, there is a special emphasis on promoting health equity.

"Our mission is to make Maryland healthier for all," said DHMH Secretary Joshua M. Sharfstein, M.D. "Public input and engagement will be critical for success."

The SHIP will be unique to Maryland, the spokesperson said, the product of several population health planning efforts at the federal, state, and local level in collaboration with private partners and input from Marylanders.

Anyone who wishes may review the measures online at http://dhmh.mary-land.gov/ship/ and provide feedback through a specially designed survey included on the site.

"Every Marylander has a stake in this process," said Frances Phillips, DHMH deputy secretary for public health services. "By focusing on health disparities and other areas where improvement offers significant progress, we can do a better job of helping Maryland families enjoy longer, healthier lives."

Improving the health of all Marylanders through planning requires broad stakeholder engagement through multiple steps, the spokesperson said. Accordingly, Maryland's DHMH will:

1. Seek public comment on draft objectives and general framework for the SHIP (April 13 – May 12);

2. Release the SHIP with an overview of cross-cutting strategies to achieve objectives (July 2011);

3. Support local and regional coalitions formed to develop local implementation plans aimed at achieving SHIP objectives of local and regional priority (July - December 2011);

4. Build and support broad engagement to implement strategies and monitor progress toward SHIP objectives (2012 on).

Linda Sherbin, chair of the Garrett College board of trustees, performed the investiture ceremony, presenting Dr. MacLennan with the gold and stone presidential medallion signifying his stewardship of the college.

Dr. MacLennan opened his comments by thanking those in attendance and those who coordinated the event.

"And I especially want to thank the Garrett College board of trustees for giving me this opportunity," he said.

The student-centered focus of Garrett College was apparent to him during his first visit to the campus, and it was a major draw for him, Dr. MacLennan said.

"I saw such a collective desire to focus attention on meeting students' needs – more so than any other college or university of which I have been a part – that it was irresistible to me," he said.

Dr. MacLennan spoke of his dedication to the mission of the college in the community.

"Our mission is one of creating hope and opportunity for all who would benefit from our programs and services," he said. "And in today's world, what we do here at Garrett College could be termed 'mission critical.' Nationally, community colleges are widely recognized as the engines pulling us out of our economic crisis and are being challenged nationally to produce significantly greater numbers of completers.

"This past December we began a full scale planning process. Ultimately, the process will result in setting a direction for our instructional programs and services, the use and development of college facilities, and vision of what we see ourselves achieving over the next five to 10 years," he continued. "Starting later this month, we will begin holding a series of learning and listening sessions throughout Garrett County. Our goal with these sessions is to widely share the early results of our planning activities to see if we're on the right track. To get it right –to be as relevant as possible – we need all the input we can gather."

MacLennan said that he believes Garrett College is up to the task of meeting the educational needs of the people it serves.

"The foundation of excellence already here provides us with both the opportunity and responsibility to meet the terrific challenges facing our community and world today," he said. "Our community is counting on us to build on our strengths and to meet its expectations that our educational programs and services are accessible, of the highest quality possible, and most importantly, relevant to its needs."

Plant Society To Meet; To Discuss Sundial Lupine

The Western Mountains Chapter of the Maryland Native Plant Society will hold its regular meeting at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg on Tuesday, April 19, at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Dr. Sara Tangren, director of research, Chesapeake Natives, who will give a presentation titled "The Rare Sundial Lupine and its Western Maryland Habitats."

Her program will begin immediately following a brief business meeting. The public is welcome to attend.

The University of Maryland Arboretum is leading a statewide conservation effort to ensure that lupines persist to enrich the lives of all Marylanders. According to Tangren, sundial lupines are among the most beautiful and rare wildflowers in Maryland. In this presentation, she will discuss how the distribution of geologic/soil conditions has led to the formation of perfect lupine habit in specific regions of Maryland, with an emphasis on the lupine habitats of western Maryland.

She will also give a brief introduction to insects that interact with the lupine, including the rare frosted elfin butterfly.

Dr. Tangren founded Chesapeake Natives in 2005. The nonprofit now works with the University of Maryland Arboretum and Botanic Garden on its native plant demonstration gardens and rare-plant conservation program. She also works with the Maryland State Highway Administration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the development of locally native seed sources for roadside use.

THE SUNDIAL LUPINE, considered one of the most beautiful and rarest wildflowers in Maryland, will be the topic of the April meeting of the Western Mountains Chapter of Maryland Native Plant Society, scheduled for April 19. Photo courtesy of Dr. Sara Tangren, who will give the presentation. See story for details.

The Appalachian Lab is located just off Braddock Road (exit 33 on I-68) in Frostburg.

The Maryland Native Plant Society uses education, research, and community service to increase awareness and appreciation of native plants and their habitats, leading to their conservation and restoration. Membership is open to all who are interested in Maryland's native plants and their habitats. Preserving Maryland's natural heritage, increasing knowledge about native plants, and helping to further the society's mission are the goals of the society. MNPS sponsors monthly meetings, workshops, field trips, and an annual fall conference. Persons may find more information online at www.mdflora.org.

The Western Mountains Chapter has formed to expand the efforts of MNPS on the Allegheny Plateau and ridge and valley physiographic provinces of the central Appalachians. Residents of western Maryland, nearby Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and anyone else interested in learning more about and conserving the native plants of the region, are invited to join. For more information, persons may contact Liz McDowell, chapter coordinator, at 301-895-3686 or via e-mail at boyerandmcdowell@earthlink.net.

Accident Library Schedules Easter "Eggstravaganza"

The Accident library will hold a walk-in Easter "Eggstravaganza" on Wednesday, April 27, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Light refreshments will be served.

"Come and enjoy stories, dye eggs, and decorate bunny and egg-shaped sugar cookies," said a spokesperson. "Participate in an Easter egg hunt and in return receive a free book and a goody bag."

This event is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may call the Accident library at 301-746-8792.

A listing of events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library is available online at relib.net.

O'Malley Sets New Tree Planting Goal At 100,000

In recognition of Maryland Arbor Day, Governor Martin O'Malley recently set a new goal for the Marylanders Plant Trees program, challenging citizens to plant and register 50,000 new trees by 2012 for a program total of 100,000.

"With the program's overwhelming success, I am today issuing a new challenge for citizens—50,000 new trees by 2012," said O'Malley.

Through his Smart, Green, & Growing initiative, the governor launched the MPT program two years ago with a goal of planting 50,000 new trees by 2010. Residents met the challenge set by O'Malley, and as of December 2010 50,089 new trees were planted and registered.

Maryland is also on track to exceed its goal of 1 million trees planted on public lands by 2011 through the Forest Brigade program, which utilizes inmate labor in a partnership with Maryland's Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, the Maryland State Highway Administration, and the Department of Natural Resources.

In a recently issued statement outlining the benefits of these programs, the DNR claimed that trees protect water quality, clean the air, and provide important wildlife habitat. It was also stated that one large tree can eliminate 5,000 gallons of stormwater runoff each year, while well placed trees can help reduce energy costs by 15 to 35 percent. According to the organization, trees also beautify communities and parks, provide sound barriers and shade, and help increase property values.

The MPT program continues to offer $25 coupons toward the purchase of native trees costing $50 or more, redeemable at nearly 70 participating nurseries across the state. DNR encourages citizens to "plant and be counted" by registering every tree they plant. Participants will be eligible for prizes, while observing the environmental benefits of their tree through interactive maps and charts.

For more information, a list of prizes, and to register a tree, one may visit trees.maryland.gov.

CIVIC CLUB HEARS FROM NON-PROFITS – The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland resumed its monthly meetings after its winter recess on Tuesday, March 29. At the year's first get-together, as is tradition, the club heard from 23 representatives of local non-profit organizations, speaking about their groups and requesting grant funding. Each year the civic club opens its doors to all area non-profits, giving the opportunity to request funding that the club members raise each year in various events, such as the annual Autumn Glory Festival Antique Show and Sale. A club spokesperson said members agreed that Garrett County is "very fortunate to have so many hard-working individuals and non-profit organizations" in the area. Those presenting to the club are pictured above. In the first row, from left, are Barbara Frantz, Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation; Mercedes Pellet, HART; Beverly Beard, Hospice of Garrett County; Marilyn Moors, AAUW; and Willetta Rissell, Garrett Community Concert Band. Second row, same order: Elizabeth Huxford, Girl Scouts Black Diamond Council; Lisa Baker, Garrett County Humane Society; Odette Lueck, Garrett County Arts Council; Mary Callis, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival; Beverly Carvell, Area Agency on Aging; Keela Pfaff, Ruth Enlow Library; Tricia Cheesman, Garrett Mentors; Diana Morgan, GCCAC Head Start/Early Head Start; and Sue McQuaid, House of Hope. Third row: Mikey Virts, Our Town Theatre; Doug Riley, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity; Bryan Olszewski, Garrett County Lighthouse Inc.; Bill Grant, Garrett Choral Society; Heather Hanlin, Dove Center; Brian Boal, Landon's Library; Fred Schaich, Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers; Thomas Graybill, Garrett Organization for the Handicapped; and Rob Stansbury, Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers. Not present for the photo was B.J. Gallagher of the Parents' Place of Maryland.

Public Invited To Collect Data On Savage River

Izaak Walton League of America and Canaan Valley Institute staff will walk segments of the Savage River and its tributaries and document such problems as eroding stream banks and the lack of forest buffers along the stream.

The event will take place May 18–20, and the public is invited to participate. Staff and guests will meet each morning at 8:30 a.m. at a location to be determined.

"We prefer to have volunteers who can start in the morning and work with us the entire day (8 a.m.–5 p.m.) or a significant portion of the day," said spokeswoman. "However, if you are only available in the afternoon, please let us know and we can work to arrange a time and place to meet around lunchtime."

Information collected will be used to prioritize sites for restoration and conservation efforts.

No prior training or experience is required to participate in the event.

"You will need to wear field clothes and waterproof boots if you have them," the spokeswoman said. "We can provide boots if we know the sizes in advance."

She noted that the group will be driving throughout the watershed, so volunteers who know the local area and can navigate for the group are much needed.

For more details or to volunteer, persons may contact Leah Miller, Clean Water Program director for the Izaak Walton League, at 301-548-0150, ext. 219, or leah@iwla.org; or the Savage River Watershed Association at srwadirector@gmail.com.

Oral Cancer Awareness Wk. Is April 10–16

by Diane Lee, public information officer, GC Health Department

Oral Cancer Awareness Week is April 10–16. The good news about oral cancer is that it is highly preventable. Tobacco use, alcohol use, becoming infected with the human papillomavirus, and sun exposure are all risk factors for mouth cancer.

Lifestyle changes that reduce these risk factors offer the best protection from this deadly disease.

Approximately 550 Marylanders will be diagnosed with oral cancer this year.

"The survival rate for oral cancer, unlike most other cancers, hasn't improved much over the past 50 years," said Dr. Harry Goodman, director for the Office of Oral Health in the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. "Unfortunately, this is because most people are diagnosed with oral cancer at a late stage."

Your dental or medical provider should provide an exam for oral cancer on an annual basis. This painless, two minute oral exam looks for unusual red or white patches or sores inside the mouth or on the lips and swelling in the head and neck region.

Oral cancer is most successfully treated when these often unnoticed changes are found early in the course of the disease while still painless.

If you are not sure if you have had an exam for oral cancer, be sure to ask at your next visit. Two minutes can save your life.

If you have questions about oral cancer prevention, call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111.

TWO JOIN CIVIC CLUB – The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland recently welcomed two new members, Diane Rider and Jeannie Bailey (shown above left and right). The two officially joined the club at its first meeting of the calendar year on March 29. Bailey is a native of New York City and moved around the country and to Australia before settling in Reston, Va. She and her spouse Kenneth moved to Garrett County in 2009. She is the mother of three sons and grandmother to seven. She worked for the CIA as an administrative assistant, and her hobbies include crafting, reading, writing, walking, swimming, taking care of her grandchildren, and spending time with her family. Rider is originally from Cockeysville, and now resides near Alpine Lake, Terra Alta, W.Va. She is a registered nurse and works as a Care First case manager from her home. She and her husband Rick are the parents of three, two sons and a daughter. They also have two granddaughters. Rider is a gardener and reader.

Kitzmiller Church To Offer Food To Those In Need

HiWay Assembly of God, Kitzmiller, will offer a food pantry to the public on Thursday, April 21, from 6 to 7 p.m. The pantry may be open longer if a church representative is able to stay later than 7 p.m., noted a church spokesman.

"If you have a food need, you're welcome to come," he said. "God bless you."

He added that the church plans to offer a food pantry once a month, but a schedule has not yet been set.

For more information, persons may call Pastor John Friend at 240-321-6129.

FRIENDSVILLE STUDENTS TOUR LOCAL AIRPORT — The Friendsville Head Start class recently visited the Garrett County Airport. The group was given a tour by Manager Ed Kelley. The children were shown the terminal and its automated weather observation system, the pilots' planning room, and the different parts of a genuine Piper Mooney aircraft. The class was overseen by Darlene Schmidt, teacher; Brandi Greene, assistant teacher; and Judy Fike, family service provider. All the children received a wooden glider airplane. The tour guide and Head Start supervisors pictured above, left to right, are: Kelley, Schmidt, Greene, and Fike.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

IODINE
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Lately there has been a lot on TV about how Japanese people are taking iodine tablets to protect themselves from radioactivity. Why? Is that something everybody should do?

A. Iodine is one of those lesser-known elements of which the human body needs a trace. Iodine tends to accumulate in the thyroid gland, and a deficiency of iodine leads to hypothyroidism. That in turn can promote mental retardation.

Americans essentially never need to think about it at all, because ordinary table salt (sodium chloride, NaCl) is "iodized," meaning that some iodine is included. Consequently, just the amount of salt in everyday products like bread gives us all adequate iodine.

The concern in Japan about iodine is this: One of the fission products from uranium splitting is iodine-131 (I131), which normally remains inside a fuel rod, but under calamitous circumstances might get into the atmosphere and appear as "fallout." That isotope of iodine is itself radioactive; the half life is 8 days. You really don't want that in your body, and certainly not in your thyroid, where it increases the cancer risk. If your thyroid is already filled with normal iodine (entirely the stable isotope iodine-127, I127), then any additional iodine you ingest will mostly be excreted. Therefore, by taking a potassium iodide tablet daily, plenty of extra iodine is introduced into your system; that tanks up your thyroid ahead of when the I131 arrives.

Since Japan is a modern developed country, with iodized salt in the diet, it is doubtful that many citizens suffer an iodine deficiency in the first place, and hence this is just a precaution. It is possible to overdose on iodine, causing adverse side effects, but nobody in Japan intends to keep taking these tablets for very long. They understand that you can't get 10 times the protection from fallout by taking 10 times as many tablets. Meanwhile, the amount of I131 that will drift to America is so tiny that there is no point in Americans taking such tablets and risking side effects.

There is another story about iodine, having nothing to do with radioactivity. In about 30% of the world, iodine is scarce and fetal brain damage results from iodine deficiency disorder (IDD). A report about a UNICEF program says:

"Fetal brain function damage due to iodine deficiency ranges from loss of up to 10 to 15 points of IQ to severe mental retardation. In problem areas, entire school classes score lower on their educational achievement, with fewer students progressing to higher education.... To avoid suffering IDD, a human requires in a life time a total just one teaspoon of iodine – this can be added to salt at a cost of about 10 cents worth per year. But it is necessary to ingest micro amounts of iodine on a regular basis. Consumption of iodized salt is the best form of IDD prevention, and Universal Salt Iodization (USI) is the goal. The greatest need for micro amounts of iodine is in the mother's womb."

Happily, the international effort to iodize salt has made great strides in just 20 years; in 1990, only 20% of the world had adequate iodine in their diet. Since 1990, more than 2 billion people have become users of iodized salt, a remarkable feat in dietary behavior change. But UNICEF estimates that 38 million newborns worldwide remain unprotected.

Russia and Ukraine are two of the countries where IDD is most prevalent. At the time of the Chernobyl disaster, it was predicted that many Ukrainian children would die of thyroid cancer, but by swiftly loading them up with iodine, that was prevented. That drew attention to the importance of iodine to the human body – but that was a generation ago.

Since the half-life is 8 days, in 80 days all but one part in 1,000 of the I131 will have vanished, and people will tend to relax and forget about iodine. Perhaps one result of the nuclear hazard in Japan will be that new attention will be given to iodine throughout the world, and the effort to get everyone onto iodized salt will succeed.

Military Support Group To Meet On Wednesday

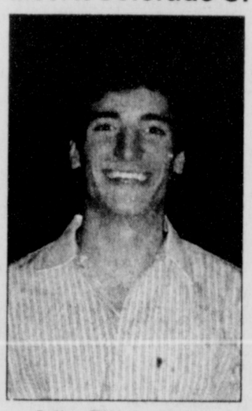
The Military Family Support Group will meet on Wednesday, April 20, at 6:30 p.m. at the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad hall, located along Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park.

On the agenda will be a discussion of activities for 2011, including plans for the upcoming effort to send "care" boxes to deployed military members.

The group is open to anyone who has family or friends serving in any branch of the military. Meetings are designed to give families and friends an opportunity to provided support to each other while their loved ones are serving and/or deployed.

To contact the Military Family Support Group for more information, persons may check out its web site at supportlocalmilitary.com or call Mel or Cathy Menker at 301-334-5906 or Larry Schlossnagle at 301-746-5723.

Named To Dean's List At Colorado U.



Julian Floro, a sophomore communications major at the University of Colorado, Boulder, made the College of Arts and Sciences dean's list for the 2010 fall semester.

To earn this designation, a student must maintain a 3.75 or better grade point average and be enrolled in at least 12 graded credit hours of coursework for the given semester.

This achievement ranks Floro among the top students at CU. He is a 2008 graduate of Southern High School, and resides in Oakland with his family, Dorothy and David Tuel.

ELCA Women Hold April Mtg. At Zion Church

Women of the ELCA (Evangelical Lutheran Church in America), Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting at the church last Wednesday.

A Bible study, "Barriers to a Resurrection," was led by Leota Baker.

"The principal text was from the Gospel of Mark, and in this section, a look was taken at barriers to a resurrection life and how we as a Christian community help these barriers stay in place – or help others to overcome the barriers," Baker said.

Devotions closed with prayer and the hymn "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting. Meetings had been canceled during January through March; however, offerings were received and sent to the synodical unit.

Work has begun on making baby quilts for the Rocky Boy Indians in Box Elder, Mont.

Offerings were sent to the American Bible Society for the Bible-A-Month ministry.

A letter was received from Norma Boyer, cluster coordinator, announcing the spring assembly of the Monongahela Valley – Mountain Cluster, which will be held on Saturday, April 30. The meeting will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, W.Va., with registration and fellowship beginning at 9 a.m. The theme for the meeting will be "Stewardship Through Service – Go and Serve the Lord."

A letter was received from the synodical president announcing executive board elections at the synodical convention for a president, vice president, and four board members.

A list of articles for health kits was passed out to members to prepare the kits for the spring cluster meeting in Aurora.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

Hand of the Potter

The potter controls the size and shape of the vessel spinning on the wheel; depending on the pressure of his fingers, the clay takes the form he chooses. At times we are puzzled by God, the greatest potter. We do not understand how He shapes us in His own image and we question the form our life takes. Isaiah (64.8) trusted God's love... "Yet, O Lord, you are our Father. We are the clay, you are the potter; we are all the work of your hand." Worship this week.

Let God shape you into His image.

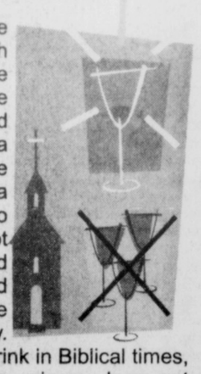
Drunkenness



kDrunkenness is the penultimate work of the flesh mentioned by Paul in his epistle to the Galatians, and is the translation of the Greek word "methe." Drunkenness is a straightforward translation of the word "methe" and describes a state of intoxication due to alcohol. There can be little doubt that drunkenness is condemned throughout both the Old and New Testament, despite rationalizations to the contrary. Wine was indeed a common drink in Biblical times, but the Greek word for wine, oinos, does not distinguish between fresh grape juice and the fermented variety. Proverbs 20:1 tells us that "Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler; and whoever is led astray by it is not wise." Despite repeated injunctions against drunkenness, however, wine itself, even the fermented variety, is never strictly prohibited. Jesus and Paul very well may have drunk fermented wine, but they are never characterized as being drunk. Likewise, such a stalwart of propriety as Martin Luther is known to have enjoyed beer and wine, but was never seen drunk. Given the havoc which alcohol wreaks on our health and well-being, both individually and as a society, however, it is little wonder that drunkenness is condemned in such clear terms. We should consider whether our drinking is the moderate consumption of one of God's gifts or rises to the excess of drunkenness.

For you are all sons of light and sons of the day;we are not of the night orof darkness. So then let us not sleep, as others do,but let us keep awakeand be sober.

R.S.V. 1 Thessalonians 5:5-6

TV Pipeline

The clock hasn't run out on the '24' movie

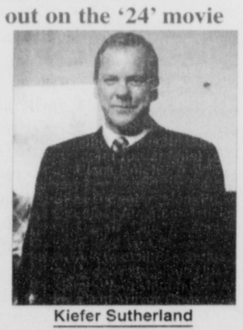
Q: When the final season of "24" ended, there was talk of a feature film. Is that ever going to happen? –Dwight Esau, Huntley, Ill.

A: It's still in the works, according to "Jack Bauer" himself, Kiefer Sutherland. Much will depend on his schedule; he's been starring in a Broadway revival of "That Championship Season," and he could be starting another Fox series this fall ("Touch," produced by "Heroes" mentor Tim Kring) if the pilot is picked up. For the moment, the parties involved are looking toward a possible January start for production on the movie, and those parties may include veteran director Tony Scott ("Top Gun," "Crimson Tide").



Kiefer Sutherland

Q: What happened to "Men of a Certain Age," whose second season was halted after only six episodes? –John Black, Redmond, Wash.

A: That second season will be "de-halted" June 1, when TNT begins to wrap up that round of the Ray Romano-Scott Bakula-Andre Braugher comedy-drama series with the first of six new episodes.

Q: I read that "Damages" will no longer be on FX but is going to be on DirecTV. Is there any possibility that one of the cable networks will rerun the new "Damages"? –Linda Brickey, Fort Collins, Colo.

A: There's always a possibility; there's not just anything definite, at least not as of this writing. No deal had been made for a second run of the DirecTV episodes as was made with NBC for "Friday Night Lights."

However, it's likely that Sony Pictures Home Entertainment will release the latest episodes (which are coming this summer) in a DVD set, as has been done with past seasons of the show ... especially since, without the FX participation, the stories will be brand-new to many people on DVD.

Q: My wife and I are tremendous fans of "Breaking Bad." When is it coming back? –Elio Rivera, San Antonio

A: The wait shouldn't take much longer. New episodes have been filming since January, and when this column was written, AMC was saying "summer" for the start of their telecasts. In the meantime, if you want to see multiple Emmy-winning series star Bryan Cranston, he's in the current Matthew McConaughey-Ryan Phillippe movie "The Lincoln Lawyer."

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was French novelist, essayist and critic Marcel Proust who made the following sage observation: "There is nothing like desire for preventing the things one says from bearing any resemblance to what one has in one's mind."
• The city of Denver holds the distinction of being the first major metropolitan area to allow women to vote in elections, back in 1893.
• Connectivity may finally be going too far. Way too far. Beyond death, even. It seems that someone has now invented the solar-powered eTomb, a headstone that stores information from the deceased's social networking sites. Visitors to the grave can use a laptop or a smartphone to download photos, blog posts and even videos via a Bluetooth connection. • Famed screenwriter and director Woody Allen started his career in show business in the 1960s as a writer for the TV series "Candid Camera."
• In a traditional Moroccan wedding, the bride must be purified in a milk bath and have her hands and feet painted with henna before the ceremony.
• A man named Stephen Burns holds a rather odd world record: He managed to hitchhike through all of the contiguous 48 states in less time than anyone else -- 26 days and 6 hours. • You might be surprised to learn that the largest supplier of foreign oil to the United States isn't Saudi Arabia, Libya, Iraq or Kuwait. In fact, we buy more of our oil much closer to home: from Canada. • Between 70 percent and 80 percent of all the world's fresh water is frozen, stored in Arctic and Antarctic glaciers.
• Not all black bears are black; individuals in some populations around the world can be brown, white, cinnamon or even blue.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 19, 1897, John J. McDermott of New York won the first Boston Marathon with a time of 2:55:10. Fifteen runners started the race but only 10 made it to the finish line. The marathon's distance was changed in 1908 in accordance with Olympic standards to its current length of 26 miles, 385 yards.
• On April 21, 1918, in the skies over France, Manfred von Richthofen, the notorious German flying ace known as "The Red Baron," is killed by Allied fire when an Australian gunner shoots him through his chest. He was 25 years old. Von Richthofen had downed 80 enemy aircraft.
• On April 23, 1923, "Mambo King" Tito Puente is born in New York City. Bandleader and percussionist Puente helped popularize Latin dance music and jazz in America. During a career that spanned six decades, the dynamic showman recorded more than 100 albums and won five Grammy Awards.
• On April 22, 1937, John Joseph "Jack" Nicholson, who would become known as one of the greatest actors of his generation and famous for his role in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," is born in Neptune, N.J. In his first film, Nicholson played a troubled teenager in the low-budget 1958 horror flick, "The Cry-Baby Killer."
• On April 18, 1945, Pulitzer Prize-winning war correspondent Ernie Pyle is killed by Japanese machine-gun fire on Okinawa. Extremely popular, Pyle had been at the London Blitz of 1941 and saw action in North Africa, Italy, France and the Pacific. A monument to him exists to this day on Okinawa, describing Pyle simply as "a buddy."
• On April 24, 1976, the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the Washington Capitals, 3-2, in 139 minutes and 15 seconds of total game play, making it the fifth-longest match in the history of the National Hockey League. A regulation hockey game lasts 60 minutes.
• On April 20, 1980, the Castro regime announces that all Cubans wishing to emigrate to the U.S. are free to board boats at the port of Mariel, west of Havana, launching the Mariel Boatlift. The first of 125,000 Cuban refugees reached Florida the next day in about 1,700 boats.

Collecting
by Larry Cox

Q: In 1939, my parents visited London on their honeymoon. As a souvenir, they purchased a wonderful Royal Doulton teapot, the Sairey Gamp design. Do you have any idea of its value? -- Steve, Peterborough, N.H.
A: According to the Antique Trader Teapots Price Guide, edited by Kyle Husfloen, your teapot was designed by Charles Noke and is worth about $2,000.

Q: My mother bought two porcelain wall mounts in Dallas in 1937. I have been unable to find out anything about them. I even looked through the Kovel guides to see if I could locate the mark, but did not have any luck. -- Robert, Albuquerque, N.M.
A: When you are unable to find information about a collectible and you truly want to know more about it, including its value, it's time to consult an expert. Albuquerque has several excellent appraisers who might be able to help you. You should expect to pay a fee for their services. As I have written numerous times, a free appraisal is worth what you paid for it. Two established appraisers are Peter Eller, 505-268-7437; and Suzanne Staley, www.suzannestaley.com, and 888-758-1118. Others seeking appraisers in their area can use www.appraisers.org and www.appraisersassoc.org.

All those attending the senior trip will depart from the football field parking lot on Tuesday, April 26. Be there by 4 a.m. Remember that your suitcase must weigh less than 40 pounds. We will arrive in Orlando early that day. Be sure to have items that you need right away in your carry-on. Make sure the liquid items in your carry are less that 3.4 ounces each and adhere to the Transportation Security Administration's 3-1-1 rules. To review TSA policy for liquid items visit www.tsa.gov/311/.

SENIOR PDAS FOR 2011 YEARBOOK DUE

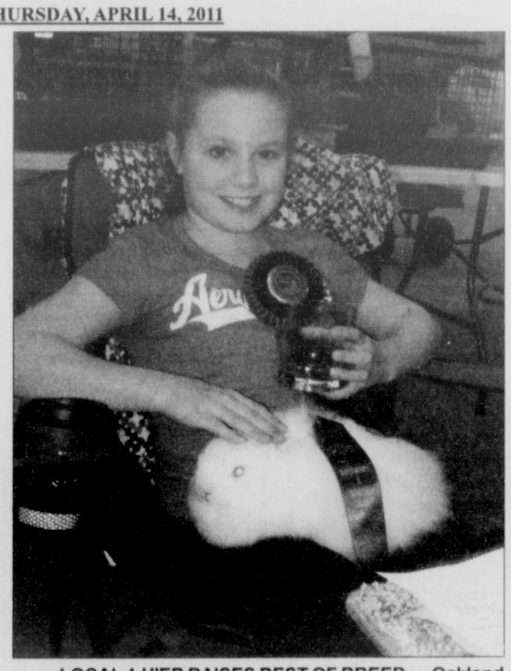
April 15 is the last day that parents can purchase and submit senior ads for this year's yearbook. Senior ad order forms and information were mailed home in February. Any parent who did not receive an order form may obtain one by contacting Maria Zumpano at the school or by downloading it from the school's web site.

ASVAB TESTING

The Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery test will be given to all juniors on Tuesday, April 19, in the cafeteria. The test will begin first period after announcements and will be over by the time lunch shifts start.

KATIE DEROSA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

For the Katie Derosa Memorial Scholarship, an award of $500 will be presented to an outstanding male and female senior cross country/track distance runner living in Allegany or Garrett counties, or Hampshire, Hardy or Mineral counties in W.Va. The student-athletes chosen to receive these scholarships must have participated in cross country or distance events in track for at least two years at the high school level and must have been accepted to a college or university at the time of application. The recipients must have a grade point average of at least 2.8 and plan to participate in either cross country or track at the collegiate level. Leadership qualities, creative experiences, financial need, letters of recommendation, and involvement in extracurricular and community activities will be considered. Applications must me submitted to the Guidance Office no later than Monday, April 25.



LOCAL 4-H'ER RAISES BEST OF BREED — Oakland native Lexi Trickett and her Jersey wooly doe, named Cream Puff, recently scored Best of Breed and Best of Breed Opposite in an American Rabbit Breeders Association sanctioned competition held in Howard County. The event featured 28 breeds and thousands of rabbits. Lexi also picked up several first place ribbons with other Jersey wooly rabbits along with ribbons for her Netherland dwarf, lionhead, and mini lop rabbits. Lexi is an intermediate member of the Oakland Oak Leaves 4-H Club. She is scheduled to do a rabbit demonstration at her club meeting tomorrow at 6 p.m. at the University of Maryland Extension Garrett County Office in Mtn. Lake Park. The demonstration is open to the public. For more information one may contact Pam at 301-616-1098.

JACK AND DOROTHY SMOUSE SCHOLARSHIP

The Jack and Dorothy Smouse Scholarship will award a $1,000 two Southern High School seniors who are on track to graduate. Those selected must be planning to pursue postsecondary education or training in a trade, preferably in a health-care related area. Priority will be given to students who are completing the Allied Health course requirements, but students planning to pursue any career in the health field are encouraged to apply. The application requires an essay describing financial need and including a statement about why he/she is deserving of the award. The essay should also describe school and community involvement, as well as volunteer and work experience. The application is due to the Guidance Office no later than Friday, April 29.

GARRETT COMMUNITY CONCERT BAND SCHOLARSHIP

The Garrett Community Concert Band will award a $500 scholarship to a high school senior who plans to attend an accredited college in the fall, who plans to continue participation in instrumental music, or who plans to pursue a degree in music. Auditions are not required. Students do not have to plan to pursue a degree in music. The deadline to apply is Saturday, April 30. One may visit the Guidance Office for further information.

SOUTHERN HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP

Through the Southern High School Alumni Association Scholarship, two SHS seniors will be awarded $4,000 in $1,000 increments over four years. A minimum grade point average of 2.5 must be maintained over the four-year period. Criteria for selection: financial need, a C average, plans to attend a 4-year institution, participation in school and community activities, academic and career goals, and a 250-word essay addressing the statement "What Southern High School means to me." The application is available in the Guidance Office and is due by Sunday, May 1.

MEGHAN ELIZABETH PRICE MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Meghan Elizabeth Price Memorial Scholarship will award $1000 to one senior with good academic standing plans to enroll in a 2- or 4-year college or university, and who shares similar characteristics shown by the scholarship's namesake. Those most like Meghan will be: a friend, classmate, peer, student, mentor, advocate, and leader. Meghan's activities included: student government, National Honor Society, band and music, drama, athletics, community service, and church membership. The application process involves a 250-word essay concerning one's vision on how to make the world a better place to live. Applications must be submitted to the Guidance Office by Wednesday, May 11.

Holy Week Services Set At Crellin United

Pastor Ed Calhoun and the congregation of Crellin United Brethren Church have announced services for Holy Week.

The Palm Sunday service will be held on April 17, beginning at 10:50 a.m., with special music and Holy Communion.

A Maundy Thursday service will be held on April 21, beginning at 7 p.m. The Good Friday service is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. on April 22.

There will be an Easter Sunrise service beginning at 6:30 a.m. on Easter morning, April 24. A special Easter Cantata titled The Remembrance of Christ's Death and His Resurrection will be presented on Easter Sunday beginning at 10:50 a.m.

Crellin United Brethren Church is located approximately 5 miles west of Oakland along Route 39. The public is invited to attend. Questions can be directed to the church at 301-334-1870.

Behold the King Set Easter Week At Cherry Glade

The original play Behold the King will be presented at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church near Accident during Easter weekend. There will be one showing each evening at 7 p.m. from Thursday, April 21, through Saturday, April 23, and one showing on Sunday, April 24, at 3 p.m.

The play was written by Esther S. Yoder of Grantsville. The drama uses only the words of scripture with nothing added, and depicts the time frame from Passion Week through the resurrection.

It was traditionally performed every other year, but was delayed for a year because of the construction of the new facility at Cherry Glade. This is the first year that the play will be presented in the new facility.

According to a spokesperson, the play will have entirely new staging, since some of the former items were destroyed in a fire and others needed to be rescaled for the larger auditorium.

Discretion is advised for young children, since the crucifixion scene is intense.

A total of 500 seats will be available for each show. There is no charge for tickets, but donations will be accepted at the door. Reservations should be made by calling 301-245-4223 or e-mailing cherrygladetickets@gmail.com.

"Behold the King is a vital component of the Cherry Glade mission to teach and preach the Gospel to all who will hear," said Pastor Barry Maust.

Monarch Migration To Be Featured At Garden Club Mtg.

CAROLINE BLIZZARD

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, on Tuesday, April 19, beginning at 10:30 a.m. After a short business meeting, Caroline Blizzard will present a program titled "Monarch Butterfly Migration: The Student–Teacher Connection."

Blizzard works as a park ranger and is the director of the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park. She is a graduate of Allegany College of Maryland and Frostburg State University.

She came to DCL State Park from Herrington Manor State Park and Swallow Falls State Park, where her interest in the monarch butterfly began. Upon transferring to the Discovery Center in 2004, Blizzard's interest grew, and with the guidance of Monarch Watch – a cooperative network of students, teachers, volunteers, and researchers dedicated to the study of the butterfly – she began a rearing and tagging program.

Since Blizzard's involvement with the Monarch Watch, the Discovery Center, volunteers, and 12 elementary schools in two counties and three states have tagged more than 5,000 monarch butterflies. She led a group of volunteers, teachers, and garden club members to Mexico this past February in an effort to further connect various classrooms with the monarch butterfly. Some monarchs migrate to certain sites in Mexico to spend the winter.

For more information about Mountain Laurel Garden Club meetings, persons may call Ginni Neff at 301-387-7387. Membership information is available by contacting Barbara Sanders at 304-789-6450.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc., the Central Atlantic Region, and the National Garden Clubs Inc. Affiliated clubs provide education, resources, and national networking opportunities for members, as well as promote gardening, floral design, and civic and environmental responsibility.

PAWS Receives Spay/Neuter Grant, Slates "Passion For Pets Challenge"

The Snyder Foundation for Animals, located in Baltimore, has awarded Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety Inc. (PAWS) a $3,000 grant to support its 2011–2012 spay–neuter program. Additional funding for the program will be garnered from the upcoming PAWS "Passion for Pets Challenge," the group's annual major event.

PAWS is a local non-profit organization that helps residents of Garrett County pay for spaying and neutering their pet dogs and cats.

"This is the seventh consecutive year that PAWS has applied successfully for a Snyder grant," said Kelli Sisler, PAWS grants director.

Her group will pay part of the costs of spay/neuter surgeries for pets of Garrett County residents who meet its eligibility guidelines ($25,000 or less annual income for single persons, $35,000 or less for families). Pet owners can qualify by completing a one-page application that can be obtained from the PAWS web site (www.garrettpaws.org) or by calling PAWS at 301-FUR-FACE (301-387-3223).

Approved applicants can take their pets to any veterinarian in the county. For most pets, PAWS will pay approximately two-thirds of the costs of the spay/neuter procedure. The HART low-cost spay/neuter clinic in McHenry also will spay and neuter PAWS-approved pets, in most cases for about $15.

Since it was started in 2001, PAWS has helped residents spay and neuter more than 1,000 dogs and cats, according to Tom Hertz, PAWS president.

"The Snyder grant is vital to the spay-neuter program, although it covers only a fraction of the organization's total annual expenses," he said.

PAWS also receives a small portion of its funds from the Maryland Charity Campaign for state employees. Most of its funding comes directly from individuals who donate through the mail or at PAWS fundraising events.

PAWS will kick off its 2011 Passion for Pets Challenge this Friday at Mooney's Pub, located at the Oakland Golf Club. This year's challenge is a competition between eight area restaurants to raise the most money for PAWS at special guest bartender nights.

Local businesses partner with the restaurants to provide guest bartenders and raffle items. All tips and donations at these events go to PAWS. DJ Jonny Rock will provide music and karaoke at several of the guest bartender nights. A schedule of the 2011 guest bartender nights appears in an ad in today's Republican.

PAWS TO KICK OFF "PASSION FOR PETS CHALLENGE" – Partners For Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS) will kick off its annual "Passion for Pets Challenge" this Friday, April 15, a Mooney's Pub in Oakland. The event will run through June 2, with eight local restaurants competing with guest bartender nights to raise the most money for the local nonprofit organization's spay and neuter program. The group recently received a $3,000 from the Snyder Foundation for the program. See story. Pictured is Susan Hertz with Teagan, Seamus, Charlotte, and Branndie at a PAWS event last year. Trinity United Sets Holy Week Plans

Trinity United Church of Christ invites the public to attend Holy Week services. The church is located at 1055 Twin Churches Road outside of Grantsville near New Germany State Park.

The Palm Sunday service will be held on Sunday, April 17, at 9:30 a.m.

Maundy Thursday services will be held on Thursday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. This service will be held at St. John's United Church of Christ in Salisbury, Pa.

The Good Friday service is planned for Friday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m.

On Easter Sunday, April 24, there will be a sunrise service at 6:15 a.m., followed by brunch.

Regular church services are currently being held at 9:30 on Sunday mornings.

Community Choir To Present Easter Cantata In F'ville

The Friendsville Community Choir will perform an Easter cantata titled Behold the Lamb on Sunday, April 24, at 11 a.m. at Friendsville United Methodist Church, located along Water Street. The public is invited.

This cantata, which follows each step of the Passion Week journey, was arranged and created by Russell Mauldin and Sue C. Smith.

Choir members include Iris Echelberger, Pauline Faucett, Leota Friend, Carolyn Receveur, Becky Sines, Hannah Sines, Carol Squires, Holly Wampler, Betty Wilburn, Hannah Fike, Sherry Fike, Carol Frazee, Lowell Echelberger, Bill Emory, Fred Fox, Sam Friend, Ronnie Reckner, Danny Sines, Kevin Sines, and Buddy Umbel.

Wampler, Umbel, Hannah Fike, and Sam Friend will present solos.

Cindy Frantz is the coordinator and director of the performance. Pastor Jonathan Smith will serve as narrator, with Gene Sines overseeing the sound system.

Accident Church To Host Special Services, Events

Pastor Kevin Staggs and his congregation invite the public to attend special services and events during the month of April at Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, Accident. The public is invited.

"On Palm Sunday evening, April 17, at 6 p.m. those who have accepted Jesus Christ as their lord and savior are invited to participate in the Lord's Supper, feet washing, and communion commemorating the Last Supper, and guests are also welcome to observe the service," said a church spokesperson.

Maundy Thursday and Good Friday services will be held on April 21 and 22, at 7 p.m. Evening messages will be delivered by Pastor Staggs and special music will be presented by the church choir.

An Easter sunrise service will be held on Sunday, April 24, at 7 a.m., followed by a breakfast sponsored by the men's group. A Sunday morning Bible study (Sunday school) will be held at 9:30 a.m., and the morning worship service is slated for 10:30 a.m.

In addition, the church will host a community dinner on Saturday, April 30, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. The menu will consist of roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, applesauce, rolls, cake, and beverages.

"The community is invited to share in both food and fellowship," said the spokesperson. "There is no charge for the dinner, but donations will be accepted."

Bear Creek Church is located just past Accident Elementary School at 1088 Brethren Church Road.

THE BUYER'S BLUEPRINT

Once you find a home you love and are ready to make the commitment, consider the Offer To Purchase as your blueprint for executing a successful transaction. Your real estate representative will present your offer to the seller's agent, and the ball will be rolling.

The most critical elements of your purchase agreement include your proposed offer price, what property will be included in the sale, inspection and financing contingencies, provisions for the disclosure and repair of any defects, requested seller concessions, your deposit or "earnest money" amount, and finally the expiry date of your offer.

Your real estate agent will draft this document with you, explaining all of your options and what will happen once the offer is presented. Once the seller reviews your purchase agreement, the seller may accept, reject or counter your offer. Any changes that the seller or the buyer makes to the agreement will be initialed, and the Offer To Purchase will not become binding until all parties have signed the document.

If you don't want to pay full price, but also don't want to risk rejection of a low offer, propose other terms that will reduce your bottom line, such as a quick closing or offering to buy "as is." Your agent will explain your options and help you present an offer that is most likely to be accepted.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Personal Interest Courses Slated At G'ville Center

A variety of personal interest courses will be offered through Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at its Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville next month.

They include "Rock Painting," "Cake Decorating III – Fondant and Tiered Cakes," "Slate Painting," "Advanced Genealogy," and "Elder Law: What You Need to Know: Meeting the Legal, Financial, and Social Challenges of Aging Clients."

Rock Painting will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, May 2, and is a class to teach participants how to successfully paint animals on rocks.

Students will learn how to choose the right rock for a project, the materials used, and the basic painting techniques to most accurately represent the shapes and the features of animals.

All materials, including the rocks, will be provided by the instructor, Judith Becker, an award-winning artist from Alpine Lake, Terra Alta, W.Va. She is an art teacher and practicing artist who is a member of the Garrett County Arts Council and the Watercolor Society of West Virginia.

She regularly exhibits and sells her art at regional art shows in Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, and conducts art workshops at Alpine Lake and for the Garrett County Arts Council.

Cake Decorating III – Fondant and Tiered Cakes is set for May 4, 11, 18, and 25 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center. The course will be led by Wilton instructor Bonnie Goebel.

Instruction will be given for creating flowers such as the Easter lily, poinsettia, petunia, and morning glory, plus instruction in creating Cornelli lace, brush embroidery, sotas, bead border, drop stringwork, and ruffle border, and how to cover a cake with rolled fondant, and construct a tiered cake.

Students will be practicing the first three weeks, and a cake is needed for the final session. A supply list is available upon registration.

Slate Painting – A Garden Slate on a Stake will be held on Tuesday, May 17, from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

In this hands-on course, students will explore the use of acrylic paint on slate. The theme will be creating a garden slate on a stake.

The instructor for this course will be Peggy Nixon, a local accomplished artist. She will provide demonstrations, examples, and one-on-one instruction.

At the completion of the course, students will take home a hand-painted slate ready for the garden. All materials for this course are provided, including slate, paints, brushes, and stake.

Advanced Genealogy is slated for Wednesdays, beginning May 18, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., and will continue for a total of six consecutive sessions.

This advanced course will provide information on family history/genealogy research. The training is designed especially for those who already know the basics of family history/genealogical research and wish to get more advanced training.

Students will be shown the difference between computer and book research.

The course is being taught by Hannah Gnegy, a native of Garrett County, who is the genealogy specialist for the Ruth Enlow Library.

Elder Law: What You Need to Know: Meeting the Legal, Financial, and Social Challenges of Aging Clients will be held on Mondays, May 9 and 16, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Elder law refers to legal considerations and planning associated with growing old, including issues arising from retirement, housing, loss of mental capacity, guardianship, long-term care planning, Medicaid eligibility, assisted living, nursing homes, and end-of-life decision making.

This course will cover all of these topics, and will also provide an overview of Social Security, SSI, and Medicare.

The instructor will be Carl Miltenberger, an elder law attorney with over 15 years 'experience.

In addition to the above-mentioned courses, coming in May to the center are the following computer courses: "Microsoft Word I, 2007 Version" and "Managing and Maintaining Your Computer."

For additional information, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director, by calling 301-895-4700 or e-mailing terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, persons may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development office at 301-387-3069.

BUSINESSES, ORGANIZATIONS SUPPORT LOCAL TROOP – Girl Scout Troop 55021, a cadette and senior troop in the northern end of Garrett County, has been busy selling Girl Scout cookies at local businesses, including Foodland Fresh, Hartman's Amoco, Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop, and Arrowhead Market, and at a Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad hall. "We would like to thank those businesses/organizations that helped by donating cookies and/or shipping money to the soldiers but were not listed in last week's photo caption," said Scout leader Debbie Carpenter. "They are the Friendsville office of the Garrett Medical Group, Grantsville American Legion Post 214, Grantsville Squadron 214 Sons of the American Legion, Grantsville Rotary, and Salisbury (Pa.) American Legion Auxiliary Unite 459." Pictured are Christine and Katie Carpenter staffing their troop's cookie booth at Arrowhead Market on a Friday evening.

Lakeside Assembly To Present Musical Drama On Easter

Lakeside Assembly of God will present Redeemed by the Blood of the Lamb, a musical drama, on Easter Sunday, April 24, at 10:30 a.m. and again at 6:30 p.m.

"This Easter story portrays God's special provision for mankind and the supreme sacrifice paid by His son for our redemption," said a spokesperson.

The drama will feature solos, duets and group specials, narration, and pageantry. The evening presentation will include special orchestra selections by Harold Hudnall and guests.

Under the pastorate of Dennis and Susan Caton, Lakeside Assembly is located along Rt. 219 north of Sand Flat Road.

Spotlight on Garrett County Non-Profits:

The Work They Do, The People They Serve

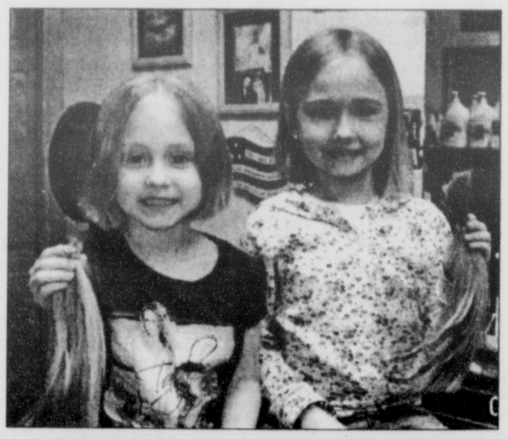
THE ANCHOR

This column, sponsored by the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, is one of a series of articles about local non-profit organizations. The purpose is to inform citizens about the services offered by the organizations, and to let them know about the volunteer opportunities available within these groups.

This week's feature:
The Anchor
www.theanchorusa.org
Sandy Robinson
827 First Avenue
Friendsville, Maryland 21531
pfibridgebuilders@msn.com

What is the Anchor?

The Anchor is a Christian ministry training and outreach center. The organization mentors young people, primarily high school juniors and seniors and college campus students, to have character and integrity, while encouraging them to excel into their destiny.



SISTERS DONATE 20 INCHES OF HAIR — Sisters Kayla and Natalie Bittinger (ages 6 and 4, respectively) recently donated 10 inches of hair each to Locks of Love. Locks of Love is a public non-profit organization that provides hairpieces to financially disadvantaged children who have lost their hair due to a medical condition. Kayla, pictured right, is a first grade student at Crellin Elementary School. The girls are the daughters of Jesse and Maria Bittinger.

The Anchor places importance on mentoring young people by building relationships through youth gatherings and marketplace opportunities.

To accomplish our goals it takes synergy, which means it takes two or more groups coming together to accomplish something that neither group could do alone. We are using our generation to mentor the next generation.

What are the Activities?

The Anchor is involved in servanthood evangelism in which young people provide services for organizations or individuals in need of a particular service. The group holds gatherings on the third Friday of each month.

Youth festivals are yearly events held for young people ages 11 through college age. These gatherings and festivals are a combination of music bands and speakers that encourage young people to live with a strong sense of purpose and integrity. The Anchor accepts invitations to hold youth festivals and youth gatherings from all over the nation.

The History

The Anchor started its first marketplace business, the Back Door Café, in October of 2010. The café is an opportunity for young people to learn marketplace, social, and culinary skills, and to earn community service hours.

The Back Door Café is located at 827 First Avenue, Friendsville, in the basement of the Anchor building. It is open on Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. There is a link to the Back Door Café on the Anchor's web site.

The organization is also involved with other nations and provides opportunities for young people to travel abroad, providing humanitarian assistance. Youth teams from the Anchor have traveled to Bulgaria and Guatemala to minister.

Volunteers Opportunities

Volunteering opportunities are primarily for young people ages 12 through college age, assisting with activities and volunteering at the Back Door Café.

Financial Focus

Are You an "Envirionmentally Consious" Invester

On April 22, millions of people around the world will celebrate the 41st anniversary of Earth Day. As a global citizen, you may wish to commemorate this event by thinking of ways you can help the environment, such as boosting your recycling efforts and cutting back on your energy consumption. But you can also contribute to a "greener" world through your investment activities.

Specifically, you can take action in two related areas: reducing your paperwork and consolidating your accounts. Let's take a look at both of these possibilities.

First, you can decrease your investment-related paperwork by taking advantage of all the paperless options offered to you by your financial services providers. For example, you may choose to receive online statements rather than paper ones. And when you make transactions, you may also be able to receive online confirmations.

Not only will online documents help save paper, but they can also help protect you from identity theft. The more paper statements, confirmations and similar items lying around, the greater the possibility of their being exposed to prying eyes. (In fact, if you do still receive paper documents, you may want to shred them when they're no longer needed.)

If you think you may need to produce this investment-related information, possibly to give to your tax advisor, you can most likely access and print the documents you need from your financial services provider's website. Most companies make this information readily accessible to their clients for months, or even years, after it has been generated.

Now, let's move to another environmentally conscious aspect of investing: consolidating your accounts. Start by listing all your financial assets, such as your bank accounts, investments, Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) and employer-sponsored retirement plans, such as a 401(k) if you work for a private employer, a 457(b) if you work for a state or local government, or a 403(b) if you work for a school or other tax-exempt organization. By consolidating as many of these accounts as possible with one financial services provider, you can significantly reduce the number of statements you receive and the paperwork you generate.

But paperwork reduction is only one benefit you'll receive from consolidating accounts. You might also be able to lower the amount of fees you pay. And even more importantly, by placing all your financial assets with one financial services provider, you will be better able to follow a single, unified investment strategy. If you work with one financial advisor, he or she will find it much easier to identify your strengths and weaknesses and help you allocate your investment dollars in a way that's appropriate for your retirement goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Earth Day happens only once a year. So take this opportunity to think about how you can do your part, through a few simple actions tied to your investments, to help improve the environment we all share.

TRUSTEE'S SALE
1232 Old Crellin Road
Oakland, Maryland 21550

Under and by virtue of the powers of sale contained in a Deed of Trust dated July 15, 2008, and recorded in Liber 1381, Folio 451 of the Garrett County Land Records, the undersigned Trustee will offer for sale at public auction at the front doors of the Garrett County Circuit Courthouse, located at 203 S. Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, on the property described as follows:

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 2011, AT 1:00 P.M.

ALL that certain tract, piece or parcel of lands consisting of approximately 24.19 acres +/- and premises situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, known as 1232 Old Crellin Road, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland and as more particularly described in the Deed of Trust. The property consists of approximately 20 wooded acres, 4 ponds, paved driveway, 2,946 sq. ft. dwelling, 2-car garage, several outbuildings and is located in a very desirable area in southern Garrett County.

TERMS OF SALE: The property and improvements will be sold in "as is" physical condition without warranty of any kind and subject to, all conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same. The purchaser is responsible for, and the property and the improvements described above are sold subject to any environmental matter or condition, whether latent or observable, that may exist at or affect or relate to the property and the improvements and to any governmental requirements affecting the same. A cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $5,000.00 shall be paid by the purchaser (except for the party secured by the Deed of Trust) at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash or by certified check at settlement (except that if the party secured by the Deed of Trust is the purchaser, a credit will be allowed for the indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust) which shall be ten (10) business days after final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, unless said period is extended for good cause shown, time being of the essence. If payment of the balance due does not take place within ten (10) business days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser or in any manner designated by the Trustee. Interest at the rate of 6% per annum shall be paid on the unpaid purchase money from the date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, and the property and improvements are purchased by someone other than the party secured by the Deed of Trust, then there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay. Taxes and water to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public and private charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, document preparation and title insurance shall be paid by purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. If Trustee is unable to convey good and marketable title, purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of that purchaser's deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, the sale shall be void and of no effect, and purchaser shall have no further claim against the Trustee or the party secured by the Deed of Trust. This sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan secured by the Deed of Trust, including, but not limited to, determining whether prior to sale a forbearance, repayment or other agreement was entered into of the loan was reinstated or paid off; in any such event this sale shall be null and void and purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of deposit without interest.

NOTE: The information contained herein was obtained from sources deemed to be reliable, but is offered for information purposes only. Prospective purchasers are urged to make their own inspection and inquiries of the property and improvements and relevant matters relating thereto.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION ACCEPTED FOR FILING, SOLICITING MOTIONS TO INTERVENE AND PROTESTS, READY FOR ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSIS, AND SOLICITING COMMENTS, RECOMMENDATIONS, PRELIMINARY TERMS AND CONDITIONS, AND PRELIMINARY FISHWAY PRESCRIPTIONS
(April 1, 2011)

Take notice that the following hydroelectric application has been filed with the Commission and is available for public inspection.

a. Type of Application: Original Major License

b. Project No.: 12715-003

c. Date filed: December 23, 2010

d. Applicant: Fairlawn Hydroelectric Company, LLC

e. Name of Project: Jennings Randolph Hydroelectric Project

f. Location: The proposed project would be located at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' (Corps) Jennings Randolph dam located on the North Branch Potomac River in Garrett County, Maryland and Mineral County, West Virginia. The project would occupy 5.0 acres of federal land managed by the Corps.

g. Filed Pursuant to: Federal Power Act, 16 USC 791 (a)-825(r)

h. Applicant Contact: Clifford Phillips, Fairlawn Hydroelectric Company, LLC, 150 North Miller Road, Suite 450 C, Fairlawn, OH 44333; Telephone (330) 869-8451

i. FERC Contact: Allyson Conner, (202) 502-6082 or allyson.conner@ferc.gov

j. Deadline for filing motions to intervene and protests, comments, recommendations, preliminary terms and conditions, and preliminary prescriptions: 60 days from the issuance date of this notice; reply comments are due 105 days from the issuance date of this notice.

Motions to intervene, protests, comments, recommendations, preliminary terms and conditions, and preliminary fishway prescriptions may be filed electronically via the Internet. See 18 CFR 385.2001(a)(1)(iii) and the instructions on the Commission's website http://www.ferc.gov/docs-filing/efiling.asp. Commenters can submit brief comments up to 6,000 characters, without prior registration, using the eComment system at http://www.ferc.gov/docs-filing/ecomment.asp. You must include your name and contact information at the end of your comments. For assistance, please contact FERC Online Support at FERCOnlineSupport@ferc.gov or toll free at 1-866-208-3676, or for TTY, (202) 502-8659. Although the Commission strongly encourages electronic filing, documents may also be paper-filed. To paper-file, mail an original and seven copies to: Kimberly D. Bose, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 888 First Street, NE, Washington, DC 20426.

The Commission's Rules of Practice require all intervenors filing documents with the Commission to serve a copy of that document on each person on the official service list for the project. Further, if an intervenor files comments or documents with the Commission relating to the merits of an issue that may affect the responsibilities of a particular resource agency, they must also serve a copy of the document on that resource agency.

k. This application has been accepted for filing and is now ready for environmental analysis.

l. The Project Description: The proposed Jennings Randolph Project would use the existing U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Jennings Randolph dam and reservoir and consist of the following proposed features: (1) a 10-foot-diameter, 530-foot-long underwater multi-level intake structure with 24 intake ports to be built on the upstream face of the dam; (2) a 10-foot-diameter, 1,400-foot-long lined tunnel through the dam; (3) a 10-foot-diameter , 1,100-foot-long penstock; (4) the penstock would bifurcate into 96-inch-diameter and 66-inch-diameter penstocks at the entrance to the powerhouse; (5) a powerhouse approximately 54 feet long, 54 feet wide, and 40 feet high that would contain two generating units with a total capacity of 14.0 megawatts; (6) a 40-foot-long tailrace; (7) a 0.74-mile-long, 25-kilovolt partially buried transmission line; (8) a substation; and (9) new compacted gravel access roads to be constructed to the powerhouse and along the transmission line to the project's substation. The proposed project would have an estimated average annual generation of 56,000 megawatt-hours and would discharge approximately 650 feet downstream of the Corps' existing discharge.

m. A copy of the application is available for review at the Commission in the Public Reference Room or may be viewed on the Commission's website at http://www.ferc.gov using the "eLibrary" link. Enter the docket number excluding the last three digits in the docket number field to access the document. For assistance, contact FERC Online Support. A copy is also available for inspection and reproduction at the address in item h above.

Register online at http://www.ferc.gov/docs-filing/esubscription.asp to be notified via email of new filings and issuances related to this or other pending projects. For assistance, contact FERC Online Support.

n. Anyone may submit comments, a protest, or a motion to intervene in accordance with the requirements of Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 CFR 385.210, .211, .214. In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests of other comments filed, but only those who file a motion to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules may become a party to the proceeding. Any comments, protests, or motions to intervene must be received on or before the specified comment date for the particular application.

All filings must (1) bear in all capital letters the title "PROTEST," "MOTION TO INTERVENE," "COMMENTS," "REPLY COMMENTS," "RECOMMENDATIONS," "PRELIMINARY TERMS AND CONDITIONS," or "PRELIMINARY FISHWAY PRESCRIPTIONS;" (2) set forth in the heading the name of the applicant and the project number of the application to which the filing responds; (3) furnish the name, address, and telephone number of the person protesting or intervening; and (4) otherwise comply with the requirements of 18 CFR 385.2001 through 385.2005. All comments, recommendations, terms and conditions or prescriptions must set forth their evidentiary basis and otherwise comply with the requirements of 18 CFR 4.34(b). Agencies may obtain copies of the application directly from the applicant. A copy of any protest or motion to intervene must be served upon each representative of the applicant specified in the particular application. A copy of all other filings in reference to this application must be accompanied by proof of service on all persons listed in the service list prepared by the Commission in this proceeding, in accordance with 18 CFR 4.34(b) and 385.2010.

o. Procedural Schedule:

The application will be processed according to the following revised Hydro Licensing Schedule. Revisions to the schedule may be made as appropriate.

MILESTONE	TARGET DATE
Filing of recommendations, preliminary terms and conditions, and preliminary fishway prescriptions	May 31, 2011
Commission issues Single EA	September 28, 2011
Comments on EA	October 28, 2011
Modified terms and conditions	December 27, 2011

p. Final amendments to the application must be filed with the Commission no later than 30 days from the issuance date of this notice.

q. A license applicant must file no later than 60 days following the date of issuance of the notice of acceptance and ready for environmental analysis provided for in 5.22: (1) a copy of the water quality certification; (2) a copy of the request for certification, including proof of the date on which the certifying agency received the request; or (3) evidence of waiver of water quality certification.

r. Any qualified applicant desiring to file a competing application must submit to the Commission, on or before the specified intervention deadline date, a competing development application, or a notice of intent to file such an application. Submission of a timely notice of intent allows an interested person to file the competing development application no later than 120 days after the specified intervention deadline date. Applications for preliminary permits will not be accepted in response to this notice.

A notice of intent must specify the exact name, business address, and telephone number of the prospective applicant, and must include an unequivocal statement of intent to submit a development application. A notice of intent must be served on the applicant(s) named in this public notice.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report for 2010
The Town of Oakland
PWSID # 0110008
April 2011

We're pleased to present to you this year's Annual Water Quality Report. This report is designed to inform you about the water quality and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water. The Oakland Water System obtains all of its raw water from two separate sources. Source #1 is the Youghiogheny River and it supplies water for the Bradley Lane Water Treatment Plant which is located off of Bradley Lane in Oakland. Source #2 is called Broadford Lake, which is located just off of Broadford Road and it supplies water for the Broadford Water Treatment Plant. Once the water is treated, it is pumped directly to the customer with excess capacity held in reserve at our 800,000 gallon water storage tank to meet daily needs. Water from both sources is blended together in this storage tank.

This report shows our water quality and what it means.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

If you have any questions concerning this report or your water utility, please contact Randy Sharpless at the Oakland Water Department at 301-334-3836 or Mayor M. Jamison at 301-334-2691. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland holds regularly scheduled meetings on the first Monday of the month at 7:00 PM in the Council Chambers, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland. Please call 301-334-2691 to schedule your topic on the agenda for discussion at any regularly scheduled meeting.

The Town of Oakland routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2010. As water travels over the land or underground, it can pick up substances or contaminants such as microbes, inorganic and organic chemicals, and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It's important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk.

In this table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Non-Detects (ND) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) or Nanograms per liter (nanograms/l) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal"(MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

TEST RESULTS

Contaminant	Violation Y/N	Level Detected	Unit Measurement	MCLG	MCL	Likely Source of Contamination
Microbiological Contaminants
Turbidity				N/A	TT	Soil runoff

HAA5 Haloacetic Acids (Distribution)	Y	86.79 (avg.)	ppb	0	60	By-product of drinking water chlorination

Additional test results for unregulated contaminants were as follows:

Unregulated Contaminants
Sodium			ppm	N/A	N/A	Erosion of Natural Deposits
Broadford Plant (avg.)	N	22.9
Bradley Lane Plant (avg)	N	14.3
Chloroform			ppb	N/A	N/A	By-product of drinking water chlorination

Bradley Lane Plant	N	77.5
Bromodichloromethane			ppb	N/A	N/A	By-product of drinking water chlorination
Broadford Plant	N	3.6
Bradley Lane Plant	N	2.5

Note: Test results are for year 2010 unless otherwise noted. Not all contaminants are required to be tested for annually.

TTHMs [Total Trihalomethanes]. Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous systems, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

HAA5s [Haloacetic Acids] Some people who drink water containing haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

Beginning in 2004 the MCL for total trihalomethanes (TTHM) was lowered to 80 ppb as a running annual average for systems of our size. Our system is required to do two (2) samples per quarter. These contaminants are formed by the reaction of our chlorine disinfectant with naturally occurring organic materials which are carried into our sources through runoff from rainfall. Our 2010 average exceeded this standard. As a result of this, our system was sent a violation notice by Maryland Department of the environment (MDE). The duration of the violation was from January 1 thru December 31, 2010. Quarterly averages during this calendar year were between 103 and 149 ppb. Potential adverse health effects are: Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous systems, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer. We are continuing to monitor our disinfection processes closely and making adjustments as necessary to minimize the formation of disinfection by-products. We continue monitoring on a quarterly basis for total organic carbon (TOC), which is a measure of the potential for disinfection by-products formation. Through the addition of an oxidizing material into our raw water flow prior to plant entry, we are continuing our efforts to lower TOC levels.

Our system also received a violation notice this past year for haloacetic acids (HAA5s). The MCL for this contaminant is 60 ppb based on a running annual average. Two (2) samples are required per quarter. These contaminants are formed by the reaction of our chlorine disinfectant with naturally occurring organic materials which are carried into our sources through runoff from rainfall. Quarterly averages for this contaminant during this calendar year were between 72 and 97 ppb. Potential health effects are: Some people who drink water containing haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer. Our efforts to lower this contaminant are as above thru lowering of TOC levels, which is the contributing factor for disinfection by-product formation.

During 2009 an engineering study was completed to recommend plant improvements to lower formation potential for DBPs (disinfection by-products). Based on this study, our system has requested bids for design engineering to address these recommendations. During 2010 a firm was selected and it is anticipated that construction work on plant upgrades will be started in 2011. The Town of Oakland continues to work closely with MDE to accomplish these improvements so that our system may return to full compliance. This includes pursuit of funding sources.

During 2009 we were required to do standard testing for TTHMs and HAA5s at 2 additional sites in our system to determine the highest potential levels for formation of disinfections by-products. This was required under a new rule called the Stage 2 Rule for Disinfection By-Products. These results are in the following table and they are currently unregulated. In CY 2013, 2 of these sites will become compliance monitoring sites replacing the currently used sites.

Sample Sites	TTHMs Results	HAA5s Results	Average TTHMs	Average HAA5s
Overlook Judy Ctr.	Range 35.6 to 308.0	Range 39.0 to 83.6	141.3	65.9
GC Health Dept.	Range 38.4 to 170.0	Range 41.1 to 100.0	98.5	65.0

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The Town of Oakland is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your drinking water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the EPA Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791 or at http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead.

NOTE: As can be seen by results listed in the above tables, lead, which is tested for triennial (every 3 years) in accordance with Federal and State regulations in Oakland's distribution system, was not detected in samples collected in 2008.

All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. These substances can be microbes, inorganic or organic chemicals and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

MCL's are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated contaminants, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.

Please call our office at 301-334-3836 if you have questions. 4/14

PUBLIC NOTICE
Residents of Mountain Lake Park

The Registration Books of the Town of Mountain Lake Park will close on Tuesday, May 10, 2011, and will remain closed until Tuesday, July 26, 2011.

Any resident of Mountain Lake Park 18 years of age or over who is a citizen of the United States and has resided within the corporate limits of the Town for 30 days preceding the Town election may register to vote in the Town election at the Mountain Lake Park Town Hall during regular office hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The last day to register to vote will be Tuesday, May 10, 2011.

The Town of Mountain Lake Park maintains a separate register of voters; however, if you have registered with the Garrett County Board of Elections after January 1, 1990, and are a resident of Mountain Lake Park, you are automatically qualified to vote in the municipal elections.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on Monday, May 2, 2011, at 7:30 PM at the Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to receive public comment regarding proposed Ordinance O2011-02 and O2011-03. The proposed ordinances have been introduced before the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland. A fair summary of the Ordinances follows:

Ordinance O2011-02, FISCAL YEAR 2012 BUDGET ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND SETTING FORTH THE GUIDELINES FOR THE PROPOSED BUDGET FOR THE UPCOMING FISCAL YEAR AND SETTING THE TAX RATE FOR THE UPCOMING YEAR. THE FOLLOWING SHOWS THE BALANCED PROJECTED SUBTOTALS FOR EACH INDIVIDUAL FUND:

GENERAL RECEIPTS/EXPENDITURES	$1,643,000
WATER/SEWER RECEIPTS/EXPENDITURES	$1,460,700
TOTAL RECEIPTS/EXPENDITURES	$3,103,700

The proposed budget keeps constant the real estate property tax rate at $.472 per $100 assessed valuation. It also keeps constant the Incorporated (Certification) tax bill rate at $1.20 per $100 assessment as well as the Unincorporated (personal property) tax bill rate. The water budget includes a uniform increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons water used, as ordained in a separate ordinance. The sewer budget includes an increase of $1.00 per 1,000 gallons of water used over the current sewer rate for metered customers and $11 per quarter per ERU for unmetered customers.

Ordinance O2011-03,
WATER/SEWER RATES, SERVICES, AND CHARGES

AN ORDINANCE of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland pertaining to the rates and fees for water and sewer services and charges. The proposed ordinance will increase the water rate of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold effective July 1, 2011 (FY 2012), an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2013 and an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2014. In addition, the proposed ordinance includes a uniform increase in the sewer rate of $1.00 per 1,000 gallons of water used or $11.00 per quarter per ERU for unmetered usage and an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2013 and an increase of $.20 per 1,000 gallons of water sold for FY 2014 along with a corresponding increase for unmetered users. The increases proposed are to cover the increased cost of operations, including the cost of new regulations and standards being implemented by Maryland Department of the Environment.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Asher Glade Church will be in charge of nursing home visitations this Sunday, April 17, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

A Palm Sunday service will be held this Sunday, April 17, at 7 p.m.

Love Feast and Communion will be held on Thursday, April 21, at 7 p.m.

Easter morning services will be held on Sunday, April 24, with a sunrise service set for 7 a.m. and breakfast following at 8 a.m. Sunday School will begin at 9 a.m.

The church is accepting lawn mowing bids until April 24. Bids can go to Randy McCarty, Rick Umbel, Andy Umbel, or Dale Evans Jr.

SEDER MEAL

A community Seder meal will be held on Maundy Thursday, April 21, at the Accident fire hall beginning at 7 p.m. This is the kind of meal celebrated by Christ called Passover, with this particular meal being the last meal Jesus had with his disciples before his crucifixion. Everyone is welcome to attend. Those attending are asked to RSVP by calling Christine Johnson at 301-746-8143 no later than April 15.

BEAR CREEK CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Bear Creek Church of the Brethren is hosting a community dinner on Saturday, April 30, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the church. The menu consists of roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, applesauce, rolls, cake, and beverages. Donations will be gratefully accepted. The church is located at 1088 Brethren Church Road just past the Accident Elementary School. The public is invited to attend.

SAND SPRING CHURCH OF GOD

Sand Spring Church of God will show The Passion of Christ on Good Friday, April 22, beginning at 6 p.m. at the church.

The Easter sunrise service will be held on Sunday, April 24, at 6:30 a.m., with Pastor Martin Stewart as the guest speaker. A light breakfast will follow the service. The public is invited to attend.

MOUNTAIN DALE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Mountain Dale Church of the Brethren, located off I-68 Exit 29 on Big Bear Lake Road, will hold Good Friday services on April 22 at 7 p.m., and the Easter Sunday sunrise service will be held at 6 a.m., with Sunday school to follow. For more information, persons should contact Pastor Lewis Beachy at 301-334-1839.

THE WISHING WELL
By Lucretia Sines

Mable Griffith is currently in the sub-acute unit at Garrett County Memorial Hospital because of a recent hip fracture.

THANK YOU

Edna and Ralph Sines would like to thank everyone for their cards and well wishes as they celebrated their 73rd wedding anniversary.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A memorial service will be held for Nancy Bradshaw High, daughter of Lucille Hinebaugh Bradshaw, on Saturday, April 30, at 3 p.m. at Sand Spring Church of God. Dana Umbel will officiate over the memorial, and interment will be held at the Sand Spring Cemetery.

EASTER EGG HUNT

The Friendsville Community Watch is hosting an Easter egg hunt this Saturday, April 16, beginning at 11 a.m. at the Friendsville Community Park. Prize baskets will be awarded in each age group. Age groups for collecting eggs are 0–3, 4–5, 6–7, and 8–12 years old. Those attending are asked to bring their own baskets for collecting. Pictures will also be available with the Easter Bunny for $1 each. An Easter basket raffle is being held for $1 per chance or six for $5. Those with questions should contact Glenda Lane at 301-746-4240 or Christy Thomas at 301-746-5842.

The Easter Bunny is asking for donations of baskets, stuffed bunnies, candy, or plastic eggs. Any support would be greatly appreciated. Donations can be made by contacting Glenda or Christy at the above numbers.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG TAKE-BACK DAY

The Nationwide Drug Take-Back Day is set for Saturday, April 30, at different locations around the nation. Northern Rescue Squad will be participating in the event by providing drop-off locations on that day at all three rescue squad stations. Drop-offs of expired or unused medications can be done at the Grantsville station from 10 a.m. to noon, at the McHenry station from 1 to 3 p.m. and at the Friendsville Station from 4 to 6 p.m. A member of the GC Sheriff's Office will be collecting medications at each station during those times.

Items accepted are over-the-counter or prescription medications, with no questions asked. No ID is required. Sharps will not be accepted. This event is to help protect family, community, and environment by properly disposing of the medications. It is sponsored by the Drug Enforcement Agency, with support from Garrett County Sheriff's Office, the Drug Free Communities Coalition, and the Garrett County Health Department.

CIRCLE OF FRIENDS PLANS OHIO TRIP

The Circle of Friends travel group has scheduled a 3-day trip to Ohio the week of June 24–26. Some of the highlights include a guided tour of the Amish countryside, with stops at Lehman's Hardware, Hershberger's Truck Patch & Bakery, Coblentz Chocolates, Care & Share Baskets, and the Guggisberg Cheese Factory. Also featured is a tour of Roscoe Village, an old restored port on the Erie and Ohio Canal, and a narrated ride on the Monticello canal boat.

The group will attend the Living Word Outdoor Drama, which portrays the life story of Jesus on a 400-ft. panorama stage. The trip will end with a guided safari tour through The Wilds, North America's largest wildlife conservation facility, viewing 25 species of Asian, African, and North American wildlife. The trip is open to the public.

For additional information on this trip or other Circle of Friends trips planned for this year, persons should contact Nancy Resh (evenings) at 301-895-5233.

LIBRARY NEWS

Friendsville Library's Spring Reading Club, One World Many Stories, will run through May 31. Children who read at least two books per week may add their first name and book title to the list posted on the bulletin board in the library to receive a free prize. The club is for children as old as fifth grade.

Small Game Hunting and 1001 Hunting Tips have been donated in memory of Tommy Ray Hinebaugh by the Beth Shaffer family.

The following new children's books have been donated by the Friendsville Library Quilters: Sick Day for Amos McPhee, Earth & I, Quiet Bunny's Many Colors, Little White Rabbit, One Earth and If I Were a Veterinarian.

LOCAL STUDENTS ATTEND STUDENT COUNCIL CONVENTION — Students from across the county recently attended the Maryland Association of Student Council's statewide convention. At the event, delegates from across the state gathered to attend workshops, hear keynote speakers, and vote on legislation, as well as state officers. Pictured are delegates from Northern High School, Southern High School, and Northern Middle School. In the front row, from left to right, are: Michelle Harman (NHS, GCASC advisor), Tiffany Warnick, Michaela Vitez, Sarah Holtschneider, Alex Miller, Sarah Harvey, and Stevee Royce. In the back row are: Lauren Francillon, Elizabeth Sines, Emily Huxford, Heather Vincent, Bryson Holler, Lindsay Crabtree, Davey Swift, Vicki Stevens, George Lander (NMS faculty member), Blake Harman, Cameron Newman, and Asa Archer.

Southern GOP Women To Meet

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club will meet on Wednesday, April 20, at 6:30 p.m. at the Diakon Adult Day Care Center, located along Pythian Avenue behind Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mountain Lake Park mayor Leo Martin is the scheduled guest speaker. The public is invited to hear his presentation.

Doors will open at 6 p.m., and light refreshments will be served.

New members are welcome to join the club.

Earth Friendly Crafts Help Forge A Love Of Nature, Recycling In Kids

(ARA) – Nature offers many beautiful gifts and wonders to explore, and parents can help get kids outside to discover them when they step away from the television or computer screen. Here are a few fun ways to encourage your children to explore nature.

A Growing Trend

As more Americans are discovering every year, gardening is a great way to enjoy nature. Kids will enjoy starting plants from seed or picking out starter plants at the nursery and watching them grow and develop. Even a small container garden on a balcony or patio can yield tomatoes for salsa, flowers for an entire season, or strawberries galore.

Cook up your favorite recipes with home grown ingredients and donate any excess produce to local food banks.

For the more adventurous gardener, help your kids plant a "vertical garden." In the style of famed French artist and botanist Patrick Blanc, grow your flowers and vegetables in a fun new way.

Try filling a canvas hanging shoe organizer with a light-weight potting mix and filling each pocket with one of your favorite plants. Have fun using tomatoes, bell peppers, marigolds, strawberries, vinca vines or impatiens. Poke a drainage hole in each pocket and hang the entire organizer on your back fence or balcony. Water daily, and in just a few weeks you will be enjoying your own living art piece.

Find a local community garden or gardening co-op and volunteer with your family to help with weeding, watering, planting, or harvesting.

Nature's Bounty

Yard waste? Not when you can re-use and repurpose. Find the beauty in what nature provides by creating new uses for things that would otherwise be considered waste.

Large sticks make great garden stakes for plants that need a little extra support, like tomatoes. Smaller sticks can be written on or carved into (by an adult) for an inexpensive way to label plants in the garden or pots.

How about using leaves for gift tags or place cards? Kids will love writing names on the leaves with a little paint and a fine-tipped brush or metallic pen. Then, simply punch a hole in one end and tie with a decorative piece of raffia or ribbon for a personalized touch to any gift or place setting.

Flowers from your pots or garden don't have to fade away – they can be easily dried for use in homemade potpourri, candles, or soap.

Give A Worm A Job

Many of us know that composting is a great way to reuse what Mother Nature has given us. Even a small compost bin will fill up quickly with kitchen scraps and yard waste. This waste can be used produce a nice compost mix for next year's garden – especially if you add some red worms to the compost bin.

Worms are nature's little composters. They make composting more fun, interesting and efficient by breaking down organic matter into nutrient-rich vermicast, allowing your family to compost kitchen scraps easily, and reduce the amount of garbage produced each year.

Red worms can be purchased inexpensively from many garden centers or online outlets. A small bin will require about 2 pounds

Five "Luxury" Bathroom Upgrades That Won't Cost You A Bundle

(ARA) – It's probably safe to say that no potential buyer ever passed on a house because the bathroom was just too lovely and luxurious. And few of us would prefer to come home at the end of the day to decompress in an outdated bathroom with a shabby shower and cabinets that have seen better days.

A beautiful bathroom can help potential buyers overlook other flaws in a home. And the bath is one room where homeowners can be confident their renovation dollars will yield not only improved home value, but enhanced enjoyment as well.

Fortunately, you don't have to spend lavishly to elevate the luxury quotient of your home's bathroom. Here are five "luxury" upgrades that can be done on a moderate – or even modest – budget:

1. Lighten up with a skylight

When it comes to creating a comfortable, energy-efficient ambiance in a room,

The Art Of Recycling

Recycling is a great way to reduce waste. It's likely you already have a recycling bin next to the garbage can. Chances are, however, that your kids do not see those recyclables as art – it is time to change their minds.

Reusing and recycling everyday objects not only reduces waste but, with a little imagination, can also provide hours of creative fun.

Make a bottle tree to enhance the garden or balcony. Since the invention of bottles, people have found ways to use them as decorations. Used as a way to explore the beauty of glass or ward off (or attract) spirits, bottle trees have been "planted" across the planet in various forms for thousands of years.

To build your own bottle tree, collect colorful glass bottles from your recycling bin or from friends, family, or even local restaurants. For a "tree" form, use steel re-bar, sturdy wire, wood, fallen limbs, or dying trees. Simply remove labels from bottles and wash out. Then, hang the bottles from your form – use your bottle tree purely as a decoration or as a nice support for vine-like plants such as morning glory or tomatoes.

Preserving Nature In Photos

A digital camera may not seem like a device to get your kids outside, but they can be acquired quite inexpensively and are a great tool with which to view nature and animals.

Go on walks in the yard, neighborhood, a local park, or zoo and click away. Zoom in or change the angle of the camera for new perspectives. By simply changing the way that we look at things like flowers, animals, trees, and even bugs, cameras provide an up-close and personal view of the world that you would not otherwise get to see.

Use your photos for great screen savers on the computer, make photo collages, or print them out for uniquely fantastic artworks to frame. Any way you use them, you will have preserved a little piece of nature and will have great memories for years to come.

Once you and your kids start exploring nature together, you will discover hours of fun for the entire family. Mother Nature may more to offer than you realized.

Going Green On Your Next Remodel? Add Tile To Your Green Product List

(ARA) – Are you planning an upcoming remodel for your home? Going green and using sustainable building materials continues to be a top trend in home improvement.

Remodeling green isn't just about using products with recycled content, it's also about using superior products that will stand the test of time and reduce energy costs.

You can choose from a number of options when remodeling green, including modern energy-efficient appliances and low-VOC paints. Traditional products can also be environmentally friendly. For example, many homeowners choosing to go green are selecting ceramic tile for a variety of reasons.

Going Green

Ceramic tile is inherently a sustainable product. It's a great choice because it lasts up to four times longer than carpet and wood flooring. It never needs to be refinished like wood floors do, contributing to a low lifecycle cost.

To clean, all you have to use is hot water which means no harsh chemicals are flushed into the ecosystem.

Tile also doesn't release fumes or fibers into the air like carpet can. Many people dislike carpet because it houses microbes and other germs, and dirt can become deeply embedded, requiring a costly cleaning by a professional. Tile eliminates these issues entirely.

Getting all the great eco-friendly qualities of tile doesn't mean a sacrifice of good design.

Tile of Spain manufacturers offer stunning options in any size, format, texture, color, and pattern. From modern, sleek designs to ornate, classic patterns, visit www.spaintiles.info to find tile that will perfectly suit your design personality.

Emerging technology has eliminated some of the concerns people tend to have when it comes to tile. Adding new tile used to be a daunting task. Tearing out old layers and disposing of them is messy and time-consuming.

New slim tiles are only 3 to 6 millimeters thick and thin enough to be applied over existing tile, offering a new look to walls and floors with less hassle, and saving construction waste from the landfill.

Tile no longer has to be cold. It's an ideal product to use in raised flooring and radiant heating. In fact, technological advances now allow for the tile to work in tandem with a home's HVAC system.

High-tech tiles adopt the temperature of the room and once past a certain temperature use nano energy storage cells to absorb thermal energy and then slowly release it back into the room. This technology alone can save the average home more than 16 percent in electricity bills.

Dry setting tile is now an option for home remodelers as well. Tile can be applied without mortar or grout, which means if you move, you can take the tile with you. Or you can change it in a few years without a lot of work.

If you don't like the appearance of grout lines and worry about keeping these areas clean, there are new options in large format tile which can lessen the number of joints.

Additionally, rectification of tile, a process where the edges of the tile are shaved off for perfect calibration, makes it possible to get a very tight "credit card" joint that allows a more seamless appearance.

If sustainability is a key consideration when remodeling, make sure the products you select are durable, easy to clean and are good for the health of your home and the environment. Ceramic tile helps you accomplish all of the above on your green check list.

Child's Décor Tastes Changing? You Can Keep Up On His Bedroom's Look

(ARA) – Decorating a child's room is a challenge filled with variables, not the least of which is just how long the room's inhabitant will actually like walls decorated with fuzzy bunnies or fire engines. In fact, the one thing you can count on is that what your child loved as a toddler is most likely not what she'll want for her room's theme when she's a "big kid."

While you want your child to be comfortable in his own space, you don't want to spend a mint if you know you're going to have to redo the room again in a few years. It makes sense to choose decorating options that are easy to change so that a room's decor can grow with your child.

Here are some hints for decorating touches that you can easily redo or reverse:

Take It To The Walls

The walls are the biggest design element in any room. Fortunately for parents, they're one of the easiest things to change. Painting is an easy, cost-effective way to completely change the look of a room. If your son is tired of baby blue walls, take a family trip to the local home improvement store and pick out a new color. Do try to encourage kids away from very dark colors, as those can be harder to cover up the next time you repaint.

Another option is a peel and stick mural. Products like SmartStick by MuralsYourWay.com allow you to decorate a room without risking the integrity of the walls. Perhaps your daughter is seeking a princess room or your son is hoping for a Disney wall to depict his favorite movie. You'll find plenty of Disney characters available in easy-to-install and easy-to-remove SmartStick. A patented adhesive allows you to easily place the material on nearly any surface (walls, windows, even doors), pull it down, reposition it, even move it to a different wall - all without damaging the mural or the wall beneath it. Unlike wall decals or wall stickers, the mural does not rip or wrinkle and can be reused hundreds of times.

The Material World

For bedrooms, linens can make a significant design statement. They're also a flexible, cost-effective way to change a room's look. Replacing the toddler-themed linens on your tween's bed with something more contemporary for her age group may allow you to keep the walls, carpeting, and furnishings as they are. Even if you invest in high-end sheets and a comforter, the overall cost of linens will be far less than the expense of completely redoing the room.

Curtains can work the same way. They're easy to change, and by replacing toddler-themed curtains with something more age appropriate, plus a decorative curtain rod, you can impart a classy, more grown-up atmosphere to a room for a modest investment.

For a bit more of an investment, consider reupholstering the gliding rocker that's still sitting in your daughter's room. The neutral tones or pastel colors might have been appropriate when you were rocking her to sleep as a baby, but she probably has more definitive color

Five Reasons Why Your Credit Is An Important Do-It-Yourself Tool

(ARA) – Handy tool belt, equipped with all the essentials? Check. A vision of what the end result will look like? Check. A sense of adventure and determination? Check. Sounds like you're ready to tackle your do-it-yourself project. Or are you? There's one more tool you need to have a handle on before you begin – your credit.

Whether your DIY project is constructing a kit car, building a shed, or replacing your kitchen counters, you should check your credit score before you get started, since it's likely you'll use credit or even a credit card to pay for your project materials and supplies.

Every time you use credit, it can affect your credit score, which in turn influences your ability to get more credit.

Consider these five reasons why your credit is the first tool you'll need to get your DIY project started:

1. When financing a home improvement project, credit makes sense for several reasons. First, because you're using the credit to pay for something that will, in theory, increase your home's value and your enjoyment of it; it's an investment with foreseeable returns.

Second, the cost of home improvement materials may be more than you are willing or able to pay out at one time. Credit allows you to manage the cost over a period of time that's comfortable for you.

2. If you'll be buying a lot of high-cost materials, the store you purchase from might offer you a store card with a seemingly enticing discount or reward for opening the account.

If you know your credit score before you buy, you'll be better able to assess if the store card's interest rate and incentive is really competitive with the credit terms you already have on existing cards or could get from a financial institution.

3. A good credit score can help you qualify for better interest rates and lower monthly payments on loans. But your credit score can change and if you don't check your credit report or monitor your credit, you might not know about changes right away.

Before you commit to what kind of credit you'll use for your DIY project, check your credit score. Websites like freecreditscore.com allow you to access your credit score when you enroll in credit monitoring.

Monitoring your credit allows you to see how changes in your credit report can affect your score. You'll also receive credit score alerts whenever your score changes.

4. Your credit could influence the scope of your project. When you check your score and find it higher than you expected, you may discover you can afford to expand the size of your project.

Or, if you find some unpleasant surprises, you may decide to scale back on your project – and refocus your efforts on improving your credit.

5. Hopefully, this will not be your last DIY project. But how you use credit to finance your current project could influence your ability to fund future projects.

Before you commit, look into a credit score estimator, which is available when you enroll in credit monitoring through freecreditscore.com. The estimator helps you understand how major financial decisions, like applying for loans or maxing out credit cards, may impact your credit score.

Do-it-yourself projects can enhance your home's value and your enjoyment of it. By understanding one of your most important DIY tools – your credit – you'll be better equipped to ensure your project delivers value, and not just cost, for years to come.

Tips To Make Your Current Residence Home Sweet Home

(ARA) – Are lower real estate values keeping you in your current home – even though you were hoping to upgrade? Or, maybe you can't bear the thought of boxing up all your belongings to move? You're not alone. More homeowners are staying in their current homes, but remodeling with the idea of improving their quality of life and adding more "live-in value," according to recent research from Consumer Reports.

No matter what your reason for staying put, rest assured; you don't have to move to get the home of your dreams – just make a few home improvements.

Ooh la la kitchen

Today's kitchens are no longer a place to simply cook and eat. Your kitchen is the "real" living room for living, working, and entertaining – and the ideal room to improve for added enjoyment.

One project to improve your home and "live-in value" is installing a multilevel kitchen island. Not only does this provide an extra work area, but also an informal place for entertaining guests. Central island cooktops and sinks are another option, keeping cooking and clean-up areas within easy reach.

Tying the overall look of the kitchen together will also help to make a style statement you can live with for years to come. Upgrading to stainless steel appliances is a common choice, especially with the latest technologies – such as built-in flat screen televisions or computers on refrigerators – all with a beautiful high-end finish.

Help Your Feathered Friends With Their Seasonal Travel Plans

(ARA) – The arrival of the first robin in your backyard is a sure sign of spring, one welcomed by virtually any birdwatcher who has weathered a cold winter. But did you know that you can help migratory birds such as robins as they travel one of nature's most amazing journeys?

The bird species and populations appearing in your neighborhood and at your backyard feeder may vary drastically from month to month depending on your region of the country.

It is easy to wonder where all your feathered friends go during the winter. Some bird species only travel a few miles, like down a mountain side, away from the peak. Others travel great distances – over thousands of miles.

The often-misunderstood travels of birds can be revealed by looking at one of the most interesting phenomena in the animal world: migration. Migration is the relocation of a population from one geographic location to another, recurring on a regular, seasonal basis.

Birds can use assistance to make their migration voyages more successful. They need access to food sources, not just during their long trips between staging areas, but before they leave on their journey and after they arrive in their new location.

Clean bird feeders full of a high quality bird seed like Scotts Songbird Selections Regional Blends, fresh water, and native plants can be beneficial to the weary winged traveler.

Although many fish, mammals, and insects migrate throughout the course of a year, birds are by far the most mobile animals on earth. Due in part to their incredible adaptations and the ability to fly, migration allows birds to access distant food resources, avoid the stressors of cold weather and seek out environments more conducive to breeding, nesting, and raising young.

Ornithologists believe birds are triggered to migrate by external factors such as the number of daylight hours, temperature, or amount of rainfall. The marvelous process of migration can take birds on trips at speeds of 18 to 25 mph for songbirds and faster for stronger flyers such as ducks and hawks.

Some birds fly at night to avoid predators and some, like the Arctic tern, travel a route so long each year that it equals more than 22,000 miles round trip.

In North America, the majority of migratory birds travel four major flyways or paths: the Pacific, Central, Mississippi, and Atlantic flyways.

Fall is the time when many northern bird populations begin to relocate and head farther south in search of food sources and warmer weather.

In the spring, those same birds will return north to breed, nest and raise young. En route, many birds will need to stop for rest and snacks to refuel their tiny bodies for the remaining leg of the journey.

In response, nature has developed "staging areas" at many locations along these intercontinental routes. Large, open areas with ample food supplies may attract big groups of the same species year after year and can become known to bird watchers, photographers, and ornithologists alike.

Predators also take note of these popular stops and take full advantage.

Although birds are uniquely adapted to the incredible trials of migration, it can still take a toll on even the most durable of birds. Up such as collisions with tall buildings and cars, can take the lives of many of the migrants enroute.

Helping Birds

"Feeding birds year-round is really important," says John Robinson, chief ornithologist for Scotts. "For example, in the winter, food may be difficult to find in northern climates. At other times of the year (and even in southern climates) birds need to have access to healthy food sources and water to aid in the laying of eggs, feather development, raising of young, or to help selected species prepare for the long flights of migration."

Planting trees near windows or installing window awnings can reduce reflections and lessen the danger of collision.

In addition, simply placing your bird feeders within a few feet of a window helps to slow birds down and lowers the chances of an accident.

So, the next time you happen to look to the sky just as a large flock of songbirds flies overhead, you don't have to wonder where they're going or where they've been. Just fill up your bird feeder and hope you can help them on their long journey home.

YOUR YARD, GARDEN, AND PET PLACE™

Ground Cover: A Creeping Cure For Ugly Bare Spots And Landscaping Challenges

(ARA) – Nearly every lawn or garden has one – a bare, ugly spot where nothing seems to grow well. Maybe the spot gets too much sun, or too much shade. Perhaps the soil is too sandy, rocky or full of clay for most plants to survive in it. Maybe it's on a hill or slope where exposure to wind and water runoff make it uninhabitable for average plant life.

Whichever one (or more) of these challenges is the source of your problem spot, chances are the cure is pretty universal: Cover it up – quickly, inexpensively, and permanently – with flowering or lush, green ground cover.

Hardy, easy to grow and aesthetically appealing ground cover fills vacant spaces, solves landscaping trouble spots and minimizes garden maintenance. Ground cover can transform a dull, sparse space into a rich tapestry of textures, shapes, and continual color.

These plants can spruce up challenging spots under trees, accent transitional areas along paths and foundations, and intensify interest in open spaces. Plus, they deliver a stunning seasonal show of flowers and colors.

Ground cover is a cost-effective, fast way to deal with difficult trouble spots. It performs the job of mulch at a fraction of the cost, blocking weed growth, insulating soil, protecting more fragile plants, and adding visual appeal.

Some ground covers even bolster nutrients for companion plants with more demanding nutritional needs.

Spring is the best time to plant ground covers, giving roots a chance to become established before conditions turn harsh. But before you decide on which varieties of these landscaping miracle-makers you'll plant, here are some ground cover guidelines:

* Don't just plant the first ground cover that catches your eye. First, take stock of your problem area so you can select a ground cover that is appropriate for the spot. Some ground covers need sun, while others thrive only in shade. Some prefer dry locations. Others require moist soil.

* Assess the soil at the site. Is it sandy and dry? A lovely loam? Or wet, soggy clay? There's a ground cover for every soil condition, but you'll also need to test the acidity level of the soil. You may need to amend your soil to raise or lower its pH content, or add organic matter to modify its texture.

* Hardy as they are, ground covers still require proper fertilizing, watering, and weed control to maintain their attractiveness – just like any other plant. Newly planted areas will need special attention until they're well established.

* Seed is the least expensive way to start ground cover. And planting ground cover seeds is some of the easiest sowing you'll ever do in your yard or garden.

Ground cover seeds are typically much smaller and lighter than other plant seeds; often you'll get as many as 175,000 seeds in just 1 ounce. One way to make sowing even easier is to use a premix of seeds and lime, like

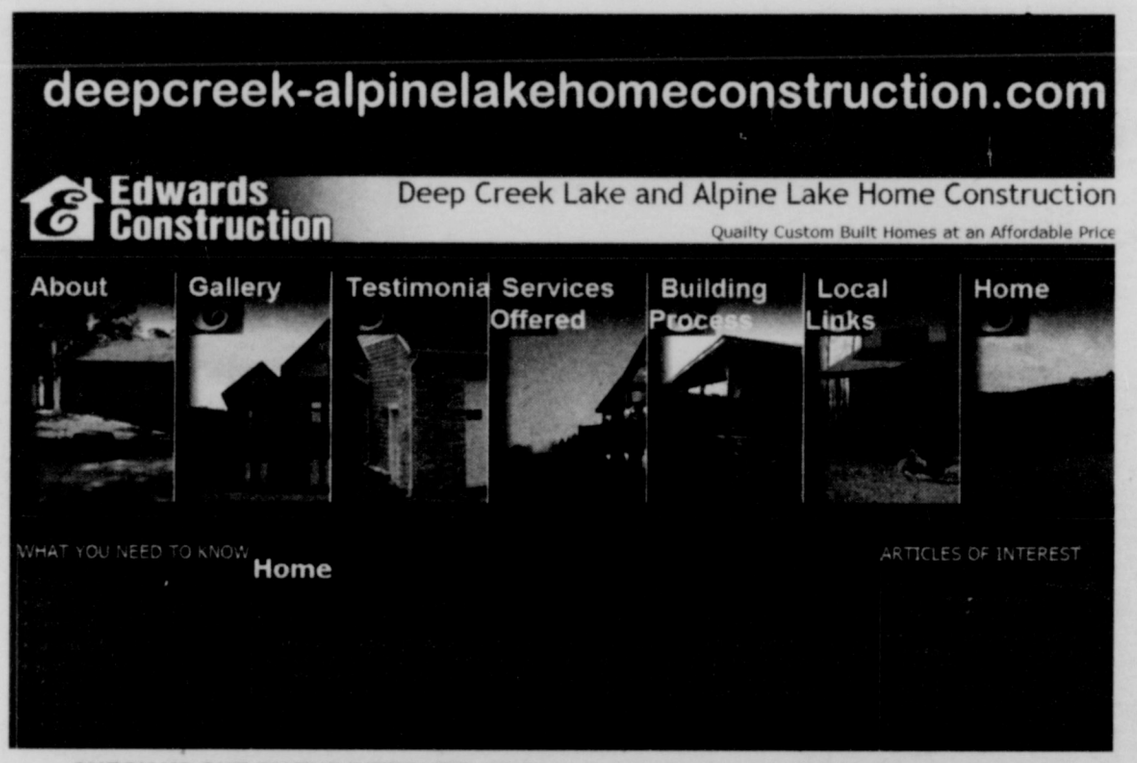
Fashionable faucets

Just think of how much time you spend at the sink, from rinsing fruits and vegetables to filling pots and washing hands and dishes. So why not update this kitchen focal point with a new functional and fashionable faucet?

High-arc models with pull-out spouts are the most ideal since they allow ample room to fill or clean large pots and pans. Models with multifunction sprays are helpful when washing delicate fruits.

Once you've found a model with these useful features, don't forget about style. Designer finishes, such as stainless steel, will give your kitchen a professional look. And, for a designer look that maintains the beauty and brilliance of the faucet's finish in between cleanings, try Moen's Renzo pullout kitchen faucet with Spot Resist Stainless finish. This unique finish does just what it says – resists fingerprints and water spots. Moen's Renzo kitchen faucet is available at Lowe's.



CHECK US OUT ON THE INTERNET – Visit www.deepcreek-alpinelakehomeconstruction.com and allow Edwards Construction to give you details on each step of new home construction. In addition to photo galleries, you will also find information on other services we are able to provide to you, including additions and remodeling, masonry and concrete work, pole buildings and excavation. Information is also available by calling 301-616-6465.

Storage space explosion

No matter the square footage of your home, accumulating belongings over the years contributes to a lack of storage space. Try to solve this issue by first purging items that you haven't used within the past six months.

Next, you can organize your necessities with a variety of storage systems – from drawer organizers to storage bins. And, if it seems like a task that you can't handle on your own, hire a company that specializes in organization, such as Closet World, to create a custom-designed solution.

Spa-tacular and sensible baths

Today's baths have evolved from a task-oriented room to become a private spa. Luckily it's simple to turn your bath into a private sanctuary.

To start, update your current showerhead with a more luxurious and functional design. If you prefer a powerful, full-body spray, perhaps you'd like a rainshower showerhead.

Or, if you like options, try a multi-function version that allows you to switch from a relaxing wide spray to an invigorating concentrated spray – or somewhere in the middle. You can find a variety of designs and finishes at your local home improvement store, such as Lowe's.

And, as in the kitchen, the faucet is a focal point in the small space. Update your current faucet with a new designer style and finish, and with water-saving benefits. Faucets account for approximately 15 percent of indoor household water use – more than 1 trillion gallons across the U.S. each year – so once you've found the perfect look, be sure that you choose one that is certified to meet WaterSense criteria.

With these few home improvements you can start recouping your "live-in value" and make your current residence a home sweet home.

Roller Or Brush? The Applicator Matters For Your DIY Painting Project

(ARA) – In today's tight economy, freshening outdated home interiors can seem like a daunting, budget-breaking task. The good news is that you don't have to spend a lot to remove eyesores such as unattractive paneling, too-dark cabinets, or that not-so-charming "retro" fireplace mantel and surround.

Instead of living with these design disasters from another era, there's an easy and inexpensive fix – paint. Quality interior coatings, applied with the proper applicators, can go a long way in giving those design debacles a quick and easy facelift for hundreds of dollars less than a full-scale renovation.

But before you start your paint project, it's important to know the key to success is selecting not only a quality coating, but applying it with a quality painting applicator. If an inferior applicator is used, even the most outstanding paint may not provide the smooth finish you desire. Using superior applicators can streamline a variety of interior painting projects, saving you time and money, and ultimately helping you achieve a fabulous end result.

"Paint has long been considered one of the great budget boosters for decorating projects," says Andrew Marsden, product manager for Purdy applicators. "When you combine a first-rate paint with a quality painting applicator, you can transform a variety of surfaces – from outdated cabinetry to knotty pine paneling – giving any room in the house a fresh look."

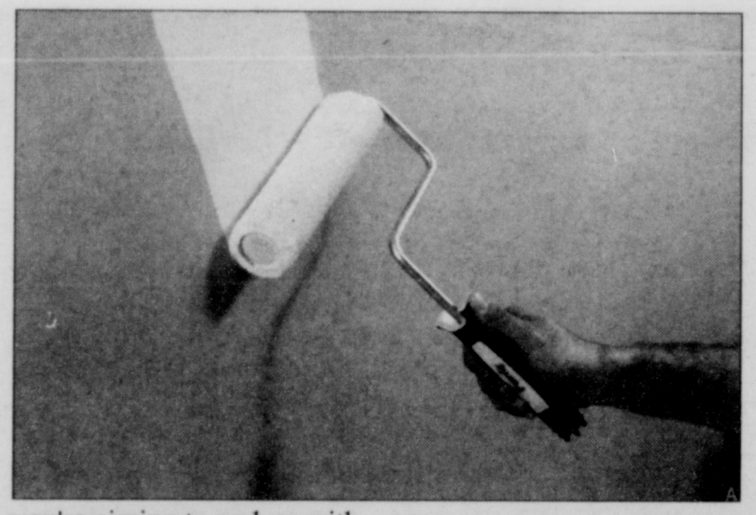
When to use a mini roller

Premium applicators come in a number of shapes and sizes; however, one of today's most popular choices is the mini roller. Purdy has a variety of innovative mini roller choices that are versatile, lightweight, can quickly and easily deliver a perfect finish with smooth rolling action, and have the ability to reach tight spaces.

These combined features make them the ideal applicator for an endless number of projects, from painting walls, doors, and cabinets, to freshening up tables, chairs, and even bedroom furniture.

When to use a brush

Even with all the advantages the mini roller offers, a paintbrush is still the hero for most projects, especially when trim work is needed. A quality brush is a must when you're aiming to end up with a professional-looking appearance.



Most consumers might not know it's also important to use a brush that's the appropriate size for your painting project. So, be certain to keep these tips in mind:

* Use 1- and 2-inch brushes for trim work, touch-ups, and smaller projects such as window frames and moldings. Angular 1- and 2-inch brushes are great for painting around windows.

* Choose brushes measuring 2½ and 3 inches for medium-size surfaces such as cabinets, baseboards, doors, or steps.

those offered by Outsidepride.com. The mix comes in a shaker bottle and you simply sprinkle the seeds on the planting site.

The lime in the mix improves the pH of acidic soils, adds valuable micronutrients and helps break down organic matter. The lime is also white, so it's easy to tell where you've spread the seed.

You can find a ground cover for virtually every soil situation – and to suit every landscaping preference. Outsidepride.com offers more than 50 different types of ground cover seed, from the luminous lavender and red of Magic Carpet creeping thyme and the baby blue of forget-me-not to the gorgeous greens of Irish moss and Kenilworth ivy.

Best-sellers like creeping thyme offer homeowners a vibrant, versatile way to solve problems and accent their landscaping. Creeping thyme is a favorite for its tolerance of dry soil, low maintenance needs, and ability to self-seed

The Best Home Improvements For Your Renovation Dollars

(ARA) – Homeowners renovate for two basic reasons: money and fun. Or, more precisely, they undertake home improvements to improve their home's resale value or their enjoyment of their house. The best home improvements, however, are ones that deliver on both objectives.

Americans will spend nearly $141 billion on remodeling in the first half of this year, according to Harvard's Joint Center for Housing Studies. If you'll be among the many homeowners opting to improve, rather than move, you may be wondering what renovations are likely to give you the best balance of enhanced resale value and immediate enjoyment.

Here are five home improvements – from budget-friendly to big budget – that provide noteworthy return on investment (ROI) in terms of increased value and improved enjoyment:

1. Skylights

You can lower your electric bill by installing skylights that will reduce dependency on artificial light and fill your home with natural light. You can obtain quality, energy-efficient,"No Leak Skylights" from Velux for around $800 per unit for a standard fixed skylight with flashing kit. You can find a local installer to provide a customized cost season after season.

To get ground covers started off on the right foot, plant them in spring so they have a chance to root well. Before long, your barren, weedy trouble spots will be gone, covered by wondrous waves of flowers and foliage.

In terms of positive energy, the mental and physical health effects of exposure to natural light are well documented.

They're also an effective privacy preserver for bathrooms where you might not want a wall window. Skylight and sun tunnels (skylights that use reflective tubes to bring sunlight into rooms without direct roof access) not only enhance the energy efficiency of your home, they just may make you feel better about living there.

2. Decks

Whether you go for wood or composite, adding a deck is a great way to boost resale value, expand your living space and up your enjoyment of your home environment. On average, homeowners who add a wood deck can expect to recoup more than 80 percent of its cost when it comes time to sell, according to Remodeling Magazine's 2009 -2010 Cost vs. Value Report. Composite deck additions return about 71 percent at the time of resale.

would be a popular remodel – and one that pays off big in terms of value and comfort.

Even a minor kitchen remodel – costing about $21,000 – will return about 78 percent of its value on resale, according to Remodeling Magazine.

A major kitchen job, costing around $57,200, will recoup about $41,200, or 72 percent.

4. Baths

Americans view their baths as far more than a place to get clean and take care of other necessities. Even if you're not creating a home spa, improving the bathroom is sure to boost your home's resale value and increase your satisfaction with the room.

Remodeling Magazine says the average bathroom remodel costs around $16,100 and returns up to 71 percent of that cost at the time of sale.

5. Basement/attic remodel

With more families staying put in the homes they have, rather than moving up to larger homes, many Americans are looking for ways to expand their living space while staying in place. Attic and basement remodels are great ways to add usable, livable space at a fraction of the cost of building an addition.

The lingering effects of the Great Recession have multiple generations living together under one roof again, and many of these families create bedrooms, bathrooms, or even family rooms in unfinished attic or basement space.

Everyone appreciates the extra room, and attic renovations and basement remodeling yield resale returns of 83 percent and 75 percent.

* Paint larger surfaces, like walls, ceilings, and floors, with brushes ranging in size from 3½ inches to 6 inches.

"Whether you're using a brush or mini roller, the right applicator can make or break any painting project," Marsden says. "By paying as much attention to the size and quality of applicator used, in addition to the paint, you're guaranteed to end up with a fantastic finished project that you'll be able to admire and enjoy for years to come."

Get Smart About Your Living Environment: Trends To Make Your Home Truly Your Own

(ARA) – If you're looking to purchase or remodel a home, you likely are building a long list of "must-haves," "must-dos," and "must-includes" for your new space. There's no question the housing market is in a different place than it was as recently as five years ago.

Of course, a tough economy has been the prevailing factor, but other things – an aging population and a tough job market – are influencing how people are living today and possibly into the future.

If you're like most home seekers and remodelers, you may find that your requirements fall in line with these five growing trends:

Bigger isn't always better: As interest grows in living more efficiently, people are building smaller homes. In fact, new homes are now 7 percent smaller than they were the previous year, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

Just my style: Homeowners are aiming to make their home fit their personal visions of the best investment on the dollar, and 20 percent of new homes are currently custom-built, according to the American Institute of Architects.

This trend to customize is in part made possible by the parallel trend to build a smaller home. Smaller spaces free up dollars to put toward the products that fill it. Color, décor, and products that help make a home feel one-of-a-kind versus one-of-many are becoming king.

Multigenerational: Homeowners also are seeking spaces that accommodate residents of all ages. One-third of baby boomers report they have adult children still living at home or likely moving back home at some point, and 8 percent of Americans report their parents already live with them or will in the future, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

With more people living under one roof – some possibly in diminishing health – you may be among the homeowners seeking products that will help ensure a healthier, cleaner environment.

This may range from a programmable thermostat to help you bring comfortable temps to all ages, to an air filter to help keep germs and airborne particles at bay.

In for the long haul: As life expectancy increases, Americans are building homes that will allow them to "age in place." Smart technology and system installations that will address future sight, hearing, and dexterity-related limitations are becoming increasingly popular as a result.

Energy-efficient: As homeowner concerns about energy costs continue to mount, so too does their attention to home design and products that will help lower their energy bills and decrease their carbon footprint. As a result, homeowners are showing increased attention to factors such as insulation and window quality.

In the end, there are many products and services on the market to help meet these homeowner needs, but there's one you may have not considered, tucked away in your basement. It's your home heating, ventilation, and cooling (HVAC) system, and it actually plays a role in meeting each of these growing homeowner trends.

*If it's a smaller home you seek, HVAC manufacturers such as Trane continue to roll out product solutions that offer you the size you need to fit your space.

*Heating and cooling alone accounts for half of the energy used in a home, according the Alliance to Save Energy, so it's important to install an HVAC system that will deliver optimal performance.

A product such as the Trane XC95m furnace is among the most energy efficient on the market, and is equipped with technology that allows it to communicate with all other components of a heating and cooling system.

*If smart technology and a customized home experience are what you need, consider remote home energy management systems. With a solution like Schlage LiNK, a remote access solution that provides home control from a cell phone or any computer with Internet access, you can adjust your home's thermostat, even when you are not there.

* Your heating and cooling system can also help keep your home a clean and healthy environment for all ages. Many manufacturers offer whole-house air filtration systems, and some of these systems can filter up to 99.98 percent of particles and allergens from your home's air.

If any of these home trends apply to the "must have" list for your new or remodeled home, your heating and cooling system might be a good place to begin in your planning.

Visit www.trane.com to get started. With the right HVAC system, you'll be on your way to creating your picture-perfect home environment, however small, unique, diverse, long-lasting, or energy-efficient you need it to be.

Mowing Tips To Keep A Lawn Looking Great

(ARA) - Every homeowner dreams of that perfect lawn, but the fact is maintaining a green and lush carpet of grass takes some work. One of the easiest ways to keep up the appearance of your lawn is to mow it in a way that promotes optimal lawn health.

In fact, mowing frequently is one of the best ways to maintain the health of your lawn, according to the U.S. Natural Resources Conservation Service. Ideally, you should own a mower that allows you to mow frequently and efficiently.

If you have a smaller yard, a walking mower may do the trick, especially if you can get the job done in a half hour or less. If you measure your lawn in acres, as opposed to square feet, a riding mower is probably more appropriate. But most people have a lawn that fits somewhere in between; in which case, there's another option.

Cross mowers are smaller riding mowers that are designed for yards up to one acre. With a compact design, these mowers offer increased maneuverability, as well as easy storage.

Whether now is the time to right-size your mower or not, here are some other mowing tips to keep your lawn looking good all year:

• Keep your blade sharp. A dull blade can damage your grass, hampering healthy and even growth. Mower blades should typically be sharpened once at the beginning of spring and once in the summer. Examining your grass after you mow can help determine whether your blade is producing a clean and even cut.

• Spread clippings evenly throughout your yard. Grass clippings are your best form of fertilizer – and they're free. Throughout the year, your clippings will provide the equivalent of one or two applications of fertilizer, according to the Natural Resources Conservation Service.

If your mower discharges clippings to the side, mow the outer edge so clippings are thrown toward the middle of your yard, and as you move toward the center, change your direction so they are thrown outward. Sweeping any clippings that ended up on your driveway or sidewalks back onto the lawn both promotes the health of your lawn and prevents them from entering local waterways. Grass clippings can contribute to toxic levels of phosphorus in lakes and rivers.

• Don't mow in the same direction every time. Mowing in different directions will prevent your grass from becoming matted down and instead keep it growing up-it's hard to beat Mother Nature. Natural light helps reduce dependency on artificial light sources and the electricity they consume, and can have a positive effect on mood and overall health.

You may hesitate to add a large, clear window to a bathroom, but skylights are a great way to add the luxuriousness of natural light without compromising on privacy. Choose a venting style, which can also be a cost-effective way to help vent humidity, steam, and odors from a bathroom.

New models, like Velux America's No Leak Skylight, eliminate leak worries; when properly installed, Velux skylights are no more prone to leaks than any other quality window. Visit www.veluxusa.com to learn more.

2. Shower yourself with luxury

Ripping out that old ceramic tile and replacing it with the trendiest stone may not be in your budget, or your shower's future, but swapping out a standard showerhead with something more luxurious probably is.

It's easy to find a variety of showerheads – from rainfall and massaging, to hand-held or dual-head and multi-jet – that will elevate your daily washing routine to a spa-quality experience.

What's more, a new showerhead is one of the easiest bathroom renovations to do yourself, even if you have no previous DIY experience.

3. Accessorize, accessorize

Who doesn't love warm, plush bath towels? Or foot-soothing rugs that protect tootsies from cold floors? It makes sense not to skimp when it comes to choosing towels, area rugs and other accessories for your bath.

Even top-quality accessories cost less than major renovations, and they can go a long way toward making your bathroom feel polished, put-together and posh.

From good bath linens to a towel-warmer that can make them feel extra cozy, accessories are an economical, effective way to add luxurious touches to your bathroom.

4. Upscale downstairs

Think your downstairs powder room or first-floor master bath can't soak up some sun? Think again. To bring natural light and preferences now. Rather than discarding or selling the chair, why not add some bold patterned pillows and turn it into a welcoming yet sophisticated-looking spot where she can read or chat on the phone in comfort?

Art and Accessories

Table lamps, floor lamps, wall hangings — even decorative faceplates for light switches — accessories can help remake a room's image without breaking the bank. If your child is old enough to have voiced his desire for a new room design, he's probably capable of telling you his preferences in terms of accessories and artwork.

Talk to your child about his vision for his room. Maybe he'd like to replace the fire engine theme with an homage to his favorite sports team. It's easy to find a range of accessories, from waste baskets to bed sheets, that will appeal to lovers of virtually any sport. Whatever the theme your child chooses, carry it throughout with cost-effective accessories.

From peel-and-stick wallpaper murals to freshening old furniture, it's possible to give a child's room a whole new look for not much money. And there are many ways to ensure that the updates will be simple to redo when your child's tastes change again in the future.

5. Heat things up

If you've ever stepped out of a relaxing warm shower only to find yourself shivering in a cold bathroom, adding a touch of warmth to the room may seem like the ultimate luxury. You can find an array of heaters that work well in a bathroom setting, from wall units that will put warm air at body level, to overhead lamps that warm from above.

Mowing Tips

ward, where it can receive the most sunlight.

• Cut your grass between 2 and 3 inches. Keeping it longer than 2 inches can help prevent weeds from receiving the necessary sunlight to take hold. It also can prevent scorching during warm and dry weather. For optimal growth and regeneration, never remove more than one third of your lawn's length during one mowing session.

• Mow only when your grass is dry. Mowing when your yard is wet can cause your mower to leave tracks. It can also cause your discarded clippings to clump together, providing an ideal breeding ground for bacteria that can cause disease in your grass.

Having an operational lawn mower throughout the mowing season should be at the top of your spring prep list. If you find your lawn mower has a hard time starting up, it may be time for a tune-up. This includes changing the spark plugs, changing the oil and cleaning the filter. The same goes for weed eaters. Both can be taken to a mower shop or dealer for tune-up, or can be done by the do-it-yourselfer.

Always use fresh fuel when you start your lawn equipment for the season.

A thorough cleaning of your tools will allow you to inspect them to determine if there are any loose or damaged parts. If a machine has blades — like a lawn mower, weed eater or hedge trimmer — make sure they are clean and sharp. Working with dull blades can be dangerous. You should discard blades that are chipped, damaged or rusted.

HOLY WEEK IS UNDER WAY for all those of the Christian faith, with today marked as Maundy (or Holy) Thursday, tomorrow, Good Friday, and Sunday, the festival of Easter, the most significant event of the Christian year's commemorations. Garrett County Christians will celebrate the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ through special services and presentations, including the annual performance of Behold The King at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church near Accident. The drama, which uses only the words of scripture to depict the events of Holy Week and Easter, will be given on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 21, 22, and 23, at 7 p.m. each evening, and again on Sunday, April 24, at 3 p.m. There is no charge for tickets, but donations will be accepted at the door. Reservations should be made by calling 301-245-4223 or e-mailing cherrygladetickets@gmail.com. Pictured above from left are cast members Bennet Wenger as Thomas; Byron Yoder as Thaddaus; Leonard Maust as James, son of Alphaeus; Kenton Bender as John; Matthew George as Jesus; Randy George as Peter; and Joel Bender as James, son of Zebedee. The scene is of the Seder meal, shared by Jesus and his disciples as part of the sacred observance of Passover, which is also being celebrated this week by those of the Jewish faith. GC Commissioners Review Proposed FY 2012 Budget

The Garrett County commissioners held two meetings, one in Oakland and one in Grantsville, on Tuesday to present their proposed fiscal year 2012 budget and receive public comment about the working document. About 50 people attended the Oakland event.

"We're closing the gaps," Commissioner Bob Gatto told the Oakland participants about the preliminary budget. "It's important that you be here and take part because it is your money, your budget, and we want your input on our decisions."

Commission chair Gregan Crawford said the budget was still in a very fluid process.

"Nothing is locked down as of yet," he said.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt went over some of the highlights of the proposed document. Garrett County Department of Financial Services estimates county revenue from various sources for FY '12 will be about $71 million, compared to $85 million in FY '11.

Expected revenue from real property tax in the new year is expected to be $43,687,494. Pagenhardt said this is a revenue increase of only $244,149, compared to FY '11.

"This is the lowest increase in many years," he said.

He noted that raising the current tax rate from $.99 to $1 per $100 of assessed value

GARRETT COUNTY TO HOST WORLD EVENT – Many eyes from around the world will be on Garrett County and the Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) whitewater course on Marsh Mountain in September 2014, as the International Canoe Federation (ICF) has awarded the 2014 Canoe Slalom World Championships to the ASCI site in McHenry. Following presentations at its spring board meeting in Paris last Friday, ICF selected ASCI's bid to host the event over competing entries from Vienna, Austria, and Krakow, Poland. The event will also mark the 25th anniversary of the 1989 World Championships, which were held on the Savage River in Garrett County. Garrett County commissioner Gregan Crawford and ASCI executive director Matt Taylor made the bid presentation in Paris last week. Pictured from left above are Crawford, ICF president José Perurena López, and Taylor. The 2014 competition will also mark a return of world championship whitewater canoe and kayak racing to the United States for the first time since the 1989 Worlds. See story for details.

Adventure Sports Center Wins Bid To Host '14 World Championships

The International Canoe Federation (ICF) has awarded the 2014 Canoe Slalom World Championships to Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI), based in McHenry. Following presentations at its April 15 spring board meeting in Paris, ICF selected ASCI's Deep Creek 2014: ICF Canoe Slalom World Championships bid over competing entries from Vienna, Austria, and Krakow, Poland.

The event, to be held September 16-21, 2014, will mark the 25th anniversary of the 1989 World Championships held on the Savage River in Garrett County and represents a return of world championship whitewater canoe and kayak racing to the United States for the first time since the 1989 event.

"Deep Creek and Garrett County deserved to win this bid," said Matt Taylor, ASCI's executive director and himself a two-time Olympic canoe racer. "Garrett County has done more than any other rural community in the U.S. to build infrastructure to host international-caliber whitewater events. We have a perfect whitewater venue for the return of the World Championships, and a historically significant date to celebrate the long heritage of whitewater paddling in the region. ASCI is very proud of its bid, and is grateful for the significant support it has received from local business leaders, Garrett County, the state of Maryland, and Maryland's federal delegation."

Letters of support were submitted from U.S. Senators Barbara Mikulski and Benjamin Cardin, Maryland Governor Martin O'Malley, Senator George Edwards, Delegate Wendell Beitzell, Maryland Sports marketing director Terry Hasseltine, the Garrett County commissioners, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce

WNS Found In Garrett County Bats

Biologists from Maryland's Department of Natural Resources have confirmed that white-nose syndrome has been found in a cave in Garrett County. This marks the third documented case of the disease in Maryland.

WNS is a disease causing unprecedented bat mortality across the eastern United States. Affected bats display a white fungus on their muzzles or other exposed skin. The discovery was made in a cave which serves as an important winter shelter, or hibernaculum, for hundreds of bats.

"This is the second new infected site we've documented this year," said Dan Feller, DNR Western Region ecologist. "We now have positive sites in all three Maryland counties with bat hibernacula."

A survey by volunteer biologists from Frostburg State University, working under the direction of the DNR, discovered the newly infected population. Three

Edwards, Beitzel Meet With Parties Opposed To DNR's Trail Closings

Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wendell Beitzel met Sunday with members of the Citizens Rights and Heritage Group (CRHG) and other interested parties, nearly all of whom oppose the plan by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources to close off-road vehicle trails in Green Ridge and Savage River state forests this week. Both trails will be closed by April 24 to all four-wheeler, bike, and equestrian use. The closings reportedly come with little notification to the public.

Jeffery Conner, CRHG president, encouraged several actions in response to the closing of the Poplar Lick and Green Ridge state forests' ORV trails.

Individuals are encouraged by Conner to send letters to Governor Martin O'Malley (State of Maryland Executive Department, State House, Annapolis, 21401) stressing the following points: 1) Investigate the ORV Impact Report and Sustainable Forest Initiative impacts to ORV trails and report the findings to Maryland residents; 2) Develop an ORV trail system for the state of Maryland; 3) Find and adopt responsible recreational use and environmental sustainability in our state forests; 4) Increase dialogue between interested parties and DNR prior to actions being taken on trails; and 5) Development of new ORV trails in western Maryland with active input from interested parties and user groups.

He also noted that DNR is still accepting input at its web site, www.dnr.maryland.gov/forests/ovre-port.asp until April 30. Over 72 pages of comments about the ORV trail closings have been published so far.

Edwards also encourages persons to send letters to DNR Secretary John R. Griffin and provided the following address: DNR, Office of Secretary Executive Direction, Tawes State Office Building, C-4, Annapolis, 21401.

"We need your help," Edwards said. He told the group to support his efforts in battling DNR's and the legislature's attempts to diminish use of state property

Loss From Sat. Blaze Estimated To Be $275,000

The investigation continues by Maryland State Fire Marshal staff into the cause of a blaze that virtually destroyed a one-story single-family dwelling near Accident early Saturday, with the total loss being estimated at $275,000.

Volunteers from the Bittinger, Grantsville, Accident, Deer Park, and Deep Creek fire departments were summoned to the residence of William Ruyman, 8715 Rock Lodge Road, at 5:47 a.m. after a passerby saw smoke coming from the structure and called 911.

Heavy smoke and flames were coming from the house when the first units arrived on the scene, and it took some 90 minutes for the approximately 40 firefighters to bring the fire under control.

According to an investigator's report, damages were estimated to be $200,000 to the structure and an additional $75,000 to contents.

The Northern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene. There were no injuries reported.

County Officials Send Proposed Comp Plan Change Back To Planning Group

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has sent a proposed GC Comprehensive Plan amendment back to the Planning Commission for it to review again. The proposal identifies certain mountain ridgelines as sensitive areas in need of protection.

The Planning Commission approved the amendment on April 6 by a vote of three to two, with one abstention. The proposal was then forwarded the commissioners, who were to make the final decision on the amendment on May 3.

Director John Nelson, GC Department of Planning and Land Development, however, has reviewed procedures for transmitting the Planning Commission's public record to the commissioners, as well as provisions of Maryland law that apply to this process.

According to Section 3.07(e) of Article 66B, Nelson determined, the Planning Commission's approval of a proposed plan amendment requires the affirmative votes of not less than the majority of its membership.

"It is not a matter of a majority of members present or present and voting, rather the provisions of Section 3.07(e) require a majority vote of the membership as a whole," said county administrator Monty Pagenhardt.

There are seven members on the Planning Commission. Under theses circumstances, the provisions of state law require four affirmative votes to adopt a resolution amending the plan.

Nelson reviewed this matter with Pagenhardt and county attorney Mike Getty, who concurred with Nelson's assessment. The information was then presented to the commissioners on Tuesday for their review.

"In light of the specific requirements established by Section 3.07(e) of Article 66B, the commissioners have referred the proposed plan amendment back to the Planning Commission for its further review and consideration," Pagenhardt said.

More than 100 oral and written comments regarding the amendment were presented to the Planning Commission and commissioners during the official public commentary period on the issue last month. Nelson said 90 opposed the measure, while 38 were for it.

"So, percentage-wise, it was roughly 30 percent for and 70 percent against," Nelson said.

He added, however, that Planning Commission chair Troy Ellington noted during the April 6 meeting/vote on the amendment that several of the letters supporting the amendment were from groups or organizations representing multiple members.

Constant Yield Hearing Slated This Evening

The Garrett County commissioners will hold a constant yield hearing this evening, Thursday, April 21, in the Garrett College auditorium at 7 p.m.

A hearing is required whenever a Maryland jurisdiction is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments.

The commissioners are proposing to keep the current real property tax rate at $.99 per $100 of assessment in fiscal year 2012. This tax rate is .3 percent higher than the constant yield tax rate and is expected to generate $119,903 in additional property tax revenues.

Board Of Education Names Sue Waggoner Interim Superintendent

Sue Waggoner, executive director of instruction, was named interim superintendent for the 2011-12 school year on Tuesday evening by the Garrett County Board of Education. Waggoner will assume her new position on July 1. She is currently contracted to hold the office until June 30 of next year.

"I am very happy the board appointed Waggoner as superintendent for the next school year. She was a superintendent in West Virginia when I brought her here. She knows the system and we have worked very closely together, so it will be a very smooth transition," stated current superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets.

Waggoner became executive director of instruction when Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent of instruction, retired in 2007. Waggoner joined the Garrett County school system in 2004 as director of elementary education upon the retirement of Dr. Donald Forrester.

A native of Belmont, W.Va., Waggoner is a graduate of St. Marys High School, Glenville State College, and West Virginia University. She began her teaching career in Pinellas County, Fla., as a learning disabilities teacher.

She later returned to West Virginia, where she taught third grade in Grantsville and started a special education program at St. Mary's High School. She then taught a special Title I pilot program in Huntington.

Waggoner then returned to Glenville where she taught special education, kindergarten, and first, third, and fourth grade. After 20 years in the classroom, she moved into administration by becoming the director of special services for Gilmer County Schools (W.Va.).

During the next 13 years she was instrumental in establishing a preschool program, providing curriculum leadership, serving as a test coordinator and working with the High Schools that Work and School to Work team initiatives.

During this time period she worked with five different superintendents and served on several occasions as the acting or interim superintendent before her appointment to superintendent in 2002.

"There is no one that would be a better fit for our school system at this time than Waggoner," expressed Teets.

"I congratulate her and the board for a very wise decision."

Driver Flown To Ruby Memorial Following Wreck

One person was flown to Ruby Memorial Hospital and three people taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a three-vehicle accident in McHenry on Monday. Maryland State Police investigated the 1:30 p.m. accident that occurred near the Mosser Road intersection on Garrett Highway.

Investigation revealed that Marna Lynne Dunne, 42, McHenry, was operating a 2000 Chrysler van north on Garrett Highway, when she attempted a left turn into BFS. The van was struck from behind by a 1998 Subaru station wagon driven by Branem Jefferson Coberly, 83, Aurora, W.Va. The van was pushed into the southbound lane and struck by a Frieghtliner tractor trailer, driven by Jerry Sisler, 50, Friendsville.

Dunne was taken by MSP Trooper 5 to Ruby Memorial, while Coberly, his passenger, Barbara Alice Coberly, 80, and Dunne's 17-year-old passenger were transported to GCMH by Southern and Northern rescue squads. Sisler was reportedly uninjured.

Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company also responded to the scene. Coberly is charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

27 YEARS OF MUSIC — Students at Broad Ford Elementary are preparing to celebrate 27 years of chorus under the direction of Dave Zimmerman, who has instructed nearly 2,000 students in that time. On Friday, April 29, the Broad Ford Chorus will present a musical revue that covers music genres from Broadway, country, classic rock, the oldies, and patriotic song. The show will also revisit past performances directed by Zimmerman, who retires this year. The performers invite family members, friends, and former chorus members to attend. The event is set to begin at 7 p.m. at Broad Ford Elementary.

Local Robotics Team Invited To World Tourney

FIRST Robotics Competition Team 1629 has accepted an invitation to compete at the FIRST Robotics World Championships in St. Louis on April 27-30. The team competes in the high school student division.

Team 1629 will join three other local FIRST teams, which were also invited. These teams are G-Force and the Techno-Clovers, which will compete in the FIRST Tech Challenge program for high school students, and NeXT GEN, which competes in the FIRST LEGO League for students ages 9 through 14.

All of these Garrett County teams were selected to compete on the world stage after winning top honors in their respective regional events.

Team 1629 was invited after it received the Engineering Inspiration Award at the Buckeye FRC regional competition held in Cleveland on April 6-9. The team has won this award three times in its seven-year history. The award recognizes a team's outstanding success in advancing respect and appreciation for engineering and engineers.

According to a team spokesperson, "it's unbelievable that out of the hundreds of FIRST teams in Maryland, four out of seven which have earned spots in the world championship are from Garrett County."

To help cover costs, Team 1629 will be providing "full service" at the gas pumps of Hartman's Service Station in the town of Accident this Saturday, April 23, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Team members will share program information to those interested while filling gas tanks, cleaning windows, and checking oil.

Those interested in further information may visit www.team1629.com.

ASCI Wins Bid

president Nicole Christian, Wisp Resort owner Karen Myers, and Garrett College president Richard MacLennan.

"The 2014 World Slalom Championship is a transformative sporting event for Garrett County that will place the county on a national and international stage over the next several years," said Garrett County Commissioner Crawford, who accompanied Taylor to France this week to submit ASCI's bid. "This momentous event reinforces the vision for ASCI, as well as allows Garrett County to showcase our region and other outdoor recreation activities. It will allow us to forge new relationships and opportunities with the competitive paddle-sport community that includes outrigger canoe racing, dragon boat racing, marathon canoe racing, and sprint canoe, which is an Olympic discipline."

He continued, "The county and state benefited economically from media coverage of the 1989 World Championship, and I'm confident that the 2014 World Slalom Championship will provide economic opportunities leading up to the event that will carry over beyond 2014. I'm excited and supportive of the possibilities that this event creates."

The 1989 Worlds attracted more than 600 competitors representing 26 nations. More than 40,000 spectators attended racing events and the opening ceremonies.

ASCI's Deep Creek 2014 bid was submitted at the end of February and was reviewed in March by the ICF Slalom Committee. It received high marks by the committee and was formally accepted as the recommended bid, but the committee members stressed the need for a high-level delegation to make a personal presentation of the bid at the Paris board meeting. The presentation was given by Joe Jacobi, CEO of U.S.A. Canoe/Kayak; Commissioner Crawford; Taylor; and Suzanne Nicolas, ASCI's event coordinator.

A formal announcement of Deep Creek 2014's winning bid was broadcast live over European news networks the evening of April 15. Taylor said that the ASCI presentation received high compliments.

"And many ICF officials, as well as bidding groups from other countries, commented on how excited they were to see a return of the Worlds to the United States," he said.

Maryland will kick off Deep Creek 2014 as part of the state's Star Spangled 200 celebration (Sept. 9-12, 2014), which marks the key turning point in the War of 1812 and the Battle of Baltimore when Francis Scott Key penned the words to the "Star Spangled Banner." A flag relay will travel on water and land from Fort McHenry to the town of McHenry. The relay will include a canoe paddle on the Potomac River and C&O Canal, bringing the ICF flag and other historic flags to the opening ceremony in Garrett County on Tuesday, September 16, 2014.

The ICF has scheduled a technical visit for May 13-16 to tour ASCI and Garrett County, and to meet the host organizing and advisory committees. Jean Michel Prono, chair of the ICF Slalom Committee and one of France's most celebrated canoe and kayak coaches, will be leading the ICF team, and will be joined by ICF Slalom committee member Eric Lokken of Durango, Colo. Prono was a coach during the 1989 Worlds, who told Taylor that he "remembers Garrett County fondly."

Also planning to participate in the technical visit will be CEO Jacobi, who is also a 1992 Olympic gold medalist; Bill Endicott, 1992 Olympic head coach and U.S. head coach during 1989 Worlds; Dana Chladek, two-time Olympic silver medalist and silver medalist from the 1989 Worlds; Bob Campbell, 2000 Olympic coach and manager; Mike Knopp, USA Canoe/Kayak board member and executive director of the Oklahoma City Boathouse Foundation; and Maryland's sports marketing director Hasseltine.

ASCI's 2011 whitewater season will start on May 14 with regular guided whitewater rafting. In addition to the guided whitewater rafting, the ICF will also see technical canoe and kayak demonstrations provided by members of the U.S. Olympic and Junior National teams. Most of the athletes will be visiting from the two main U.S. slalom training centers in Bethesda and Charlotte, N.C.

Deep Creek 2014 is part of ASCI, which is a not-for-profit, 501(c)(3), charitable organization formed to promote adventure tourism and healthy outdoor lifestyles.

ASCI is home to the world's only mountaintop manmade whitewater course and has taken more than 44,000 people paddling since it opened in 2007. It offers world-class adventures in whitewater rafting, kayaking, and canoeing to groups and individuals at all skill levels and backgrounds.

In addition, ASCI attracts national and international caliber competitions, including last summer's Age Group National Championships in Whitewater Olympic Slalom and the Open Canoe National Championships.

ASCI also offers programs in rock climbing, rappelling, mountain-biking, geocaching, and more. For more information, persons may telephone 301-387-3250, send an e-mail to asci@adventuresportscenter.com, or visit www.adventuresportscenter.com.

The Mayors of Garrett County

by Glenn Tolbert

Peggy Jamison is all the things a politician is not suppose to be. She's quiet and she lets others have their say without interrupting them.

As mayor of Oakland, Jamison ran a campaign that basically consisted of a few small newspaper ads that read, simply, "Vote For Peggy."

Enough people voted for her in March 2010 to move her from her seat as Oakland Town Council president (she served on the council for 18 years) to put her in the top spot in the county's economic and legal capital.

As most mayors will probably tell us in this series, her biggest concern is the budget and how difficult it is to make ends meet. She said that it really hurt when the state suddenly pulled out $250,000 of highway user funds from Oakland's budget.

"But we're fortunate that a number of positive economic things are happening here," she said. "We have a Kentucky Fried Chicken being built, we have a new Dairy Queen, and we have a new Clear Mountain Bank under construction. So in many ways we are very fortunate."

Also noted was the new transportation museum downtown that is scheduled to open later this year.

Peggy says one of the main differences between serving on the town council and being mayor is all of the extra paperwork that has to be signed.

"I am very optimistic about our future," she said. "We have merchants who are flourishing and an active Main Street Program."

When asked if she ever plans to run for higher office, she said, "Right now, let's not think about that."

Even for non-political Mayor Jamison, that answer sounds political.

BPW Approves Preservation Of 1,073 Acres

Governor Martin O'Malley announced yesterday the Board of Public Works (BPW) approval to preserve over 1,073 acres of Maryland landscape in the Nanticoke River, Bear Creek, Lands End, Mid-Maryland Washington and Dividing Creek Rural Legacy areas through the Rural Legacy Program.

"Through this program, we not only protect our wildlife and fisheries, but by partnering with Maryland's family farmers, we are able to help keep their great traditions alive while preserving our state's landscape," said O'Malley.

Locally, preservation of the Klotz Farm will protect 82 acres of valuable agricultural and forest land while extinguishing 25 development rights. This easement protects Bear Creek and its tributaries that are natural trout streams regularly stocked by DNR, and forestland, which serves as critical habitat for interior-dwelling birds and black bears. It will also permanently buffer 1,660 feet of tributaries that feed into Bear Creek and the Youghiogheny River.

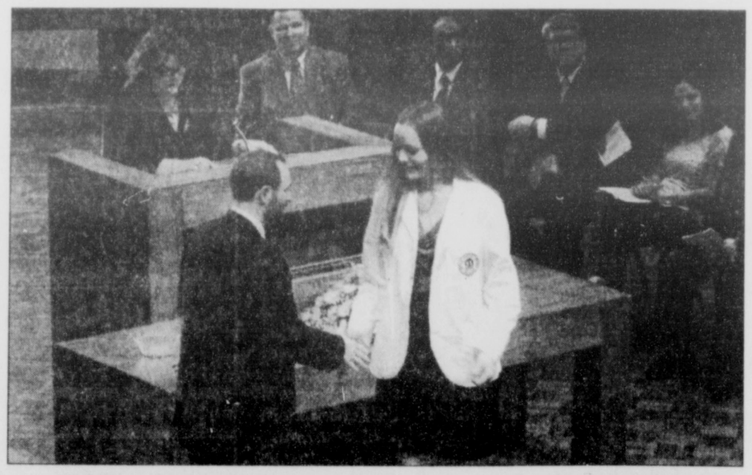
"This property is a valuable addition to Garrett County's Bear Creek Rural Legacy plan because of its proximity to Deep Creek Lake's growth area, the size of the property, its proximity to other protected lands, its water quality protection values, and the existing natural habitat," noted a spokesperson. The Bear Creek Rural Legacy Area totals 31,437 acres, of which 5,692 acres are protected.

The other areas to be preserved are in Dorchester, Queen Anne's, Washington, and Worcester counties.

Maryland's Rural Legacy Program provides funding to preserve large tracts of forestry and agricultural land and natural resources, and for environmental protection while sustaining land for natural resource-based industries. Enacted by the General Assembly in 1997, Maryland's Rural Legacy Program has provided over $259 million to protect 70,230 acres of valuable farmland, forests and natural areas. The 11-member Rural Legacy Advisory Committee and the Rural Legacy Board, which comprises Maryland's Agriculture, Natural Resources and Planning secretaries, reviews grant applications annually.

The three-member Board of Public Works is composed of Gov. O'Malley, chair, treasurer Nancy Kopp, and comptroller Peter Franchot. The BPW is authorized by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultation contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions, and other procurement transactions.

For additional information, persons should visit http://dnr.maryland.gov/land/rurallegacy/.



SWANTON NATIVE EARNS HER WHITE COAT — Caitlyn Brown of Swanton recently received her white coat in a ceremony at Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi, W.Va. Brown is enrolled in a physician assistant master's program. She will begin her intern rotations next month at Logan Regional Medical Center in Logan, W.Va. She is the daughter of Debbie and Paul Brown of Swanton.

Wayne Johnson Appointed To Healthcare Bd.

Wayne Johnson, chairman of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital board of governors and Maryland Hospital Association (MHA) first vice chairman, was recently appointed to the board of the Maryland Healthcare Education Institute (MHEI).

"We're pleased to welcome Wayne to the board," said Mark Rulle, MHEI president.

In this role, Johnson will be key in a new effort by MHA and MHEI to better engage and involve hospital trustees in the association. Education opportunities will be at the core of that effort.

Johnson has spent much of his career as an educational leader. The local resident was principal of Broad Ford Elementary School and was director of corporate education and training for Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

He has served as a hospital trustee at Garrett County Memorial Hospital since 1995 and on MHA's Executive Committee since 2003.

Johnson's term on the MHEI board will begin in June, as his term on the MHA Executive Committee concludes.

One Injured When Car Hydroplanes And Overturns

A Cumberland man was transported to the Western Maryland Regional Medical Center by private vehicle following a single-vehicle accident on New Germany Road near Big Run Road on Tuesday.

Investigation by Garrett County sheriff's deputies revealed that Paul Thompson, 47, was traveling south, when his vehicle hydroplaned off the roadway. His vehicle then overturned and came to rest against a tree. Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department and Salisbury Ambulance also responded to the 10 a.m. scene. No charges were filed.

Deputies Charge Juvenile Male With Harassment

Garrett County sheriff's deputies filed charges last week with the Department of Juvenile Services charging a 13-year-old juvenile male with harassment.

Charges stem from an investigation that began after the parents of a juvenile victim contacted the Garrett Bureau of Investigation and lodged a formal complaint. The parents reported that the suspect had compromised the victim's Facebook account, which led to the victim juvenile being harassed at school over a period of three to four weeks.

The juvenile suspect reportedly obtained the password to the victim's account and posted sexually explicit adult photographs and sexual orientation statements on the account. The suspect also changed the password to the account, so the account could only be controlled by the suspect.

Deputies obtained digital evidence, along with statements leading to the criminal charge. The juvenile suspect has been and is currently in the custody of his parents.

Review Budget

would garner the county only $507,000 more in the next fiscal year.

New sources of revenue include $1.7 million in personal property/ordinary business taxes collected from the Constellation Energy wind turbine project and $425,000 from a possible property sale – a parcel at land at the old GC Roads Department site in Oakland. Tax revenue from the Synergics wind turbine project will not be realized until FY '13, Pagenhardt said.

"One of the things that the budget doesn't reflect is the fact that the county, by policy, maintains a rainy day fund of about $3 million," noted Commissioner Jim Raley. "Basically, by policy, it says 5 percent of your operating budget should be set aside in reserve."

Expenditure increases in FY '12 include an hourly salary increase of 4 percent for nonexempted Roads Department personnel. The union workers were to receive the raise in FY '11, but they voting to delay that for one year because of the downturn in the county's economic situation.

Nonunion county employees did not receive a pay raise in FY '11 either. County officials are considering several options/cost scenarios to provide them with one in the coming year.

"It is my opinion and desire to have all employees receive an equal adjustment – Board of Education, Garrett College, and county," Pagenhardt said.

Another unavoidable expenditure will be a 7 percent increase in the health care plan for county employees.

Because of the new revenue from wind turbines, the commissioners are also considering allocating $1 million more to the Board of Education in FY '12. In FY '11, the board received $23,174,000 from the county. The BOE requested $28.7 million for FY '12. The commissioners, however, are proposing an allocation of $24,174,000.

Because of declining enrollment, how the state calculates a county's wealth, economic conditions, and other factors, the local Board of Education is facing about a $4 million shortfall in its FY '12 budget. As a cost-saving measure, therefore, Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools, has proposed closing Kitzmiller and Bloomington elementary schools.

Several local residents at the Oakland meeting asked the commissioners to allocate more funding to the BOE so the two small community schools could remain open. Other residents asked the commissioners not to cut extracurricular activities at county schools.

The commissioners noted they have no authority over these issues. They can allocate funding to the BOE but cannot tell the board where or how the money has to be spent. It is entirely the BOE's decision to close a school and discontinue athletic, musical, artistic, or other activities.

As the result of less revenue, allocations to most county departments and agencies have been reduced or are flat. Pagenhardt noted that funding requests earlier this year totaled more than $85 million.

In addition, capital project and outlay requests totaled nearly $5.8 million. The proposed allocation is $2 million. Small equipment requests are expected to be reduced from $762,729 to $440,849.

"We've gone through it and really scrubbed it," Crawford said of the budget. "We've had excellent communication and cooperation with department heads."

Additional cost-saving measures include the consolidation of the county's 911 and sheriff's dispatch offices; consolidation of the county, BOE, and Garrett College employee health plans; elimination of a paid student intern program; and discontinuation of funding for a Marcellus shale program educator.

Crawford said the commissioners anticipate another tight budget next year. Fiscal year 2012 begins on July 1.

"We do budget very conservatively, as always" he noted.

Vision and Investment...

Garrett County is a special place, a truly unique environment, for so many reasons, and added to that list this week is the selection by the International Canoe Federation of the Adventure Sports Center International's whitewater course atop Marsh Mountain as the winner of the bid to host the 2014 Canoe Slalom World Championships. Also in competition for the bid were Vienna, Austria, and Krakow, Poland, locations that are obviously far larger and certainly much better known than McHenry, Maryland.

Those of us who have had the privilege of living here for at least 22 years will recall that the Savage River in Garrett County was also selected to host the Whitewater World Championships, which is the last time that the United States hosted such a world event. And on a side note, how incredible it is that Garrett County also hosts what has been determined to be the single most difficult triathlon in the world, the SavageMan, which also draws international attention and participation.

"Exciting" seems inadequate to describe this most recent announcement and the opportunity it presents for our county. The championships at the ASCI course will bring thousands of people into Garrett County, not only from all over the United States, but from many other countries. There will also be a number of preliminary activities leading up to the event that will have a positive local impact. With the inflow of people will come an inflow of their dollars, many of which will be spent at our motels, dining facilities, retail outlets, and recreation venues. It will be difficult to measure just what it will mean to Garrett County in terms of dollars, but there is no question that it will be significant.

Further, the championships will afford yet another exposure opportunity for our county, one that will likely result in the return of many of the folks who will be making their first trip to our mountaintop. Each one of their visits will aid the local economy via the aforementioned avenues.

This is what vision and investment are all about, concepts that, unfortunately, completely escape some of our citizens. There are some who would prefer to become and remain stagnant, and one need only look around at some areas just outside Garrett County where that seems to be pretty much the norm. These vision-impaired folks typically cannot see beyond this afternoon in terms of what it takes to be progressive and guarantee continued vitality as a county. It takes vision and investment to prepare for the long haul, to place ourselves in the position to reap long-term benefits down the road and thus guarantee a comfortable future for our children and grandchildren.

We should be thankful for the many local people, past and current (people such as George Loar, Helmuth Heise, Tom Thayer, Alta Schrock, Karen Myers, and many others) who were/are blessed with vision and work(ed) so hard to utilize it for the benefit of all of us.

To the Editor:

Your article "Superintendent Recommends" in April 7's edition incorrectly stated that Bloomington and Kitzmiller were the "most costly schools in operation." In fact, Kitzmiller is the second least costly school in Garrett County, behind only Swan Meadow. Bloomington is third. The costs are higher on a per pupil basis, but even these numbers are open to question. They do not include behavior support, counselors, nurses, therapists, resource teachers, and food services. Undoubtedly, more of these positions exist at larger schools, adding to per pupil cost.

While spending on small schools may seem a waste to some, the significance of these schools is becoming apparent throughout the country. A few years ago, the Vermont legislature commissioned a group to consolidate its small schools. Most schools had fewer than 100 students, but the group concluded that even if small schools cost more per pupil, they are worth the investment because of the value they bring both students and communities. Vermont increased small school appropriations.

The remote community of Hacker Valley, W.Va., was in danger of losing its school, but the Webster County Board of Education worked with the community. Not only did they keep their school, but they built a new facility in 2009, even though another school was 11 miles away. The school currently enrolls 54 K–8 students and is a shining example of an effective community school.

If these areas can invest in their communities, why can't Garrett County? Apart from the school, the county invests very little in Kitzmiller. In the 2010–11 fiscal year, the commissioners appropriated the following to Kitzmiller: $2,000 to parks, $500 to Homecoming, and a $15,000 tax differential. Besides this $17,500, the other investment is the school's $371,705, and much of this comes from federal and state sources.

What is in the best interest of the majority of students? Indeed, what is in the best interest of the majority of county residents? My answer would be to have sustainable communities in all parts of the county – from east to west and north to south. That's a legacy that we can leave for generations to come, if we're willing to make the investment now. $371,705 amounts to only 0.7% of the BOE budget. Certainly, it's a small investment when it means the continuation of one of our eight incorporated municipalities.

Sincerely,
Diane E. Paugh
Clerk of Kitzmiller

To the Editor:

As an elementary school teacher in Mineral County, W.Va., I appreciated your clarification regarding multigrade instruction in last week's editorial. As Superintendent Teets noted in his presentation, his recommendation has nothing to do with the programs offered at either school.

Over the years, educational research has been clear that multigrade classrooms do not negatively impact academic performance. In fact, researchers have discovered that combined grade classrooms foster greater independence and an increased motivation to learn. Moreover, such classrooms cultivate a productive environment for cooperative learning. Multigrade classroom arrangements have served these schools (and others in the county) for many years, and by every indication, they are effective. All this does not even begin to touch on the research highlighting the advantages of small community schools in general.

If the county moves away from smaller community schools to larger schools located between communities, it will give up many of the benefits these communities offer. One of the primary benefits is "place-based" learning. Rooted in the local history, culture, and environment of a community, this learning plays a vital role in schools such as Kitzmiller. Programs involving the historical botanical gardens, the Potomac River, and coal heritage form an integral part of Kitzmiller's curriculum. Educational research demonstrates that local place-based learning improves academic performance and engages youth in school and community.

As these decisions are made, Bloomington and Kitzmiller schools should not be lumped together. Each should be considered on its individual merits. The savings in closing Kitzmiller School would result in only $6,758 per student. Kitzmiller's enrollment has proven-steady and is expected to increase, according to Maryland Department of Planning data. Kitzmiller's multigrade classrooms include just two grades. Kitzmiller will lose not only its school, but also its library branch, after-school programs, and Head Start center. Losing these valuable assets would prove detrimental to this incorporated municipality. Might a combined Kitzmiller-Bloomington School be the best option? Such a school's cost per pupil would amount to $4,706, lower than even Broad Ford's current cost per student.

While you may think that "trying to justify keeping these two schools open is nearly impossible," there is much to warrant keeping at least one of them open. I would encourage every county resident to view the report of the Kitzmiller Advisory Group available at http://myweb.cebridge.net/townofkitzmiller for a well-researched analysis of this highly complex issue.

Sincerely,
Kara E. Lyons,
Kitzmiller

To the Editor:

It is unconscionable to even consider the closing of two of our schools because of money! Just very recently your county management spent $24,000,000 – that's 24 million dollars of our money – to build a totally defunct sports center on top of Marsh Mountain. This disaster is an environmental horror!

Now our leaders are pondering the closing of two of our schools because they cost too much!

Somehow, we need to give some serious thought to where our priorities are! It is time to begin to consider what is really important. Obviously money is not a factor when it pertains to sports, but is a factor when our kids are involved. Trash our kids, take away two major community schools, cause extensive hauling, exposure to wrecks, extra travel for meetings, extra travel for after-school activities...

Closing of either of those schools will basically end the after-school activities during inclement weather, and will double the cost of parents trying to travel to school activities, just when the costs of transportation rise.

Shouldn't we give consideration to the exposure of hauling kids many extra miles, when many now can walk to school? Wasn't the intent to make schools convenient to communities?

That is not important?? Where is the thought coming from, that our leaders would even consider money as a factor, when we have millions for sports activities.

How can our leaders even consider destroying the fundamentals of two of our communities – the basics of these communities – for any cost?

Someone, some leader, change the direction of this contemplated disaster for our two communities! Please!

Thomas E. Doyle
Oakland

Mr. Doyle,

I feel obliged to correct/clarify a couple of things stated in your letter.

The county appropriated $6 million, not $24 million, to ASCI for construction of a facility that is bringing international attention – and many dollars – into our county. (See related front-page story.)

Secondly, its seems that you are laying the blame for the potential decision to close two schools at the feet of the county commissioners, when, in fact, this is a decision that is under the authority of the elected members of the Garrett County Board of Education.

To the Editor:

Remember the song "The best things in life are free"? There is a freebie right here in Garrett County, which is one of the best of the freebies. It is the Ruth Enlow "free" Library. At no cost, one obtains a library card, which provides access to all the books within the system for borrowing.

Not only that, one can access the Interlibrary Loan System, which opens up borrowing from libraries all over the U.S.A. Think about it: One completes an Interlibrary Loan card, then off it goes into the wild blue yonder, and within one to three weeks, the requested books come to you for your reading pleasure.

Here's an example: Three weeks ago, through the Interlibrary Loan system, I requested a copy of Fearsome Critters by H.H. Tryon, published in 1939. Lo and behold, the University of Arkansas decided to trust me with its 72-year-old copy for three weeks. Amazing! Think about it. Would you trust your aged book to a complete stranger from faraway for three weeks?

This book is about legendary creatures who dwelt in the old-growth forests from New England clear to the Pacific Northwest. They were observed and described by reputable loggers, timber cruisers, and surveyors. Some of these creatures dwelled in Garrett County in the days of the logging railroads.

There are millions of books waiting to be lent to any interested reader. It is indeed a blessing to live in the U.S. of A, which supports a free library system. Use it!

To the Editor:

As a lifelong follower of high school wrestling, I wonder if those of us in western Maryland understand the magnitude of what the Scheffel and Ozias grapplers have accomplished.

Over my many years of participating, coaching, and officiating wrestling, in the last five years Southern Garrett High School wrestling has risen to a level that is likely to never be seen again. Southern has had a history that has been mixed with outstanding wrestlers with the likes of John Hayhurst, Nathan Rickman, Scott Wildesen, and too many others to name. However, the emergence of Brutus and Bubba Scheffel, along with Lex and Coy Oxias, has placed SGHS wrestling on a level of excellence rivaling anywhere in America! With 11 state championship trophies in the homes of those wrestlers, it would be hard to name any two families in Maryland or anywhere in the U.S. with such hardware.

The recent runner-up result by Bubba and fourth place honor by Lex in the National High School Tournament only solidifies the program's greatness. Lex just added to his list of accomplishments the Dave Shultz Award as the most outstanding wrestler in the state of Maryland based on wrestling and academic abilities. These truly amazing accomplishments are a result of hard work, natural talent, and dedication by families, coaches, and fellow team members. Without the contribution of each, their honors would not have been possible.

It will be exciting to see how each of the four aforementioned young men does as they continue their high school and collegiate careers. Whatever the results, Garrett County will be hard pressed to ever see this dominance in any sport for many years to come!

To the Editor:

It was with great interest that I read the front-page article "Buy American Bill Approved by Maryland Senate" (April 7 issue).

I'd also have great interest in learning a year from now whether Fechheimer Manufacturing in Grantsville receives one uniform order from any government agency in Maryland as a result of this legislation.

I say this as the uniforms worn by Maryland prisoners and those worn by Division of Correction correctional officers, and other uniforms, are manufactured by Maryland Correctional Enterprises (MCE), formerly known as State Use Industries (SUI), within the bowels of the Maryland penal system, by convicts!

It's ironic. Many uniformed staff denigrate prisoners and prisoner work ethics at the very same time they are unwittingly wearing uniforms which are the product of that work ethic, driving cars with license plates manufactured by that work ethic, etc.

These prisoners are involved in MCE as part of their rehabilitative efforts. For Fechheimer Manufacturing to benefit from the "Buy American" bill in Maryland, Delegate Beitzel would have to introduce a bill prohibiting the manufacture of uniforms and other items within the Maryland penal system.

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey

To the Editor,

I'm writing to remind everyone that this Friday, April 22, is Earth Day, a day on which people all over the world celebrate this wonderful planet and rally to save our environment. Earth Day heightens our awareness, but it's really the little things we do every day that make the most impact on the health of our planet.

This Earth Day, let's resolve to "Reduce, Re-Use, and Recycle" whenever possible.

Meet With

in western Maryland. Edwards reminded those attending the meeting that he and Beitzel are just two of 188 votes. He noted that it's unlikely that they can force change in favor of their district without vocal support from their constituency.

"We keep trying," Edwards said. "We keep asking. We can't twist their arms to get answers."

Delegate Beitzel called the DNR's actions part of "an assault on rural Maryland" and stated that delegates from Montgomery and Prince George's counties and Baltimore City are "ganging up to take resources away from us."

Senator Edwards said that he had met with Secretary Griffin and other DNR leaders recently, but that they weren't told of DNR's plans to close the trails. Edwards shared the various issues that he and Beitzel have been fighting for on behalf of western Maryland, including monitoring of stream pollution at state borders, increasing the amount of timber to be cut, and keeping state park revenues in the county, calling these issues his "battles with DNR."

Conner said it's likely that Poplar Lick Trail in Savage River State Forest won't be reopened. He said advocates' time would be better served in fighting for the ORV trail in Green Ridge State Forest.

In a meeting in Owings Mills late last month, the DNR presented a detailed argument on why Poplar Lick Trail should be closed. Its argument was based largely on environmental impact from ORVs and the impact on brook trout. Poplar Lick Trail crosses a waterway six times. When it came to the 16-mile loop at Green Ridge, the details were reportedly scarce.

Ken Kyler, a Middletown resident and a member of the Northern Virginia Trail Riders, attended both the Owings Mills meeting and Sunday's meeting, and said that it seems DNR has already made up its collective mind. In DNR's 90-page report, Kyler said there was little analysis done on the Green Ridge trail. There were also no alternate recommendations, he said, which are a typical part of the package when making such a presentation.

Kyler believes that DNR officials had set up the meeting at Owings Mills and at Green Ridge on April 7 partly as a "smokescreen." In his mind, officials had "already made up their minds to close" the trails. His club, which has an annual rally at Green Ridge, got an extension so that it can come later this month, but expects next year the club "will have to take our money to Pennsylvania."

DNR officials state that the Green Ridge trail is not sustainable. But as Kyler noted in the position paper he prepared for Northern Virginia Trail Riders, "the report does not state why these trails are not sustainable, nor did it explore how the trails could be made sustainable."

All in attendance agreed with Kyler's view that "these trails should not be closed without exploring options and giving the trail users a chance to participate in trail mitigation."

The DNR said that a major problem at Green Ridge is the number of unauthorized trails – that is, there are ORV operators who choose to go off the legal, designated trail and explore new places.

Randy Beeman of Gilmore said there must be "hundreds" of such illegal trails in Green Ridge. Officials have talked at length about related erosion problems.

Many ORV trail advocates, including Kyler and Beeman, have advocated an increase in the $15 annual pass to access public trails.

"Even if the state upped the fee to $40, I'd be the first in line to write that check," Beeman said.

CRHG is planning another meeting on this topic. Interested parties are invited to contact the CRHG, and to send an e-mail to John F. Wilson, DNR, at jfwilson@dnr.state.md.us about user group membership.

The Potomac Highlands Dispatch in Mount Savage covered the meeting, and video links are available at www.PhDispatch.com.

CIVIC CLUB MAKING "DITTY BAGS" FOR VETERANS – Members of GFWC Civic Club of Oakland have joined a state Federation of Women's Club effort to sew, fill, and distribute "ditty bags" to United States veterans in nursing homes, assisted living facilities, local hospitals, veterans hospitals, and the homeless. The handmade 11"x11" pouches are filled with such things as arts and crafts items for rehabilitation and recovery, hand-held games, playing cards, magazines, puzzle books, Sudoku books, pencils, travel-size checkers or chess, music CDs, and DVDs. Other items are shampoo, hotel-size soaps, toothpaste, toothbrushes, lotion, travel-size hand sanitizer, sunscreen, mouthwash, dental floss, small tissue packets, deodorant, and travel-size body wash. Food and beverage items include instant coffee packets, instant creamer packets, powdered drink mixes, instant hot chocolate, tea bags, individual packages of cookies, or granola bars. The club is in great need of donations of any or all of these items. "Ditty Bags are a heartfelt gesture on behalf of the club members to thank veterans for their service and tell them we are thinking of them," a spokesperson said. The Civic Club hopes to "add a personal touch" by asking local businesses, organizations, groups, churches, and individuals to donate to and assist with distributing the bags to veterans. Persons interested in donating items or in helping distribute the bags, or who know a veteran who would like a visit and a ditty bag, should call 301-387-2630. Pictured working on the project, from left, are Civic Club members Kris Yusko, Judi Schiff, Suzanne Harle, Helen Atwill, Beverly Maynard, Betty Ellington, and Melissa Rank.

"Recycling is one way to minimize waste, but it does not start with empty cans, bottles, used paper, etc. It really starts when you make decisions to shop wisely. Making an effort to consciously avoid triple-wrapped foods, throw-away containers and items whose package is made of non-renewable resources is an effective measure we can take in minimizing excessive waste."

Reduce! Reduce non-recyclable packaging; reduce our dependence on petroleum products; reduce the use of harsh chemicals, etc. Re-use what we can (think composting!). Recycle whenever possible.

Although recycling opportunities have increased here on the mountaintop, not all sites accept all types of recyclables. For example, "slick" paper goods such as magazines and catalogs are only accepted at the Bumble Bee, Weber's, Grantsville, and the landfill sites. Check www.GarrettCounty.org for site information and for guidelines on each type of recycled good to avoid contaminating and possibly ruining the recycled batch.

Also on this Friday, remember to pause for a Minute of Silence for Peace on Earth Day at 10 a.m. The web site www.peaceonearthday.com has the details. What would happen if everyone on Earth paused at the same time and silently asked for Peace? What better time to try than now?

Respectfully,
Joanne Kozier

WOMEN'S BUILD SET FOR MAY 7 – Garrett County Habitat for Humanity is hosting its third Women's Build on Saturday, May 7, and the Oakland Lowe's store is sponsoring this event. "We will be building a subflooring system for a new house in Hopeland Village," noted Habitat construction director Jerry Lynch. "Previous construction or home improvement experience is not necessary." A training and safety clinic will be held at Lowe's on Saturday, April 30, at 10 a.m. The actual build will begin at 8 a.m. on May 7, and lunch will be provided." Participating in the kick-off meeting for the Women's Build are, from left, Lynch, Lowe's employees LeeAnn Hernandez, Kim Metheny, Dee Lower, Denise Reese, and Maranda Jeffreys, Habitat Women's Build volunteer coordinator Stephanie Gray, and Oakland Lowe's general manager J.D. Rinker. Those interested in participating should contact the Habitat for Humanity office at 301-533-0600.

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

AURORA/EGLON

SAFE DRUG DISPOSAL

Those with outdated or unused prescriptions will have an opportunity to properly dispose of them on Saturday, April 30, at the Aurora fire hall. There will be a representative from the sheriff's department to ensure safety. Those in Terra Alta or Rowlesburg are advised that the locations for drop-offs are at the Terra Alta Town Hall and the Rowlesburg Community Center.

ELIMINATION DINNER

The Mtn. Lions Club is sponsoring an elimination dinner on May 6 at 6 p.m. at Aurora School, where there will also be a silent auction. Donations are $35 which pays for two dinners. Those interested in purchasing a ticket should contact Jo-Ann Helton at 304-735-5832 or any Lion member.

EASTER SERVICES

A Cross Walk will take place on Friday, April 22, beginning at 10:30 a.m. It will start at Aurora United Methodist Church and end at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will host an Easter sunrise service on April 24 beginning at 6:30 a.m. Pastor Shaun Roberts will be presenting the message. All are invited to attend.

UNION SENIORS

There were 30 in attendance when the Union District Senior Citizens had their regular covered dish luncheon on April 14. Ressie Conrad used "Easter Joy" and "The Last Jelly Bean" in her devotions.

Announcements of the following activities were noted: Spring Fling in Kingwood on May 20 and Senior Olympics at Potomac State College June 7–10. Janice Tackett needs to know who is attending both or either. There is registration and a $10 fee for the Olympics. The next shopping date is May 25. There is no one interested in attending hot meal programs in Terra Alta. Those attending were advised to watch for additional (extra) charges on phone bills.

Another business item discussed was the interest in a mobile library; however, because there is one in Oakland and in Terra Alta, there was no interest. Those with interest in such a library should contact Janice Tackett at 304-735-5248.

A man from Reliable Health Care Solutions was a guest speaker. The agency offers respite care for those care givers who have no back-up person.

The group appreciated the Easter treats of eggs filled with candy and games provided by Juanita Stemple, Horse Shoe Run.

Wilda Harsh will be responsible for devotions at the next meeting.

Those who stayed after the meeting was adjourned played bingo.

PERSONAL

Mike Nair, Aurora, was recently a patient at the Clarksburg VA Hospital, where he had leg surgery.

Robert Harsh, Eglon, was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital last week and is expecting to return for surgery this week.

Orville "Stub" Evans, Horse Shoe Run, was a recent patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Donovan Frantz, son of Don and Heather Frantz, is to undergo surgery this week.

Corinth Church To Hold Annual Women's Event

KAY KINGREA

Pentecostal Holiness Church of Corinth will hold its annual Women's Convention on Friday, April 29, and Saturday, April 30. A praise and worship kickoff is scheduled for Friday at 7 p.m. Men are welcome to attend. Services will be held on Saturday from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Pastor Kay Kingrea is the convention's scheduled guest speaker. She grew up in southwest Virginia and began ministering as teenager to girls at church camp. For the past 15 years she has ministered to people of all ages, cultures, and socio-economic backgrounds.

In March 2008, she and husband Brian and their three children moved from Arizona to Washington, D.C., to serve the congregation of Word of Hope International Church. In that time the congregation has tripled in size, according to a spokesperson.

Kingrea serves as associate pastor, while ministering to the children and women of Word of Hope, and is director of the Mid-Atlantic Conference Women's Ministry.

She also owns a children's entertainment business in the D.C. area.

The Corinth Men's Ministry will serve a luncheon to convention participants at the Terra Alta Community Building from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. The cost is $6 per person.

For more information, persons may call Paul and Cathy Snyder at 301-334-2496.

4-H Club Plans Horse Show In Mineral County

The Pony Express 4-H Club of Mineral County, W.Va., will be host a horse show on Sunday, May 1, at the Mineral County Fairgrounds in Fort Ashby, W.Va. The show will begin at 10 a.m. and is open to Western, English, hunter, pony, small fry, youth, and 4-H (junior and senior) riders.

Show bills may be downloaded at www.slideshare.net/maconrad/pony-express-show-bill-may-1-2011. Entry fees and other information for riders can be found on the show bill.

Admission is free, and food will be available for purchase at the fairgrounds. "Come out and enjoy a great day of family fun," urged a spokesperson.

The Pony Express 4-H Club is also seeking sponsors to help defray the expenses of the show.

"This is an excellent opportunity to advertise your business or organization while showing support for an organization that benefits the youth of our community," the spokesperson said.

There are several opportunities for sponsorship. Persons can sponsor a regular class during the show for $25 or a jackpot class for $50. Persons may also set up a table to display or sell goods or services at a cost of $25.

For additional information about attending or participating in the show, being a sponsor, or having a table at the horse show, persons may send e-mail to ponyexpress4hmc@gmail.com, send a message on the Facebook page, or contact Joyce Heinz at 304-788-6207 or Cheryl Collage at 304-726-4129.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Most Americans would agree that our system of government is not working terribly well. Yes, it is partly because of partisan division, but there are truly two kinds of people with two ideas about which way is the best to provide "the common good." That is what is stated in our Constitution as the purpose of our national government. But what does that mean? All citizens? Or just the majority of Americans? Traditionally, it means white middle class. But that is changing, and all the benefits of being American belong only to a few people.

Big business went too far in the early part of the last century, resulting in the trust-buster effort by Teddy Roosevelt, meaning limiting the power of monopoly businesses. And that debate continues to apply to our financial sector, and is of critical importance in the debate about Obama's ideas about how to reform our health coverage. He put it into a question: How can we provide access to health care for all Americans, and not just the people who are lucky enough to have a job with health insurance as a benefit. That is a relatively small portion of the American people.

Take Garrett County small business. About half provide that benefit to their workers. For example, one of the largest local retail businesses is a hardware company with several locations. They probably have about 100 employees, and they offer it.

On the other hand, one of our largest and most successful construction companies does not, even though its workers are highly skilled. People who are less experienced and perhaps with fewer skills are lucky enough to work in a retail business, even if it doesn't not have a high profit rate.

It's understandable that jobs in the public sector get that kind of benefit, because they aren't profit-based jobs. They often require a higher level of education and their job performance has much more public accountability. Their jobs involve delivering some kind of public service.

But it is very different in the private sector, because how the workers are paid in a privately owned business depends on the judgment of the owner, and varies considerably.

It all comes down to how our national wealth should be distributed. Should it go straight to the top, or should it be distributed throughout the business structure? I guess to many business owners, health insurance just costs too much, especially if they only have a few choices of insurance companies. Only the largest and most powerful have enough subscribers to deliver decent benefits and cut expenses as much as possible to deliver the best return to investors, often shareholders in business.

So unfortunately, what Obama was confronted with was a million unemployed people going without any income. But the only way he could get some government assistance for them was to make a deal, which possibly spelled the end of Social Security as we know it.

Some business tycoons are sitting on billions of dollars which they could use to expand their business, and thus create more jobs for Americans. But some of them much prefer to just put as much money into their own pockets as they can.

Some Wall Street financial firms forget completely what their role is in the American economy – providing capital to promote business expansion, extending opportunities to all Americans. Instead, they choose to maximize their own profit to finance huge bonuses and other compensation.

Meanwhile, thousands of homeowners have found themselves homeless. So it is complete nonsense to believe that our country can function without some government oversight and control.

It is one thing for the middle class people to desire to not pay too many taxes. But it is far different with the top 2 percent, because the way they get all the money is by exploiting the workers who build their great fortunes. Some of them feel no responsibility to aid less fortunate people, because they believe deeply that they are just naturally superior. In pure Darwinism, they believe their success or survival is because they are the fittest.

It is just way too clear that our valuable technology has outpaced our ability to control its use. For example, any photograph taken by a soldier with his or her smart phone can give our enemies the location of our troops.

And I don't know what all the problems are with Facebook, but there are many of them. Can it be reasonable to campaign for president with Twittering? I'm not sure, but I think Twittering is limited to very few letters, so any substantial content is impossible. But clearly, communication technology has outpaced even the average citizen's ability to understand it.

I would definitely rather still have a job giving a good education to our young people than to be completely isolated, unable to drive, and way too dependent on other people. That is not pleasant to me. Does anyone believe that I enjoy using a wheelchair instead of the old way when I just ran here and there? But in the last year, I fell too many times, and that meant that I had to call someone to help me get up, and I do not like to do that. It is not how I planned my life.

I am a little luckier than many disabled people, because I have a few spare talents that I can do inside my own home – writing and art. Not that they would bring in enough for survival, but they do bring in some money. Anyone who imagines that I am not truly unable to work outside my home is clearly nuts. Anyone who knows me well knows that.

It is strange that I do not remember severe weather in the spring while I was growing up. Most years in late April, I was well on my way to putting my garden in, and it included the early crops like peas, lettuce, spinach, and broccoli, unless the spring was unusually wet, like this spring. We did enjoy a few days of very nice weather, but most days were rainy.

I love Sunday afternoon baseball because it is early enough that when they get to the Seventh Inning Stretch I am not so sleepy that I can't see any way to watch the ending. But today (Palm Sunday), the game started at 1 p.m. It started out well for the Pirates, then the Reds surged and it was tied for awhile. The Reds got a small lead, but then everything went right for the Pirates, so the final score was 7-5 in favor of the Pirates.

I am also annoyed in the evening when I am ready to watch a Pirates game, and instead, another hockey game is on. I just don't care much at all about hockey, maybe mainly because I just do not know enough about all the rules and fine points of hockey to be a major fan, even of the Pittsburgh Penguins – except when they are in the finals playing for the Stanley Cup.

Emmanuel's Women of the ELCA will be holding their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet on Monday, May 9, at 6 p.m. at the church. This year's turkey dinner will cost $11 for adults and $5.50 for children 12 and under.

The annual synod assembly for the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synod of the ELCA will be held June 3 and 4 at Snowshoe Resort in West Virginia. Delegates are needed from the three churches of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish.

On Easter morning, a sunrise service will be held at 6:30 a.m. at the Bittinger fire hall. Worship services will be held at St. John's, Meadow Mountain, at 8:30 a.m.; Emmanuel at 10 a.m.; and at Zion at 11:30 a.m.

EARTH DAY AWARENESS is being promoted at Grantsville Foodland this week. A total of 300 paper grocery bags were given to Northern High School to be decorated by the students for Earth Day, and they will be used for groceries as long as they last. Pictured above, from left, are Becky Rugg, Grantsville Foodland manager; students Derek Yoder, Rachel Frazee, and Katelynn Hanek; and Rebecca Kenyon-Sisler, NHS environmental science teacher. Earth Day activities are also being held at the school, and a denim drive is currently under way to collect jeans to make insulation to be donated to Habitat for Humanity.

Baker Awarded ACM Scholarship

The Allegany College of Maryland Foundation has announced the awarding of scholarships to 19 students, including one from Garrett County, in the current 2010-11 academic year.

Jessica Baker of Grantsville, pictured, was awarded an ACM Presidential Scholarship. A dental hygiene major and 2010 graduate of Northern High School, she is the daughter of Bryon and Dawn Baker.

D.C. Man Charged With Driving On Suspended License

A Washington, D.C., man was arrested last Friday evening following a traffic stop by Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies stopped a 2003 Chevrolet passenger vehicle on Garrett Highway in McHenry for an equipment violation. The driver was identified as Eduardo Le'Andre Clemons, 26, and was charged with driving on a suspended out-of-state license and possessing a suspended driver's license.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

AAA Senior Prom Slated For May 20

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging and the Association of Student Council are partnering again for the Senior Prom to be held on Friday, May 20, from 6 to 9 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church social hall, Oakland. The theme is "Broadway Boogie Woogie" and will feature music from Johnny Moore and dinner by the Country Cooks. Sponsors for the event are Beitzel Corporation, Team One, Rodeheaver & Associates, and Rush Services.

The event is open to anyone older than 55. Tickets are $12 each and are available at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, Grantsville Senior Center, or Flowery Vale Fitness Center, Accident. Free transportation will be provided for Grantsville seniors, but seats must be reserved.

For more information, persons may contact the AAA at 301-746-8232 or 301-334-9431.

Business Before Hours To Feature Legislative Issues

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will hold a Business Before Hours program on Wednesday, May 4, from 8 to 9:30 a.m. at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Breakfast, networking, and a wrap-up of the 2011 Maryland General Assembly session presented by Sen. George Edwards and Del. Wendell Beitzel will be featured.

"With the state's legislative session wrapping up earlier this month, learn what bills were passed and what it means to your business and Garrett County," said a chamber spokeswoman.

The cost for chamber members is $15 in advance or $20 at the door. For non-members it is $30. Interested persons are asked to register online at visitdeepcreek.com by Friday, April 29.

Non-competing Business Before Hours sponsorship opportunities are available.

"This is a great opportunity to promote your business to chamber members and the community," said the spokeswoman.

For more information, persons are asked to contact Katie Tasker at 301-387-5237 or katie@garrettchamber.com.

The Business Before Hours breakfast programs are bimonthly events designed to focus on specific topics with formal presentations. Upcoming topics include "State of the County," "Mayors' Update," and "Tourism Update." More information about the chamber is available at visitdeepcreek.com.

BOE Plans ACE Committee And Special Meetings

The Garrett County Board of Education has scheduled two meetings for next week. The first will be the fifth installment of the Advisory Committee on Education for the 2010-11 school year. It will be held on Monday, April 25, at 7 p.m. in the board room (Room 215) at Garrett College.

Agenda topics will be common core standards and teacher effectiveness academies.

The BOE will then hold a special meeting on Tuesday, April 26, beginning at 4:30 p.m. The meeting will take place in the cafeteria of Southern Middle School.

Following the opening of the meeting at 4:30 p.m., the board will meet in closed session until 6 p.m.

At the end of the closed session, public agenda items will include action on the Bloomington School and Kitzmiller Elementary School closings and personnel recommendations.

Time for public comment and participation on any topic is scheduled for 6:05 p.m.

The public is invited to attend both meetings.

Two Charged With DUI, DWI By GC Deputies

Garrett County sheriff's deputies made two drinking and driving arrestS this past weekend. The following incidents are unrelated.

Deputies stopped a 2000 Pontiac passenger vehicle at approximately 1:45 a.m. Friday morning. The driver was identified as Jonathon P. Schneider, 22, Arkport, N.Y., and he was reportedly found to be intoxicated. He was charged with driving under the influence and driving while impaired. He was released pending trial.

Deputies responded to Deep Creek Drive near Garrett Highway early Sunday morning and discovered a vehicle stopped in the roadway. The driver was identified as Jeremy Lee Layman, 27, Grantsville, who was given field sobriety tests. He was subsequently arrested and charged with DUI, DUI per se, DWI, and causing standing vehicle to obstruct free vehicle passage of roadway. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where he was released pending trial.

The Arts

ART SHOW PLANNED – The Activities Department of the Goodwill Nursing Home will host an art exhibit featuring local artisans Lisa Kardel, Judith Ramer, and Peggy Nixon. The paintings, photographs and quilling (the art of curling paper) will be displayed for residents and their families and friends to enjoy over the Easter holiday. Pictured above, from left, are Patricia Knopsnyder, activities director; Bette O'Donnell, resident; Nixon; and Ramer.

Auditions For Musical Quilters Slated At OTT

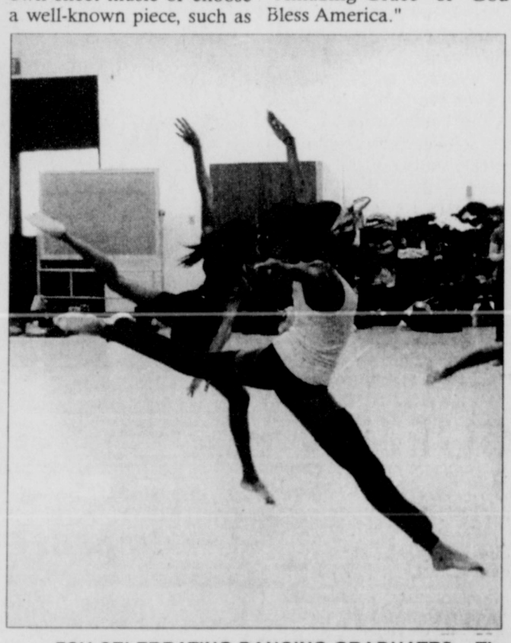
Quilters, a musical written by Barbara Damashek and Molly Newman, will be presented at Our Town Theatre from June 7 to 12. Auditions for the show will take place next week.

The production has parts for seven females from ages 14 to 70. Auditions for these roles will be held at the theatre in Oakland on April 25 and 26 from 7 to 9 p.m. each evening, or by special appointment.

Jane Avery, director, said the auditions will include reading, improvisation, and singing. Susan Peterson, who will be the musical director, said she encourages each auditioner to prepare a song to sing. She may bring her own sheet music or choose a well-known piece, such as "Amazing Grace" or "God Bless America."



FSU CELEBRATING DANCING GRADUATES – The Department of Theatre and Dance at Frostburg State University will present its Spring Dance Concert from Thursday, May 5, through Saturday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m. in FSU's Performing Arts Center. With an eclectic mix of group dances choreographed by FSU Dance Company members, the concert will celebrate the accomplishments of four seniors and feature styles in ballet, contemporary, modern, and jazz/tap. Seniors Elizabeth Collins, Brieana Jordan, Grace Gonzalez, and Rita Peacock will choreograph and perform in their final FSU dance concert. Each student will present pieces she has created, with music ranging from that of Jim Morrison to African rhythm pieces. The group will present a total of 14 pieces, including dances choreographed and performed by faculty member Nicole Frost and Dance Company director Jamie McGreevy. For reservations and information, persons may call the box office at 301-687-7462, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 until 4 p.m. Tickets are $6 for students and $12 for the general public. Group discounts are available when booked in advance.

MENNONITE CHORUS TO PERFORM – A program featuring the musical heritage of the local Mennonite community will be presented on Monday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Folk Meeting House in Springs, Pa. David Yoder of Morgantown, W.Va., will lead a group of singers from local Mennonite churches in Garrett County as well as Somerset County, Pa., in traditional hymns in four-part harmony. Yoder studied music at the University of Vienna and the University of Graz in Austria. He will introduce the songs with short historical sketches, including the formation of singing schools in the church areas. Ruth Miller Yoder of Grantsville and Joyce Sauder of Meyersdale, Pa., have organized a group that meets monthly to sing the hymns in the traditional a capella mode (unaccompanied by instruments). The program, sponsored by the Springs Historical Society, is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may call 814-442-4594 or 814-662-4366, or go online to www.springspa.org for more information.

THE FIRST LADIES

by Feather Schwartz Foster

C. 2011, Sourcebooks, $12.99; 176 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Why is it that you never mess up when nobody's watching? You know how it goes: You can do something a dozen times flawlessly, as long as you're by yourself. You are the Supreme High Master at whatever it is – until you have an audience.

But let somebody watch, then your fingers feel tied and your brain stumbles. It never fails, and as soon as your witness turns his back…

Now imagine having a job you never asked for, one that you might not have wanted, and doing it with the entire world looking on. You'll have new sympathy for The First Ladies after reading the new book by Feather Schwartz Foster.

It all started with Martha Washington. As a widow of considerable fortune, Martha Dandridge Custis needed, as per the times, to remarry, but no average George would do. Young George Washington was land-rich and knew that the proper choice of wife could make him even richer. Despite the seeming coldness of the arrangement, the two had, by all reports, a happy marriage.

But when George was tapped as our nation's first president, Martha had a fine line to walk. The position of first lady demanded a certain amount of pizzazz and decorum, but not too much, lest it seem overly royal. Royalty was unwelcome here following the "splits from the Brits."

Even prior to becoming first lady, Abigail Adams showed that she had what it took for the job. She raised and tutored four kids, ran both farm and household, and had a social life, alone, while John was in Philadelphia with the Declaration signers. Later, she had a shaky relationship with her first lady daughter-in-law Louisa, who said after Abigail's death that she wished she had known John Quincy's mama better.

With her snuff habit, Dolley Madison was a trendsetter. Julia Tyler was a fashionista, and Sarah Polk a penny-pincher. Abigail Fillmore made sure the White House had Bibles in each room.

One 19th Century first lady was a feminist. Several weren't married to the president. The beautiful face of another was used – without permission – on many advertisements of her day. One first lady was an accomplished artist, and one, because she never lived long enough to claim her title, changed a presidency by dying.

Had enough of modern politics? Then take a lighthearted look at it from the POV of a few women who were appointed by default – sometimes, reluctantly.

Author Foster puts lively personal faces on the women behind the men of our country, starting with Martha, ending with Mamie (because she was "the end of an era."), and passing over an unremarkable first lady or two along the way. Foster has a nice way of evoking each lady's era, which gives readers a better idea of the importance of their individual work.

Though it's somewhat stiff now and again, The First Ladies is the kind of book that will satisfy historians, women's history scholars, and trivia buffs alike. If that's you, then see that you get this book.

FSU Jazz Band, Vocal Ensemble To Give Concert

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present a concert by the FSU Jazz Band and the Vocal Jazz Ensemble on Thursday, April 28, at 8 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of FSU's Performing Arts Center. This performance is free and open to the public.

The 17-member jazz band, under the direction of Timothy Powell, will perform pieces by artists such as Dizzy Gillespie, Joe Garland, Glenn Miller, A.R. Jones, Tony Guerro, and others.

The Vocal Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg, will perform Ed Lojeski's arrangement of "Java Jive," "Words" by Anders Edenroth, "Lullabye (Goodnight, My Angel)" by Billy Joel, and more.

For more information, persons may contact the FSU Department of Music at 301-687-4109.

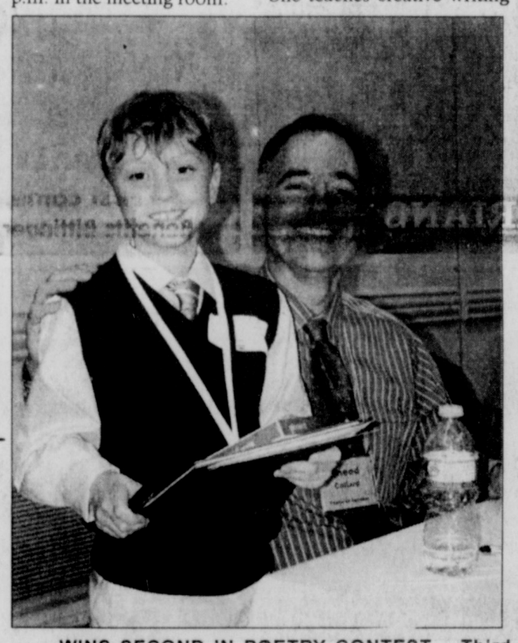
Barbara Hurd To Read From Newest Book

The Oakland library will host poet and author Dr. Barbara Hurd on Wednesday, April 27, from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. in the meeting room.

"Through interrelated scenes, Quilters captures the challenges and rewards of frontier life for a woman and her six daughters," Avery said. "It is a story that explores the human spirit and celebrates human dignity in the face of adversity."

Quilters will be produced via special permission of the Dramatists Play Service and will be funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Questions about auditions or the production should be directed to Avery at the theatre by calling 301-334-5640, ext. 3.



WINS SECOND IN POETRY CONTEST – Third grader Thaddaeus Rodeheaver recently won second place in the poetry category for the Young Authors Contest sponsored by the State of Maryland International Reading Association Council. He traveled to Baltimore to receive his awards and met author Sneed B. Collard III. He is a student in Bridget Corbin's third grade class at Kitzmiller Elementary, and his parents are Mark and Sandy Rodeheaver. His poem appears at right.

Hurd, who is the author of three books of creative nonfiction, will read from her latest work, Walking the Wrack Line: On Tidal Shifts and What Remains. She will also sell and sign books at the event.

The recipient of a 2002 National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship for Creative Nonfiction, winner of the Sierra Club's National Nature Writing Award, and Pushcart prizes in 2004 and 2007, Hurd is professor emeritus at Frostburg State University. She teaches creative writing there and in the Stonecoast Master of Fine Arts Program at the University of Southern Maine.

In addition to Walking the Wrack Line, her works include Stirring the Mud: On Swamps, Bogs, and Human Imagination; Entering the Stone: On Caves and Feeling through the Dark; a collection of poetry titled The Singer's Temple; and other essays and poems that have appeared in numerous journals such as Best American Essays 2001, Best American Essays 1999, the Yale Review, the Georgia Review, Nimrod, New Letters, and Audubon.

The library event is free and open to the public. Registration is not required, but a spokesperson said a courtesy call to the library at 301-334-3996, ext. 117, would be appreciated.

More information about Hurd is available at barbarahurd.com. Her three works of creative nonfiction are available at the Ruth Enlow Library.

Seeing Santa

by Thaddaeus Rodeheaver

Dashing out of bed
(I didn't hit my head).
With his jolly ho, ho, ho
I knew he came from the snow.
He had a big red belly
And a certain crave for jelly.
He rushed up the stairs.
He got my sister a bear.
But what is he doing?
I think he is snoozing
And there's something worse.
I must be under a curse.
He's resting his head
On MY comfortable bed!

YOUNG WINNERS GIVEN JACKETS FOR FIRST-PLACE NATIONAL WIN – The Mini-Toxic Twist Crew of Jessica's Dance Creations of Oakland took first place at the Reach the Beach National Cheer and Dance competition held in Ocean City earlier this month. After being announced national champions, the girls each received a ticket so they could be fitted for their champion jackets. The group was awarded a 4-foot trophy, national champions banner, and the jackets. Regina Crosco also was awarded a jacket for her win, and two national champions coach jackets were presented to the team's coaches, Jessica and Kim Crosco. (The team was pictured two weeks ago, but a few of their faces were hidden in the action shot.) Pictured in the front row from left are Natalie Ashby, Olivia Crosco, Kyla Slaubaugh, and Mikala Spiker. Standing from left are Jessica McClurg, Torri Skipper, Morgan Carr, Nicole Schroyer, and Brielle Jobe.

WNS Found

little brown bats and one tricolored bat submitted to the U.S. Geological Survey National Wildlife Health Center tested positive for WNS.

At an infected site discovered last year in Allegany County, virtually all of the bats were dead, a level of devastation consistent with other affected sites in the Northeast. WNS was found in Washington County last month.

"We're relieved that our surveys found several important hibernating sites still unaffected, including one of the largest populations of eastern small-footed bats remaining in the United States," said Feller. "With the spread of this disease having been fast and unrelenting, the future of these sites is uncertain."

WNS is a disease that has spread across mines and caves in 14 states and two Canadian provinces, killing more than a million bats. It was first observed at Howe Cave near Albany, N.Y., in 2006. WNS is caused by a newly discovered cold-weather fungus, geomyces destructans.

Under the direction of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, an international, interagency team is mobilizing in an attempt to slow the spread of the disease and find a cure.

It has been shown that bats can transmit the fungus to each other, and although the disease is not harmful to people, it may be possible for spelunkers to spread the fungus through gear and clothing. State and federal wildlife authorities have asked that people not enter caves. DNR biologists and volunteers investigating WNS follow strict decontamination protocols when working in caves and other bat hibernacula.

Recent research conservatively estimates the value of bats to the U.S. agricultural industry to be $3.7 billion because they eat agricultural pests. Their value to ecology is more complex and harder to measure.

"This level of devastation to our bats is unprecedented and tragic," said Tim Larney, Habitat Conservation Program manager for the DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Service. "And it comes at a time when new research indicates that we may have been underestimating the importance of bats in keeping ecosystems healthy and productive."

Those interested in additional information on white-nose syndrome may visit http://dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/plants_wildlife/bats/nhpbatdisease.asp.

Prescription Drug Abuse Topic Of Monday Program

BRIDGET LAWSON

Wal-Mart, the Garrett County Health Department, and the Club 21550 Community Planning Group are combining efforts to educate the community on the growing prescription abuse problem. A program is slated for Monday, April 25, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Southern Rescue Squad building.

According to the Office of National Drug Control Policy, prescription drug abuse is the fastest-growing drug problem in the United States. Because prescription drugs are legal, they are easier to get – often from a home medicine cabinet. Some people who misuse prescription drugs, particularly teenagers, believe they are safer than illegal drugs because they are prescribed from a doctor.

Kendra Todd, Club 21550, Bridget Lawson of Wal-Mart, and Sadie Liller, prevention specialist from GCHD, will be present to discuss practical tips and information that adults can use to deal with this problem, as well as safe ways to get rid of prescritpion drugs, including the upcoming drug take-back event set for April 30. For more information about the event, persons should contact Todd at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Husky Track Teams Fare Well In Mountain Ridge Invitational

Although team scores were not calculated, the Northern High boys' and girls' track and field teams performed well in the Mountain Ridge Invitational held this past week in Frostburg.

Also competing in the meet, besides host Mountain Ridge, were Fort Hill, Bishop Walsh, and Calvary Christian Academy.

Capturing first places for the NHS girls were Chelsi Kling in both the log jump and triple jump with distances of 15'10" and 32', respectively; Whitney Murphy in the 100 dash with a time of 13:07; Samantha Arnold in the shot put with a distance of 33'8½"; and the 400 and 800 relay teams.

Maria Ganoe was the runner-up in the 800 run, Sydney Bennett placed second in the high jump, and Madi Gallagher was second in the 100 dash.

Earning third places for the Huskies were Rhiannon Dodge in the 100 dash, Gallagher in the 200 dash, Morgan Brosnihan in the 3,200 run, Ashley Hackett in the 100 hurdles, Ashley Murphy in the 300 hurdles, Ganoe in the triple jump, and Samantha Arnold in the discus. The 3,200 relay team also finished third.

Leading the Northern boys were Chris Murdock, who won the 300 hurdles in 43.82 seconds, and placed second in the long jump and 110 hurdles, and Eric Maxim, who won the 110 hurdles in 15.66 seconds and was third in the 400 dash.

Also placing first was Devin Francillon, who won the discus with a throw of 118'5".

Brody Fike was the runner-up in the triple jump, while Alex Ruff placed second in the discus. The NHS 3,200 relay team was also second.

Others finishing third for the Huskies were Adam Brenneman in the 800 run, Jordan Evans in the triple jump, Aaron Beitzel in the discus, and the 800 and 1,600 relay teams.

The Huskies also participated in the Harry Green Invitational in Bridgeport, W.Va., on Saturday in poor weather conditions. The NHS girls placed sixth, while the boys finished ninth among 16 teams in the highly competitive event.

The Northern girls were led by Kling, who placed second in the long jump, and Whitney Murphy, who finished third in the 100 dash. Both were members of the third-place 400 and 800 relay teams. Other 400 relay team members were Kling and Dodge, and the other members of the 800 team were Gallagher and McKenzie. Arnold finished fourth in the shot put.

Maxim paced the Northern boys, placing second in the 110 hurdles, third in the 300 hurdles, and as a member of the fourth-place 1,600 relay team. Other members of that relay team were Francillon, Murdock, and Cooper Corley.

The NHS 400 relay team of Francillon, Fike, Ruff, and Brenneman placed third.

Rams Softball Beats Northern, But Drops Games To Keyser And Allegany

Coming off its win against Northern, 4-1, last Thursday, the Southern High School softball team suffered a next-day loss to Allegany, 12-1, in Cresaptown.

Following their loss to Allegany, the Rams lost their lead hosting Keyser on Monday and dropped that game, 8-5.

In the game with their intra-county rival, the Rams never trailed and took an early lead with two unanswered first-inning runs.

Southern and Northern both scored in the second to make it 3-1. The Rams tacked on the final run of the game in the top of the sixth before taking the win.

In its road game last Friday, Southern, down 6-1, allowed Allegany to score six more runs in the bottom of the fourth frame. The game lasted five innings.

Allegany's Chelsea Oleksik hit a bases-loaded triple in the fourth inning, and Estee Hixon added a pair of singles. Audrey Eisentrout and Hayley Stankan, who also took turns on the mound, had RBI singles.

For Southern, Alycia Horner singled and was batted in on a Lindsay Brady single.

In Monday's action against Keyser, the Rams led 5-3 going into the top of the seventh when the Golden

Huskies Roll Over Preston, 13-3, To Maintain Undefeated Record

A convincing 13-3 victory by the Northern High School varsity over visiting Preston on Friday kept the Huskies' record unblemished, upping their mark to 6-0.

The contest was tight until the later innings, as the Knights took a 1-0 lead in the top of the second, the Huskies tied it with a run in the bottom of the third, and the visitors responded with two runs in the top of the fourth to take a 3-1 advantage.

But Coach Phil Carr's squad took the lead for good in the bottom of the fourth by plating five runs, and then added seven more in the sixth to abruptly end the contest because of the 10-run mercy rule.

Finishing with three hits via a pair of singles for the Huskies was Cody Rodeheaver, while Jared Fike contributed two singles, including one that sent two runners home in the sixth. Pat Sines also hit a pair of singles and recorded an RBI, and Justin Shaw hit a run-producing single.

Pacing the Knights at the plate was Matt Scheffel, who hit an RBI double and a run-producing single.

The Huskies were slated to finish a game against country rival Southern on the Rams' diamond Monday, and then play another full game, but that encounter had to be postponed twice because of rain.

The two teams played into the fifth inning at Northern a few weeks ago before the game had to be suspended because of weather conditions. The Rams held a 7-6 advantage, but the Huskies had runners on first and third when the game was stopped. The two teams will not meet each other now until May 10.

Northern is slated to host Allegany this afternoon, and entertain both Salisbury and Berkeley Springs in an Easter tournament this Saturday.

Lakers Sweep Rockville Before Splitting Twinbill With Monroe

The Garrett College baseball team won three of four games this past week, sweeping Rockville last Thursday, 13-3 and 14-1, and then splitting a twinbill with visiting Monroe (N.Y.) on Friday, dropping the first game, 17-6, but hanging on to take the second, 8-7, in their home opener on Friday. The results left the Lakers with a 12-22 record.

The Lakers never trailed in last Thursday's twinbill sweep of host Rockville, and poured on the runs in the late innings of both to make the victories convincing.

In the opener, Garrett put two runs on the board in the top of the first, added two more in each of the third and fourth innings to take a 6-0 advantage. The Knights rallied for three runs in the bottom of the fourth, but the Lakers put seven more runs on the board in the final two frames.

Jose Soto smacked three doubles for two RBI for Garrett, while former Southern Ram Jason Ashby recorded two doubles and a single for three RBI. Andy Umbel contributed three singles in the Lakers' 16-hit performance.

The first inning of the second game was a repeat of the first, in that the Lakers took a 2-0 lead. The Knights cut that margin to 2-1 with a run in the third, but the Lakers responded with eight runs in the fourth and four more in the fifth to end the game early because of the 10-run mercy rule.

The Laker bats pounded out a dozen hits, with Corey Brown stroking a double and two singles, and Luke Szymanski providing a double and a single to plate two runs. Julius Niemand chipped in with two singles.

Caleb Hill tossed all five innings for the Lakers, giving up only two hits, striking out four, and allowing no earned runs.

After playing their first 32 games on the road, the Lakers finally were able to host Friday's doubleheader with Monroe.

The visitors wasted no time taking control of the opener, scoring four runs in each of the first two innings, and seven more in the third to build a comfortable lead.

The Lakers were out-hit by a margin of only three (13-10), but committed six errors that led to a number of unearned runs for the Mustangs.

Pacing Garrett's 10-hit effort were Szymanski and Kevin Keifer, each with a double and a single, while Luis Bomback and Ben Russell each hit two singles.

Joe Coto rapped a three-run homer in the first inning for Monroe.

Monroe took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first of the nightcap, but Garrett responded with three runs in the bottom of that frame. The score remained 3-2 until the Mustangs added three runs in the top of the third to go up 5-3.

Garrett cut the lead to 5-4 with a single run in the fifth, and then took the lead for good with four runs in the bottom of the sixth, which put them up 8-5. Monroe did not quit, and rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh.

Ashby then took the mound for the Lakers in the seventh and was able to get the final out with Monroe runners at first and second to preserve the win.

The Lakers' four-run sixth was highlighted by a solo homer by Jose Soto.

Garrett managed only five hits in the game, including Soto's homer, a first-inning, two-run double by Ashby, and a two-run single by Keifer in the sixth.

Ashby successful effort in the seventh saved the game for Laker starter and former Southern High teammate Jeremy Sharpless, who struck out six batters in over six innings of work and ultimately gained his first collegiate victory.

Southern High Treats BW To An 11-Run First

The Southern High School varsity baseball team opened its away game with Bishop Walsh with an 11-run first inning and kept a strangle hold on the game before winning 14-1.

Rams Corey Helbig and Ryan Bennett both put three-run shots over the fence in last Friday's win at Al Martin Field.

Helbig finished with a home run, a double, and five runs batted in. Calvin Hilliard hit a double and two singles to knock in four runs. Bennett added a single and a double to his home run performance, while Hunter Haskiell doubled for Southern. The Rams had 10 hits in the five-inning game.

Scott Bittinger and Evan Rodeheaver combined on a two-hitter. Seth Amezcua doubled and Brandon Murray had an RBI single for Bishop Walsh.

The Rams are scheduled to host Mountain Ridge today at 4:30 p.m.

Tornados' Samantha Hoban's two-run double tied it.

Hoban, who also pitched in the game for Keyser, then shut out Southern in the bottom of the seventh to force an extra inning.

In the eighth with a runner on second, Southern walked a batter before a base hit from Alison Whitman brought in the two runners. An RBI single from Marlee Whitlock increased the lead to three for Keyser.

The Rams were led by Horner with two hits, a homer and a triple. Lindsay Brady doubled and had two singles. Horner also struck out eight and had three walks.

The Rams are scheduled to host Frankfort on Tuesday at 4:30 p.m.

Northern Girls Edge Falcons On The Courts

The girls' tennis team of Northern High School recorded a 3-2 victory over visiting Frankfort on Monday.

Cara Stough kept her personal singles record perfect by coasting over Katie Bush, 6-0, 6-1, while teammate Ashley Miller also convincingly won her singles match, 6-1, 6-0.

The doubles team of Morgan Brosnihan and Hannah Bequette sealed the team victory for the Huskies by cruising to a 6-1, 6-0 win.

Annual Frostbite Tourney Hosted By Oakland Club

The annual Frostbite Golf Tournament was held Sunday on the Oakland Golf Club course, with players having to deal with windy and chilly conditions.

Winning first place low gross was the team of Mike Brantner, Brady Donaldson, Tyler Ewing, and Kurt Lear, who recorded a score of 65. The first place low net team, with a score of 62, comprised Red Guthrie, Jerry House, Jim Zimmerman, and Jerry Pullias.

Tyler Ewing recorded the longest putt on Hole #7, while Brady Donaldson had the longest putt on Hole #14. Bill Ewing won the closest-to-the-pin contests on #9 and #17.

"I was really pleased that the teams braved the elements to play in the opening tournament," said Max Hill, director of golf for the Oakland club. "We have numerous tournaments planned for this season, and I am optimistic that the Oakland Golf Club will be a great host for these events."

Field Day Event Slated By RGS At State Forest

The Backbone Mountain Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society (RGS), in cooperation with the Garrett County Forest Conservancy District, Dennett Road Elementary School, and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, will hold its second annual Habitat Improvement Work Day at the Potomac-Garrett State Forest on Saturday, April 23.

The day will begin with a briefing at the Wallman Group Campsite, Wallman Road (between Oakland and Westernport) at 12:30 p.m. The day will conclude at 4:30 p.m.

According to organizer April Rohrbaugh, the project includes the planting of a variety of tree seedlings, including 500 of the native red spruce variety that was once abundant in the highlands of Garrett County and surrounding West Virginia.

"These trees will provide dense winter cover not only for ruffed grouse, but a variety of wildlife species," Rohrbaugh said.

The volunteers will also plant 400 fruiting shrub seedlings as a hedgerow, providing both food and cover for a wide variety of birds and mammals.

State forest staff will dig the seedling planting holes, but participants are encouraged to wear work clothes and sturdy footwear, and to bring a small hand trowel, shovel, and gloves. All other necessary tools will be provided, as well as snacks.

A few full or mid-size 4x4 pickup trucks are needed to shuttle students and other participants, Rohrbaugh said.

For more information, persons may contact Rohrbaugh at 304-813-2022, or by e-mail at april.rohrbaugh@gmail.com.

Southern's Ozias Receives National Wrestling Honor

The National Wrestling Hall of Fame & Museum, Stillwater, Okla., has selected its 2011 state and regional winners of the Dave Schultz High School Excellence Award as part of its Educational Outreach Program, and Southern High School senior Lex Ozias has been named the winner of the award for the state of Maryland. The High School Excellence Award is named in honor of the late Olympic and World Champion Dave Schultz. Each award recipient is evaluated on excellence in wrestling, scholastic achievement, character, citizenship, and community service.

Ozias, an honor student at Southern, a three-time state wrestling champion, and a fourth-place finisher in the National Senior tournament this spring, will be a member of the Virginia Tech wrestling team this fall.

"A graduate of Palo Alto High School and the University of Oklahoma, Dave Schultz was one of the most respected high school, collegiate, and international wrestlers the United States has ever had," said Lee Roy Smith, executive director of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame.

Regarded as a tireless competitor and supreme technician on the mat, Smith said that Schultz, who died in 1996, was beloved throughout the world of amateur wrestling for his friendliness and eagerness to lend help or advice to teammates and opponents alike. He was inducted into the sport's hall of fame as a distinguished member in 1997.

Since the Dave Schultz High School Excellence Award's inception in 1996, the National Wrestling Hall of Fame has recognized 677 student-wrestlers.

"These student-wrestlers are role models in their communities and influence young people in a very meaningful way," Smith said. "Statistics show that both male and female students are more likely to stay in school, graduate, and become more productive citizens when they are involved in extracurricular activities and after-school programs like sports, theater, debate, and music."

Ozias is the son of Darrell Ozias and Robin Wilson, Kitzmiller.

Ruffed Grouse Society To Host Annual Challenge

The Backbone Mountain Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society (RGS) will hold its third annual three-section sporting event that includes wing shooting for both finished dogs and pups, and a round of sporting clays.

The two-[illegible] Challenge will be held Saturday, April 30, and Su[illegible] May 1, at the Wings of [illegible]ge, 1590 Everly Road, [illegible]nt, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Participants may register for one event or all three. Registration for either the Chukar Challenge or Puppy Challenge is $65, and Sporting Clays Challenge $20 and $40 for 50-100 targets, respectively. The registration fee will cover lunch, trophies, and prizes, according to Don Calhoun, organizer.

For more information and/or registration, persons may contact Calhoun at 301-746-4004, 301-551-4142, or by e-mail at doncalhoun35@hotmail.com.

Proceeds from this event will be used to restore and protect area grouse and woodcock habitat, Calhoun noted.

Information on the RGS, its mission, management projects, and membership can be found on the web at: www.ruffedgrousesociety.org.

Schedule For Hunter Safety Classes Noted

The 2011 schedule for the hunter safety course has been released, with four opportunities to take the course prior to the fall hunting seasons. Completion of the course is required in order to obtain a Maryland hunting license. Attendance at all three classes per session is required, and youth ages 11 and under must be accompanied by an adult for the entire session.

The first session will be offered at the Oakland fire hall on May 3 and 5 from 6 to 9 p.m., and May 7 from 8 a.m. to noon. Persons may telephone 301-334-1911 to register and/or obtain more information.

The second session will be held at the VFW hall in Deer Park on June 14 and 16 from 6 to 9 p.m., and June 18 from 8 a.m. to noon. The contact number is 301-334-9109.

The third session will also be held at the VFW in Deer Park on Aug. 16 and 18 from 6 to 9 p.m., and Aug. 20 from 8 a.m. to noon. The contact number is 301-334-9109.

The final session for the year will be held at the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club on Aug. 23 and 25 from 6 to 9 p.m., and Aug. 27 from 8 a.m. to noon. The contact number is 301-895-5094.

HUSKY Notes

AFTER-PROM INFORMATION

The next after-prom meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 27, at 7 p.m. in Room 200. Everyone is invited to attend and finalize plans for this event. The after-prom event will be held on May 14-15 from midnight on Saturday until 6 a.m. on Sunday morning. All juniors and seniors are eligible to attend (even if they do not attend the prom). Each junior and senior may bring one guest. All guests must be in high school or under 21 years of age. Tickets will cost $5 per person and will be on sale beginning Friday, May 6. Students will be given a printed ticket to verify their purchase. There will be a grand prize given to one senior for $1,000 and a prize given to one junior for $500. Other prizes will be awarded throughout the night.

SERVICE LEARNING

First Christian Church is looking for students to complete lots of paperwork from their own home. If interested, contact Pat Schmidt at 301-746-5829.

The annual Walk for Hospice will be held on Saturday, April 30. Students are needed to collect donations, walk, or assist with various other activities. If interested, contact Amy or Lisa at 301-334-5151. Additional information can be picked up in the Counseling Center.

Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center is looking for students to read, assist with crafts, help with parties, or just interact with residents. ONRC is also interested in art students who would be willing to teach art. For the appropriate paperwork, stop by the Counseling Center.

EARTH DAY

New Germany State Park will hold an Earth Day Eggstravaganza on Saturday, April 23, at 10 a.m. at the Lake House. Everyone is invited to help search for the more than 1,000 hidden eggs, make a recycled Easter basket and learn how to have a "greener" Easter holiday.

OPEN HOUSE

International Beauty School will offer individuals a free manicure, pedicure, facial, or haircut at its Open House on Saturday, April 30. Those interested may stop by the Counseling Center to pick up a coupon and additional information on this event. Students wishing to attend must call Julie at 301-777-3020.

EARTH WEEK

NHS is celebrating Earth Day (April 22) with various activities. Students recently decorated paper bags which will be used to bag groceries at the Grantsville Foodland on Earth Day. NHS is also holding a denim drive. Unwanted jeans and other denim items are currently being collected. The denim will be used to create insulation that is then donated to Habitat for Humanity. The goal is 500 pairs of jeans—the amount needed to insulate one average-sized home.

FRESHMAN INFORMATION

The deadline to receive the $10 discount by paying your 2014 class dues in full has been set for Wednesday, May 4. Once this deadline passes, dues will go up to $10 per year. Those who wish to take advantage of the discounted rate being offered may bring a $30 payment to Mr. Berger (before school or between classes). Questions or concerns may be directed to Mr. Berger or Mr. Nicklin.

GARRETT COUNTY FARM BUREAU SCHOLARSHIP

The Garrett County Farm Bureau Scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to a worthy student who is planning on postsecondary education or training. Applicants or their parents/guardians must be a current member of Garrett County Farm Bureau. Agriculturel majors will be given preference, but it is not a requirement to receive the award. Applicants must be residents of Garrett County and plan to enroll as full-time students, or be enrolled in the Lead Maryland Program. They must also maintain a C average. Award amounts vary. The deadline is Friday, April 29.

GARRETT COUNTY EDUCATION ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP

The Garrett County Education Association Scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to aspiring teachers. Applicants must plan to major in a teacher education program leading to certification at an accredited college or university. Selection is based on applications, which must include letters of recommendation that support the applicant's commitment to the teaching profession, as well as a personal essay. Intellectual ability as demonstrated by academic achievement will also be evaluated. The award amount is $250. Visit the Guidance Office for details. The deadline is Saturday, May 7.

DONNA JENNINGS GARMAN SCHOLARSHIP

The Donna Jennings Garman Scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to a student who plans to obtain a degree in a profession that will directly help others. A worthy candidate must exhibit qualities of good character, citizenship, personal integrity, leadership through involvement in extracurricular and/or community activities, commitment to success, respect for self and others, and dedication. Applicants must plan to enroll in a 2- or 4-year college or university. A minimum grade point average of 2.5 is required. Applicants must submit an essay describing interest in their chosen field of study and how this field will help others, as well as a letter of recommendation from a teacher or school professional. The award amount is $750. The deadline is Friday, May 6.

SHAWNA STALLMAN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Western Maryland Christian Center sponsors the Shawna Stallman Memorial Scholarship to help eligible seniors defray the cost of books or other resource materials needed for college. Applicants must plan to enroll in a 2- or 4-year college or technical school. To apply, interested students must submit at least one letter of recommendation from teaching staff, pastor, or community person who addresses how each student has demonstrated community service, good character, and is a member of a church. Financial need is also considered for this award. The amount of the award is $100. The deadline to turn letters in to Mrs. Douds is Wednesday, May 4.

AHEC/ECHO

Any student interested in applying for the summer ECHO program must turn in his/her application to Ms. Harman in Room 108 by Friday, April 29.

GCASC

The Garrett County Association of Student Councils will meet this Saturday, April 23, in the old library room at 9 a.m. Officers and representatives are urged to attend due to the selection process for the student member for the Board of Education. Officer applications are due on Sunday, May 1. One may submit an application to his/her advisor or Ms. Harman.

PIRATES GAME

A couple tickets still remain for the Pirates game trip on May 7. See Ms. Harman for details and forms. The cost is $30 for bus/tickets.

SBA ECONOMIC INJURY DISASTER LOAN DEADLINE IS MAY 31 IN WEST VIRGINIA

The U.S. Small Business Administration reminds small businesses, small agricultural cooperatives and most private non-profit organizations of all sizes in Barbour, Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Mineral, Monongalia, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Taylor, and Tucker counties in West Virginia of the May 31 deadline to apply for economic injury disaster loan assistance. The loans are available because of drought and excessive heat that began on April 1, 2010.

Under this declaration, SBA Economic Injury Disaster Loans are available to eligible farm-related and nonfarm-related entities that suffered financial losses as a direct result of this disaster. These loans can be up to $2 million with terms not exceeding 30 years. Interest rates are 4 percent for businesses and 3 percent for non-profit organizations. Agricultural producers, farmers, and ranchers are not eligible to apply to SBA, but nurseries are eligible to apply for economic injury disaster loans for losses caused by drought conditions.

For more information on the SBA's Disaster Loan Program, to obtain application forms, or to apply online, persons may go to www.sba.gov. They may also send an e-mail to disastercustomerservice@sba.gov, or telephone the SBA's Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 (800-877-8339 for the hearing-impaired) Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. ET.

Those affected by the disaster may apply for disaster loans from SBA's secure web site at https://disaster-loan.sba.gov/ela/ no later than May 31.

USDA ANNOUNCES DEADLINE FOR BIOMASS CROP ASSISTANCE PROGRAM PROPOSALS

Farm Service Agency acting administrator Val Dolcini announced the deadline for project area proposals for the Biomass Crop Assistance Program (BCAP). To be considered, proposals must be submitted to the applicable state office by close of business, Friday, May 27.

"The nation that harnesses the power of clean, renewable energy will be the nation that leads the 21st century. BCAP can help rural communities save money, create jobs and improve air quality while reducing the demand for fossil fuels," said Dolcini. "I encourage all those interested in participating in this program to contact their Farm Service Agency (FSA) state office for details."

BCAP was authorized in the 2008 Farm Bill and provides incentives to eligible farmers, ranchers, and forest landowners for the establishment and production of biomass crops for heat, power, bio-based products, and biofuels. BCAP project areas are specific geographic areas where producers grow eligible biomass crops. Producers then receive annual payments for growing those crops.

For more information, persons are invited to visit the USDA Farm Service Agency's web site at www.fsa.usda.gov/bcap or contact Kelly Novak at 202-720-4053 or cepdmail@wdc.usda.gov. The BCAP project area proposal submission form is available online at BCAP Form 20 (PDF, http://www.fsa.usda.gov/Internet/FSA_File/bcap_form_20.pdf).

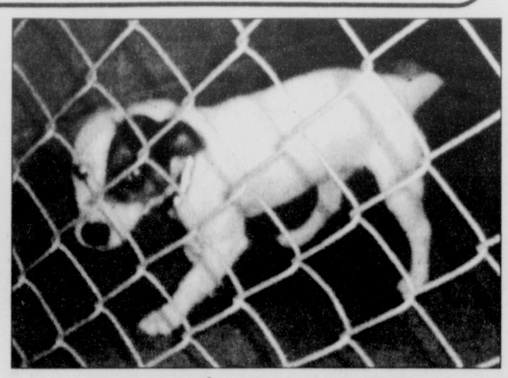
Adorable Adoptables



AT THE GARRETT COUNTY ANIMAL SHELTER this week, left to right, are a beagle that was picked up along Pleasant Valley Road, a black longhair male feline found in the Oakland area, and a Jack Russell/chihuahua mix. Also in need of homes, but not pictured, are a Chesapeake Bay retriever that was picked up along Mayhew Inn Road wearing a collar but no tags and several nice young cats, including a tabby, black/white tuxedo, and calico. "Even though one dog (the hound from last week) was adopted and several were taken to rescues by HART, the shelter's dog kennel was very full on Wednesday," said a GC Humane Society spokeswoman. "A shepherd-husky, Boston terrier mix, and several other dogs are available. When I was at the shelter, one more dog came in, a collie-shepherd mix, but her owner couldn't be reached. Also, many calls came in from different locations that dogs were missing. When you are not home, do not leave your dog out in an unprotected area that is not fenced. Dog thefts do occur nationwide, and it is important that you have IDs on your pets and have them microchipped for extra protection." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday. Photos courtesy of the GC Humane Society.

Spotlight on Garrett County Non-Profits:

The Work They Do, The People They Serve

This column, sponsored by the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, is one of a series of articles about local non-profit organizations. The purpose is to inform citizens about the services offered by the organizations, and to let them know about the volunteer opportunities available within these groups.

This week's feature:

What is Garrett Trails?

Garrett Trails is a volunteer run and led non-profit organization with a mission to develop a well-used network of outstanding quality trails that provide access to Garrett County's historic, municipal, and environmental treasures, and also link to trails outside the county.

The main focus has been a 150-mile, multi-surface, multi-user trail, the Eastern Continental Divide Loop Trail, named for its eastern leg running along the Eastern Continental Divide at Meadow Mountain. This trail connects state parks and forests with population centers in addition to connecting the local part of the loop with the Great Allegheny Passage (GAP) to the north. Specifically, the proposed loop will link the following:

• Grantsville/Penn Alps north along the Casselman River to the GAP (at Meyersdale, Pa.) and south along Meadow Mountain connecting to New Germany State Park and Savage River State Forest;

• Grantsville, McHenry, Mtn. Lake Park, and Oakland (and in the future Kitzmiller) all linked;

• Oakland to Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls state parks;

• Swallow Falls State Park to the Fork Run Recreation Area, and ASCI and the Visitors Center;

• Oakland to Friendsville by footpath along the Youghiogheny River; and

• Friendsville to Confluence, Pa., by paddle across Youghiogheny Lake.

The Purpose of Trail Connections

Twenty percent of Garrett County's land is preserved in state parks, forests, and wildlife management areas. Interconnected trails provide access to these areas, while the outdoor experiences people have on trails create the foundation for stewardship.

Trails bring economic development by encouraging more visitors and attracting new residents. The GAP, to which the Eastern Continental Divide Loop will connect, is drawing thousands of hikers and bikers each year. An economic impact study of the GAP found that over $40 million in annual direct spending and another $7.5 million in wages is directly attributable to the trail market.

Job creation and financial impact stems from hikers and bikers stopping for lunch, picking up spare gear, and staying the night at any number of businesses located near these trails.

A comprehensive trail system in Garrett County will become an indispensable asset by recruiting new businesses to the county, providing better quality of life for both residents and visitors, while increasing exercise opportunities, providing new employment, and generating additional tax revenue.

In October of 2010, the Department of Natural Resources hosted the first ever Maryland Trails Summit. Governor Martin O'Malley expressed a strong desire "to make Maryland's trails system second to none in the nation." State political leaders have begun to recognize that interconnected trails will lead to more trail users, expanded monitoring of trails for illegal/harmful use, promotion of fitness and outdoor enjoyment, and countless economic benefits.

Volunteering Opportunities

Right now the organization has political support, a concrete vision, trails started in Fork Run and Jennings Randolph Lake, designs for extension of the Meadow Mountain Trail, and designs and funding for a Wisp to the Visitors Center trail.

Volunteers are encouraged to join this movement to make Garrett County's trails the envy of the region by adopting a trail, volunteering during a trail maintenance day, attending the Taste of Garrett County, or making a donation at www.GarrettTrails.org.

Volunteers' time, energy, and support will help make an interconnected trail system in the county a reality.

ANNUAL WALK FOR HOSPICE TO BE HELD AT GARRETT 8 CINEMAS — The sixteenth annual Walk For Hospice will be held on Saturday, April 30, at Garrett 8 Cinemas. Registration will begin at 9 a.m., with the walk beginning at 10 a.m. This year there will be prizes for the top three teams and the top three individuals. Teams may have two to four members, and prizes will be awarded to those who bring in the most money the day of the walk. Top team prizes will be a $1,000 Wal-Mart gift card, a $500 Wal-Mart gift card, and a limo trip to Uno's for dinner for four people. Individual prizes will be a $1,500 Wal-Mart gift card, a flat-screen television, and a laptop computer. For more information, or to receive a registration form, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, or 800-521-5252 in the Grantsville area. One may also e-mail hospiceofgc@verizon.net or visit the web site www.hospiceofgarrettcounty.org. Pictured above are those who made the event possible. From left are: Brenda Butscher, executive director; Elaine Marple, Hospice board member; Elaine Baker, Hospice CNA; Lisa Friend, administrative assistant; and Amy Welch, office manager.

New Arrivals

The births of four babies were announced this week, two girls and two boys.

A son, Gage Alexander, was born to Edward and Amanda (Clark) Meeks, Oakland, on April 11. The maternal grandparents are William and Rose Clark, Bayard, W.Va., and the paternal grandparents are Dale and Millie Hutzel, Oakland, and Larry and Nancy Meeks, Chestertown.

A daughter, Ryaa Beth, was born to Ryan and Krystle (Canan) Brenneman, Grantsville, on April 14 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The maternal grandparents are Milton and Dawn Canan, and the paternal grandparents are Ron and Beth Brenneman, all of Bittinger.

A daughter, Aliya Hope, was born to Alice Croscoe Rutherford and Shaun Keiper, Terra Alta, W.Va., on April 13 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Hunter James, was born to James and Kelley (Harding) Tichinel, Swanton, on April 14 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

COME SEE WHAT HEAD START IS ALL ABOUT – Garrett County Community Action's Kitzmiller Head Start center will hold an open house on Tuesday, April 26, from 1 to 3 p.m. All interested parents in the Kitzmiller and Bloomington areas are invited to come see what a day in Head Start is all about. All visitors are welcome. Applications will be completed for eligible children for the 2011-2012 school year. Felicia Harvey and Jack Healy are pictured participating in the twice daily tooth-brushing activity, just one of many fun and educational activities that Head Start students take part in. Head Start is a federally funded educational program for children. "If you are interested in a program that provides support to families and a safe learning environment for your children, Head Start meets those criteria," said a Community Action spokesperson. For more information or to make an appointment to complete an application, persons may call the family services staff at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403 (toll free), ext. 126.

Town Hall

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

Spring yard clean-up will be the week of April 26–29. Residents are asked to rake leaves to the edge of the street, but not into the ditches, and to cut and bundle twigs and limbs to fit in the truck. The leaf truck is not available for this clean-up. Large limbs will be chipped with the chipper. No trash is permitted with yard debris.

Garage/Yard Sale Signs: No permit is required; however, a maximum of two sale signs, two square ft. each, are permitted in each residential yard. They may be placed 48 hours before the sale, and must be removed 24 hours after the sale. No sign of any kind may be posted on any traffic control device, utility pole, street light, U.S. mail box, or any other utility structure within the town. Violators will be fined.

Residents are reminded that zoning permits are required for most construction projects. Residents should inquire at 301-334-8339 before beginning any projects.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting that was originally planned for Tuesday, May 3, has been moved to May 17 at 6 p.m.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake. The center also has a Facebook page.

Saturday, April 23

• 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. – Natural Egg Dyeing. The Easter Bunny will be at the Discovery Center for the annual natural egg dyeing program. Volunteers and staff will be on hand to assist children in coloring their Easter eggs with natural dyes. Some dyes are from nature and some from from kitchen cabinets. Each child should bring 6 hardboiled eggs wiped in vinegar for this project. The Easter Bunny will also pass out candy and be available for photographs.

Sunday, April 24

• 8 a.m. – Let's Go Birding. Guests are invited to join one of Garrett County's most avid birders on an early spring walk around the park to listen for and watch birds. Experienced and beginner birders are welcome. Hikers should bring their own binoculars and meet at the Discovery Center.

• 1 p.m. – Hike to the Brant Mine. Take a guided hike with the naturalist to the historic Brant Mine. Hikers will see the remnants of a coal mine that operated in the 1920s. Various forms of wildlife may be sighted on the way.

Saturday, April 30

• 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. – Wild Foods and Ramp Cook-Off. Locals and visitors may compete for a prize for the tastiest ramp dish. Guests may participate in this annual tradition by sampling the dishes, eating the available grilled or deep fried ramps, or by entering an original dish. Donations will benefit the Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers. To enter or to obtain more information, persons may call the number noted above.

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

The following activities have been scheduled at New Germany State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. And how much I miss you.
Daddy, you were taken away from me way too soon...
Didn't you know I needed you?
Someone wrote this following passage that sums up how I feel inside...

I cried and watched you pass away; although I loved you dearly, I couldn't make you stay. A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands at rest. God broke my heart to prove to me that He only takes the best.

F'burg Museum Annual Dinner Set For May 5

Frostburg Museum invites the public to attend its annual spring dinner on Thursday, May 5, at Frostburg Methodist Church along West Main Street.

The evening will begin with a social and get-acquainted time at 6 p.m., followed at 6:30 p.m. by a "Let's Have a Picnic" dinner of fried chicken, ham, potato salad, deviled eggs, baked beans, and an assortment of pies.

The master of ceremonies will be Elizabeth Eshleman, Museum Association board president.

Following the dinner, a presentation will be given by Richard I. Yoder, curator of the Springs Museum in Springs, Pa. He will discuss the history of the museum and how each generation's guardians of the past must have a passion to hand over a better museum than when they began their jobs.

Yoder has been the curator for 10 years, and was the driving force behind the creation of the Springs Farmers' Market, which began in 1992 and now boasts approximately 50 vendors during the summer months.

A native of Springs, his passion has always been the history of the Casselman Valley, and he noted that this is what keeps him pushing for a bigger and better museum. During the past few years, with the help of dedicated volunteers, new cases have been installed; paneling made from the boards of the oldest house in Springs has been placed in three of the display rooms; and a clock tower, housing an E. Howard clock works, was added to the grounds of the museum.

Through the generosity of other local historians, additional antiques and artifacts are constantly being given and displayed at the museum, many on a rotating basis.

During the evening, there will be an opportunity to review proposed association bylaws updates, which will be voted upon at the annual June meeting of the general membership. Tickets at one dollar each will be available during the evening, and there will be a drawing for a gift basket provided as a fundraiser by museum board members.

Reservations can be made for the dinner by calling the Frostburg Museum at 301-689-1195.

The price for the dinner is $14 per person, and reservations must be received at the museum by Saturday, April 30. Reservations with payment may be sent to: Frostburg Museum, P.O. Box 92, Frostburg, 21532.

The Frostburg Museum is a non-profit organization located at the corner of Hill and Oak streets in the growing arts and entertainment district of Frostburg.

The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 12 to 5 p.m., and admittance is always free. Donations are appreciated.

For more information, persons may contact Garry Ritchie, curator, at 301-689-1195 or by e-mail at FrostburgMuseum@verizon.net.

The museum is also on the web at FrostMuseum.Allconet.org and also on Facebook, LinkedIn and Twitter.

The Museum Gallery is supported in part by The Allegany Arts Council, and is a member of the Allegany County Chamber of Commerce.

ANNUAL SPRING DINNER PLANNED – Richard Yoder, curator of the Springs Museum, will be the guest speaker at the Frostburg Museum spring dinner on Thursday, May 5. Yoder is pictured seated on a Jacob Miller chest built in 1787, which he will be giving to the Frostburg Museum this year. Yoder will discuss the history of the Springs Museum. See story for details.

4-H Club News

OAK HILL
by Emily Fratz, reporter

The regular meeting of the Oak Hill 4-H Club was held on March 27 at the Accident fire hall. The meeting began with pledges, officers' reports, and roll call. A new member, Emily Taylor, was introduced to the club.

Next, we discussed ideas for the door prize for 4-H Achievement Night and members decided on a snack basket.

Club members were reminded that Quality Assurance classes are only available online, and every member with a market animal must participate in 2011. Senior members were told about 4-H scholarships available to them.

Members then discussed upcoming activities, including the GCLA spring sale, a rabbit workshop, GEARS open house, 4-H camp, and two steer jackpot shows.

Following new business discussions, Brooke Yoder gave a demonstration on her rabbit project. She was assisted by Becky Schmidt, and they talked about meat rabbits and rabbit showmanship as well as different breeds of rabbits.

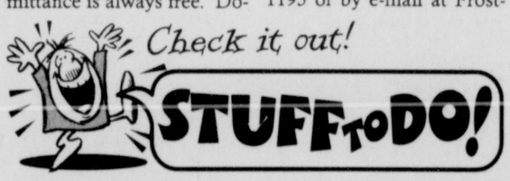
The next meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 28, at the Accident fire hall.

Edwards, Beitzel Will Be Guests Of GOP Women

The Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club will hold its first meeting of the year next Thursday, April 28, 7 p.m., at the Hilltop Inn, Grantsville.

The program will be presented by Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wendell Beitzell, who will give a report on the results of the recently concluded 2011 Maryland General Assembly.

There will be refreshments available. Guests and new members are welcome to attend.



THURSDAY, April 21

Special Session Of Legislature Could Turn Toward Transportation Funding

by David Saleh Rauf
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Maryland lawmakers, fresh off a grueling 90-day session where they approved a mix of new fees slated to create about $58 million for road projects, already are eyeing this fall's special session as a way to try to push through a comprehensive transportation revenue package. Such a plan almost inevitably would include taking another shot at increasing the state's gas tax, which has not changed since 1992.

Lawmakers this session made some moves to shore up a badly depleted pot of money dedicated for transportation projects known as the Transportation Trust Fund. But in the end, the General Assembly fell well short of finding a way to drum up the $800 million in new revenue for the fund that a 28-member commission on transportation funding recommended to address infrastructure and a growing backlog of road projects.

Instead, lawmakers moved forward with a variety of fee increases, ranging from vehicle titling to vanity plates, to generate about $58 million in new revenue for the fund.

House and Senate budget writers also inserted language in the fiscal 2012 budget that requires the state to pay back within five years money borrowed from the fund to plug budget holes, rejecting multiple bills that proposed a so-called "lockbox" on the state's ability to tap the fund for budget purposes. This session, Gov. Martin O'Malley plans to transfer $100 million from the fund to help run the state's day-to-day operations.

But lawmakers balked during the session at a plan that would have created up to $600 million for the transportation fund by increasing the state's gas tax by 10 cents and vehicle registration fees by 50 percent.

"The year is not over," Senate President Thomas V. "Mike" Miller Jr. said, alluding to this fall's special session that will focus on redrawing the state's congressional districts. "But if these gas prices are the way they are right now, I don't think there's going to be a whole lot of sentiment for transportation revenues. We're going to have to wait and see."

Sen. Robert Garagiola, a Montgomery County Democrat who is part of the transportation-funding commission, sponsored the legislation to increase the gas tax and vehicle registration fees.

Part of the reason the General Assembly shied away from his proposal, Garagiola said, is that O'Malley's legislative agenda was silent on transportation funding. Surging gas prices, which started climbing mid-session, also "made a lot of people nervous," he said.

In the end, any comprehensive transportation revenue package will have to include some form of a gas tax increase, he said.

Local Students Get Diplomatic At Model UN

Eighteen Southern High School students took part in this year's Model United Nations Security Council at Frostburg State University on April 6. Students selected to attend the event were from grades 10-12 who excelled in history and government classes. They were required to prepare for the event by attending evening tutoring sessions in the school's media center with Dave Bender, social studies teacher.

Two delegations of Southern High School students were honored. Juniors Kristen Yant and Josh Nesselrodt received Best Delegation in Council #2 for their representation of the United States. Elizabeth Sines and Corinne Weaver were awarded Honorable Mention for their efforts in representing Japan, also in Council #2.

At the Model United Nations, the students represented nine different countries in three separate council models. They were required to caucus, debate, and work through resolutions on given topics, such as a policy on North Korea's interest in developing nuclear weapons, human rights violations, as well as the promotion of long-term peace in the Far East.

Seven different high schools sent students to the Lane Center on the campus of FSU to participate in the Model United Nations. These schools were Allegany, Fort Hill, Bishop Walsh, Mountain Ridge, Hampshire, Northern, and Southern. Students were divided into teams of two delegates. These teams were then assigned nations to represent at the Model UN Security Council. Frostburg State University International Club students administered the event.

In preparation, the participating students researched their given nation's geopolitical, social, historical, economic, and physical characteristics in order to accurately represent them in the Security Council. Students then attempted to pass resolutions aimed at dealing with and resolving the issues relating to this year's real-world problems concerning nuclear proliferation and the balance of power in the Far East. According to their teachers, the exercise greatly increased the students' knowledge on the intricacies and frailties of international coalitions, diplomatic negotiation, consensus building, and global cooperation.

FSU awarded honors to students in each model. Honors were based on a student's ability to represent his/her assigned country realistically, participate actively, and speak effectively during the model.

Awards Presented To 4-H Members During Annual Achievement Night

The Garrett County 4-H organization recently held its annual recognition program and reception at Northern High School in Accident.

Over 200 youth were recognized for project completion during the 2010 year. In addition, volunteers were honored for their years of service, and several community awards were also presented.

Buffet coordination for the evening was handled by Snowy Creek 4-H Club, and beverage donation coordinators were Oak Hill 4-H and Red House 4-H.

Country Explorers 4-H Club members presented a slide show of various 4-H activities throughout the year.

Clean-up was coordinated by members of all the clubs. The donations for the reception were received by United Dairy Inc. and Dwayne Fratz Trucking Inc.

Each club donated door prizes, which were coordinated by North Star 4-H. Pledges were led by the Finzel 4-H Club.

A welcome was given by Kara Savage, 2010 Garrett County Farm Queen, who is a member of Bittinger 4-H Club.

The awards were presented by Ann Sherrard, extension educator for 4-H youth development, and Brooks Hamilton, president of the Extension Advisory Committee.

4-H members assisting on the stage with awards were Morgan Marple, Nicole Pysell, Jordan Diehl, and Erika Ritchey.

Alumni pins were given to Lisa Brenneman from Red House 4-H and Monica Rinker of Country Explorers.

Certificates were also presented to recognize graduating 4-H'ers. Recipients included Catlin Carrico, Allison DeBerry, Catlin Dumire, Ryan Fitzwater, Cecalie Georg, Sara Holler, Bryan Hutton, Nolan Marple, Alison Roth, Kara Savage, Aaron Warnick, and Brittany Wilhelm.

Clover graduates were Kristen Bender, Sophia Bishoff, Joshua Brenneman, Jacob Gilpin, Blake Gordon, Jeremy Hoalcraft, William Holtschneider, Cynthia Kline, Rileigh Lowdermilk, Emily Pysell, Emma Rush, Jacob Rush, Colton Stahl, Brooklyn Tasker, Shaila VanSickle, McKenzie Wilt, and Makenzy Winegardner.

Club Seal awards were presented as follows: Bear Creek, standard; Bittinger, standard; Friendsville Fireflies, standard; Finzel, achievement; North Star, achievement; North Glade, standard; Oak Hill, standard; Ryan's Glade, banner; Shepherd's Flock, charter; Snowy Creek, standard; Trailblazers, standard; Maple Mountain, banner; and Country Explorers, banner.

The Donald Sealing Community Service Award was presented to Aaron Lantz and Levi Lantz for the completion of their Diamond Clover Level 6 project.

Alison Roth was the recipient of the Baity Ridder Memorial Award, which is presented to an outstanding youth exhibitor at the annual Garrett County Fair. Runner-up recipients included Erika Ritchey, Kenya Rinker, Jessica Steyer, Cheyenne Harvey, and Cody Harvey.

The Dr. Scott Glotfelty Humanitarian Award was given to Nathan Tichnell. The award is presented each year by Dr. Glotfelty's family to a 4-H member who displays humanitarian skills and uses them in one's club and community.

A new award this year is the Cody Ferguson Memorial Scholarship, which was given by the Ferguson family in his memory. It is sponsored by Morning Breeze Farm, and the recipient was Annie Graham.

The Garrett County 4-H family of the year was the Savage family, which includes Deane, Nancy, and Kara Savage.

Character Counts pins were presented to Faith Tichnell, Bradley Rodeheaver, Derrica Friend and Bethany Rexroad. This award recognizes good character during 4-H activities throughout the years.

Achievement pins were given to Annie Graham, Greg Tichnell, Catlin Carrico, and Tara Marple for their outstanding participation in club, county, state, and national events.

Agriculture pins were given to Jessica Steyer, Cara Bauermaster, Dale Marple, and Toby Grove. These pins were given in recognition of noteworthy participation in agriculture-related projects.

The 4-H Spirit Award was presented to Katelyn Gnegy and Kevin Haenft-ling, who have exemplified the 4-H spirit of volunteerism and working with others.

PROCEED WITH CAUTION

Many sellers are tempted to list For Sale By Owner (FSBO) because they feel home prices are down and they don't want to lose one more penny to paying a commission. But with fewer than ten percent of all home sales falling into the FSBO category, it's a challenging strategy.

In personal terms, you'll have to safeguard yourself against prospects who have not been screened and qualified by a professional. When someone calls to request a showing, note their caller ID and keep a log of visitors. Stash away prescription medications and valuables before showings, and afterwards check that all your windows and doors are locked.

There are also legal considerations for your listing and hopefully, your eventual sales contract. Be sure your listing complies with the Fair Housing Act, which prohibits discrimination against buyers. If you're unfamiliar with escrow and title insurance, hire a real estate attorney to draft, review and record all documents.

This economy makes securing a loan difficult, so it's wise to require a loan pre-approval letter from buyers before accepting any offers. If you really want to get attention, sweeten the pot by offering a two to three percent commission to any agent who brings buyers to you. FSBO is not the easiest route, and many impatient and frustrated sellers end up hiring an agent to make the sale happen.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

First Christian Church, Friendsville. Galen Beitzel, Pastor. SS 10 am; Wor. & Com. 11 am.

Salvation is ours because of Christ's crucifixion upon the cross. He died so that we could be forgiven. Salvation is God's gift to us; in return we can grow in wisdom and in the Spirit and spread God's love to others. In 1 John 4.16-17, we read, "God is love. Whoever lives in love lives in God, and God in him. In this way love is made complete among us." This Easter, accept God's gift of love and share it with joy!

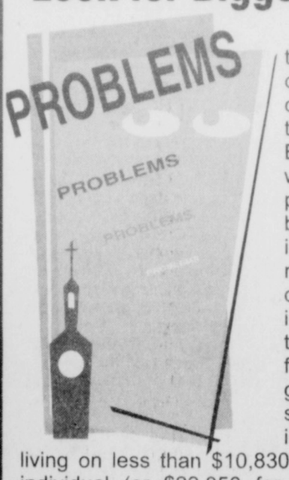
Look for Bigger Problems



Sometimes it is tempting to think that no one has problems like ours: "Nobody knows the trouble I've seen!" But, if we look around we may realize that our problems may be small by comparison. Poverty in the United States is measured on a whole different scale than it is in the poorest parts of the world. In the U.S., federal poverty guidelines consider someone to be impoverished who is living on less than $10,830 per year for a single individual (or $22,050 for a family of four). In contrast, the World Bank defines poverty to be living on less than two dollars a day and extreme poverty to be living on less than one dollar per day. At a time when one out of every eight Americans is receiving food stamps, we don't want to minimize the problem of poverty in America, but most Americans are not going hungry the way that many are in third world countries. Roughly one sixth of the world's population lives on less than one dollar per day. At least we have food stamps, and no shortage of food. When we are facing problems, perhaps one solution would be to look for bigger problems to focus our efforts on; war, pollution, or world hunger. Not only will it take our mind off our own problems, but we will soon discover that trying to help others is a better use of our time and talent.

In all things I have shown you that by so toiling one must help the weak, remembering the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'

PUBLIC NOTICES

TAX COLLECTOR'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE IN GARRETT COUNTY, MD

Under and by virtue of the powers and authority vested in the Tax Collector of Garrett County, Maryland, by Tax Property Article, Section 14-808 through 14-854 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 2001 Edition and amendments thereto, the undersigned will on:

Friday, May 6, 2011, at the hour of 10 am D.S.T. in the Courthouse Building in the Town of Oakland, Maryland, offer and sell at public auction to the highest bidder all the following described property situate, lying and being in Garrett County, aforesaid, for nonpayment of State, County, Municipal and/or an other taxing agency taxes as hereinafter set forth.

Terms of Sale: Cash, cashier's check or certified funds (no personal checks) on the day of sale for the full amount of taxes due on the property sold, together with interest, penalties and expenses of sale. Residue of purchase price shall remain on credit.

Purchasers will be issued a certificate of sale, which may be recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County. The holder of any certificate of sale, may at any time after the expiration of six months from the date of sale, file a bill of complaint to foreclose all rights of redemption of the property to which such certificate relates. Unless a proceeding to foreclose the right of redemption is filed within two years of the date of the certificate of sale, the certificate shall be void, and all rights to the holder of the certificate shall cease and all money received by the Tax Collector on account of said sale shall be deemed forfeited. Upon foreclosure and payment of the balance of the purchase price and all taxes, interest, penalties and costs, which have accrued, in the meantime, the Tax Collector will execute a deed which will vest in the purchaser an absolute and indefeasible title in fee simple in the property, free and clear of all alienations and descents.

The right of redemption continues until foreclosed as above, upon payment of the whole amount of money received by the Tax Collector from the sale of the property, together with interest at 10 percent (10%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of redemption together with all taxes, interest and penalties accrued which have been paid by the holders of the certificate of sale and the total disbursements of the holder of the certificate of sale made in accordance with law. All costs as to examination of title, preparation of deed, court costs and other expenses accruing after the sale must be assumed by the purchaser.

ALL BIDDERS MUST REGISTER AT THE TAX OFFICE PRIOR TO THE SALE. ALL SALES ARE FINAL!

'Harry's Law' likely to take the bench again

By Jay Bobbin

Kathy Bates

Q: Will they be bringing "Harry's Law" back at a later date, or is it finished for good? They haven't had it on the air long enough to get a following. –Anna White, Youngstown, Ohio

A: Actually, they have ... and that's good news. NBC was very impressed with the ratings for the Kathy Bates-starring, David E. Kelley-produced law drama, so it kept the show on the air longer than intended for its initial run. It's virtually assured of being renewed for another season in May.

Q: What happened to "The Cape"? Will it return anytime soon? –Joan Wayman, Chesapeake, Va.

A: In a word, no. For starters, NBC reduced the episode order for the adventure series that starred David Lyons as a crime fighter. As the show went along, NBC cut the run from 13 episodes to 10 ... and the final show didn't even make it on the air. It was posted on www.nbc.com for any loyalists who wanted to see how the saga turned out. All of that points to "The Cape" not returning, at least not on NBC.

Q: Can you tell me if the program "Boston Med" will be back on the air? I have been in one of those hospitals, and I found it a very interesting show. –Tena Smith, Durham, Maine

A: The successor to ABC's similarly themed hospital reality series "Hopkins," "Boston Med" won't have a return engagement this year. However, next up in the ABC News-produced franchise will be a seven-part program by the same producer that profiles employees and patients at New York-Presbyterian Hospital. Now being made, the show is expected to debut in the spring or summer of 2012.

Q: Could we have the reason for the ending of "The Closer"? –Betty MacCoon, Camano Island, Wash.

A: Very simply, series star Kyra Sedgwick believes seven seasons is enough for her, and TNT and Warner Bros. Television didn't want to – or didn't think the show could – continue without her. Its final round begins July 11 with 10 summer episodes, with the very last stories likely held back for winter, as has been the case with the series for a while.

Q: What ever happened to "Cold Case"? Is it ever going to come back? –Karen Forino, Baltimore

A: Not with first-run episodes. The Kathryn Morris-starring crime drama ended its seven-season CBS run in 2010. Repeats currently are part of the weekday lineup on TNT.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was evolutionary biologist Richard Dawkins who made the following sage observation: "We are all atheists about most of the gods that societies have ever believed in. Some of us just go one god further."
• It's been reported that for one two-year stretch, Elvis Presley ate nothing but meat loaf, mashed potatoes and tomatoes.
• In parts of Asia, tradition holds that if you sneeze once, someone is saying something good about you; if you sneeze twice in a row, something bad is being said; if you sneeze three times, someone is in love with you; and if you sneeze more than three times, you're about to catch a cold. • If you're like the average human, you have about 1,500 dreams every year.
• We all know that the phrase "dog days of summer" refers to the most sultry days of the year, but have you ever wondered where the term came from? It seems that the ancient Romans believed that when Sirius, known as the dog star, shined the brightest -- which was during mid-summer -- it added its heat to the heat of the sun, making the hot season even more unbearable.
• Libra is the only sign of the zodiac that is not an animal.
• Even if you don't remember it from its original air dates in the 1950s and '60s, you surely have heard of the iconic American situation comedy "Leave It to Beaver." You might not realize, though, that the original working title was "Wally and the Beaver." The producers thought that made it sound like a show about a boy and his pet, so they changed it.

Thought for the Day: "A conservative is a man who believes that nothing should be done for the first time."

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 25, 1719, Daniel Defoe's fictional work "The Life and Strange Adventures of Robinson Crusoe" is published. The book, about a shipwrecked sailor who spends 28 years on a deserted island, is based on the experiences of Alexander Selkirk, a Scottish sailor who spent four years on a small island off the coast of South America in the early 1700s.
• On April 29, 1854, the Ashmun Institute, the first college founded solely for black students, is officially chartered in southeastern Pennsylvania. Renamed Lincoln University after the Civil War, its graduates include poet Langston Hughes and Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall.
• On April 27, 1865, an explosion on a Mississippi River steamboat kills an estimated 1,547 people, mostly Union soldiers returning home after the Civil War. The Sultana was built to hold 376 passengers, but reports say that there were as many as 2,700 people on board.
• On May 1, 1931, New York City's Empire State Building is dedicated. The idea for the Empire State Building is said to have been born of a competition between Walter Chrysler of the Chrysler Corp. and John Jakob Raskob of General Motors to see who could erect the taller building. • On April 30, 1948, the Land Rover, a British-made all-terrain vehicle, debuts at an auto show in Amsterdam. The Land Rover had a boxy, utilitarian design, four-wheel drive and a canvas roof. Seat cushions, doors, a heater and spare tire were considered extras.
• On April 28, 1965, Barbra Streisand's debut television special, "My Name is Barbra," is aired. One sequence was shot on location in the fur department of Bergdorf Goodman, where Streisand vamped in exotic fur coats to a medley of poverty songs, including "Brother Can You Spare a Dime."
• On April 26, 1986, the world's worst nuclear accident to date occurs at the Chernobyl nuclear plant near Kiev in Ukraine. An estimated 4,000 clean-up workers died from radiation poisoning, as many as 70,000 people suffered severe poisoning and a large area of land might not be livable for as many as 150 years.

Q: My great aunt operated a catering business in Mobile, Ala., during the 1920s and early '30s. She had several cookbooks that she especially liked, including at least three I think might be valuable: The Home Queen Cook Book, published in 1893; the White House Cookbook, the Frances Folsom Cleveland edition of 1894; and The Boston Cook Book by Mary J. Lincoln, the 1910 edition. -- Naomi, Glendale, Ariz.
A: I found all three of your cook books in the Antique Trader Collectible Cookbooks Price Guide by Patricia Edwards and Peter Peckham (Krause, $21.99). The values are $102 to $181 for The Home Queen Cook Book, $105 to $188 for the Cleveland edition of The White House Cookbook, and $45 to $81 for The Boston Cookbook. Check out the authors' excellent website at www.oldcookbooks.com.

Q: I have a bowl that has been identified as being made by the Diamond Cut Glass Works. Can you tell me anything about this company? -- Susan, Shreveport, La.
A: Whenever I get a question about glass, I grab my copy of "Glass A to Z" by David J. Shotwell (Krause, $24.95). It is one of my favorite reference books in this field of collecting. According to Shotwell, the company was founded by Abraham Diamond in New York City in 1900. It was first listed as the Diamond Cut Glass Works in 1910, and purchased in 1915 by Lawrence I. and Minnie Cohn.

Computer Classes Scheduled In May At G'ville Center

Two computer courses, "Microsoft Office Word I, 2007 Version" and "Managing and Maintaining Your Computer," will be offered at Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, in May.

"Microsoft Office Word, 2007 Version" is slated for Tuesdays and Wednesdays, May 10–18, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

This course will examine the newest features for 2007 introducing the student to processing various types of documents, and how to edit, assemble, format, sort and save. Students will also learn how to create graphs and tables.

"Managing and Maintaining Your Computer" is set for Tuesday and Thursday, May 24 and 26, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

This five-hour course is designed to teach the fundamentals of maintaining a personal computer. Topics will include system maintenance, trouble shooting, managing files and folders, dealing with common error messages, and cleaning the computer inside and out.

Students will also learn many tips and tricks to improve performance and how to stay up-to-date with their PCs.

For additional information, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or via e-mail at terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, persons may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Extension Office To Offer Walking, Nutrition Series

University of Maryland Garrett County Extension will offer a free walking and nutrition series called WalkWays beginning on May 3 at 4 p.m. and continuing each Tuesday until the end of May. All materials, including a pedometer, are free.

Abbi Kifer, the Extension's registered dietitian, will lead the series.

"The program is customized to you, so it doesn't matter what your fitness level is," she said. "By enrolling in WalkWays you will use a pedometer to count the number of steps you currently take each day. You'll learn some practical ways to increase your steps so walking becomes part of your daily routine. You'll form friendships and be able to share successes and challenges with the group."

Participants will also receive motivational sessions and learn about healthy eating and such benefits of walking as weight management, increased energy, and decreased risk of diabetes,and heart disease.

Kifer noted that the series is an education and support program, and participants will not be required to exercise during the session.

Those who wish to participate are asked to reserve a spot by calling the local Extension office at 301-334-6960 by Tuesday, April 26.

Persons who need special assistance to participate in WalkWays may call the above number or e-mail akifer@umd.edu by April 26.

ARE YOU RECEIVING A TAX REFUND? DO YOU HAVE A PLAN?

by Lynn Little, Extension Educator, Family and Consumer Sciences University of Maryland Extension

A tax refund is always a welcome bonus. Whether its $300 or $3,000, the way you use that money can have a real impact on your personal and financial well-being.

Plan ahead before spending your tax refund. Without a plan, you may use the money on the first thing that comes to mind and later realize something else was more important.

Try to think about all your options, even ones that aren't very glamorous. Planning ahead and involving the family increases the chances you will identify all the possibilities and think about which are most important. Ask yourself:

Do I have outstanding or past due bills? Am I carrying a balance on my credit card? Can I use the refund to clean up last year's holiday bills? Should I set aside part of it to eliminate holiday bills this year? Do I have a big expense, such as property taxes, an insurance premium, loan payment, or major car repair coming up? Do I have adequate emergency funds set aside?

Consider using your tax refund or a portion of it to pay down debts, starting with the highest interest rates first. If you owe $2,000 on a credit card charging 24 percent interest and only make the minimum payment each month, it will take more than five years to eliminate the debt. If you have one or two smaller debts, you may get more satisfaction from paying them off in full. This will free up money to increase your monthly payment on the higher interest debt.

Do you have an emergency fund? Three to six months savings is a goal recommended for an emergency fund, but one that may not seem easily attainable. Use part of your tax refund to start and/or build your emergency fund. Try to continue putting away $5 or $10 a week to increase your emergency savings.

Consider using your tax refund or a portion of it to start a special savings fund to help pay those big bills, like insurance and taxes, that may only come once a year or once every few months. Avoid problems with those bills by being ready for them by continuing to add to those savings throughout the year.

Devote a portion of your tax refund to building long-term financial security by contributing to your retirement account or IRA (Individual Retirement Account).

People sometimes think of a tax refund as forced savings, yet, in reality, you have provided a loan to the government without earning any interest. Adjust your tax withholdings and create a savings account that will earn interest.

Still feel the urge to splurge? After paying down debt and adding to savings for short- and long-term goals, use a small amount for something you and your family will enjoy.

Park Quest '11 Registration To Open Monday

The Maryland Park Service (MPS) announces that registration for Park Quest 2011 will begin next Monday, April 25, at 10 a.m., and is expected to fill up quickly.

"The Maryland Park Service created Park Quest, an outdoor adventure-based program, in support of the national No Child Left Inside initiative to get children and families outdoors to experience the wonders of our natural world," said MPS superintendent Nita Settina. "We knew it would be a fun, exciting program, but the overwhelming response has taken the state by surprise."

Up to 1,000 teams may register online at www.dnr.maryland.gov/parkquest to take part in the fourth season of Park Quest. Registered teams are issued a "Park Quest Passport," which provides free access to Park Quest sites. This year, teams will have the opportunity to visit 24 parks and participate in activities, including kayaking, hiking, geocaching, letterboxing, orienteering, scavenger hunts, mining, biking, horseback riding, and other activities.

The theme for Park Quest is "Where a Family Becomes a Team." A team consists of at least one adult and one child 16 years of age or younger. Teams may be as large as 10 people. Each team's goal is to compete in at least 10 quests this summer from May 7 to September 5.

Those teams who successfully complete 10 of 24 quests by September 5 will be eligible to compete in the Park Quest Rendezvous on Sept. 24 at the Hammerman Area of Gunpowder Falls State Park. The rendezvous event has evolved this year, and will feature a mixture of physical and memory-oriented competitions, festival activities, vendors, and family-oriented programming.

In addition to competitions, door prizes will be awarded during the rendezvous event. Teams must be registered for the rendezvous and be present as a team on site to be eligible for the door prizes. There will also be a grand prize drawing for teams completing all 24 quests.

"Park Quest has introduced hundreds of families to the many hidden treasures found in Maryland's precious public lands," Settina said. "Now more than ever, it is important for children to be exposed to the wonders of our natural world. The things that a child learns and experiences with an adult today become the fond memories and wisdom that will influence our future. Park Quest is an affordable getaway for any family in Maryland. Registration for Park Quest is free and includes entrance into all participating state parks and nearly all the quest activities. Adults and children are encouraged to routinely go outside to play together. It's good for everyone's health, and Park Quest is the perfect way to get started."

For more information on Park Quest, persons are invited to go online to www.dnr.maryland.gov/parkquest.

According to a recent study, conducted in partnership with the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, and the Maryland Association of Destination Marketing Organizations, Maryland state parks have an estimated annual economic benefit of more than $650 million. In 2010, visitors directly spent more than $567 million locally – $25.56 locally for every dollar the state invests in state parks – during their visits. Almost 95 percent of visitors had their expectations met or exceeded during visits, the study revealed.

ACCIDENT ELEMENTARY CELEBRATES CHARACTER — Students at Accident Elementary School recently celebrated the institution's character education traits for March, courage and facing challenges. At the character trait assembly, student actors demonstrated these characteristics with an adaptation of The Wizard of Oz, in which Faith Parandhamaia played Dorothy, Hunter Schroth was the scarecrow, Travis Georg the cowardly lion, and Ethan Custer the tin man (pictured below). The Accident Elementary School students who worked hard to demonstrate courage during the month of March were rewarded with star slips. During the assembly, one student from each classroom was selected to receive recognition and a McDonald's certificate. The students recognized are pictured above left. In the front row, left to right, are: Abygayle Bonitz, Reagan Emory, Gabrielle Dery, Jacob Brenneman, and Kyle Chaney. In the second row are: Emily Taylor, Marshal Bittinger, Tessa Hermann, Tiffany Niner, and Kassidy Andris. In the third row are: Brant Detrick, Trey Rouse, Krystal Boone, and Sarah Smith. Additionally, Hunter Green was selected to receive a collectible coin set presented by First United Bank and Trust. Logan is pictured above right with Sarena Rodeheaver (right), bank representative, and Principal Karen Devore.

SOUTHERN STUDENT RECOGNIZED IN HISTORY — The Woodmen of the World Award for Excellence in American History was recently awarded at Southern High School to student Sara Jones for the 2009-10 school year. Jones was unable to accept the award until recently because she was attending school in Colombia, South America. Presenting the award is Doug Oxford, Jones' U.S. history teacher.

Flooding for each test runs five days prior to the administration of each test after school from 3:45 to 6:15 p.m.

SENIOR TRIP INFORMATION

All those attending the senior trip will depart from the football field parking lot on Tuesday, April 26. Be there by 4 a.m. Remember that your suitcase must weigh less than 40 pounds. We will arrive in Orlando early that day. Be sure to have items that you need right away in your carry-on. Make sure the liquid items in your carry are less that 3.4 ounces each and adhere to the Transportation Security Administration's 3-1-1 rules. To review TSA policy for liquid items visit www.tsa.gov/311/.

SGAA SCHOLARSHIP

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association will again be offering two $500 scholarships to one male and one female athlete at Southern High School. Athletes are encouraged to stop by the Guidance Office and pick up an application. Applicants must be members of the SGAA. The deadline to apply is Sunday, May 1.

WILL TO WIN ASTHMA SCHOLARSHIP

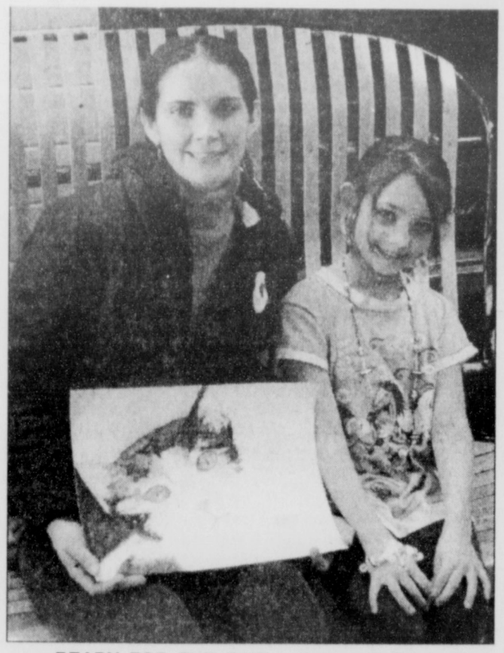
The Will to Win Asthma Scholarship was established for high school seniors who have asthma and excel in one of the following categories: performing arts, visual arts, community service, athletics and/or student government. Ten $5,000 scholarships will be awarded. Applicants must meet the following criteria: demonstrate outstanding performance in one of the above categories; document a track record of achievements relevant to entry category; hold a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale; have received at least one award related to their entry category; U.S. citizenship; and be accepted to an accredited U.S. college. Application information is available online at: www.willtowinscholarship.com. The deadline is Saturday, April 30.

GARRETT COUNTY EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The Garrett County Education Association offers one $250 scholarship to a senior planning to enroll in an approved teacher education program at an accredited college or university. Application requires a personal essay, letters of recommendation, transcripts, and a copy of a college acceptance letter. Applications are available in the Guidance Office. The postmark deadline to apply is Saturday, May 7.

GARRETT COUNTY FARM BUREAU SCHOLARSHIP

The Garrett County Farm Bureau is offering a $1,000 scholarship to county seniors who are members or who have parents in the Farm Bureau. In addition to membership, eligible applicants must be Garrett County residents, graduate from high school, be enrolled in the Lead Maryland Program, and provide an essay. Applications are available in the Guidance Office. The deadline to apply is Friday, April 29.



READY FOR THE FAIR – Route 40 Elementary School will host a Vendor Fair on Friday, May 6, from 4 to 7 p.m. A variety of crafts and products, such as scrapbooking materials, Tupperware, and other items, will be for sale by local vendors. Admission is $1 and includes two raffle tickets for items offered by the vendors. Lions Club chicken dinners will be available for take-out, with half a chicken, baked beans, coleslaw, and a roll. Dinners must be pre-ordered. For information about being a vendor, persons may call the school at 301-689-6132. All proceeds will benefit the Route 40 PTO. Pictured above is vendor Jessica Cribley with one of her drawings and her daughter Ana wearing jewelry that her mother made, which will also be sold that night.

Family Support Services Slates SHARE Event

Garrett County's Family Support Services will host two upcoming events for parents, grandparents, and caregivers of children with special needs. The first is scheduled for Monday, May 16, at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

This is an informal meeting where the main focus is to SHARE (support, help, and really encourage. No preregistration is required.

The next event will be a workshop titled "Communication Partners," slated on Tuesday, May 17, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Overlook Judy Center, Oakland.

Tracey Warnick, speech-language pathologist, will give parents ideas on how to develop communication skills in their children.

Preregistration is required, and reservations must be received by Monday, May 16.

Funding for the Family Support Network is provided by the Garrett County Infants and Toddlers Program through the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc. The Partners for Success Program is provided through funding by the Maryland State Department of Education through the Garrett County Board of Education.

Thank You

friends and family for making our 60th Wedding Anniversary very special. All the cards, flowers and best wishes were appreciated.

God Bless You All

Harold (Buz) and Barbara Bachtel

Thank You!

I would like to thank everyone who attended my surprise 88th birthday on April 13. Thank you for the cards, gifts and birthday wishes. Special thanks to my church family for making this a birthday I wanted to forget, one I will never forget.

I love you all.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Air National Guard Airman 1st Class Matthew R. Slone recently graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Slone is the son of Michael and Lesley Slone, Oakland, and a 2010 graduate of Southern High School.

Local Student Recognized By Honors Prog.

Local resident Scott Bass received the University Honors Citation during a recent ceremony in Memorial Chapel on the University of Maryland's College Park campus.

"The University of Maryland's Honors College is a highly selective, nationally recognized academic program for talented undergraduates at the university," said a spokesperson.

The citation signifies the successful completion of honors course work, which includes honors seminars, special honors versions of introductory courses, and a first-year colloquium.

Scott is the son of Kevin and Carol Bass, Bittinger, and the grandson of William and Barbara Bass, LaVale.

Cherry Glade Church To Host May 1 Program

The St. Andrew's Evangelical Christian Ministries will sponsor a program titled The Last Supper on Sunday, May 1, at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church from 3 to 5 p.m. The church is located at 4051 Accident/Bittinger Road in Accident.

The public is invited to attend this portrayal of Jesus and his disciples, which is presented by the Upper Room Group from Glassport, Pa.

The group has presented the program in churches and other facilities throughout Pennsylvania.

There will be a communion service offered to all in attendance. A freewill offering will also be taken.

Directions to the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church are: Take Mosser Road from McHenry, traveling east. Turn left onto Rock Lodge Road, travel 1.6 miles, and then turn left onto Accident/Bittinger Road. The church is 1.1 mile on the right.

Those interested in further information may contact Dr. Donald Forrester at forresterdrdonald@yahoo.com.

Saddle Club To Hold Spaghetti Dinner In May

The Mountain Top Saddle Club will hold a spaghetti dinner on Sunday, May 1, at the Deep Creek Lake fire hall in McHenry, from noon to 3 p.m. A 50-50 drawing and silent auction will also be held.

A meal will consist of spaghetti, salad, bread and dessert. The cost is $7 for adults and $4 for children.

Proceeds will be used to replace the riding ring at the Garrett County Fairgrounds.

The Mountain Top Saddle Club is a group of horse enthusiasts who put on several horse shows a year for both youth and adults. The club has been around for almost 30 years, and people from the tri-state area make up the membership.

There are both Western and English classes, as well as jumping classes, at the shows. There is a concession stand, and spectators are welcome and encouraged.

Show dates for this year are June 19, Aug. 28, and Sept. 11. All shows start at 9 a.m.

Persons with questions about the dinner or how to become a member may call Mary Vansickle at 301-746-8259.

Family Support Services Slates Moms Program

Garrett County's Family Support Services will host "Moms Have Special Needs, Too" on Saturday, May 14, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Garrett College in the Continuing Education Building. The event is for families of children with special needs and will focus on mothers as being "more than just moms."

Participants will learn ways to take better care of themselves so they are better able to take care of their children, according to a spokeswoman.

Lunch will be provided, and door prizes will be awarded.

Preregistration is required, and reservations will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. For more information or to register, persons may contact Babette Smith, Family Support Network coordinator, at 301-334-8119 or garrettfsn@yahoo.com, or Jill Horner, Partners for Success parent liaison, at 301-533-0240 or partnersforsuccess@ga.k12.md.us.

The Partners for Success Program is provided through funding by the Maryland State Department of Education through the Garrett County Board of Education.

Loch Lynn Church Revival Services To Begin On May 1

The Loch Lynn Church of God will host revival services on May 1-4 with services scheduled for 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday and at 7 p.m. on Monday through Wednesday.

Dr. Frank Harvey of Clyde, N.C., will serve as a guest speaker. Harvey is the founder and bishop of Covenant Life Ministries, an international apostolic network of churches and ministries. He grew up on a farm in Garrett County and attended seminary in Hendersonville, N.C.

Harvey and his wife Shirley, also an ordained minister, founded New Covenant Church in 1977 and remained senior pastors there until 2004.

Harvey has ministered in hundreds of churches of all denominations throughout the United States and internationally. Shirley has held women's conferences in the U.S. and abroad, and trains workers for Life Ministry Teams and the Ladies Mentoring Program. Currently, the couple travel extensively and give oversight to many minsters and their wives.

The Loch Lynn Church of God has invited the public to attend these services. Childcare will be provided for children ages 5 and under. The church is located at 8649 Gorman Road.

DCL Policy And Review Board To Meet

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board will hold its spring quarterly meeting in the lower level of the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The meeting is set for Monday, April 25, at 6 p.m.

Agenda items will consist of a review of conservation easements, the progress of phase I of the sediment plan, changes to Brookfield Power Company's water appropriation permit, an update on the wastewater treatment system changes, and the plan for the 2011 water quality sampling.

The meeting is open to the public. Those interested in further information may contact the Lake Management Office at 301-387-4111.

CHECKING OUT GARRETT COLLEGE – A group of 33 students from Hampshire High School in Romney, W.Va., accompanied by school counselors Carla Cacicia and Brenda Walker, visited the McHenry campus of Garrett College this week. Students toured the college facilities, including the residence halls, talked with admissions director Rachelle Davis and admissions counselor Chrisi Mason, and learned about some of the financial aid options from Cissy VanSickle, director of the GC Office of Financial Aid and Veterans Affairs. Several current GC students who graduated from Hampshire High School also took time to share information on their educational experiences at Garrett. Reciprocity agreements between Maryland and West Virginia allow qualifying residents of Hampshire County to pay in-county tuition for certain Garrett College programs. For more information, persons are invited to telephone 301-387-3044 or go online to www.garrettcollege.edu.

Business, Technology, Engineering, Information Evening Slated at GC

An information evening is slated at Garrett College for next Tuesday, April 26, from 6 to 8 p.m. This open house-style event will allow visitors to meet with key staff and faculty members and hear presentations on programs available through the GC Department of Business and Information Technology (BAIT), which includes a new electrical engineering program. The first 30 people who register to attend will received a 2GB USB drive inscribed with the Garrett College logo.

DR. QING YUAN

LISA HAWKINS

STACY MILLER

Information will also be presented on financial aid and scholarship options, steps to take for enrollment, and student life at GC.

Throughout the evening, faculty members will describe GC's state-of-the-art computer training labs for BAIT programs that lead to associates degrees, transfers, and industry-recognized certifications.

Dr. Qing Yuan, GC director of BAIT, will announce program details for the new Electrical Engineering Associate of Science program that will be offered in the fall of this year, pending approval.

"We have many top programs for people moving toward careers in business and technology, and we are very excited about adding the Associate of Science in Engineering (ASE) – Electrical Engineering program as a new component," Dr. Yuan said.

She will present an overview of a variety of courses available to students through the BAIT department. These include business, networking, web design, computer science, and computer applications.

Lisa Hawkins, assistant professor of information technology, will talk about the courses available in computer networking, including configuring, installing, and maintaining network systems. These skills are required in a broad spectrum of careers in business and technology environments.

Hawkins will also discuss upcoming Cisco networking courses offered at GC through the Cisco Networking Academy. As the world leader in networking, Cisco Inc. offers a global partnership program that teaches students how to design, build, troubleshoot, and secure computer networks for increased access to career and economic opportunities.

Stacy Miller, professor of business, will talk with prospective students about GC's business programs that lead to career opportunities. Students can earn certificates in computer applications for business or pursue an associate's degree. Those wishing to transfer to a four-year college can take advantage of an articulation agreement between GC and Frostburg State University and other four-year universities.

For more information on this event and to register, persons may telephone 301-387-3044 or go online to www.garrettcollege.edu.

GC Foundation Gala A Success; Will Become An Annual Event

The Garrett College Foundation Gala, a fundraising event held in conjunction with the inauguration of GC president Dr. Richard MacLennan, was deemed such a success by organizers that another one is already in the planning pipeline.

Fred Learey, executive director of the Garrett College Foundation, underscored his appreciation of the community response.

"Everyone who attended enjoyed the 'welcome to spring' opportunity to reconnect with fellow community leaders," he said. "This will definitely become an annual event for the foundation. We already are looking forward to the second annual Garrett College Foundation Spring Gala in April 2012."

The price of the tickets for the gala included a tax-deductible contribution to the GC Foundation. Learey explained that the money will be invested in the Garrett College Foundation and will benefit student scholarships, faculty and student development, instructional equipment, capital projects, and special programs that cannot be supported within the college's annual operating budget.

Gala-goers were treated to an elegant evening at the Wisp Resort, complete with a social hour with background piano music by GC students Raizel Benn and LeMichael Horne, dinner, and a program of speakers.

Dr. MacLennan reviewed highlights of his visions for the future of Garrett College.

Chelsie Glotfelty, who will graduate next month, received the Garrett County Scholarship and the Deep Creek Lions Club Stewart Jackson Memorial Scholarship.

Glotfelty said that the Garrett County Scholarship Program was "very important" to her because she is the youngest of three college-age siblings. This program allowed her to pursue her education and prepare for her future.

"I truly commend our county officials and the residents of Garrett County, including all of you here tonight," she said. "It seems as though our county truly realizes that today's younger generation is our future. By investing in their education, we are helping to better our community down the road."

Another speaker was former GC student Dan Tichnell, class of 2006. He had received the Roscoe G. Bartlett Scientific Scholarship from the College Foundation, then received the Jack Kent Cooke Bucknell Community College Scholarship and went on to earn a degree in civil engineering at Bucknell University in 2010. Tichnell is now the facilities planner at Garrett College.

Tichnell spoke of the importance of the GC Foundation to the successful completion of his academic journey. With a wife and four young children, the burdens of achieving his educational goals almost brought an end to that journey, he said. When the foundation awarded him the Roscoe Bartlett Scholarship, he was "back on track."

"The Garrett College Foundation gave me the map to complete my journey," he said. "I would like to say thank you to the foundation for providing me with that map. It feels good to be home."

Anyone who was unable to attend the gala but would still like to contribute to the Garrett College Foundation is invited to telephone 301-387-3131.

FOUNDATION GALA SPEAKERS – Garrett College Foundation board chair Dr. Jeanne Neff and executive director Fred Learey, pictured above, welcomed guests to the recent Garrett College Foundation Gala and thanked them for helping the foundation meet its commitments to serve the college, faculty, students, and community. While celebrating the inauguration of GC president Dr. Richard MacLennan, the gala was also a fundraising event for the foundation. Current GC student Chelsie Glotfelty, below left, spoke about the benefits derived from the Garrett County Commissioners' Scholarship Program, which enabled her pursue a college education. Former GC student Daniel Tichnell, below right, told about his educational experience at Garrett as a husband and father of four young children. He thanked the foundation directors for the role they played in keeping him on track to achieve his goal.

Financial Focus

Are You an "Environmentally Conscious" Invester

On April 22, millions of people around the world will celebrate the 41st anniversary of Earth Day. As a global citizen, you may wish to commemorate this event by thinking of ways you can help the environment, such as boosting your recycling efforts and cutting back on your energy consumption. But you can also contribute to a "greener" world through your investment activities.

Specifically, you can take action in two related areas: reducing your paperwork and consolidating your accounts. Let's take a look at both of these possibilities.

First, you can decrease your investment-related paperwork by taking advantage of all the paperless options offered to you by your financial services providers. For example, you may choose to receive online statements rather than paper ones. And when you make transactions, you may also be able to receive online confirmations.

Not only will online documents help save paper, but they can also help protect you from identity theft. The more paper statements, confirmations and similar items lying around, the greater the possibility of their being exposed to prying eyes. (In fact, if you do still receive paper documents, you may want to shred them when they're no longer needed.)

If you think you may need to produce this investment-related information, possibly to give to your tax advisor, you can most likely access and print the documents you need from your financial services provider's website. Most companies make this information readily accessible to their clients for months, or even years, after it has been generated.

Now, let's move to another environmentally conscious aspect of investing: consolidating your accounts. Start by listing all your financial assets, such as your bank accounts, investments, Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) and employer-sponsored retirement plans, such as a 401(k) if you work for a private employer, a 457(b) if you work for a state or local government, or a 403(b) if you work for a school or other tax-exempt organization. By consolidating as many of these accounts as possible with one financial services provider, you can significantly reduce the number of statements you receive and the paperwork you generate.

But paperwork reduction is only one benefit you'll receive from consolidating accounts. You might also be able to lower the amount of fees you pay. And even more importantly, by placing all your financial assets with one financial services provider, you will be better able to follow a single, unified investment strategy. If you work with one financial advisor, he or she will find it much easier to identify your strengths and weaknesses and help you allocate your investment dollars in a way that's appropriate for your retirement goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Earth Day happens only once a year. So take this opportunity to think about how you can do your part, through a few simple actions tied to your investments, to help improve the environment we all share.

OAKLAND

It's time to Spring Clean

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS OF OAKLAND: May 2 - May 6

CLEAN UP...
PAINT UP...
FIX UP...

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland wishes to notify Oakland Town Residents that the week of May 2 will be CLEAN UP, PAINT UP, FIX UP week. During this week, the Oakland Street Department will be picking up trash, weeds, rubbish, and/or junk. Town residents are requested to make an extra effort to do "Spring Cleaning" of their properties, including vacant lots as well as residences.

During this week, and this week only, fees for the following items will be waived, as a service provided by the County Commissioners: mattresses, chairs, sofas, washers, dryers, other household items, and a limited amount of construction debris (up to 100 pounds per household). This DOES NOT include commercial waste, paint, tires, batteries, large automobile parts, brush, leaves, stumps, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, or any other appliance with refrigerant. Please contact City Hall for the fees associated with the hauling of these items.

The Oakland Street Department now has a wood chipper. As a result, we no longer require limbs to be cut and bundled. Please call and let us know if you have limbs needing chipped. We are only able to handle limbs up to 6 inches in diameter. We will not remove commercially cut trees/debris! Large quantities must be paid for at Oakland City Hall prior to pick-up.

The Street Department will be hauling all five days between May 2, 2011, and May 6, 2011. If they should miss any items for disposal, please do not hesitate to call either the Street Department at 301-334-3253, or City Hall at 301-334-2691. Residents are reminded that the Street Department will only do limited bulk pick-up on Fridays (small quantities of yard waste and limbs). In addition we have suspended recycling pickup in Oakland until further notice; however, recycling collection sites are available throughout the county.

Do your part to help keep Oakland clean and beautiful!

Church To Begin Weekly Study Of Revelation Verses

Oak Grove Mennonite Church will host a verse-by-verse study of the Book of Revelation beginning Sunday, April 24, from 9:30 to 10 a.m. and continuing each Sunday.

The church is located at 188 Zehner Road, Grantsville, just off Route 40 at the top of Negro Mountain.

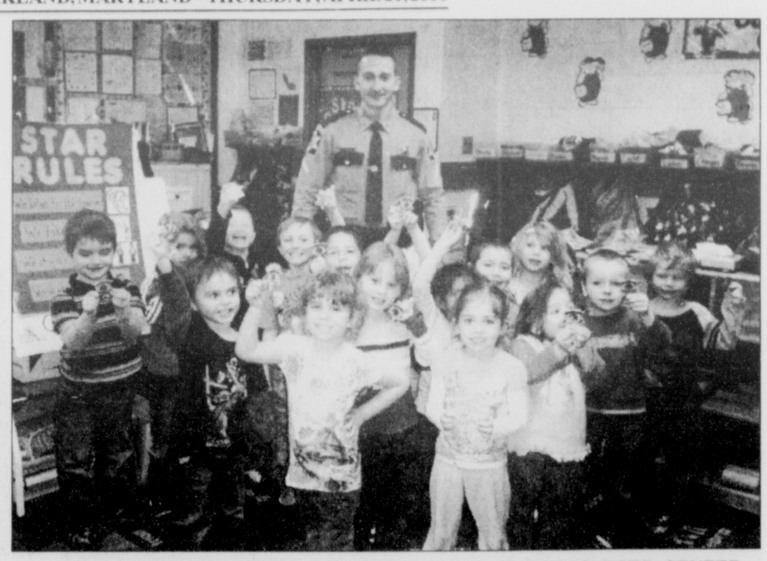
For more information, persons may call 301-895-5709.

AutoCAD Class Scheduled At Accident Center

Garrett College will offer intermediate level AutoCAD training at the Career Technology Training Center, Accident, Tuesday evenings from 6 to 9:15 p.m. from April 26 through May 31.

The course is designed for those who have completed an introductory AutoCAD class or have experience using this program. Building on basic skills, this course will also include drawing format advanced techniques and the use of paper space and model space. Skills developed will lead to a final project such as designing a shed or a deck.

For additional information or to register, persons may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.



GCCAC HEAD START TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE AT BROAD FORD CENTER — The Garrett County Community Action Committee will be holding an Open House on Thursday, April 21, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at the Broad Ford Head Start Center. The group invites all interested parents, as well as the general public, to come see what a day in Head Start is like. Applications will be completed for eligible children for the 2011-12 school year. Head Start is a federally funded program which offers educational programs for children. Increasing the number of children entering school ready to learn is one of the primary objectives of GCCAC. Head Start is committed to creating a positive attitude about the value of education among working families and young people in order to increase the number of Garrett County families who are economically self-sufficient. For more information or to make an appointment to complete an application, one may contact the family service staff at 301-334-9431 ext. 126. Head Start students are pictured above standing with Deputy Sheriff Colt Ruby. In the front row, from left, are: Alissa Thomas, Helayna Haefner, Sophia Porter, Luke Fair, and Joseph Brown. In the second row are: Jonathan Ray, Kaitlyn DeWitt, Layla Ali, Braige Hardesty, and Mariah Legeer. In the third row are: Joel Campbell, Madison Cook, Haiden Hinebaugh, Brody Friend, Brandon Huerta, and Jade Kahl.

Amazing G-race Set At Ministry Center May 21

The Anchor Ministry Training and Outreach Center in Friendsville will sponsor the Amazing G-race on Saturday, May 21. The event will begin at the Anchor, but participants will travel all over Garrett County. Teams will complete challenges to raise money for the center.

One team will consist of four people. The entry fee is $25 per person, or one team of four people may raise $200 or more in support from sponsors. Participants will each receive a T-shirt.

Examples of events are building a LEGO catapult to throw a pingpong ball, eating a stack of pancakes the fastest, the 100-yard dash, and throwing hay bales the longest distance.

For more information and to register teams, persons may visit www.theanchorusa.com and click on the Amazing G-race tab.

THE SURROGATE RELIGION OF ENVIRONMENTALISM

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. On a TV talk show, I saw an interview where the claim was made that "environmentalism" is actually a form of religion. That seemed pretty strange to me. How can anyone hold that?

A. Your inquiry departs from a standard science-only question, and brings up some subjective (but important) issues at the interface of religion and science. No one can construct a strictly objective "scientific" explanation, so I'll necessarily have to include my own subjective thoughts on the subject.

The ending "ism" denotes a way of thinking, perceiving and structuring one's life. Every "ism" is based on underlying assumptions, principles, and beliefs that tell its adherents what they ought to do. Providing ethical guidance for its members is a major part of what an "ism" does.

Followers of Judaism who observe Passover this week, and Christians who commemorate the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ at Easter have no problem in acknowledging that these are matters of belief. They would never claim that science provides absolute proof of authenticity – although many find in science valuable support for the validity of their beliefs. Those who can see an underlying compatibility between science and religious faith are comfortable in both realms.

Environmentalism likewise provides ethical guidance, but its followers generally recoil from the suggestion that it's a religion. The traditional buildings and rituals are absent; moreover, many adherents come from a background of explicitly rejecting "institutional" religions. Nevertheless, a careful examination of the basic assumptions shows that environmentalism indeed meets the criteria of a secular religion.

A cornerstone belief of environmentalism is that mankind is just one species among many. This view opposes the Judeo-Christian belief that God considers mankind to be very special. "Mother Earth" replaces God as the object of special devotion, causing some of environmentalism's subsequent assertions to be in direct opposition to the teachings of Christianity and Judaism.

Science appears to play a major role in environmentalism, but actually its role is distinctly secondary: Science is used subjectively, not objectively. After a set of beliefs has been established, various fields of science (and scholarly studies within those fields) are carefully sifted to select facts that support those beliefs. That's not the way science is supposed to work. But it happens every day in movies, magazines, blogs, TV, and newspapers.

In his excellent book, The New Holy Wars: Economic Religion vs. Environmental Religion in Contemporary America, Professor Robert H. Nelson likens the contemporary struggle between those two secular religions to John Calvin's struggle against the establishment of Catholicism 500 years ago. Nelson's book concludes: "It is time to take secular religion seriously. It is real religion. In the 20th century, it showed greater energy, won more converts, and had more impact on the western world than the traditional institutional forms of Christianity."

For the believing environmentalist, there is a certain "Garden of Eden" narrative: The beginning of evil came with the development of agriculture, when mankind rose above hunter-gatherer status and began to control and improve on nature to meet his needs. Thereafter came civilization and all its negative environmental associations. The whole story hangs together within a religious framework.

In America today, the religion of environmentalism has the distinct advantage of being taught in the public schools, and receiving plentiful government funding. Some of its beliefs are fairly benign, such as sympathy for polar bear cubs. But other beliefs have had horrible consequences.

The chemical spray DDT is a powerful weapon against malaria. It wiped the disease out in the developed world. Sprayed on walls, it acts for six months or more with a single application, keeping mosquitoes out of homes, preventing them from biting – and killing – any that land. But environmental activism and incorrect scientific interpretations led politicians to believe DDT harmed birds and fish, and the insecticide was banned in the United States in 1972. Since then, it has been largely purged from the disease control arsenal worldwide, even though malaria still infects a billion people in poor countries every year, killing up to one million. Since 1972, at least 20 million African children have died from malaria.

Throwing trash out of your car window is considered a sin by environmentalism. In other religions, allowing preventable deaths of millions of children is a far greater sin.

This year, Easter, Passover, and Earth Day all are close together. It's a good time to ask if environmentalism can be reconciled with traditional religions. Most religious people also want to protect the environment, and see ecological stewardship as part of their responsibility to God. Indeed, that is the message of another excellent book, Environmental Stewardship in the Judeo-Christian Tradition. Published by the Acton Institute a decade ago, it is a brief collection of essays by Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic scholars who have pondered how and why their own faith embraces care for God's creation.

In all cases, these authors root their arguments in Scripture, abetted by an understanding of modern science. They stress that the word "dominion" used in the Bible doesn't mean you can wreck the planet; rather, mankind is a partner chosen by God to be a responsible steward of creation. Emphatically they do not regard mankind as just "one species among many." And they don't confuse "Mother Earth" with God.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
306 SHADY ACRE LANE
OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Beverly A. Taylor and Lawton M. Taylor, dated November 30, 2006, and recorded in Liber 01275, Folio 0369 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with an original principal balance of $260,800.00, and an original interest rate of 7.500%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse door for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, on May 6, 2011, AT 1:00 P.M.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $25,000.00 by certified funds only (no cash will be accepted) is required at the time of auction. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. The purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note, its assigns, or designees, shall pay interest on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of foreclosure auction to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of foreclosure auction. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, not otherwise divested by ratification of the sale, and whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser, unless the purchaser is the foreclosing lender or its designee. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay to the Sellers' attorneys a fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten (10) days of ratification of the sale, the Substitute Trustees may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, in which case the purchaser agrees to pay attorneys fees of $1,250.00, plus costs, to the Trustees. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of foreclosure auction. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages, and any deficiency in the underlying secured debt. The purchaser shall not be entitled to,any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Substitute Trustees cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY LOCATED AT 1057 HERRINGTON MANOR RD., OAKLAND, MARYLAND
GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

By virtue of the power of sale contained in the Deed of Trust from John R. Markwood and Sharon Jean Markwood for the benefit of Summit Community Bank dated May 28, 2003, and recorded among the Garrett County Land Records in Book 974, page 600, default in compliance with the covenants of said Deed of Trust having occurred, the debt secured having come due and payable and demand for payment having been made and refused, James E. Walsh, Substitute Trustee, will offer at public auction at the property located at 1057 Herrington Manor Road, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, on Saturday, May 7, 2011, at 11:00 a.m.

all that lot, piece or parcel of land and the improvements thereto located at 1057 Herrington Manor Road, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, and more particularly described in the above-referenced Deed of Trust, which is hereby incorporated by reference for a more particular description of the property, excepting, however, those parts of the foregoing property that have been released from the lien of the Deed of Trust.

The Substitute Trustee reserves the right to solicit offers for the property as one unit and also solicit offers for the property as two or more smaller lots, and to accept the offer or offers that, in the Substitute Trustee's absolute discretion, will best serve the interests of the secured party.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of ten percent (10%) of the purchase price will be required on the day of sale in cash or by certified check or other form of payment acceptable to the Substitute Trustee in his sole discretion; the balance to be paid at settlement, except that no deposit shall be required of the party secured under the Deed of Trust and if the secured party buys the property, the payment of the purchase price shall be made by crediting it against the foreclosure costs, expenses and indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust and any other debts owed to the secured party that are secured by junior liens against the property sold. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate established by the secured note from the date of sale to the date of settlement. In addition to the accepted bid, the purchaser shall pay a Buyer's Premium equal to three percent (3%) of the accepted bid, which shall be added to, and become part of, the purchase price. If the purchaser fails to make settlement following ratification by the Circuit Court, and within 120 days following the sale, time being of the essence thereto, the property may be resold at the purchaser's risk and cost, and forfeiture of deposit, at the election of the Substitute Trustee, who specifically reserves all legal and equitable remedies. There shall be no abatement of interest allowed for any reason. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not receive any benefit, profit or proceeds therefrom. The sale is "as is" and the Substitute Trustee makes no warranty of any kind whatsoever including, without limitation, the property's physical condition, environmental condition, location, legal description or title, except that the property shall be sold free and clear of any liens. If the Substitute Trustee fails or is unable to convey the property in accordance with the terms of this advertisement, the purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit without interest. Taxes and other public assessments shall be prorated on and as of the date of sale and shall be assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Part of the property is assessed as Agricultural Property by the Maryland Department of Assessments and any Agricultural Transfer Tax shall be paid by the purchaser. Following the date of sale, all the risk of loss to the property shall be assumed by the purchaser. The purchaser shall pay all recordation and transfer taxes, document preparation and other costs of settlement. Purchaser shall not be entitled to physical possession of the property before settlement and the Substitute Trustee assumes no responsibility to place the purchaser in possession of the property after settlement. The Substitute Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The Substitute Trustee reserves the right to vary, modify, alter or qualify any of the foregoing terms or conditions at sale.

The property shall be sold subject to a 120 day right of redemption held by the United States Internal Revenue Service.

The sale will be conducted on behalf of the Substitute Trustee by Joe R. Pyle Complete Auction and Realty Service, 199 Gas Company Road, Mt. Morris, PA 15349 (724) 324-9000. The auctioneer is the agent of the seller only.

TRUSTEE'S SALE
1232 Old Crellin Road
Oakland, Maryland 21550

Under and by virtue of the powers of sale contained in a Deed of Trust dated July 15, 2008, and recorded in Liber 1381, Folio 451 of the Garrett County Land Records, the undersigned Trustee will offer for sale at public auction at the front doors of the Garrett County Circuit Courthouse, located at 203 S. Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, on the property described as follows:

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 2011, AT 1:00 P.M.

ALL that certain tract, piece or parcel of lands consisting of approximately 24.19 acres +/- and premises situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, known as 1232 Old Crellin Road, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland and as more particularly described in the Deed of Trust. The property consists of approximately 20 wooded acres, 4 ponds, paved driveway, 2,946 sq. ft. dwelling, 2-car garage, several outbuildings and is located in a very desirable area in southern Garrett County.

TERMS OF SALE: The property and improvements will be sold in "as is" physical condition without warranty of any kind and subject to, all conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same. The purchaser is responsible for, and the property and the improvements described above are sold subject to any environmental matter or condition, whether latent or observable, that may exist at or affect or relate to the property and the improvements and to any governmental requirements affecting the same. A cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $5,000.00 shall be paid by the purchaser (except for the party secured by the Deed of Trust) at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash or by certified check at settlement (except that if the party secured by the Deed of Trust is the purchaser, a credit will be allowed for the indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust) which shall be ten (10) business days after final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, unless said period is extended for good cause shown, time being of the essence. If payment of the balance due does not take place within ten (10) business days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser or in any manner designated by the Trustee. Interest at the rate of 6% per annum shall be paid on the unpaid purchase money from the date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, and the property and improvements are purchased by someone other than the party secured by the Deed of Trust, then there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay. Taxes and water to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public and private charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, document preparation and title insurance shall be paid by purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. If Trustee is unable to convey good and marketable title, purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of that purchaser's deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, the sale shall be void and of no effect, and purchaser shall have no further claim against the Trustee or the party secured by the Deed of Trust. This sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan secured by the Deed of Trust, including, but not limited to, determining whether prior to sale a forbearance, repayment or other agreement was entered into or the loan was reinstated or paid off; in any such event this sale shall be null and void and purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of deposit without interest.

NOTE: The information contained herein was obtained from sources deemed to be reliable, but is offered for information purposes only. Prospective purchasers are urged to make their own inspection and inquiries of the property and improvements and relevant matters relating thereto.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Love Feast and Communion will be held tonight, April 21, at 7 p.m.

The Easter morning service will be held this Sunday, April 24, with a sunrise service at 7 a.m., breakfast following at 8 a.m., and Sunday school at 9 a.m.

BEAR CREEK CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Bear Creek Church of the Brethren is hosting a community dinner on Saturday, April 30, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the church. The menu consists of roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, applesauce, rolls, cake, and a beverage. Donations will be gratefully accepted. The church is located at 1088 Brethren Church Road just past the Accident Elementary School. The public is invited to attend.

BLOOMING ROSE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

A Good Friday service will be held at Blooming Rose Church this Friday, April 22, beginning at 7 p.m.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

First Christian Church will hold an Easter worship and praise at 8 a.m. this Sunday, April 24. Breakfast will follow the service. Regular morning worship will be held at 10 a.m.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

An Easter sunrise service will be held this Sunday, April 24, at 7 a.m. at Friendsville United Methodist Church. Breakfast will follow the service.

The Friendsville Community Choir will present its annual Easter cantata this Sunday, April 24, beginning at 11 a.m. at the church. The public is invited to attend.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

The parish Maundy Thursday traditional Christian Seder meal will be held tonight, April 21, at the Accident fire hall beginning at 7 p.m. Holy Communion will be held at the end of the meal.

Good Friday worship will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church in the Cove at 7 p.m.

Easter morning worship will be held at 7:30 a.m. with Holy Communion. Breakfast will follow the morning worship.

SELBYSPORT UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

A Maundy Thursday service with Holy Communion will be held tonight at 7 p.m.

MOUNTAIN DALE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Mountain Dale Church of the Brethren, located off I-68 Exit 29, Big Bear Lake Road, will have a Good Friday service at 7 p.m. and Easter Sunday sunrise service at 6 a.m., with Sunday school following. For more information, persons may contact Pastor Lewis Beachy at 301-334-1839.

THE WISHING WELL
By Lucretia Sines

Mabel Griffith is now a resident of Goodwill Nursing Home following a recent hip fracture. She will be celebrating her 89th birthday on April 30. Cards can be sent to her in care of the home.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG TAKE-BACK DAY

A Nationwide Drug Take-Back Day will be held on April 30 at different locations around the nation. Northern Rescue Squad will be participating in this event by providing drop-off locations on that day at all three rescue squad stations. Drop-off of expired or unused medications can be done at the Grantsville station from 10 a.m. to noon, at the McHenry station from 1 to 3 p.m., and at the Friendsville station from 4 to 6 p.m.

A member of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office will be collecting medications at each station during those times. Items accepted are over-the-counter or prescription medications, with no questions asked. No identification is required. Sharps will not be accepted. This event is to help protect family, community and environment by properly disposing of the medications. This event is being sponsored by the Drug Enforcement Agency with support from GC Sheriff's Office, the Drug Free Communities Coalition, and the Garrett County Health Department.

RAMP FEED

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department will host a ramp feed on Sunday, May 1, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the fire hall. The menu will consist of bean soup, fried taters, Granny's corn bread, and AYCE ramps. The cost is $6 for adults and $4 for children. Chicken nuggets and fries will also be available.

CIRCLE OF FRIENDS PLANS OHIO TRIP

The Circle of Friends travel group has scheduled a 3-day trip to Ohio June 24–26. Some of the highlights include: a guided tour of the Amish countryside, with stops at Lehman's Hardware, Hershberger's Truck Patch & Bakery, Coblentz Chocolates, Care & Share Baskets, and Guggisberg Cheese Factory. A tour of Roscoe Village, an old restored port on the Erie and Ohio Canal, and a narrated ride on the Monticello canal boat will also be featured.

The group will attend the Living Word Outdoor Drama, which portrays the life story of Jesus on a 400-foot panorama stage. The trip will end with a guided safari tour through The Wilds, North America's largest wildlife conservation facility, viewing 25 species of Asian, African, and North American wildlife. The trip is open to the public.

For additional information on this trip or other Circle of Friends trips planned for this year, persons should contact Nancy Resh, evenings, at 301-895-5233.

GGBA Meeting Set For April 27

The next meeting of the Greater Grantsville Business Association will be held on Wednesday, April 27, at Penn Alps Restaurant at 8 a.m. The guest speaker will be Nicole Christian, president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

Christian is one of only 450 certified chamber executives in the country. She has been in the chamber industry for 16 years, and has held senior level/CEO positions at four different chambers. Throughout her career, she has worked with many diverse populations from small businesses to international companies and from small rural communities to large metro areas.

Christian is a graduate of the Institute for Organization Management, and also studied political science and advertising at the University of Kentucky.

She is a native of Ft. Thomas, Ky., but currently lives in Garrett County.

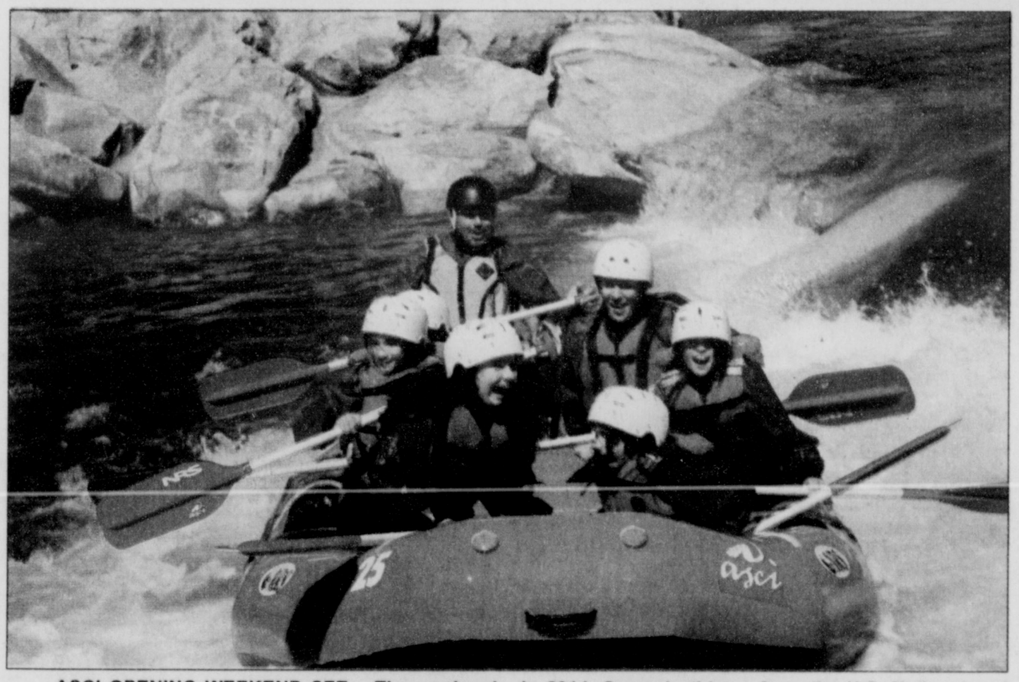
RECOGNIZED FOR RAISING ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS – Ranger Caroline Blizzard, Maryland Park Service, received the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science's 2011 Richard A. Johnson Environmental Education Award last Thursday for her contributions to environmental education in western Maryland. For her efforts, she received a check for $1,500 to support the work of local volunteers. Blizzard is director of the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discovery Center and shares her knowledge as a monarch butterfly "ambassador" with local students. See story for details. Left to right are UMCES president Dr. Donald Boesch, Blizzard, and Appalachian Laboratory director Dr. Robert Gardner. See story.



ASCI OPENING WEEKEND SET – The weekend of May 14-15 will be the opening of whitewater fun at the Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) atop Marsh Mountain in McHenry. To kick off the summer, ASCI is offering guided rafting for $25 per person, which includes a two-hour whitewater experience in a six-person raft with a professional guide, safety equipment, and instruction. Participants will also learn about other adventure opportunities at ASCI, including climbing and rappelling, geocaching, and mountain biking. The opening weekend will provide an opportunity for local residents and visitors to experience the course that will be used for the 2014 Canoe Slalom World Championships in 2014. Several athletes from the U.S. National and Junior teams, including Olympian Scott Parsons, will be practicing on the course on Saturday, May 14. Another Community Day with the reduced rate for whitewater rafting will be May 27, when a 4 p.m. sunset rafting event and bonfire will kick off the second annual All-American Whitewater Festival. Then beginning Wednesday, June 22, every Wednesday during the summer will be a Community Day. Reservations are required and can be made online at www.adventuresportscenter.com or by calling 301-387-3250. Guiding the raft in the above photo that features big smiles from rafting participants is local guide Bob Stephens.

Hearing Held On Constant Yield Tax Rate

The Garrett County commissioners held a constant yield hearing last Thursday evening at Garrett College. Eleven people attended the event, with four of them voicing their concerns about property tax rates. The hearing lasted 15 minutes.

Maryland jurisdictions are required to hold hearings whenever they are considering not reducing their real property tax rates enough to fully offset increasing assessments.

The commissioners are proposing to keep the current real property tax rate at $.99 per $100 of assessment in fiscal year 2012. Since the county's assessable base is expected to increase by .3 percent in the next fiscal year, keeping the current tax rate would generate an estimated $121,725 in additional revenue in FY '12, according to Financial Services director Wendy Yoder.

In order to have the same amount of tax revenue in FY '12 as in FY '11 ($44,880,148), the county would have to set the real property tax rate at $.9874 (the constant yield).

Several members of the Garrett County Board of Education attended the hearing.

"I would certainly encourage you to maintain the real property tax rate at the current level or consider increasing the rate to aid education," Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools, told the commissioners. "As you are aware, funding resources at the state and federal levels are continuing to decrease."

He said conservative funding scenarios indicate the BOE will loose between $3.5 and $7.5 million in state aid over the next five years.

Teets noted the property tax used to be $1 and returning to that rate would generate an additional $500,000 in revenue for the county.

"Of course, it's easy to cut taxes in good times and hard to make compensations when times are tough, but we're asking you to make sacrifices for our students," Teets told the commissioners. "Raising the rate to help fund education seems like a good way to invest in our children's education and future."

Representative Steve Benson, Garrett County Teachers Association, said the public spoke loudly and clearly at

Ranger Blizzard Honored For Her Education Efforts

The University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science Appalachian Laboratory has selected Maryland Park Service's Caroline Blizzard as its 2011 Richard A. Johnson Environmental Education Award recipient for helping "elevate environmental stewardship and understanding throughout her western Maryland community."

The award, presented last Thursday evening by Appalachian Laboratory director Dr. Robert H. Gardner, recognizes local citizens for their contributions to environmental education. It was awarded to Ranger Blizzard for her work engaging visitors at the Deep Creek State Park Discovery Center and her personal contributions to local schools and civic organizations.

"Caroline has set a new high water mark when it comes to engaging others about the need to conserve and protect our natural resources," said Gardner. "Her passion and leadership have helped bring the natural world into the lives of thousands of local residents and park visitors every year."

Blizzard has spent a lifetime helping western Maryland residents and visitors better understand and appreciate nature. Whether through her work as a certified interpretive guide, directing the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discovery Center, or developing the Maryland Department of Natural Resources "Become an Outdoors Woman" program, Blizzard has long been a regional leader in the environmental education field.

Since 2004, she has directed the Discovery Center and its interpretive programming

BOE Votes To Close Bloomington, Kitzmiller To Remain Open In 2012

While holding a special session at Southern Middle School Tuesday evening the Board of Education voted to accept the recommendation of Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools, to close Bloomington School.

Though Dr. Donald Forrester, board member, proposed action on the recommendation to close Kitzmiller Elementary School, that motion was not seconded and died on the floor. After stating that the lack of action had effectively kept Kitzmiller open for the time being, Thomas Carr, board president, remarked that he hoped it was "not a hollow victory."

Prior to its vote on the recommendations for school closing, the board met in a private session before taking statements from the public.

With a large crowd gathered in the cafeteria of the middle school, a few concerned citizens discussed the negative impact that school closings might have on their small communities and the children who attended the schools. The public comment session was followed with a presentation by Teets, in which he rehashed the budget deficits faced by the Garrett County school system.

Teets pointed out that the cost per student at Bloomington was nearly double that of any other school in the system, and that even with the $1.7 million recently earmarked for education by the county commissioners, the school system still faced a current budget deficit of somewhere between $600 and $800 thousand with a projected trend of shortfalls in coming years.

In the presentation, Teets discussed the drop in student enrollment, the state funding loss because of the wealth assessment of Garrett County, and increases in operational costs as causes for the deficits. Teets stated that the school system could not maintain the high costs of running

Elk Garden Man Sentence To Five Years For Burglary

A 19-year-old Elk Garden, W.Va., man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to one count of second degree burglary and two counts of theft. Related charges against David Lee Armstrong Jr. were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced him to five years in the Division of Corrections for the burglary charge and suspended four years of the sentence. Thirty days were imposed for the theft charges, to run concurrently with each other and consecutively to the one-year sentence.

Upon his release from jail, Armstrong will be on probation, with conditions that include paying court costs and making restitution to the victims.

Garrett County sheriffs investigators arrested Armstrong in October 2010 after learning that he was one of two persons who had entered a shed in the Kitzmiller area last June and removed numerous tools and gas cans.

While investigating this case, many of the tools were recovered from various persons in West Virginia, the state's attorney noted.

Officers also recovered a miter saw that had been sold by Armstrong, who identified for officers a garage in Kitzmiller from which it had been removed. After contacting the owner of that garage,

Woman Sentenced For Robbing M&T Bank In Grantsville

A 47-year-old Spring Grove, Pa., woman was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court to 15 years in the Division of Corrections for the June 2010 robbery of M&T Bank in Grantsville.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Amy Colleen McBride to the maximum sentence for both robbery and theft, but had to impose the sentences concurrently under the law. He also ordered her to pay more than $2,000 in court costs.

McBride was arrested on June 11, 2010, for the theft and robbery of a teller at the M&T Bank. McBride entered the bank wearing a disguise and produced a note demanding all loose bills and claiming she had a gun.

Once she left the bank, another customer was alerted to the crime, and he followed McBride down the street and obtained a license plate number and vehicle description.

Approximately 45 minutes later, that vehicle was stopped as it traveled south on Rt. 495 toward Bittinger. In the interim, McBride had discarded the money, the note, the bag into which the money was placed, and most of the disguise items. A bandana described by witnesses was found in her vehicle, as well as a tag from a shirt consistent with the one worn in the bank, the state's attorney noted.

Representatives of the Maryland State Police searched various locations where citizens reported seeing the vehicle, and three days later found the demand note. It was written in the check register for an account owned by McBride and her husband.

She was found guilty by a jury following a two-day trial in March, and a presentence investigation report was ordered. McBride has been incarcerated since her arrest in June.

Commissioners Earmark Another $700K For Board Of Education

After numerous budget review sessions, the Garrett County commissioners have agreed to appropriate an additional $700,000 to the Board of Education for Fiscal Year 2012, county administrator Monty Pagenhardt announced on Tuesday. These funds will be transferred from the county's unrestricted/undesignated fund balance.

This newest earmark is in addition to the previously announced $1 million increase in FY '12, compared to FY '11. Pagenhardt noted that the $1.7 million proposed appropriation to the BOE would be the largest annual increase ever approved.

"The additional allocation of funds will assist the Board of Education with a projected residual shortfall of $1.365 million that has been determined," he said.

The total proposed FY '12 allocation to the BOE from the county is now $24,874,000. This is still below what the board had requested from the county – $28,687,825. Its FY '11 BOE allocation was $23,174,000.

Pagenhardt said that although the BOE has not presented its comprehensive budget to the county, the commissioners project that the additional allocation – combined with cost savings from the board's employee retirement incentive plan and supplementary public education funds secured in the 2011 Maryland General Assembly session – will reduce the BOE's funding shortfall to $665,000.

He noted that county officials have worked to close its own $17 million funding shortfall, and reiterate to the BOE that all county departments have incurred budget cuts or have been flat funded in FY '12. County capital projects have been repeatedly scrutinized and reprioritized, Pagenhardt said.

"The Board of Garrett County Commissioners encourages the Board of Education to begin to develop without delay a long-term financial plan that will allow Garrett County public schools to proficiently operate, despite the loss of actual and potential funds from the changes to the state of Maryland funding principles and a declining student enrollment," Pagenhardt said.

He added that the commissioners are willing to work with the BOE in developing a long-term plan that will address these challenges.

Under county policy, the $700,000 must be restored to the unrestricted/undesignated fund within two years. Pagenhardt said the commissioners anticipate a similar

Deep Creek Lake Woman Gives "The Gift Of Life" To Her Oakland Friend

by Renée Shreve

April is National Donate Life Month, a campaign to encourage people to give the gift of life by becoming organ and tissue donors. While most Marylanders know they can simply check a box on a driver's license application and donate organs upon their deaths, they probably don't realize they can present that gift while they are still alive.

Deep Creek Lake resident Silvia Lahay has had that honor. On Jan. 12, she donated a kidney to her friend and fellow Deep Creek Lake Baptist Church member Patty Croston of Oakland. Silvia's husband, Dr. Ben Lahay, is the church's pastor.

"I feel humble, blessed that I got to be a part of this," Silvia says.

When Patty was 12, an untreated case of strep throat damaged her kidneys, which caused them to age at a faster rate than the average person's would. She always knew her kidneys would fail someday, but in the ensuing decades never experienced any major problems with them.

"They were fine up until the beginning of last year," says Patty, a retired Verizon engineering assistant. "The indicators in my blood work showed that my kidneys were slowly getting worse. And about April, my nephrologist in Morgantown (W.Va.) said, 'It's time to put you on the transplant list.'"

His plan was to get Patty a transplant before her kidneys deteriorated to the point where she needed dialysis. Studies suggest the odds of good results are better with "pre-emptive" transplants than those done after dialysis is needed. In addition, transplant patients fair better with kidneys from

IF APRIL SHOWERS BRING MAY FLOWERS, then there should be millions of colorful, fragrant blossoms for local residents and visitors to enjoy, as Garrett County has received about 7 inches of rain so far this month. Now that spring appears to finally have arrived on the mountaintop, gardeners will be eager to contribute to nature's bounty with dazzling annuals and perennials and tasty vegetables. But novices be aware: Frost and snow are always possible, even well into June, in Garrett County. Photo taken at the Oakland library by John McEwen.

National Day Of Prayer Activities Slated On May 5

The Garrett County Ministerial Association is sponsoring the 60th National Day of Prayer event for Garrett County on Thursday, May 5. This year's theme is "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

Local residents and people throughout the United States will join together for this observance, which was established by the U.S. Congress in 1952 as a day for prayer, a time to intercede for the nation and its leaders.

"Today our nation is in a state of urgency for the prayers of its people," Pastor Ross Glotfelty said. "We must pray. We must call on God to help our leaders as they make decisions for America. The National Day of Prayer is a privilege every American has to perform their part in petitioning God to lead us and to bless our country. People in Garrett County have been joining together over the years as they comprehend the seriousness of this opportunity to pray for their leaders of this county, and this year will be no different."

The May 5 schedule and contact information for several local activities are as follows:

Garrett County Historical Society Museum gazebo, Oakland, noon, Pastor Ross and Linda Glotfelty, 301-501-7171.

Bloomington United Methodist Church, 7 p.m., Dessie Welch, 301-359-9150.

Crellin Elementary School, 7 p.m., Elaine Bateman, 301-334-2954.

Deer Park United Methodist Church, 7 p.m., Don and Sue Virts, 301-334-2659

Friendsville 6:30 p.m., Jubilee Diner, Pastor Phil Smith, 301-746-5172.

Kitzmiller Elementary School, 7 p.m., Teresa Durst, 304-446-5770.

Swanton United Methodist Church, open for prayer 7 a.m.–7 p.m., prayer balloon launch (children and youth) at 4:30 p.m., Bill Kope, 301-387-9472.

Deep Creek Lake Baptist Church, 19841 Garrett Highway, 7 p.m., Dr. Ben Lahay, 301-387-5688.

In addition, Dennett Road Manor, Oakland Nursing and Rehabilitation Center, Goodwill Mennonite Home, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital residents and patients will receive tray cards with the inscription "May 5, 2011, National Day of Prayer. We are praying for you." The GCMH cards are sponsored by the Mountaintop Ministerial Association.

For more information, persons may call 301-387-6118.

"Caroline and her team have worked hard to make the center a frequent destination spot and hub for people to enjoy and learn about nature around Deep Creek Lake," notes Chris Conner, Appalachian Lab spokesman.

"Caroline is an invaluable asset to our agency, to our state, and to the thousands of visitors to Deep Creek Lake," said Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary John Griffin, "Through her dedication to the Maryland Park Service and natural resources education, visitors can better relate to – and appreciate – what makes our state unique."

Blizzard's passion for environmental discovery reaches beyond the boundaries of the state parks, according to Conner. Her work as a "monarch butterfly ambassador" has taken her to local schools – where she helped establish monarch "way stations," where students annually tag and release more than 800 butterflies and learn about their migration – to butterfly sanctuaries in Mexico, where Blizzard photographs her subjects to create classroom-based lessons back at home. This year, teachers traveled with her to Mexico to directly link the classrooms via Internet video, pen pal letters, and on-site visits.

"Caroline is an avid photographer, and her love of nature is reflected in her photography," Conner said.

Her work can be viewed around the local area in various venues, including the Four Storm Artists Gallery, and at local events such as the Autumn Glory Festival's Heritage Craft Show and Art in the Park. Blizzard founded Four Storm Artists Gallery, along with her family, to feature art inspired by nature and the local Garrett County area.

She is also involved with numerous area organizations, including the Garrett Natural History Association, Garrett Trails, the American Cancer Society, and several local civic and garden clubs.

The award honors the memory of Richard A. Johnson, a well-known orthopedic surgeon in the Allegany County area. He passed away in 1990, leaving a legacy of a caring and dedicated physician, family man, and naturalist. The Appalachian Lab honors his memory through its promotion of environmental education and the people who excel in its practice.

The award provides $1,500 to support further environmental education activities, which this year will support the Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers. An endowed fund to support the Johnson Award has been established at the University System of Maryland Foundation. Contributors to the fund include AES Western Maryland Management Co. LLC, Allegheny Power, NewPage Corporation, Mettiki Coal Corporation, and numerous private citizens and other organizations.

Past recipients of the Richard A. Johnson Environmental Education Award include Route 40 Elementary School principal Patrick Delaney (2006) and Garrett College professor Kevin Dodge (2007).

Founded in 1961, the Appalachian Laboratory is a center for research on terrestrial and freshwater ecosystems, including how these ecosystems function within the larger context of the Chesapeake Bay watershed, and how human activity may influence these ecosystems and affect ecosystem health and sustainability on local, regional, and global scales.

The lab is part of the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science, the University System of Maryland's environmental research institution.

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Sandi Flockhart, Sales Associate

Dear Sandi,

We wanted to write and express our sincere gratitude that we engaged Sandi Flockhart as our Realtor. In short, Sandi helped us to be successful selling our home during one of the worst real estate markets in many years. Sandi advised us with the specific steps to ensure success. Sandi's positive and upbeat attitude is a real asset to her customers. Sandi worked tirelessly to provide us with many opportunities to sell our home. Sandi expressed three qualities that we believe are most important in the success of every professional relationship. Dependable – She was there on-time every time. When Sandi said she would do something, it was done on time and correctly. Knowledgeable – Sandi's knowledge of the real estate markets and the buying process are in my mind critical components to our sales success. Her advice was spot-on. Thorough – Sandi completed each task, advised us on when things needed to be done, and she nudged us gently along when the tasks were ours to complete, ensuring we met each deadline. Sandi is an upbeat person and a delight to work with. Sandi is a tremendous asset to Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, and when we do more business in the area, we will certainly seek Sandi to work with us again.

Sincerely,
Edward & Lisa Hickey

GC Health Dept. Reports Second Case Of Rabies

Environmental Health Services of the Garrett County Health Department has reported the second case of laboratory confirmed rabies in the county for 2011. This most recent incident occurred on Sunday, April 24, in the Bishoff Road area and involved a raccoon and a currently vaccinated dog.

The property owner shot the raccoon and contacted Environmental Health personnel. The raccoon was sent to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Rabies Laboratory on Monday and found positive for the rabies virus.

There was no human contact with the raccoon, and the owner of the dog used gloves while handling both the raccoon and the dog, directly after the incident. The dog has been revaccinated against rabies and will be closely observed for 45 days, according to Linda Buckel, assistant director of Environmental Health Services.

"This incident reinforces the importance of keeping household pets current with their rabies vaccinations," she said. "Dog, cat, and ferret owners are urged to check the vaccination status of their pets to assure protection against rabies."

The Health Department will hold its annual spring low-cost rabies clinics throughout Garrett County from Monday, May 9, through Saturday, May 14. Locations and times will be published in the newspapers and announced on radio stations. The cost per animal is still $5.

All dogs, cats, and ferrets over 4 months of age are required by law to be vaccinated. These animals can be vaccinated at 3 months of age.

"The Health Department would like to remind individuals that if they find it necessary to dispatch wildlife due to contact with pets or humans, do not shoot the animals in the head, as the brain material is the portion of the animal tested for the virus," Buckel said. "In addition, persons should not handle pets or wildlife within two hours of an incident unless wearing gloves. Virus on the coats of pets will be dead after two hours of contact."

Anyone with questions regarding rabies or the upcoming clinics may call Environmental Health Services at 301-334-7760.

Hearing Held

other recent hearings about maintaining the current educational system.

"They do not want their students to lose the benefits and the offerings and the quality of education that they currently have," Benson said.

He noted that polls at state and national levels consistently show that people are willing to pay to educate their children.

"We are not asking for huge increases, but we are asking that you to consider levying a property rate that will allow you to maintain the quality of education that we currently offer our students," Benson told the commissioners.

Oakland resident DeCorsey Bolden said he knows the commissioners have worked hard on the proposed FY '12 budget. But he asked them to make even more cuts.

"I plead with you men that you can find a reason to cut another $121,725 and begin to bring our county into the constant yield rate," Bolden asked the commissioners. "Other counties haven't done this, so let us lead the way."

Apartment rental businessman Vaughn "Buzz" Johnson, Oakland, said he realizes what the newly elected commissioners are "up against" in dealing with their first budget.

But, Johnson noted, his property assessments continue to rise, while his property values keep plummeting.

He said he is also concerned that the average local government employee's wage is $743 a week, yet the average wage for someone in the private sector is $517, according to the GC Chamber of Commerce.

"Now I find something wrong with that picture," Johnson said. "You know, we taxpayers do support the government, and the government employees are making more than the private sector. I think that needs to be looked into."

He added that he knows most people have encouraged the commissioners to keep the tax rate the same.

"I'm not opposed to that, if you've gone over this budget with a fine-tooth comb – that you've cut all the fat out of it – and you can honestly say, 'Hey, Buzz, we've done everything we can possibly do to keep things in line,'" Johnson told the commissioners. "If that's the case, so be it, and good luck to you."

The approved FY '12 budget and all the applicable tax rates will be announced on Tuesday, June 7, at 11 a.m. in the commissioners' meeting room at the courthouse.

Supplement Of Unclaimed Prop. In Today's Issue

Comptroller Peter Franchot has announced that his office has issued a 144-page advertising supplement which lists 59,000 recently identified owners of more than $41 million in unclaimed funds and property. The supplement is included in today's issue of The Republican.

"Our number one job at the comptroller's office is to serve the people," said Comptroller Franchot. "Part of that service is to connect people with unclaimed funds and property so they get what they are owed."

Financial institutions, utilities, insurance companies, and other corporations are required to report to the comptroller any bank accounts, security deposits, wages, insurances benefits, and contents of safe deposit boxes that have been unclaimed for more than three years. Funds remain the property of the owners or their legitimate heirs and can be claimed anytime. There is no statute of limitations.

Franchot urges anyone who finds his/her name in the supplement to telephone his office toll-free at 1-800-782-7383 to find out how to make a claim. The comptroller also noted that anyone can check the agency's complete unclaimed property records for free, online, at either www.marylandtaxes.com or www.missingmoney.com. The agency has records on approximately 875,000 accounts worth more than $950 million.

In addition, numerous property items held by the agency that remain unclaimed are eligible for auction on eBay. Since this program began in July 2006, nearly 5,500 items have been sold, totaling more than $1 million. These items can be viewed and bid on by clicking the e-Bay icon at www.marylandtaxes.com.

Along with newspaper advertising, the comptroller's office also searches for owners of unclaimed funds by matching files with Internal Revenue Service and state Motor Vehicle Administration records, and by setting up computers at the Maryland State Fair and other events to allow people to check the agency's files of unclaimed funds.

In fiscal year 2010, which ended on June 30, 2010, the comptroller's office honored nearly 49,000 claims totaling more than $47.8 million.

AN EXTREME DONATION was recently made by local entrepreneur Darren Kamp. Several years ago, Kamp invented MtEverClimb, a continuous rope-climbing machine that simulates actual rope climbing. Since that time, several machines have been sold, and the system is currently used and endorsed by the Pittsburgh Steelers. Earlier this year, Kamp was contacted by the ABC reality show Extreme Makeover Home Edition to see if he would be interested in donating one of the machines for an upcoming makeover. "When Nate (Berkus) met with the family, their son mentioned that he really liked to climb rope," Kamp said. "He did some research, found my web site, and called me in January. I was pretty excited." The donation was made, and the show will air this Sunday, May 1, at 8 p.m. Kamp is pictured above with one of his machines, which currently sell for $7,985. Disappointing Action...

Garrett County school system administrative staff persons are meeting with the county's newest teachers today – some of our finest teachers – to hand them a letter that says that they may well soon be joining the ranks of the unemployed. Because the elected board members voted to close only Bloomington Elementary and keep Kitzmiller Elementary open, the board budget is still short about $500,000. Had the board voted to also close Kitzmiller, the budget would have been balanced and there would be no talk of eliminating teachers.

The board is contractually required to let employees who are "on the bubble" know of their possible occupational demise by May 1, so the scramble is on to accomplish that. One can only hope that the deficit can somehow be filled without firing teachers. That will be a huge price to pay in order to keep Kitzmiller open, despite the recommendation from the school superintendent that it be closed.

While the decision to allow Kitzmiller to remain open is a wonderful piece of news for the folks who live there, being granted a "temporary stay" might be a more accurate description of that decision. Unless there would be a relatively sudden influx of new students into the community, it seems that the school's days are still numbered.

The county commissioners did their part in coming up with an extra $1.7 million to help fill the over $4 million board of education budget deficit, state elected officials played a role by coming up with several hundred thousand more dollars via legislation, and enough board employees eligible for retirement accepted the monetary incentive which frees up several hundred thousand more.

But the chosen course of action of the elected board – the way it was handled – is disappointing, or at least shows a general lack of courage to swallow what is admittedly a very tough pill. Only one member of the board, Dr. Don Forrester, had the courage to make the motion to close Kitzmiller School. Not one of the other four was brave enough to even provide a second to the motion, so it died. It was a handy way for each of them to not have to reveal how they would have voted; however, since none provided a second to the motion, one would have to conclude that the vote would have been 4-1 against closing the school. Perhaps these board members will share their thoughts in a letter to the editor, or at least explain themselves to any teacher who happens to lose his/her job.

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

Spring spirit has clearly arrived in the editorial office! Your opinion piece on the International Canoe Federation decision to hold its championship here in 2014 was a ray of sunshine in an all too long, grey winter. I also appreciated your honoring individuals who have had "vision and investment," and made huge contributions to the community.

I believe these visionaries share another characteristic – they "get" what is special here, and a theme that runs through is our natural beauty and resources.

Helmuth Heise is one of the visionaries you mentioned. I had an opportunity to ride the Wisp chairlift with another visionary, Earl Zepp, during the summer. Heise "got" that the lake could be more than a one-season resort. He created the four-season resort we now enjoy. Of course, it didn't hurt that the lake was available to provide water for snowmaking.

ASCI is another step built because of the lake. And, stepping back, where would we be if a few folks at PennElec had not had vision and made an investment to create Deep Creek Lake?

The lake has been and will be the building block for visions and investment in the future – as long as we work actively to protect and conserve it.

Currently, the lake visionaries and investors are the folks who pay dock fees, which are the only source of funds for lake management. There are no state or county funds. We honor the hard-working DNR lake management staff and the often-maligned lake property owners for their investment. We hold high the individuals who volunteer for water monitoring projects and work to conserve the lake. Their stewardship efforts will help assure a sustainable resource for future visionaries and investors.

We urge the broader community, county government, and local businesses who benefit financially from the lake to become actively involved in stewardship actions and investments in the ecological health of the lake. We are not talking tourist dollars here. We are talking about the long-haul commitment to the well-being of the lake and watershed so subsequent generations can also enjoy the area, and future visionaries and investors will also be inspired.

To the Editor:

A few weeks ago one of my Garrett Mentors Study Buddies fell off his bike and suffered a fractured skull, requiring immediate surgery and ventilated respiratory assistance in ICU at a Morgantown hospital. This Bloomington Elementary student and his parent were assisted the entire week of hospital stay and at home the following weekend by a group of very dedicated and compassionate school staff led by Mrs. Emily Hughes.

Emily is Bloomington's 4th/5th grade teacher, who went well above and beyond what is expected of a teacher, making daily visits to the hospital, giving constant support to the child and parent, buying new bed linens for comfort upon discharge to home, supplying food, and tutoring her student once improved. Mrs. Hughes and the teachers at Bloomington are an exemplary group, and I felt that the community should know of their quiet and very special everyday efforts to help children.

Garrett Mentors has a motto – "Inspire by Example." I believe that this teacher has done just that!

Many thanks to all teachers who go above and beyond for the kids of Garrett County.

To the Editor:

Spring is here, and I know I'm not the only one waiting for a chance to spend more time outdoors. Isn't it a wonderful coincidence that Cindy's Fund is holding its first 1-mile walk and 6-K run on May 21? I can't think of a better way to get exercise. By participating, not only am I spending time outdoors while walking or running in this event, but I'm also raising money to help Garrett County residents who have been diagnosed with the "C" word – one that we're all too familiar with – cancer.

I ask all to come and join me at Herrington Manor State Park on Saturday, May 21. The race will start at 9 a.m., with registration opening at 8 a.m. Those who pre-register by May 7 are guaranteed a T-shirt and water bottle. So, not only will you help out your fellow Garrett County residents, but you'll also have physical proof that you got off the couch for a few hours!

Lace up those walking or running shoes! We don't care how fast or slow you are, we just care that you show up. Cindy's Fund needs you, so don't let us down. Top finishers in each age group will be awarded prizes, and there will be lots of door prizes too. You can't lose!

Registration forms can be found online at www.cindysfund.org or www.qcstriders.org. You can also pick them up at Gregg's Pharmacy or Wild-Wood Athletic Club.

See you there!

To the Editor:

I think that everyone will agree that the best way to eliminate prejudices of all types is through education. I don't believe that anyone is born with an innate hatred toward any other human beings. Stigma and discrimination toward mentally ill individuals is the last acceptable form of prejudice. The question is: Whom do we need to educate first?

One particular institution is having anti-stigma training for all new employees, even new therapists and social workers. You would think that therapists and social workers would get anti-stigma training as part of their psychology and/or social-work curriculum.

In my college experience studying behavioral science, I found it to be just the opposite. Professors often brought their stigmatizing attitudes to class, and told the students how dangerous mentally ill people are. In one class, a teacher was talking about the "nature-nurture" controversy regarding the causes of mental illnesses. I made this comment: "I've heard this analogy. Nature loads the gun, and nurture pulls the trigger."

I had shared about my bipolar disorder previously. The teacher practically yelled at me very sternly, "No guns, Jerry!" The obvious implication is that I am a dangerous individual.

Many people use the stigma and some of the stereotypical symptoms of a particular mental illness against a mentally ill individual they feel they may be in competition with, or they are prejudiced against. It becomes a very advantageous means of devaluing, disempowering, and humiliating the person. One can also destroy a person's self-esteem by using a stereotypical symptom of a person's illness to embarrass him. Insinuations toward the individual that makes him out to be dangerous, untrustworthy, perverted, etc., can destroy a person's character almost instantly. If he complains, the person doing the insulting uses another symptom to retaliate: "You're just paranoid" or "You're crazy!"

Somehow, society believes this sort of language shouldn't offend us. Some mentally ill people say they are not are offended by it. I am!

Teachers' attitudes, behaviors, and language rapidly rub off on students. The statement that I made about getting the "stigma out of out mental health system" is incorrect. We need to get the stigma out of those teaching future psychologists and other mental health professionals. They need to teach their students compassion toward mentally ill individuals as the desperately suffering individuals that they are; not to look down their noses at them with scorn.

BOE Votes

Bloomington, and that closing Kitzmiller was a reality that must be faced now or later.

The board members that voted to close Bloomington seemed to do so reluctantly with all commenting on the difficulty of the situation. Those who addressed the audience articulated their sympathies for the affected communities, but shared the sentiment that a sacrifice was necessary to maintain the quality of the school system as a whole.

"Schools are not the concrete, the bricks, but the students themselves. I feel our students can succeed anywhere," stated newest board member Cynthia Downton after acknowledging she had spent sleepless nights considering her final decision.

Similarly, Forrester stated that his vote to close the school came in an attempt to "benefit the mass majority of students."

Rodney Durst, board bember, related a personal story concerning his own experience as a student of a closed school, before emphasizing the "necessity of looking toward the future."

Before voting to close Bloomington, Elizabeth Sebold explained that the funds were not available and that one "makes adjustments when the money doesn't come."

Both Durst and Sebold expressed an ultimate goal of installing a school in the southern end of the county, though the current financial situation will present a challenge to such action.

The closing of Bloomington will go into effect as of August 2011. Bloomington students will be transferred to Broad Ford Elementary with the start of the 2011-12 school year.

Man Sentenced

he advised there were also occasions when he had found gas and gas cans missing.

In other Circuit Court proceedings last week, Victor Glenn Kope, 64, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Oakland, was sentenced for first degree assault and reckless endangerment to five years in the Division of Corrections.

All but six months of the sentence was suspended, and Kope was placed on supervised probation, with conditions that include abstaining from alcohol and having no contact with the victim in the case.

In February, Kope was convicted by Sherbin following a bench trial in Circuit Court. He was arrested and charged last August by Maryland State Police, who responded to Joe Whitacre Road and learned that Kope had pointed a loaded shotgun at another individual.

In an unrelated case, Shane Lee Fazenbaker, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to felony theft. Sherbin sentenced him to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail and suspended all but 30 days of the sentence. Fazenbaker will be on probation upon his release from jail.

He was charged in September 2010 with stealing two guns from the residence of a friend with whom he was temporarily residing. Once those guns were recovered, witnesses gave statements that Fazenbaker was a person from whom they were purchased, the state's attorney noted.

In an unrelated case, Dinah Marie Hebb, 50, Terra Alta, W.Va., admitted in Circuit Court to violating her probation. Sherbin sentenced her to one year in the Garrett County Jail.

Hebb was originally convicted in 2001 of first degree arson and was placed on probation after serving one year in jail, with four additional years suspended.

The current violation occurred in 2004, while she was being supervised in West Virginia. She had failed to abstain from alcohol and incurred a driving under the influence charge, which she did not report to her West Virginia agent. After being convicted of the DUI in West Virginia, Hebb failed to report it and a violation report was filed.

The warrant for this violation had been outstanding since 2004, with Hebb being arrested recently after her photograph was included in the "Garrett County's Most Wanted" feature in The Republican.

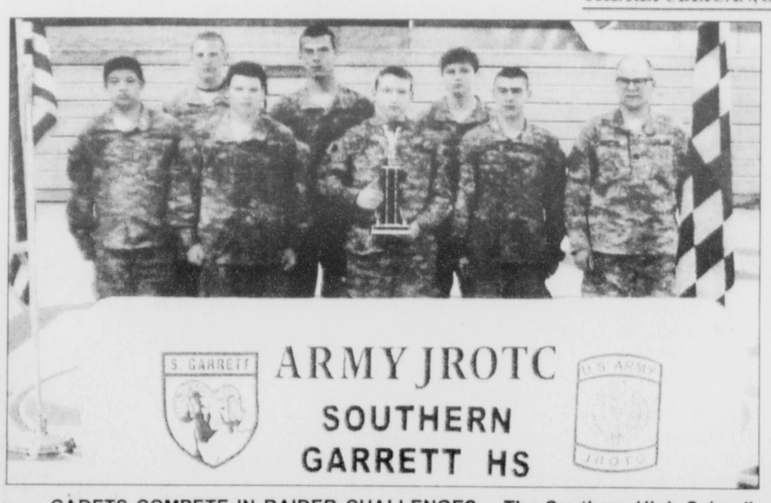
READING EVENT HELD AT CRELLIN ELEMENTARY – Dr. Dana McCauley, Crellin Elementary principal, recently coordinated a reading day in conjunction with the National Education Association's Read Across America Program. Local author Theresa Helbig-Miller (pictured) was invited to read her published children's books, Benny the Raccoon and Nana and the Jabbywalker, to students in pre-kindergarten through grade five. NEA's Read Across America promotes reading in schools, libraries, and community centers across the United States, and brings people together to take part in reading events. "Crellin Elementary School encourages fun and interactive reading activities, and hopes to nurture a love of reading among children that will last a lifetime," McCauley said.



CADETS COMPETE IN RAIDER CHALLENGES – The Southern High School's Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps recently hosted a JROTC Raider competition. In a meet that was marked by high winds, rain, and cold, cadets from local high schools competed in four challenges. "The event tested the cadets' mental and physical skills against those they learn while on a JROTC Raider team," said Lt. Col. (ret.) Ralph Sheaffer Jr., SHS advisor/coach. "The competition was close." Going into the final challenge, a 52-foot one-rope bridge, Southern lead the way, but Preston came back and pushed their points over the top on this highly skilled and leadership driven event, Sheaffer noted."It was a tough challenge, but we stayed together," said Trevor Bosse, SHS Rams captain. The other challenges were a one-mile group speed walk while carrying a 35-pound object, a topographic map survey, and a 25-yard by 5-knot relay. In the end, Preston took first place, Southern second, and Northern third. "The event came one day after we had our triennial formal inspection from representatives of the Army's Cadet Command," Sheaffer said. "Our competition could not have occurred without help from the Maryland Army National Guard, cadets enrolled in the ROTC program from West Virginia University, and parental help." Left to right in the front are SHS JROTC Raider team members Dakota Lambert, Robert Locke, Bosse, Jonathan Potts, and Sheaffer. In the back are Colton Wassel, Cody Hoye, and Killian Fitzwater.

Motorcyclist Is Injured In Mid-Morning Crash

A motorcyclist was transported by Maryland State Police Medevac to the Western Maryland Regional Hospital, Cumberland, mid-morning yesterday, April 27, after he crashed his bike along George Washington Highway near Gorman. The Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to the 11 a.m. scene.

Richard F. Emilia, 71, Wethersfield, Conn., was traveling eastbound along the roadway near Althouse Hill Road, operating a 2006 Suzuki motorcyle, when he reportedly lost control on a patch of gravel. He was ejected from the motorcycle and struck an embankment.

In addition to the sheriff's office, personnel from the Gorman Volunteer Fire Department, Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and the Maryland State Highway Administration also responded to the scene. No charges were filed, according to the report.

Ramp Cook-Off Slated At Discovery Cent.

The Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake will host a ramp cook-off, "in celebration of Garrett County's rich folk life," a spokesperson said. The event will be held at the Discovery Center on Saturday, April 30, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Judging will take place from 11 a.m. to noon.

Cook-off entries must be in place by 10:45, prior to judging. Persons are invited to bring their own ramp dishes. Past selections have included beef and cheesy ramp wraps, ramp frittata, caramelized ramp pesto pasta, ramp chips, and others.

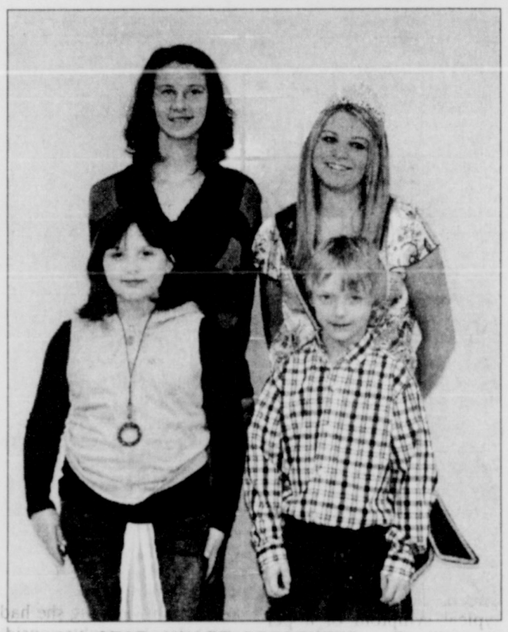
Judging will take place at 11 a.m. and tasting of dishes by the public will begin by 11:45 p.m. A panel of two judges will determine the winner based on creativity, ramp flavor, and presentation.

"Ramp gathering, preserving, and eating has long been an eagerly awaited sign of spring in Appalachia," the spokesperson said. "Join in on this rich tradition and experience ramps firsthand at the annual Ramp Cook-Off and Tasting."

Ramps, which are a part of local folklore, are high in vitamins C and A, and contain several healthful minerals. They have the cholesterol-reducing capacity of garlic, the spokesperson noted. The wild food is distinguished by its strong garlic and onion odor, which can be persistent.

There will be interpretive events on site during the event, along with the taste-testing and other activities.

Persons who wish to compete in the cook-off are asked to pre-register by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067. Electricity will be available if needed. Space is limited, so entrants are encouraged to call as soon as possible.



ALL-STAR AWARD PRESENTED – The Garrett County Chapter of 4-H All-Star award was recently given at the annual 4-H Achievement Night in recognition of outstanding work in record books. Pictured above, front row, are Rachel Duggan and Zachary Ritchey, who had the best first-year record books. In the back are Alison Roth and Kara Savage, who had the best overall record books. This photo appeared in last week's issue of The Republican, but with the incorrect information. The error is regretted.

Local Electrical Association To Hold Meeting

The Garrett County Electrical Mechanical Association (GCEMA) will meet on Wednesday, May 4, at 7 p.m. in Room 311 in Garrett College's Information Technology Building.

Guest speaker for the event will be Elliott Perfetti of Maryland Automation. His topic will be "Smart Homes."

"This upcoming meeting will be an important one, so please plan on attending," said a spokeswoman. "Yearly membership dues are due again."

She noted that renewal papers have been mailed, but some members' addresses are not current.

"Please call and leave a message at 301-334-4728 if you did not receive the membership paper and leave a current address," the spokeswoman said.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Oakland Taxi To Service Local Travelers

Oakland Taxi, a cab service, is now open for business and plans to assist the Garrett County area with its transportation needs. Owner Eric Spear, who also owns Frostburg Taxi, decided earlier this month to start the company and provided cab service in the area after receiving calls from patrons in Garrett County looking for a ride.

Spear, who originally hails from Massachusetts, says he is willing to transport individuals, "anywhere they wish to go."

Currently, Oakland Taxi provides cab service 24 hours a day, 6 days a week, but plans to hire another driver in order to provide taxi service even on Sunday evenings.

For more information about Oakland Taxi or for cab service one may call 301-334-1330.

OBITUARIES

HAUSER, William R., 71, Aurora, W.Va.

KEIM, Helen D., 82, Somerset, Pa.

MILLER, Donna D., 67, Grantsville.

POLLARD, Billie F., 72, Reisterstown.

POLLARD, Douglas F., 68, Glyndon, Hagerstown, and Mtn. Lake Park.

ROBESON, Angela M., 60, Grantsville.

VanSICKLE, Ray S., 84, Friendsville.

RAY S. VanSICKLE

Ray S. VanSickle, 84, Friendsville, died Tuesday, April 26, 2011, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

Born Feb. 12, 1927, in Friendsville, he was a son of the late Sam and Grace (Sisler) VanSickle.

He was retired from the Garrett County Roads Department and was also a farmer. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World, Camp 45, Friendsville.

He is survived by one son, Sam VanSickle, Accident; two daughters, Carolyn Thomas, Grantsville, and Mary Grace VanSickle, Bethesda; one brother, Jack VanSickle, Friendsville; three sisters, Mary Teets, Accident, Ruth Williams, Springfield, Pa., and Mandy Lowdermilk, Oakland; seven grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

A graveside service will be conducted on Saturday, April 30, at 1 p.m. at Blooming Rose Cemetery, Friendsville, with David Stull officiating. Interment will follow.

Newman Funeral Home, Friendsville, is in charge of arrangements.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

ANGELA M. ROBESON

Angela Marie Robeson, 60, Grantsville, died Wednesday, April 20, 2011, at Western Maryland Regional Medical Center, Cumberland.

Born Feb. 17, 1951, in Frostburg, she was the daughter of Martha D. (Clark) Robeson and the late Connell J. Robeson.

Ms. Robeson worked at Flushing Shirt Factory and was Catholic by faith.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by one son, Richard Wiland and fiancée Tammy Whelan, Westernport; two daughters, Connie Guthrie and husband James, Grantsville, and Candy Wiland and companion J.R. Gordon, Mt. Savage; four brothers, Connell Edward Robeson and Michael Francis Robeson, both of Cumberland, Tracy Lee Robeson, Killeen, Texas, and Francis Allen "Robine" Robeson, LaVale; and three grandchildren "who were the love of her life," Jeremiah and Kayla Guthrie and Samantha Wiland.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where a service was conducted on Saturday, April 23, with the Rev. Daniel Agnew officiating.

Interment was held in Mt. Zion Cemetery.

The family would like to say a special thank-you to her two favorite doctors, Dr. Gupta and Dr. Zaman, with whom she would always joke which one was her favorite. We also thank her special friends, Lillian Guthrie for being there for her and for taking her wherever she needed to go, and Judy Faidley for just being there. The family also wishes to acknowledge the wonderful staff at Schwab Family Cancer Center: Angela always kept the girls on their toes. She loved them all, and to Deb (secretary), "Make sure you feed the rat."

Angela also enjoyed watching her favorite show, Days of Our Lives, and going to town, whether it be to Wal-Mart or wherever it may be and wearing her jewelry, of which she had quite a collection, especially more than 100 pairs of earrings.

Every summer, Mother enjoyed planting a garden, especially her favorite flower, red geraniums, and feeding and watching the hummingbirds. She also enjoyed swimming with her grandchildren, feeding the ducks with her granddaughter, and riding the 4-wheeler with her grandson.

She was very well liked by all that she met, and no one ever had a bad word about her.

A mother's love is something that no one can explain. It is made of deep devotion and of sacrifice and pain. It is endless and unselfish and enduring, come what may, for nothing can destroy it or take that love away.

"I have a garden within my soul of marvelous beauty rare, wherein the blossoms of all my life bloom ever in splendor fair. After years I now can see, amid life's roses and rue, God's greatest gift to a little child, my darling mother, was you."

"I have fought the good fight. I have finished the race. I have kept the faith. Henceforth, there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will award to me on that day, and not only to me but also to all who have loved his appearing." 2 Timothy 4:7-8.

Expressions of sympathy may be sent to the Schwab Family Cancer Center.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.newmanfuneralhomes.com.

DOUGLAS F. POLLARD

Douglas Fontaine Pollard, 68, Glyndon, formerly of Hagerstown, and a summer resident of Mtn. Lake Park for all his life, died Saturday, April 16, 2011, at Keswick Multi-Care Center, Baltimore, of congestive heart failure.

He was the son of the late Eleanor and Walter W. Pollard Jr., formerly of Hagerstown. He was also preceded in death by one sister, Billie F. Pollard, Reisterstown, March 2011.

Doug graduated from St. James School in 1961. He graduated from the McIntire School of Commerce at the University of Virginia in 1965.

After college he married and joined Kidder Peabody and Company in Baltimore as a stockbroker, becoming a vice president in 1977. In 1978, he joined Legg Mason to establish an institutional municipal bond presence at the firm. He was a senior vice president and manager of institutional sales when he retired in 2001 because of heart problems.

In 1967, Doug joined the Maryland National Guard and was a member for six years.

Doug was a former president of the Municipal Bond Club of Baltimore. He served as a volunteer on the municipal securities rule-making board to hear about violations of cases.

A past president of the Mtn. Lake Park Tennis Club in Garrett County, his family had a summer cottage there since the early 1900s.

In 1986, Doug received his instrument rating as a private pilot and bought a Piper Turbo Arrow airplane. With a friend, he developed and built 41 aircraft hangars at the Carroll County Airport.

Doug enjoyed traveling and spending time with his family at their condominium in Bethany Beach.

He was a member of L'Hirondelle Club and the Center Club.

He is survived by his wife of 45 years, Frances Davis Pollard; one son, Kell D. Pollard, Lexington, Ky.; one daughter, Elizabeth P. Mitchell, New York; five grandchildren; and one brother, W. Weir Pollard III, Hagerstown.

Friends will be received at Mitchell-Wiedefeld Funeral Home, 6500 York Rd., Baltimore, today, Thursday, from 5 to 8 p.m.

A memorial service will be conducted at the Church of the Good Shepherd, 1401 Carrollton Ave., Ruxton, at 11 a.m. on Friday, April 29.

Interment will be held in the Oakland Cemetery on Saturday, May 28, at 11 a.m.

WILLIAM R. HAUSER

William Raymond "Bill" Hauser, 71, Aurora, W.Va., passed away on Wednesday, April 27, 2011, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

Born Nov. 26, 1939, in Aurora, he was a son of the late Wade Hampton and Maxine Catherine Close Hauser. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Sandra K. (Roth) Hauser; one brother, Wade J. Hauser; and three brothers-in-law, Charles Douglas, Adrian Stemple, and Bruce Rembold.

Bill graduated from Aurora High School and worked as a heavy machine operator, a mechanic, a truck driver, and for the greater part of his life as a logger with his business, Stoney Hill Corporation. He was a U.S. Army veteran and served in the Korean War. He was a lifelong member of Stemple Ridge United Methodist Church.

Bill was a hard worker with a gruff exterior, but for those who knew and loved him, he was a kind, generous man who served as an advisor for many. Bill's priority has always been his family, and he is especially proud of his grandchildren.

He is survived by two sons, Wade Hauser and Joseph Hauser and wife Stephanie, all of Aurora; one daughter, Beth Ann Bishop and husband Chad, Aurora; six grandchildren, Savannah, Emma, Jacob, Ava, J.W., and Stephen; six sisters, Bonnie Douglas, Patricia Stemple, Dean Sisler and husband Scott, Doris Dennison, Mary Kelly and husband Lester, and Beverly Myers; one sister-in-law, Mary (Roth) Rembold; and one brother-in-law, Gary Roth.

Friends will be received on Friday at the Aurora Memorial Building from 2 to 9 p.m.

A funeral service will be conducted on Saturday, April 30, at Stemple Ridge United Methodist Church at 11 a.m., with the Rev. John Foy and Rev. Rogers Fike officiating.

Interment will follow in Stemple Ridge Cemetery.

Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis, W.Va., is in charge of arrangements.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Is it only coincidence that we oftentimes have some kind of natural disaster somewhere across the world around Easter? Especially on Good Friday. The Bible tells that the Earth shook and the temple curtain was ripped in half when Christ breathed his last. Maybe these Good Friday natural disasters just remind us of what happened about 2,000 years ago.

The big Alaska earthquake happened on Good Friday. I don't know what year, but I have a clear memory of watching the news coverage of it at my grandmother's.

This Good Friday, a tornado hit St. Louis, with the airport being the hardest hit.

When I watched coverage of the Alaska earthquake, we were at my grandmother's with my cousins Mike and Courtney Englar, like we were on most holidays. Their family came up to celebrate with Bittinger family members.

Of course, most important to us were my grandmother and grandfather, Babble and Pappy (Emma and Oral) Glotfelty, and Aunt Helen's little brother Dale, and their beloved housekeeper Alma Orendorf, and my family. Often, my Aunt Dorothy's family also came up from Harford County. So holidays were a real highlight of our lives.

Dot and Helen still felt our farm was their true home, and when the season was right, they always went on a major walk to visit their favorite places, like some with special wildflower beds.

It is not a good condition for long walks right now, because it is very wet in Bittinger. The puddles in my lane are almost big enough to call ponds. But we still have almost a month until wildflowers will be blooming in our woods.

While I waited last evening for Caitlin to get home, I got a couple of treats on television. There were some brief excerpts from the musical Godspell, including its last song, "Day by Day." Also scheduled is another 1960 to '70s' great musical Jesus Christ Superstar that has many wonderful songs.

Then I turned on my Pirates' channel in case they had a game last evening. Instead, there was just a rerun of great moments in Pirate history, some I had never seen before, like the 1960 World Series, since I listened to it on the radio. Of course, I saw clips of Bill Mazeroski's home run, which won the series for the Pirates, but I never saw any film of the celebration in Pittsburgh. There were scenes of a whole city experiencing great joy.

I saw Mazeroski describe the scene in the Pirates' locker room, and it was unfavorable. All the champagne was gone when he got into the locker room. I guess no one believed that the Pirates had any hope of winning, so they did not have an adequate supply.

But when they got home to Pittsburgh, they were greeted by a whole city celebration. I am sure I was mistaken when I thought I recognized my old friend and colleague Joan Crawford (a quite young Joan) carried by a big strong man. I am sure she was part of that celebration because her family was passionately supportive of the Pirates. In fact, her daughter Susan had some devotion to our beloved Roberto Clemente. Joan told about how Susan regularly put a little shrine in her various offices when she became a federal military judge.

Everyone in Pittsburgh developed a deep and abiding love for him, even if his arrival in Pittsburgh had some tough times for him. The press sometimes mocked his accent, and some people called him a cry baby because of his many injuries and illnesses. But he soon became a home-town hero. His teammates respected and loved him when he emerged as their team leader, and the glue bonded them together. His performance in the 1971 World Series was great. He practically won that series single-handedly.

I watched all of that series in my dorm in College Park. Almost everyone in my hall was from around the metro area, so most were Orioles fans. Only Tim Turner from Grantsville was rooting for the Pirates. And when the Pirates won the final game, we were pretty happy "mountain hicks."

Clemente's ability inspired them to do their ultimate best. His untimely death hit the Pirates hard, but they found a new fine leader in Willie Stargell, who was ready to step into his large footprints. He performed well in the role of team leader. He was a major element in what the 1970s Pirates called the "Lumber Crew," who were big and powerful and hit with awesome power.

When any team member did something outstanding, Stargell gave him a little gold star to have sewn on his cap. They reached the 1979 World Series almost effortlessly, against the Orioles once again.

That was in my New York City years, and we had to take our radio up the fire escape and onto the roof of our building, so many memories of that series are mixed with the smell of heated tar on the upper coating of our roof. But that fire escape and roof were a nice addition to the limited space in our apartment. My landing level of the fire escape was up at four floors high. The trees growing in the courtyard in the middle of our building were that high, so when we went out on the landing, we were sitting in a tree top. That was nice.

So Pittsburgh's victory in three World Series stretched from my grandmother's front lawn listening to the seven games on a car radio to watching the 1971 World Series in a dorm room with a color television! Then, in 1979, I listened to it on a somewhat poor radio on a rooftop in Manhattan. But last night for the first time, I saw the 1960 World Series on color television, which I enjoyed very much.

I also saw in living color the 1979 series. We had a small black and white TV with rabbit ears in our apartment and it didn't have the greatest reception.

Clemente had one more season of leading the Pirates. On New Year's Eve in 1972, his cargo plane loaded with emergency supplies was traveling to one of the Central American nations destroyed by a horrible earthquake.

Such supplies often did not reach the people in greatest need, so Clemente made a decision that he would not allow that to happen to his supply, so he flew down with it. The plane crashed in the Caribbean Sea, and we lost one of the greatest American heroes.

Although his performance on the ball fields made him into an iconic sports hero, how he died made him into a major American iconic figure. I still cry when I think of how his life, filled with so much promise, ended. He truly represented what the American Dream really means.

I talked to Meredith on the phone today (Saturday), and her voice sounded small and sad because she could not come home. That made me pretty sad. But I got a wonderful surprise. I saw Claire's red car drive in, so I guess she was able to find a way to afford the trip. And Boo was glad to see her, as she was last evening when Caitlin tracked her down first thing.

I experienced a major crisis with her first thing this morning when my screen door latch was broken and it was impossible to get the door open while Boo was panting and very eager to go out. I guess I often said "bad dog" when she had an accident in the house; she did not want to hear that. She needs and wants to hear, "Good dog, Boo!" So I try to tell her that as much as possible.

This week is National Save Our Frogs Week. Frogs have a special alert to give warning when our environment gets very bad. I am eagerly waiting to hear my dear spring peepers. It is not too early for them, but I have not heard their song yet.

So far, we have had a kind of strange early spring. Our weather has been swinging wildly. But Easter Sunday was unusually nice. So often, we get a snow, but not this year. In fact, it was pretty warm, and I saw several beds of daffodils in full bloom.

But I am sad watching the departing of Caitlin and Claire, because we didn't get much time together since Caitlin had to work Saturday evening, while Claire attended a Bittinger party with some of her high school classmates. Now, at 6 p.m., Claire is gone, and she took Caitlin back to Morgantown, where she has an important presentation tomorrow.

May will probably be pretty busy, as graduation is rapidly approaching. She brought her gold medal for being named as outstanding in the social work program. The award booklet says: "Caitlin Sussman is an excellent student who embraces learning and gives 110% to the process. She is mature, responsible beyond her years, and actively participates during class discussions and activities. She planned a fundraiser that raised money for a social agency in Vietnam fighting against the sale of Vietnamese women and girls into sex slavery."

She is an intern, where her responsibilities include case management and community outreach. Her desire is to become a licensed social work practitioner, but I know how emotionally involved she is in her work, and she will become a wonderful community resource. I am very proud of her.

I talked to one of her first cousins, Scott Bass, who is also due to graduate from University of Maryland this spring, and he already got a great job offer in a firm doing structural engineering. He is pretty excited to see his college career end, and to get started in his career. Godspeed to both of them.

All 10 grandchildren of Ruth DiPaolo show what excellent studies in Garrett County schools can and do produce. I was so pleased with the schools my girls attended: Accident Elementary, Northern Middle, and Northern High, and Meredith did much of her senior year through classes at Garrett College. She thought it was a wonderful opportunity. She took Introduction to Composition and Introduction to Philosophy, both of which happened to be taught by former GCC president Steve Herman.

My extended family attended a lovely Easter luncheon served by Lesa Whittemore. Carol and Rodney's houses are difficult for me to get in and out of, but they wanted us at Lesa's house. It required a few nephews to carry my wheelchair up and down the big stone stairs, but they did fine.

Everyone missed Mere because she had a major research paper due, and needed access to the resources at the WVU library.

My twin nephews Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty performed at the Bittinger Community Sunrise Service held at the fire hall.

Another couple of significant adults from when I was growing up passed away recently, with Donna Miller, the wife of Marvin Miller and mother of Beverly Miller, among them. They were very active in the Garrett Horseman's Association and always present in the horse barn at the Garrett County Fair.

Then there was our longtime Extension agent Jim Simms. He ran the entire 4-H program in Garrett County for many years which was a big job. He ran it until Alice Heavner arrived.

We are very lucky to have so many busy adults willing to donate their time and energy to be leaders for our 4-H clubs. Their efforts are very valuable in developing many young people. Any parent should encourage their children to get involved with it, because it is so full of valuable learning opportunities.

It is a major story that a "commoner" is able to marry the heir to the throne. But Katherine is not quite lower class. She came from a millionaire family, and by no means has a working-class background. She is fully equal to her groom.

It is ironic that Prince William's mother, Lady Diana Spencer, was from noble class, but she didn't have an education beyond high school. She wasn't prepared for her new life. Becoming Princess of Wales virtually destroyed her. The whole world fell in love with "Shy Di" because of her beauty and style and her strong sense of humanity. She cared about the suffering of people, including AIDS patients. Her and Prince Charles' wedding in 1981 was probably the most beautiful wedding ever. I had a beautiful wedding in that year, too. But the whole world watched her fairy tale turn into a nightmare, because her husband was in love with another woman.

It is sad that thousands of fetuses of dolphins washed up on the beach along the Gulf of Mexico. Since the gestational term for dolphins is about one year, it is very probable that the gulf oil gusher caused their death. Of course, biologists will conduct a complete investigation.

In any case, there is very little doubt that dolphins are one of the most special and fascinatingly intelligent species in the animal kingdom. They even perform some underwater work for our Navy, and often a group of them comes to aid a swimmer attacked by sharks. It is impossible to calculate the cost of the loss of a whole generation of dolphins in terms of money. They are priceless.

Altar flowers at Emmanuel on Easter Sunday were given by Leora Yaste in memory of Ira O. "Tip" Yaste. Several other members also donated Easter lilies to decorate the sanctuary for Easter.

Altar flowers at Zion, Jennings, were donated by Glenne Blocher.

The board of directors of Community Lutheran Partners (CLP) will meet prior to the start of the annual synod assembly on June 3 and 4 at Snowshoe Resort. Again this year, CLP is requesting that churches in the synod hold a donations drive to support the ministry that the One-Plus kits provide to those people who have faced disasters. A list of items to be included can be found on the CLP web site, and a list was also included in the latest issue of the parish newsletter.

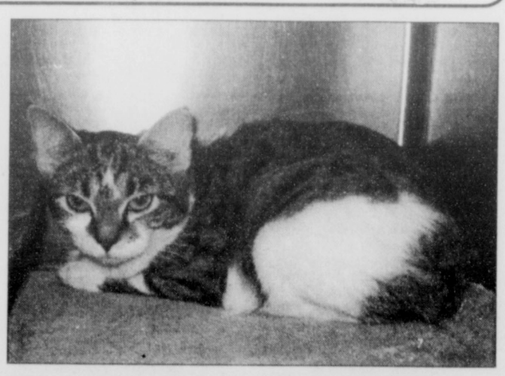
Adorable Adoptables



HOUSED AT THE GARRETT COUNTY ANIMAL SHELTER THIS WEEK are a medium-sized black Lab mix that was picked up as a stray, a female tabby with white, a rust-colored Corgi mix, and a young male tabby that needs a home without children."Last week, the dog kennels were overfilled," said a Garrett County Humane Society spokeswoman. "Thankfully, three dogs were reclaimed and two were adopted. One of the dogs was wearing ID tags so its owner was contacted quickly. But the others that don't have tags aren't so lucky and are still waiting for their owners to find them. Some young cats were taken to rescue to make room for the incoming kittens, which are too small to be adopted out this week." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday. Photos courtesy of the GC Humane Society.

Terra Alta Couple To Wed On May 7

The wedding of Lisa (Livengood) Parrack and Gary R. Freeland, both of Terra Alta, W.Va., has been set for Saturday, May 7, at the Freeland Methodist Church in Terra Alta.

Parrack is the daughter of Linda (Schroyer-Livengood) Stanton of Oakland and William Livengood of Mtn. Lake Park.

Freeland is the son of Robert and Dorothy Freeland of Terra Alta.

Parrack has worked in the health care field as a certified nursing/geriatric assistant for many years and Freeland is employed by Beitzel Corporation in Grantsville.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Southern High School, while the groom graduated in 1981 from Preston High School.

After the wedding the couple plan to travel to Canada and New York City for their honeymoon.

Bill And Patty Lewis To Celebrate 25 Years Together

Bill and Patty Lewis of Oakland will celebrate 25 years of marriage on May 1.

The couple enjoy spending time with their family, pets, and watching nature in Garrett County.

Bill Lewis is employed with Maryland Public Utilities, while Patty is a homemaker.

The births of three babies were announced this week, including a set of twins.

Twins Rowan Somi (boy) and Lilah Ann (girl) were born to Somi and Molly (Wolf) Rikhye, formerly of Friendsville, on March 24 at Franklin Woods Community Hospital, Johnson City, Tenn. The maternal grandparents are Dr. Michael A. Wolf, Friendsville, and the late Linda Wolf, and the paternal grandparents are Ray and Sue Rikhye, Johnson City.

COLLINS FAMILY GATHERS FIVE GENERATIONS — Five generations of the Collins family are captured in the above photo, which was taken recently while the group celebrated Easter. Standing in the photo, from left, are Floyd "Joe" Colins, Heather Collins, and Michael Collins. Seated is Lucretia Wotring holding Jackson Collins.

A son, Tyler Carl, was born to Nathan and Amber (DeWitt) Sisler, Friendsville, on April 22 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Twelve couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to Sondra R. Buckel, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Bryan Thomas Panther, 28, and Adrienne Michelle McPherson, 28, both of York, Pa.

Nathan Allen Satzer, 28, Hyndman, Pa., and Kristi Nicole Bowen, 23, Butler, Pa.

William Frederic Koehler, 28, and Kristie Ann Johnson, 25, both of Cumberland.

Kraig Edward Margroff, 22, and Kasondra Lynn Broadwater, 20, both of Accident.

James Richard Meridith, 17, and Tessa Rosehill Walsh, 17, both of Ennis, Mont.

David Harrison McKinney, 60, and Sandra Kay Cale, 56, both of Bruceton Mills, W.Va.

Andrew Nathan Underwood, 27, and Amy Lynn Everett, 25, both of Falls Church, Va.

Richard Alan Miller, 43, Grantsville, and Rebecca Louise Brewer, 52, Rockwood, Pa.

William Michael Bergan, 26, and Melissa Lynn Root, 26, both of Greencastle, Pa.

Phillip Jonathan Friend, 25, and Britney Nichole Friend, 19, both of Friendsville.

Dillon Levi Bunnell, 23, and Deven Brooke Gravelle, 21, both of Parsons, W.Va.

Mark Evan McKee, 45, and Christine Lynn Armel, 37, both of Winchester, Va.

AURORA/EGLON

MEDICATION DISPOSAL

A county-wide medication disposal will take place this Saturday, April 30, for unused or expired prescription drugs. This enables safe disposal of drugs so they are not used improperly or illegally, as well as do not contaminated the water supply. The local event will be held at the Aurora fire hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with a representative from the sheriff's department at each site. Other sites include the Community Center and Terra Alta City Hall. This comes as a cooperative effort of the U.S. Dept. of Justice.

ELMINATION DINNER

Those who have not picked up tickets for the Mtn. Lions sponsored elimination dinner set for Friday, May 6, at Aurora School at 6 p.m., are encouraged to do so by contacting any Lions member.

STEMPLE RIDGE HOMECOMING

A Stemple Ridge community homecoming is being planned for Sunday, May 29, at Stemple Ridge United Methodist Church. An attempt to produce a memorial booklet is also being planned, but cooperation is needed of those interested in telling stories, sharing photos, and talking about history. The information can be about the church, the community, the cemetery, etc. Following Sunday school, a brown bag lunch will be held, with an afternoon sing and covered dish dinner set for that evening. A sunset service will be held weather permitting. Those interested in contributing should contact Melody Hubbard at 304-735-3525; 3318 Stemple Ridge Road, Aurora, WV 26705; or via e-mail at rehubbard@frontier.com. The deadline for receiving info is May 9.

65TH ANNIVERSARY

Keith and Meredith Bolyard will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary on May 3. A card shower is planned for them. Meredith, the daughter of the late Claud and Pauline Wilhelm, and Keith, son of Raymond and Alta Bolyard, have lived most of their married lives in Ohio, where they can reached at 5285 Wolfe Road, Rt. 3, Lima, OH 45807.

91ST BIRTHDAY

Mary Jane Hanline, Aurora, will spend her 91st birthday in Florida tomorrow, April 29. Cards may be sent to her at 4304 Hamlin Way, Wimauma, FL 33598.

AURORA CEOS

Jeannie Whitehair was hostess for the April 21 meeting of the Aurora Community Education Outreach Service, and the group enjoyed a treat as they sat around the dinner table for their meeting. President Opal Myers called the 1 p.m. meeting to order. There were eight members present, and Wilda Harsh used the reading "Twenty Dollars" for devotion.

"Inhalant Abuse: Huffing, Puffing, and Blowing Houses Down" was an informative program discussed by Jeannie Whitehair. Although statistics are usually found for younger people, it is known that adults also abuse inhalants. Most commonly abused products are deodorants, computer cleaner, air freshener, fire extinguishers, hair spray, paint, nonstick cooking spray, helium, gasoline, paint thinner, kerosene, felt-tip markers, lighter fluid, turpentine, model airplane glue, and nail polish remover. These can be huffed by saturating a rag and sniffing it or inhaling fumes sprayed into a plastic or paper bag. Any form of the abuse can lead to death the first time used. Parents, schools, and community groups need to talk with children and teens concerning the dangers of inhalants.

Achievement night was enjoyed by Martha Bolyard, Jeannie Whitehair, Ressie Conrad, and Opal Myers. Aurora's club received several awards. Virginia Martin and Dean Sisler received certificates for being a club member for 50 years. The club was recognized for its assistance in the summer reading program at Aurora Elementary School. Opal Myers and Dee Douglas were recognized for their 500 hours of community service. Their community project received an outstanding award, and the club scrapbook got a blue ribbon. Jeannie Whitehair was the Aurora CEOS representative this year.

Community Education Outreach Service Week is set for May 15–22. A committee comprising Martha Bolyard, Dorothy Spaid, Ressie Conrad, and Jeannie Whitehair will take on the task of planning the mode of celebration. County Council for all clubs is May 19 at 11:30 a.m. at the Extension Office. The Relay for Life, in which the club will participate, is set for July 1–2 at the Aurora Union Ambulance hall.

The vice president's feature was garden tips for spring: Set out pansies early, remove mulch slowly, fertalize now with manure, spread poppy seeds so they can germinate, and trim forsythia or bridal wreath as soon as the blooms fade. The health motivator for this month is "Spring into Action" which suggests at least 30 minutes of exercise daily, whether it be walking, climbing stairs, doing yard work, playing with grandchildren, exercise class, etc.

The next meeting will be held on May 17, with Wilda Harsh as the hostess. Dean Sisler will lead the group discussion, and Ressie Conrad will present devotions. The meeting closed with a reading by Opal Myers and Jeannie Whitehair.

PERSONAL

Robert Harsh, Eglon, underwent surgery last Wednesday and is recuperating at his home.

Sam and Pat Masters, Organ Cave, were visitors with their daughter and family last week in Cash Valley: Jill and Terry and children Andrew, Jacob, and Isabelle Hauser.

Eileen Rembold, Pittsburgh, Pa., was a visitor this Easter with her sister and brother-in-law, Wilma Mae and David Teets, Horse Shoe Run, and with her daughter-in-law and grandsons, Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold, Aurora.

Tom Lewis was accompanied by his daughter Julie and her two children, Greyson and Madison Baker, Virginia Beach, Va., on a trip to the South. They visited Tom's mother and stepfather, Nina and Niel Wallace, Auburn, Ala., and his sisters, Charlene and Lynn Woodall and Beverly and Larry Mahle, all of Atlanta, Ga. Meanwhile, Tom's wife and daughters Linda and Sara Lewis, Morgantown, went to Martinsburg for Easter dinner with another daughter, Emily Young and husband Chuck and their children Noah and Carter. Tom and Linda returned home on Sunday evening, while Sara waited until Monday to return.

Tracy Teets, Weston, was a holiday visitor in Eglon with her parents, Bruce and Mary Teets.

Melvin and Melissa Frantz and their three daughters from the Bethesda, Md., area were also visitors with parents Don and Neva Frantz. While they were home, they learned that his brother Donnie and wife Heather and their sons has spent Saturday night in their basement because of a tornado threat in St. Louis, Mo. They endured without damage.

Phra and Betty Paugh returned to their Eglon home after spending a few months in Florence, S.C., where they assisted the Beacon Baptist Ministries.

Jeff and Barbara Coberly, Aurora, are presently both patients at a Morgantown facility since being injured in an automobile accident in McHenry, Md. Jeff rear-ended a vehicle, in which the driver was also injured.

SBA Economic Disaster Loan Deadlines Set

The U.S. Small Business Administration reminds small businesses, small agricultural cooperatives, and most private non-profit organizations of all sizes in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties in Maryland of the May 31 deadline to apply for economic injury disaster loan assistance. The loans are available because of drought and excessive heat that began on April 1, 2010.

Under this declaration, SBA Economic Injury Disaster Loans are available to eligible farm-related and nonfarm-related entities that suffered financial losses as a direct result of this disaster. These loans can be up to $2 million, with terms not exceeding 30 years. Interest rates are 4 percent for businesses and 3 percent for non-profit organizations.

Agricultural producers, farmers and ranchers are not eligible to apply to SBA, but nurseries are eligible to apply for economic injury disaster loans for losses caused by drought conditions.

For more information on the SBA's Disaster Loan Program, to obtain application forms, or to apply online, persons may visit www.sba.gov, send an e-mail to disastercustomerservice@sba.gov, or call the SBA's Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 (800-877-8339 for the hearing-impaired) Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Those affected by the disaster may apply for disaster loans from SBA's secure web site at www.disasterloan.sba.gov/ela/.

Completed loan applications should be returned to SBA no later than May 31.

LOAN RATES FOR WHEAT, FEED GRAINS, AND OILSEEDS ANNOUNCED

The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has announced county loan rates for the 2011 crops of wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, soybeans, and other oilseeds (sunflower seed, flaxseed, canola, rapeseed, safflower, mustard seed, crambe, and sesame seed). The rates are posted on the Farm Service Agency web site at http://www.fsa.usda.gov/pricesupport.

The 2008 Farm Bill authorizes the national loan rates for the 2011 crops of wheat, feed grains, and oilseeds at the following per-bushel levels: wheat, $2.94; corn, $1.95; grain sorghum, $1.95; barley, $1.95; oats, $1.39; soybeans, $5; and other oilseeds, $10.09 per hundredweight for each.

As required by the 2008 Farm Bill, these 2011 national loan rates are established at the same levels as are in effect for the 2010 crop.

For more information about USDA Farm Service Agency programs and commodity loan rates, persons are invited visit a county office or go online to http://www.fsa.usda.gov/.

Weight Loss Challenge

Oakland – Local area resident Sandra Shaffer has launched a 12 week non-profit course that offers tips on nutrition and exercise, along with the flair of competition, which is popular today. Sandra Shaffer is a personal wellness coach who runs the Weight Loss Challenge. The program gives us a chance to advertise and help fight the battle of obesity by educating people about a better overall lifestyle. The goal is for people to feel good and look great and maintain a healthier lifestyle. The cost to join the 12-week nutrition program is only $35.00 for the 12 week program and $25 of each fee collected will be paid out in cash and prizes to the top 3 winners. Specific rules will be in place to keep everyone consistent. Fail to weigh in? Pay a $5 fee, as well as a $1 fee per pound gained. These fees will be added to the cash payout. Shaffer says "People swarm to our classes because they love the accountability and it really helps them to stay on track. They totally enjoy the fun atmosphere, the people, the short discussion and the online site with weekly topics shared at each class."

Participants can use any weight loss program they'd like, whether it be Jenny Craig, Weight Watchers, Herbalife or a customized plan. They will work with each person to find what works best for them or if they need guidance, they can help.

All participants will weigh in each week, and the three with the highest percentage of weight loss at the end of the program will split the monies collected. It is based on percentage which makes it equal competition for men and women.

"Our Goal is to encourage people to lose weight and inches and get healthy by eating a healthy level of protein and calories each day and teaches the benefits of good nutrition and exercise. Seating is limited, so Call! Come! Join!" Shaffer says.

The Garrett County Area Weight Loss Challenge begins: may 5 and May 12, 2011 at 5:30 p.m. Preregistration is required. The classes are held at Oakland Community Center.

For information to pre-register, call Sandra Shaffer at 301-513-2223.

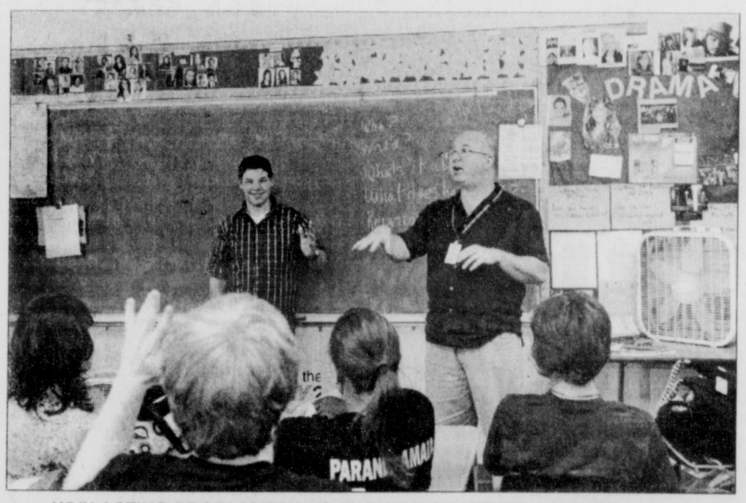
The Arts



WVU ACTING PROF VISITS NHS THEATRE STUDENTS – Lee Blair, an assistant professor of acting at West Virginia University's College of Creative Arts Division of Theatre and Dance, visited Northern High School's theatre students yesterday afternoon. He was there to discuss options available to them should they decide to apply to become students of WVU's theatre division. Blair discussed what is involved in an audition at the university, and coached the students on how to prepare and present monologues and other stage presentations. Jen Virts, the theatre teacher at Northern, said Blair's talk was enlightening and enjoyable for the teenagers, and that she hopes to make the WVU visit an annual event. Virts and her students most recently staged Arsenic and Old Lace at the school. Photo by Lisa Broadwater.

GC Arts Council Notes Release Of Literary Journal

The Garrett County Arts Council has published the 2011 edition of its literary journal Ginseng. The publication features poetry and creative writing by local authors, as well as work by local photographers.

"The arts council is extremely proud of this publication," said Betty Rouse, GCAC board member and chairman of the literary committee. "Volunteers have devoted a great deal of time and talent to the production of a journal designed to reflect the best works of local creative writers." She added that the journal has a record number of pages this year.

The writings of the following authors are included in this year's edition: Laura Treacy Bentley, Paddy Carrick, Jack DuBose, Helen Cottrill Fitzwater, Rose Gordy, Ginny Grove, Melodee Hill, Sandy Hill, Paula Hutson, Sue Lisantti, Denise Hillman Moynahan, Ginni Neff, Lamont Palmer, Jack Spencer, Rhoda M. Trooboff, Kathy Vitek, and Angela Yoder.

Photographers whose work is included in Ginseng are Penny Knobel Besa, Neal Blizzard, Bev Greaser, Linda Herdering, Mike Reed, and Beth Spencer.

The graphic designer was Richard Hill, and the Sincell Publishing Company was the publisher.

Denise Moynahan, Betty Rouse, Jennifer Virts, Mikey Virts, and Jeanne Whitehair reviewed manuscript submissions and acted as editors.

Ginseng is a free publication and is available at the Gallery Shop, 206 E. Alder Street, Oakland, and at all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library throughout the county.

Operations and programs of the Garrett County Arts Council are supported by an annual grant administered by the Maryland State Arts Council. Additional funding is provided through membership dues and contributions, community support, and Garrett County government. More information is available by calling 301-334-6580 or visiting www.garrettarts.com.

MEN'S CHORUS TO PERFORM – The Rockingham Male Chorus from the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia will present a concert on Sunday, May 1, at 10:30 a.m. at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, 4051 Accident-Bittinger Road, Accident. The chorus consists of approximately 50 men. Known as the "Singing Men," the chorus is directed by David MacMillan and accompanied by his wife Kathy. David is a graduate of the Shenandoah University in Winchester, Va. The chorus was founded in 1966 under the direction of Nelson T. Huffman, music professor of Bridgewater College. He retired in 1987 after completion of the 500th program. The men are volunteers from various backgrounds, careers and denominations. Featured by the chorus are two quartets, a number of soloists, and a message in song for children. The "Singing Men" travel thousands of miles each year at their own expense. They meet weekly for rehearsals, except for the summer months, and give approximately 40 concerts from Iowa to Delaware and Ontario to Florida. To date, they have given over 1,000 concerts. Their numerous tapes and CDs are available for purchase. The public is invited. Admission is free, but an offering is taken for administrative and travel costs.

FSU Percussion Ensemble Concert Slated Next Week

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present the FSU Percussion Ensemble on Thursday, May 5, at 8 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of FSU's Performing Arts Center. The concert is free and open to the public.

The percussion ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Ronald Horner, will perform the short yet intricate "Fanfare" by Jeffrey Grubbs, inspired by percussively driven action-adventure films of the past; the ragtime work "The Easy Winners" by Scott Joplin, performed by three marimbas and a xylophone; and Drew Hunter's "Heavy Metal," featuring cymbals, tam-tams, bells, and triangles.

Closing out the concert will be Thomas Gauger's "Portico" and "Bound for Marakesh" by Chris Brooks.

For more information, persons may contact the FSU Department of Music at 301-687-4109.

Garrett Community Concert Band Will Present "A Musical Mosaic"

"A Musical Mosaic" is the title chosen for the spring concert of the Garrett Community Concert Band, which will be presented Saturday, May 7, 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium of Garrett College, McHenry.

As the concert title suggests, the program will feature a wide variety of musical styles and composers, from Broadway to Big Band to classical to patriotic, according to Moe Turrentine, GCC Band conductor.

The concert will include a medley from the musical Porgy and Bess, another titled "Big Band Tribute," and a third titled "A Percy Granger Portrait."

American/patriotic numbers to be played will be marches "An American Fanfare," "Crown Imperial," and "American Flourish," along with patriotic pieces titled "Within These Hallowed Halls" and "Victory at Sea," which is from the television series of the same name.

Classical numbers will be Puccini's famous operatic aria "Nessun Dorma" and Dvorak's well known "Symphony #9" from his New World Symphony.

Providing some more international flavor to the program will be "One Night in Athens" and Padilla's rousing "El Relicario."

Serving as band narrator will be Stan Grimm.

Tickets, which may be purchased at the door, are available for $8 for adults, $2 for students, and free for children under 6. The concert is being sponsored in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council/Maryland State Arts Council.

Prior to the concert and during intermission, the band will have various musical related gifts available for purchase.

The GCC Band comprises musicians of all ages, backgrounds, and levels of experience. Several new high school members from both Northern and Southern high schools have recently joined the organization.

All musicians, regardless of experience, are welcome to join the band, according to Turrentine, and there is no audition required. The band generally presents three concerts per years and rehearses at the college on Tuesdays at 7 p.m.

MY GREATEST DREAM
by Gerald Ruby

Into madness. Cast through a chasm into hell.
To the land of eternal midnight,
Left for years and years to dwell.
Sleep eludes me, and the torment seems unceasing.
My very will to live is rapidly decreasing.
Death seems now as though a friend.
For its peace, should now my life to end.
My worst tormentors are my family, nonetheless.
Their ridicule would call it laziness.
My heart breaks at their belligerent abuse.
Ignorance; I'll call it their excuse.
To die seems as my only escape,
But the sting I can't initiate.
To find hope out of this hellish cage,
Seems almost impossible to engage.
My medication, like hemlock I ingest;
Then darkness overtook me, to what I thought my final rest.
I awakened to blinding brightness, my life I did not abort.
Hearing friendly voices, and the sounds of life support.
A physician came to visit, and spoke to me at length.
We are going to move you, when you gain some strength.
Frightened and bewildered, my heart waned at the thought.
Is this the consequences my misery had brought?
To a house of madness, what good could it bring?
At this point of disparity, I would do most anything.
My fears soon were vanquished, as nurses reassured,
And my therapist, like angels of mercy,
Helped me to endure.
Medications are now working, and sanity returned.
Now life is worth the living because of what I've learned.
So I live, and love, and work with my hands,
This is the bliss I have, after becoming a new man.
Yes, the nightmare is over, and dreams are coming true,
But my greatest dream is to help others,
From going through what I've gone through.

Dedicated to the wonderful staff at the Thomas B. Finan Center, Cumberland

Weather Trivia

What is brontophobia? ?

Answer: It is the fear of thunder.

Weather History

April 29, 1988 - Thunderstorms produced large hail and high winds in central Texas. Hail the size of baseballs were reported at Nixon and wind gusts to 70 mph were reported at Cotulla. Heavy rain in Maine caused flooding along the Pemigewassett and Ammonoosuc Rivers.

April 30, 1852 - A tornado, following the same tack as the famous "Tri-State Tornado" of 1925, struck the town of New Harmony, Indiana. Just sixteen persons were killed by the twister, due to the sparse settlement. The "Tri-State Tornado" on March 18, 1925 killed 695 persons.

Detailed Local Forecast

Today we will see partly cloudy skies with a 30% chance of showers, high temperature of 51°, humidity of 37%. West wind 18 mph. The record high temperature for today is 81° set in 1996. Expect partly cloudy skies tonight with an overnight low of 39°. The record low for tonight is 20° set in 1967. Saturday, skies will be mostly sunny with a high temperature of 65°, humidity of 35%. Skies will be mostly cloudy Saturday night with an overnight low of 46°. Expect mostly cloudy skies Sunday with a high temperature of 70°.

Featuring events that build assets in youth and promote community involvement:

SATURDAY, April 30

• Drug Take-Back. Persons who are not certain how to properly dispose of excess medication may bring left-over prescription or over-the-counter medicines to this "drug take-back" opportunity. Persons may drop off medications at the Grantsville rescue squad hall and Ryan's Glade Community Building from 10 a.m. to noon; McHenry rescue squad hall and Kitzmiller fire hall from 1 to 3 p.m.; and Friendsville rescue squad hall and Southern Garrett rescue squad hall from 4 to 6 p.m. Free. Sponsored by Drug Enforcement Agency. (301-334-7730)

MONDAY, May 2

• Deer Park Community Meeting, Deer Park Community Building, 6 p.m. Deer Park Eliminators invite all area residents to assist with planning community events for the coming year. (301-533-0755)

WEDNESDAY, May 4

• Children's Story Time, Grantsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, 11 a.m. to noon. Children (infants through 5-year-olds) and their caregivers may come for stories, songs, and crafts at this weekly event. Free. (301-895-5298))

THURSDAY, May 5

• StoryTails, Accident branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. StoryTails helps children develop confidence in their reading skills as they read aloud to dogs. All dogs in the program are certified by Therapy Dogs International. Each child will have a dog to read to for 15 to 20 minutes, with the dog's handler sitting nearby to give reading assistance if needed. Free. (301-746-8792)

SATURDAY, May 7

• Grantsville Fishing Rodeo, Grantsville Park pond. Registration begins at 8 a.m.; fishing runs from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.; prizes awarded 10:40 to 11 a.m. Youth 3 through 16 years are invited to compete and must be accompanied by an adult. Entry fee is $1; refreshments available for purchase. Sponsored by Grantsville Involvement Group and Garrett County Health Department. (301-895-5527)

Md. Insurance Agency Slates Outreach Event

The Maryland Insurance Administration will present a community outreach event on Tuesday, May 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Garrett County One-Stop Job Center, 221 South Third Street, Second Floor, Oakland. Trained staff will be available to answer questions.

MIA is a state regulatory agency that offers a variety of consumer materials on all types of insurance products from annuities to title insurance and health, auto, and homeowner's insurance.

"Education and consumer awareness are key factors to your financial security and to a healthy insurance market," said Beth Sammis, acting Maryland insurance commissioner. "The better consumers understand the products and policies available to them, the better purchasing decisions they make and the better protection they will have in the event of a loss or an accident."

The full schedule of agency outreach activities and all the agency's consumer materials are available at mdinsurance.state.md.us, as well as by request and at various MIA community events.
